Married by Mistake chapter 2141

Despite Madeline's comfort, Ava still sighed sadly.

She leaned her head on Madeline's shoulder, the corners of her eyes started welling with tears without her knowing as the cold wind blew past her.

"Maddie, I don't think it's important whether two people have feelings for each other or not if they want to end up together."

"How could that be?" Madeline did not understand why Ava said that. "A marriage without feelings is the most painful and saddest thing in the world. You have feelings for Dan. He's such a gentle and considerate person too. I believe he'll make you very happy."

Ava raised the corners of her lips, pulling them into a regretful smile. "Yes, I also believe that Dan is a man who can bring happiness to his wife. However, his wife won't be me."

Upon hearing this, Madeline's expression changed drastically.

She turned her head to look at Ava abruptly. "Ava, what do you mean by that? What happened between you and Dan?"

"He's decided to marry his childhood sweetheart, Naya."

"How did that happen?" Madeline had no idea what was going on.

Ava could not control herself and started sobbing softly, "Maddie, I really envy you. Although Jeremy was blinded by those bad people, leading him to ignore and hurt you, both of you still ended up together in the end."

Ava suddenly said something that was pretty irrational.

"I would rather be hurt by Dan severely too. As long as I can be with him in the end, I'd be willing to bear it."

"Ava, what nonsense are you talking about?"

Madeline took out a handkerchief and gently wiped away the tears from the corners of Ava's eyes.

"Aca, so many things have happened to me recently and I never had the time to chat with you or go shopping with you. I don't know what has happened between you and Dan. Why does he want to marry another woman all of a sudden? What's going on? Don't cry now, hush."

As she listened to Madeline's comforting words, Ava started crying even harder.

"Maddie..."

Ava suddenly hugged Madeline and burst into tears.

Madeline quickly comforted her. She understood how Ava was feeling now.

The feeling of loving someone and being unable to have them was like having a fine net wrapped around one's heart. She could still vaguely remember the suffocating breathlessness.

Madeline did not ask the reason anymore. Instead, she kept holding Ava to comfort her.

After a long time, Ava's mood eased a lot.

She wiped away her tears and then told Madeline the reason.

"Dan's grandfather fell ill and is in a serious condition. He asked Dan to break up with me and said that he wanted to see Dan marry his childhood sweetheart Naya before he dies."

"And Dan agreed?"

"Dan disagreed at first but he had no other choice. " Ava lowered her eyes in despair. "Maybe Dan and I are just not destined to end up together, or maybe, we're just not meant for each other."

"Don't think that way, Ava. I believe Dan will not give you up for this reason and marry a woman he doesn't love. The person he likes is you." Madeline was very sure of Daniel's character. Moreover, no man would be willing to give up his beloved woman. Besides, Daniel had no reason to give up Ava because of her family or character.

"I know as well that Dan doesn't want to give up on me, but he's really left with no other choice now." Ava felt helpless.

As soon as she finished speaking, Daniel called.

However, Ava merely looked at the screen of the phone and did not pick it up.

"Ava, answer the call."

"I don't know what to say." Ava raised her head and sighed helplessly.

When Madeline saw Ava's hesitation, she took the phone and answered the call for Ava without thinking.

"Ava!" Madeline could hear Daniel's excited voice on the other side of the phone. It seemed that Ava had not answered Daniel's calls for a long time. Then, Madeline put the call on speaker.

"Dan, it's me."

On the other end, Daniel froze for a moment before asking, "Eveline?"

"Yes, it's me. I'm with Ava now and she's in the restroom." Madeline made an excuse and looked at Ava, who was nervous.

In reality, Ava wanted to answer whenever Daniel called her as she wanted badly to talk to him but she had been restraining herself.

"Dan, I just met Ava. It seems that she's very unhappy. Do you know what's wrong with her?"

Madeline asked even though she knew what was going on. She wanted to see how Daniel would answer.

"My grandpa suddenly fell ill. The doctor said that the situation isn't looking good for him and he might not have much time left. My grandpa said that he wants to see his grandson get married and start a business before he dies."

"Set a date and get engaged to Ava as soon as possible, then. Your grandpa should be glad if you do that," Madeline said deliberately.

Soon after, she heard Daniel answer with a sigh. "My grandfather has always wanted me to marry Naya. Naya's parents used to be neighbors with us. When I was young, she and I often went to school together, but after high school, I never saw her that much anymore. Even so, my parents and grandpa like her very much."

"You mean your family wants you to marry Naya? What about Ava? Are you going to give up on Ava just like that?" Madeline felt a little dissatisfied and pissed on behalf of Ava.

"Dan, I can understand your desire to satisfy your grandfather's death wish, but what about Ava? Have you ever wondered how she would feel?"

"Of course, I've thought about it and decided that I'll never give up on Ava." Daniel's firm words made their way to Ava's ears from the speaker.

Ava's heart that felt as if it had sunk into the deep ocean seemed to suddenly lift back up again with a sense of hope.

"Eveline, where are you now? I haven't seen Ava for a long time as she's been hiding from me. She's not answering my calls either. I really don't want to give up on her. I hope she can meet me and hear me out. I want to tell her that I've thought of a way to get the best of both worlds."

After hearing what Daniel said, Madeline felt cheerful again. She could see the light in Ava's eyes as well.

"Ava and I are in International Mall. She's not back from the restroom yet. When you get here, pretend it's a coincidence that you're running into her in case she calls me a traitor. Text me when you're here."

"Thank you! Eveline, I'll go look for both of you now!" Daniel quickly thanked her, sounding urgent. It could be seen how worried he was about Ava.

Then, Madeline hung up the phone and looked at Ava who had an expectant light in her eyes.

"Did you hear that, Ava? Dan still cares about you. He'll not give you up for this, so don't give up on him. Otherwise, he'll be sad."

Madeline said and grabbed Ava's hand.

"Let's go to wait for Dan at International Mall."

"Maddie, is this really happening? Will there really be a plan to get the best of both worlds?"

Madeline nodded affirmatively. "Since Dan has already said so, then it must be the case. Have some faith in your future husband. Let's go."

"..." Ava's cheeks turned hot, seemingly because Madeline had said the words 'future husband'.

To speak the truth, of course, Ava hoped that Dan would be the man she spend the rest of her days with.

Madeline and Ava wandered around International Mall. About ten minutes later, Madeline received a text from Daniel.

He said he had arrived.

Madeline immediately told him where they were. Then, she continued to shop with Ava in the mall as if nothing had happened.

It did not take long for Daniel to appear in front of Madeline and Ava like he had coincidentally bumped into them.

However, his acting skills were pretty bad. To any discerning person, this encounter did not look like a coincidence at all.

Daniel only had Ava in his eyes, and he ran up to her as soon as he arrived, holding her shoulders tightly.

"Ava, why haven't you answered my calls for so many days now? Do you really not want to see me anymore?"

Daniel's eyes were full of melancholy, while his thick eyebrows were furrowed together.

"Ava, trust me, I'll not give up on you, nor will I give up on our feelings for each other."

In truth, Ava's heart was already shaking when she saw Daniel barging into her vision.

She had always been thinking of this man, and she could feel tears pricking the corners of her eyes.

However, her stubbornness made her deliberately shift her gaze and speak indifferently.

"Trust you? How can I trust you? Haven't you already promised your grandfather that you'll marry Naya? Also, the engagement date has already been set too. What more can you say to explain yourself?"

"My relationship with Naya is not what you think, Ava. Believe me." Daniel desperately yearned for Ava's trust.

He looked at Ava with his gentle eyes, waiting for her to answer him.

Ava clearly wanted to answer him but she still gritted her teeth and turned her face away so she did not have to look at Daniel.

Of course, Madeline understood Ava's conflict and struggle. She also saw a lot of passersby watching them while making criticisms. Hence, she went over to pull Ava's hand.

"Dan, have you eaten? I've been walking around with Ava and I still haven't eaten. I'm a little hungry now. Why don't the two of you accompany me to eat something?"

Daniel and Ava knew Madeline was trying to resolve this awkwardness between them. Hence, Daniel quickly agreed but Ava did not say anything. Even so, it was a tacit agreement.

Madeline deliberately chose a restaurant that Ava liked, and Daniel ordered a few of the dishes that Ava liked as well.

Ava could feel her eyes burning when she looked at the food in front of her.

She could see and feel Daniel's consideration and affection toward her. She did not want this current situation to happen as well.

"Wow, look, Ava. Dan knows you so well. These are all your favorite dishes." Madeline chimed in at one side. "No matter what, you should eat something. Let's eat as we talk." Madeline hinted at Dan. Then, he understood immediately and picked up some food for Ava.
