

Read Married At First Sight Chapter 1595

Married at First Sight Chapter 1595—Elisa smiled and said, “Remy’s very busy today. Besides sending me flowers and love letters, he only sends me a few messages every day.

“His sister-in-law is about to give birth, so he said that he’ll have to finish his work as soon as possible. and return to Annenburg.”

Serenity said, “Jane is pregnant with twins. Most twins are born prematurely. She told me that she expects to give birth in June. Now it’s mid-May, so it’s about time.”

At the mention of pregnancy, Elisa wanted to ask Serenity if she had any news, but Elisa gave up when the words came to her lips.

Serenity was too busy with work now and her attention was diverted, so she did not have time to worry about pregnancy.

If Elisa mentioned it, Serenity would feel sad again

“I’ll pick Zachary up from work later, so I can’t accompany you for lunch”

Elisa understood and said, “Oh, okay. Should I also go to Remy’s office to pick him up? Seren, what do you think his expression will be like when he sees me?”

“He’ll be ecstatic!”

The two of them had not officiated their relationship as boyfriend and girlfriend If Elisa took the initiative. to look for Remy, it would be seen as a response, and he would certainly be ecstatic

Not long after, Elisa left Serenity’s bookstore.

Serenity did not meet Zachary at noon because she felt that his lunch hour was too short.

She did not close the store until late in the evening and went to Spring Blossoms first.

Camryn and Callum did not make much progress either.

Callum was pursuing Camryn, but Camryn still rejected his feelings.

Callum told Zachary privately that it was very difficult to chase after his wife.

He envied Zachary and Serenity for getting their marriage license upon their first meeting, so Zachary did not have to chase after Serenity.

Zachary felt like laughing.

He had conflicts with Serenity before they got to where they were today.

His younger brothers witnessed how he went crazy for Serenity.

Even though Callum had not won over Camryn yet, he at least made some moves. Kevin and Hayden had zero progress.

Grandma May was not in a hurry. Regardless, she only gave them a one-year deadline.

It was Kevin's business as to how he wanted to meet the deadline.

"Serenity, you're here."

As soon as Serenity entered the store, Camryn heard her footsteps. She turned to face Serenity with a smile.

"You have really good ears."

Serenity put a box of pastries in front of Camryn and said, "I passed by a bakery and bought several boxes of freshly baked pastries. I tasted them and thought that they were delicious, so I got you a box."

Camryn did not refuse and thanked her with a smile.

She also liked to eat desserts, as they were the key to a woman's heart.

"Camryn, I'm here to get the bouquet I ordered."

Camryn smiled and said, "It's ready for you."

She got up to fetch the bouquet that had been wrapped long ago and handed it to Serenity.

Serenity took the bouquet. "Thanks."

"I should be the one to say thank you. You always support my business."

Serenity looked at her and felt that Camryn seemed to be a little thinner. She asked, "Camryn, have you not been eating properly recently? I think you've lost some weight. Are your aunts still bothering you?"

"They won't give up, but they can't gain anything from me either."

It had been two months since Camryn's mother went to jail. Camryn had already asked Dalton to take over Newman Enterprise.

"Yesterday, I just fired my aunts' sons. They gathered some people in the office and made a fuss. It had a negative impact on the company."

Camryn's cousins relied on their relationship with their uncle to dominate Newman Enterprise. For the sake of his two sisters, Mr. Newman often turned a blind eye.

Camryn would not spoil them.

They wanted a share of Newman Enterprise, so Camryn would not keep them. Thus, she seized the opportunity to fire all her cousins from Newman Enterprise.

If her guess was correct, her two aunts would soon come to trouble her again.

However, Camryn was not afraid of them.

"Just fire them if they're incompetent. There's no need to consider blood relationships. They weren't nice to you in the first place.

Serenity knew all about what Camryn's aunts did to Camryn.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Married At First Sight Chapter 1596

Married at First Sight Chapter 1596—Amy and Brenda could not stand the sight of Camryn doing well.

Camryn had already taken control of Newman Enterprise. Serenity was aware of that because Zachary told her about it.

Camryn knew that her little tricks were obvious to the eyes of the Yorks. She did not hide anything deliberately when she talked to Serenity.

She said, "No one can snatch the things that belong to my brother and I."

Camryn would not take everything from the Newman family. She would pass her brother's share to him after he was old enough to manage it.

As for Carrie, Camryn never thought of her.

"Let us know if you need help. We'll help however we can."

“Thank you. I can still manage for now. Dal is helping me out too.” There was Callum too.

Camryn wanted to free herself from Callum desperately. She did not want to owe him a favor, but she had to admit that she would have more trouble if she did not have him backing her. In the end, she still owed him a big favor.

That guy was becoming a bigger bully. He was keeping her on a tight leash.

Camryn felt powerless against him.

“Callum can help you too.”

Camryn did not say a word.

Speak of the devil.

Callum arrived at the florist.

He was holding a bouquet, but it was not real flowers. It was a bouquet made of hundred-dollar bills.

Seeing that her brother-in-law had come, Serenity said to Camryn, “Camryn, I have to deliver my flowers. Let’s talk again another day.”

“Okay.”

Camryn had heard the familiar sounds of Callum’s footsteps too. She forced herself to see Serenity off calmly.

“Serenity,” Callum called out.

“Hey, your brother’s still at the office, right?”

Callum replied, “Yes, he is. I got off work early.”

Serenity smiled She told Camryn that she did not have to see her off. She got into her car and left.

Callum only handed the money bouquet into Camryn’s arms after his sister-in-law left.

“This is for you.”

“I have lots of flowers in my shop. I don’t need you to give me flowers.”

Camryn was about to return the money flowers to Callum.

“Give it a touch. My bouquet is different from the flowers in your shop.”

Camryn instinctively touched the flowers. After feeling it, she was even more determined to refuse the bouquet.

She did not lack money anymore.

He did not have to give her money in the name of giving her a bouquet of dollar bills.

“If you refuse, I’ll throw it into the trash can.”

Camryn was speechless.

“If you refuse the flowers, it means that you think my bouquet isn’t big enough. I’ll prepare a bigger one for you until you’re willing to accept it.”

Camryn’s expression darkened. “Callum, you’re so shameless.”

“I’m shameless, and I’ve decided to cling to you. What can you do about this?”

Camryn had no words..

If she were not blind, she would definitely have kicked him.

What a bully.

“You’ve always been described as gentle and cultured, Mr. Callum.”

“That’s what other people think. How many people involved in the business world are truly well- mannered? They’re all cruel and heartless. Moreover...”

Callum approached Camryn. He was about to kiss her pretty lips. He said hoarsely, “Being shameless is the only effective way to handle you.”

Camryn was so angry that she wanted to beat him up.

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Married At First Sight Chapter 1597

Married at First Sight Chapter 1597—“Camryn.”

Callum’s gaze on her red lips was getting more passionate.

Camryn could not see, but she could feel the changes in him.

His voice became raspier when he called her name.

He was thinking of taking advantage of her again,

Upon realizing that, Camryn quickly stepped back.

She had the huge bouquet of money flowers the bully forcefully gave her. She moved further backward hastily, and she knocked into a flower pot.

When Camryn was about to fall, a pair of strong, huge hands rescued her.

Callum quickly encircled her waist and pulled her back into his embrace.

It felt good when his empty arms surrounded a soft, warm body.

Upon regaining her composure. Camryn started resisting. She exclaimed softly, "Let me go, Callum."

There were still employees in her store.

The two store assistants and two bodyguards were all watching the street. They did not see what Mr. York had done.

"I was saving you, not taking advantage of you," Callum whispered in Camryn's ears.

He could not resist pecking her cheek too.

He chuckled when he felt her shudder.

It turned out that she was quite sensitive.

After discovering her sensitive spot, he knew how to tease her.

"Callum York!"

Camryn was very sensitive. She could not help but tremble after being pecked.

"Thank me."

Camryn went silent and finally gave in. She raised her head and faced him with a sincere expression. Her red lips moved. She said, "Thank you for saving me, Callum."

Callum's name had never sounded so pleasant as it did at that moment.

His bones felt like they were going soft when his name escaped Camryn's lips.

Unfortunately, they were at her flower shop. He could not do more wicked things.

“Just one sentence?”

Camryn was about to go crazy. What else did he want?

“Treat me to a meal.”

Again?

After a moment of speechlessness, Camryn said, “Okay. I’ll treat you to a meal. We’ll eat in my store. I’ll cook for you.”

“You can cook?”

“No.”

Camryn would let him see that she, a blind person, could not prepare a hearty, nutritious meal filled with love for her significant other like other women.

“You don’t have to cook since you have bad eyesight, I’m more than happy if you get food delivered and have it with me, but I don’t want you cooking. I’m scared you might cut or scald yourself when cutting or cooking something. If you want to eat at home, I’ll cook.”

Camryn was speechless.

How did the York family raise a man like that?

The Yorks were rich. They were the wealthiest family in Wiltspoon, but every man in the family knew how to cook and could adapt well. They did not have the arrogance usually associated with wealthy sons.

Old Mrs. York was probably laughing smugly somewhere. Her teachings have shown excellent results. All the boys’ admirers would be satisfied with them.

It seemed like the admirers could not resist such outstanding men too.

Callum finally released Camryn.

He had no choice as people were walking by on the street.

Camryn got shy easily too.

If he were to give her a deep kiss, she would definitely avoid him for half a month again.
“Sit here.”

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-

Read Married At First Sight Chapter 1598

Married at First Sight Chapter 1598—Callum led Camryn to the cashier and made her sit. “I’ll go and cook.”

Camryn was stunned. “Are you really cooking?”

Her words earlier were said on purpose to make him understand that she was blind and had many inconveniences in her life. If they were to date each other, she would be a burden to him. In a way, she wanted to make him give up on her.

“You can try out my cooking.”

Callum bent over and whispered in her ear, “There’s a saying that the way to a person’s heart is through their stomach. Why didn’t I think of this?”

Camryn said, “Callum, am I really worth this?”

“Yes.”

Camryn did not say anything more.

“You can either show off or disassemble this bouquet, but don’t return the money to me. If not, I’ll get really angry. You’ve experienced the consequences of me getting angry before.”

Camryn was speechless again.

She was getting increasingly helpless whenever she faced this bully

There was a simple kitchen inside the flower shop. In fact, it was just a table placed in an empty area. Cooking could be done with the portable gas stove and rice cooker on the table.

Callum looked around, but he did not see any ingredients.

“Camryn, didn’t you buy any ingredients?”

“No.”

She had planned to get food delivered.

As Callum washed the rice, he said, “I’ll head to the supermarket nearby after the rice starts cooking. What do you want to eat? Will your employees join us?”

The store assistants had sharp ears. They replied simultaneously, "We'll grab fast food, Mr. York. You don't have to make our share."

Callum hummed in acknowledgment.

Camryn's employees were good at reading the atmosphere.

He would ask Camryn to increase their salary if the shop's business was great.

A few minutes later, Callum left Spring Blossoms to purchase ingredients.

After he returned, he instructed the two bodyguards, "You guys can go and eat first."

The bodyguards replied respectfully.

They went to a nearby fast food chain with the two store assistants to grab their meals.

However, after they left, Camryn's cousins, whom she had fired, came over aggressively while Callum was washing the ingredients.

After the cousins got out of the car, they did not spot the York family's bodyguards, who were always protecting Camryn, or any store assistants. There was only Camryn.

They got even more arrogant.

The eldest cousin waved his hand and said to his brothers, "Smash her flower shop!"

Camryn had fired all of them and chased them out of Newman Enterprise. She had obstructed their road to riches.

After all, they could actually get a decent sum of extra money as they were Mr. Newman's biological nephews.

Camryn had severed their way of getting money.

Stopping them from obtaining money was akin to killing their parents. They found it unacceptable if they did not teach her a lesson.

If Camryn was capable, she could send all of them to prison. They would wait and see if she could still walk with her head held high among the relatives. It would be weird if she did not get scolded badly.

She was a heartless blind person.

The Chandlers and Joyners did not expect the blind person with such little presence to be so formidable. After their uncle lost his freedom, Camryn was able to convince Dalton to help her take control of the company.

What was more infuriating was that this was all done under their noses.

They even thought since their uncle was not in the company, they could take over the highest position as his nephews.

Unexpectedly, aside from several unimportant managers who usually clung to them, everyone else in the company ignored them.

That blind Camryn did not know anything. However, she made all the senior managers acknowledge her taking over Newman Enterprise with Dalton's help.

What could a blind person do?

Camryn's cousins thought Dalton was using her identity as the eldest young lady of the Newman family to control people. His aim could be to have Newman Enterprise for himself, but the blind woman did not know she was being used. She even joined hands with Dalton to chase them out of Newman Enterprise.

Even if they had the ambitions and wanted to take the opportunity to split Newman Enterprise among themselves, at least the company was not falling into an outsider's hands.

They were Mr. Newman's biological nephews.

Their mothers were the respectable ladies of the Newman family.

Were they not better than Dalton, an outsider?

Most of the readers are now reading this novels:-