

MEDICAL GOD CHAPTER 441

In the absence of choice, Kong Lingling bought the pink evening dress.

On the following night, the Golden Titan was opened for boarding.

Wang Dongxue and Qin Jun first gathered at her house.

She carried her evening dress and Qin Jun's suit and got in the car. Qin Jun then drove her to the entrance of the Golden Titan cruise ship.

"Jun, this is the suit that I've prepared for you."

Qin Jun took it from her and decided to only get dressed in the changing room of the cruise ship as doing so in the public would draw unnecessary attention.

When they arrived at the base of the Golden Titan, a few crew members were screening the boarding tickets of the guests. Qin Jun took out two tickets which looked exactly the same as the prize that Wang Dongxue claimed yesterday. This further proves that the two tickets that she got were genuine.

Kong Lingling had deliberately torn my tickets.

She told her ordeal of losing her ticket to Qin Jun and he frowned disapprovingly.

Since the beating of the three girls in college a while ago, Wang Dongxue had not encountered any bullying incident. Unfortunately, those people were causing trouble again. Qin Jun then thought to himself. Perhaps it is time to get Dongxue a bodyguard.

But Wang Dongxue is only a university undergraduate and not a celebrity. It may be a little over the top to have a bodyguard. I guess I have to rethink a solution.

At the ticket counter, Qin Jun passed his tickets to the crew member.

As Wang Dongxue came along with him, Qin Jun only requested for two ordinary tickets instead of VIP tickets in order to stay low profile.

Just when the crew member was examining the tickets, Kong Lingling's voice was heard from the back.

"Wang Dongxue! How dare you still turn up?"

When Wang Dongxue turned her head around and saw Kong Lingling, she frowned.

With so many people around, wasn't this too much of a coincidence?

Kong Lingling quickened her footsteps and said to the crew member upon seeing Wang Dongxue's ticket, "Her ticket is fake!"

The crew member knitted his brows and replied, "Ms., I don't understand what you are saying."

Kong Lingling snorted, "I saw her ticket being torn into two with my own eyes. Isn't damaged tickets invalid?"

The crew member frowned again when looking at the damage-free ticket.

"Ms., perhaps you got the wrong person. Please queue at the back for ticket screening."

When she noticed the two damage-free tickets, Kong Lingling was stunned.

What's going on?

Didn't I tear up the tickets?

Kong Lingling thought that Wang Dongxue merely taped the tickets back together but never would she expected that her tickets were damage-free.

I've never heard that the Golden Titan tickets could be replaced.

Feeling defeated, Kong Lingling did not dare to cause a scene and walked to the end of the line to queue.

The atmosphere inside the cruise ship was like being in a majestic and grand hotel. One would not feel that he or she was onboard a ship.

"Dongxue, why don't you get yourself dressed up first? I'll meet you at the ballroom later."

"Sure, Jun."

The two then parted to the changing rooms of their respective genders.

In the cruise, everyone was putting on their best evening dresses and the ladies were transforming into queens and princesses one after another.

Wang Dongxue happily took out her white evening dress as she really liked her purchase which she had tried on several times on the previous night.

After changing into her dress, she looked at her reflection in the mirror satisfyingly. She looked even more beautiful when she matched her dress with the red ruby necklace given to her by He Nianying.

At that moment, Kong Lingling also stepped out of her changing room and stood before the mirror.

Her face turned gloomy when they both stood side-by-side.

One looked like a princess while the other looked like a maid.

Wang Dongxue was taller, fairer, and prettier than Kong Lingling.

Kong Lingling instantly looked like an accessory to Wang Dongxue when standing beside her.