

Chapter 862

Meanwhile, in a deep forest.

Willa was walking all alone.

She prepared to set up a trap there.

Ideally, both the assassin and her would perish at the same time!

In that case, she could at least leave the world peacefully knowing that she had avenged Karen.

Suddenly, there was a movement behind her!

She instantly pointed her gun towards the direction of the sound.

The moment she was about to pull the trigger, she stopped herself. "Why is it you?"

Clad in black, a woman with a perfect figure was standing before her. She was the number one killer, Black Rose!

She had accidentally found Willa, so she followed her.

Perhaps, after hearing about Karen's death, she had also come out of her hiding place.

It was plausible that she wanted to see if Chuck had anything he needed help with.

Nevertheless, she actually did not want to see Chuck. However, when she was looking around, she happened to see Willa.

"It's me. Is someone trying to kill you?" Black Rose enquired.

It was terribly quiet all around as if a fierce beast was about to descend upon them.

"Yes!" Willa stared at her with her beautiful eyes.

"Uh, do you suspect that I want to kill you?" Black Rose questioned.

She was a bit speechless.

"The one who wants to kill me is one of Adriana's people!" Willa admitted bluntly.

"The Whitlock family? Why do they want to kill you?" Black Rose was extremely shocked.

The Whitlock family was a hidden family. 2

"Because I know it was Adriana who hired someone to assassinate Auntie Karen!"

That piece of information jarred Black Rose. When she was on the way over, she had also analyzed who was able to kill Karen.

After all, she had fought with Karen before. Therefore, she was well aware of Karen's strength. How could an ordinary person assassinate Karen?

The only people who had the ability to do so were the three hidden families.

To Black Rose's surprise, it turned out to be the first family, the Whitlock family.

"Well, I'm not sure about that. While you suspect me to be the killer, I would need to have the ability to kill her. I may be able to assassinate you, but do you think I could assassinate Karen?" Black Rose smiled bitterly.

Willa thought about it for a moment and retracted her pistol.

That was true. Black Rose was no match for Karen. What's more, Black Rose had tried to assassinate Karen several times, but she had always failed. There was no way she could succeed.

Therefore, she was sure that it was not Black Rose.

She had just happened to come here by chance.

"So, do you mean that the person who assassinated Karen will come for you?" Black Rose questioned.

"Yes, I can feel it. The more dangerous it is, the calmer my heart is!" Willa said.

That was what she was experiencing.

It was her sixth sense.

"That's why you should get out of here as soon as possible," Willa continued to set up her trap.

"Forget it, there's no point in leaving. I'll help you!" Black Rose went to help her.

However, Willa shook her head in refusal. "Let me put it this way. Even if the two of us joined forces, we wouldn't be able to kill Auntie Karen. However, that person can, that means..."

"We'll probably die, right? I know." How could Black Rose not be aware?

Before she retired, she was the number one killer!

"It's not that we'll probably die, we'll definitely die. I don't want to involve you in this, so you should leave now," Willa was cautious.

She was prepared to die there.

However, even if she was going to die, she still wanted to drag that person down with her.

At least it could reduce Chuck's burden.

Black Rose was silent for a moment. "I know that too. Now that I've met you, that person will follow my tracks and kill me, so why should the two of us be defeated one by one? Joining forces is the only chance we have! Even though it's a very slim chance..."

Willa was helpless. "We will die."

"I know. From the day I became a killer, I have been ready to die at any time!" Black Rose shook her head.

Willa stared at her. "Alright. We'll really die!"

"I know. Have you left your last words?" Black Rose enquired calmly.

Her words served as a reminder for Willa. She turned on her phone and made a call to her own people, "Tomorrow, transfer all that I owned to a person named Chuck Cannon! Yes... tomorrow you can go look for him in the United States!"

Then, she hung up the phone.

Willa still had words to say, but she decided they were more suited to be spoken in her next life.

Black Rose stared at her in surprise. She had actually left everything to Chuck?

"You... you don't have any last words?" Willa asked.

"I... I don't. I don't have anyone." Black Rose seemed resigned.

She had died once before. Therefore, it was not a situation she was unfamiliar with.

If Chuck had not let her go back then, then the money she had saved up as a killer for so many years could be given to him too.

Due to her service fees, the amount in Black Rose's card was a shocking number.

Because Black Rose had no desires, she had only spent a tiny bit of the money she had earned. The rest were accumulated in her savings.

However, if Chuck sent her away, it meant that he didn't want her.

"Okay!" Willa knew that her death would buy some time for Black Rose.

Why would she drag Black Rose down with her?

The two of them were working together to set up a trap.

Their first plan together was just about to begin.

Because their strength was very similar, there was a sense of tacit understanding when they worked together.

"Okay, it's all been set up. I feel that this person will be here soon, because my heart is very calm, incredibly so..."

That was right. Willa knew that she was going to die, so she was at peace.

Chapter 863

At that moment, Willa's sixth sense was as strong as Karen's. She was no stranger to that feeling.

After all, she had died once before.

The peaceful feeling she currently experienced was even stronger than the last time.

Because last time, on the plane, Adriana's bodyguard had been slightly stronger than Willa.

The feeling back then was completely different from what she was experiencing at the moment.

Therefore, she knew that the person who had come to assassinate them was definitely not that bodyguard, but someone else.

It might be one of the strongest bodyguards in the Whitlock family.

"I sense him coming!"

"I feel it too!"

The two of them spoke at the same time. The sixth sense that they shared told them that the person they were waiting for, was there.

Their beautiful eyes exchanged a glance. Instantly, the atmosphere became solemn.

The person they were about to meet was definitely the strongest opponent they had ever encountered in their entire lives.

However!

The two of them had a calm expression on their faces.

If they died, then so be it.

It wasn't like it was their first time doing it.

"Right, I'll take it here, and you, there!" With that, Black Rose carried her sniper rifle away.

"Okay!"

Willa and Black Rose split up.

Behind a tree, Black Rose quickly assembled a sniper rifle. Her sixth sense guided her to point her gun towards a certain location.

Willa also had a gun.

With her bare hands, she would not be a match for her potential killer.

That was why she had to use a gun.

She had prepared for an ambush at the sniping point.

Bang!

Black Rose was the first to pull the trigger.

Fire erupted from the muzzle, and a fiery bullet flew out.

Boom!

She shot into the grass!

However, it was completely silent.

Terrifyingly so.

Black Rose launched another bullet.

Had she not hit anything?

Black Rose was cautious. She had never encountered a situation like that. What did it prove?

It proved that that person was too powerful.

Boom!

Willa's sixth sense told her to shoot another direction!

The bullets were fired.

However!

She shot into thin air as well.

After a few rounds of bullets, they had not forced anyone to come out.

The atmosphere was so tense that the air almost solidified.

All of a sudden, a very soft chuckle rang out from nowhere.

"Oh, why are there two people?"

"A woman?"

The voice bewildered both Black Rose and Willa.

Was it really a woman who had assassinated Karen?

Based on her voice, she was in her thirties at most.

Was that even possible?

"Let me analyze. The one who made the first shot, your accuracy with a gun is good, but if you can't find the target, it's a waste. But, there aren't many with marksmanship like yours, so who could it be? Let me think. Oh, is it the number one killer, Black Rose? It's you, right?"

Her laughter echoed in the air.

Black Rose's heart sank.

That voice was strange to her.

She had never met that person before.

Yet that woman knew her like the back of their hand.

"That's right, it's me!" Black Rose answered coldly.

"It's really you? That's a pity. Why are you helping her? I haven't planned to kill you yet! Do you want to die that badly?"

"The fact that you can hide from me right now is evidence of your meticulous thought process. More importantly, you would find out that Willa and I met by following our tracks. When the time comes, you will still kill me!" replied Black Rose.

"Why are you so smart? You've said it well! When I came, I suddenly found another set of footprints. I would have followed those footprints to look for you because I really don't like when people discover my projects! Willa, it's you who fired the third shot!"

"Yes, it's me. Did you assassinate Auntie Karen?" Willa's beautiful eyes were ice-cold.

Her eyes were also scarlet and moist. It was the person who had killed her mentor, Karen.

It was her!

"Not bad! I was the one who assassinated Karen. My plan was pretty good, wasn't it?" The killer laughed.

"Willa, I never paid attention to you. The fact that you can make preparations in advance means that you already know who sent me here, don't you?"

"Yes, it's Adrianna!"

"You're pretty good yourself," said the killer, sneering.

"You guessed it! So why didn't you seize this time to tell Chuck? Why?"

"Are you trying to trick me? Chuck doesn't know anything now! You can just kill me, don't touch him!"

The very mention of Chuck stirred Willa's fury.

Everything about Chuck was her bottom line.

"Hmph, I can't kill him. I haven't received any orders from Miss Yeager yet! However, both of you may be smart, but you two are kind of trashy! Alright, you're not kind of trashy, you're really trashy! You want to deal with me through a trap like this? Really, you looked down on me too much!"

All of a sudden!

A bullet flew out of nowhere.

Bang!

It seemed to have hit something.

Then, there was a rumbling sound.

Something planted in the ground had been triggered.

Then, a bomb exploded!

A thick cloud of smoke filled the air.

Willa was shocked by the turn of events. Her elaborate plan had been destroyed by a single bullet.

Black Rose was equally shocked.

In that instant, she knew what the outcome would be.

The thick smoke spread around, and their visibility was reduced.

It was like a thick fog.

"I'm an expert in assassination. I set up traps like yours when I was ten. Don't you think you're trash for only being as skilled as I was at ten? Alright, next up, I'm going to send you two pieces of trash down to hell!"

All of a sudden, a figure appeared in the smoke.

 Watch Ads to Get 15 Vouchers