

MEDICAL GOD CHAPTER 439

Wang Dongxue happily carried the cruise ship tickets with her and returned to her class.

When everyone saw her happy face, they asked, “Dongxue, have you claimed your prize? Is the prize with you?”

Kong Lingling snorted coldly, “How is that possible? The Golden Titan is an extravagant cruise ship and only people of certain status is allowed to board it.”

Wang Dongxue chuckled and took out two tickets from her pocket.

“Wow, it’s true! Dongxue, you’re really lucky.”

“Please remember to snap more photographs and let us see them later.”

“How I wish I could tag along. I have never seen a cruise ship in my life.”

When she saw Wang Dongxue showing her cruise ship tickets, Kong Lingling’s face turned gloomy and she frowned.

How could a savage girl like her be given the opportunity to board such an extravagant cruise ship?

“Let me have a look at your cruise ship tickets to determine whether they are authentic.”

Wang Dongxue hesitated for a while before passing the tickets to Kong Lingling. She was actually worried that the tickets could be fake after hearing what Kong Lingling had said. Dongxue would not want to be embarrassed when boarding the cruise ship.

Kong Lingling frowned instantly when she held the tickets.

These ship tickets look genuine indeed.

I can't believe that the Golden Titan would distribute its ship tickets in such a manner.

I guess some clothing brand would have gotten an invitation letter from the cruise ship and said clothing company had use it as a prize to spur its sales. I couldn't believe that Lady Luck shone on Wang Dongxue.

I can't let her board the cruise ship as this will tarnish the reputation and status of the Golden Titan.

Kong Lingling then tore the cruise ship tickets into two.

"These tickets are fake."

Wang Dongxue's expression completely changed when she saw her tickets being torn.

"You..."

Kong Lingling snorted, "What do you mean by you? These cruise ship tickets are fake. I'm only doing this for your own good. Do you know what will be the consequences if you bring a fake ticket to board the ship?"

Wang Dongxue did not refute as she had not seen much in her life. She just accepted what Kong Lingling said.

Other classmates quickly consoled her, "It's alright, Dongxue. Just let it be if the tickets are fake. After all, you did not spend a penny in getting them. Just treat it as if that you had never received it."

"These merchants are just too cunning these days. I can't believe they'd use fake prizes as a gimmick to lure customers to buy their goods."

"Dongxue, please don't be too upset. The cruise ship is only a place for the rich to mingle. You won't enjoy the experience as you'll stick out like a sore thumb standing among them."

Wang Dongxue knew that whatever she say would not change the situation. She pursed her lips, picked up the torn tickets and went back to her seat.

She was heartbroken not because of the fact that her tickets were fake but because of Jun. It took him quite a while before he agreed to this and if he knew that she could not make it, he would be disappointed.

Wang Dongxue held the torn tickets and looked at the QR code printed on them. She scanned the code with her cellphone and it brought her to the official website of the Golden Titan.

The cruise ship tickets were obviously genuine!

Wang Dongxue felt wronged and upset as Kong Lingling had overstepped her boundaries this time.

Whipping her phone out, she sent a text to Qin Jun.

“I’m sorry, Jun. I have lost the cruise ship tickets. Looks like we won’t be able to board the ship...”

Not long after, Qin Jun replied.

“You mean the Golden Titan tickets? Don’t worry. I will get you two if you still wish to go.”

Wang Dongxue was dumbfounded and she replied, “Really? Could you really get me new tickets?”

“I should be able to.”

Since Jun knew the richest man in town, it should not be a problem for him to get two Golden Titan cruise ship tickets.
