

MEDICAL GOD CHAPTER 453

As she buried her face in her hands, she stood rooted to the spot and dared not even breathe a word.

Chuckling coldly, Xue Dalin then proceeded to leave.

By now, Little Miss Fox was too ashamed to even carry on with her stream and hastily ended it. This was the first time she had been slapped during a stream!

Even after she had turned off her phone, news of what had just happened continued to spread like wildfire. Although she wasn't streaming anymore, her live room was still bustling with viewers and bullet texts. It was so popular that it even made it to the homepage.

Just like Wang Dongxue from before, she was now the only thing viewers would talk about.

However, Wang Dongxue got to the homepage because everybody liked her and her content.

On the contrary, Little Miss Fox reached the homepage because everybody was just ranting about her in the live room.

As she had wished, she was now famous. But for the wrong reasons.

After several higher ups in Huyu were alerted of this situation, they immediately terminated her live room. Thus, Little Miss Fox now faced the hefty price of breaching their contract....

Wang Dongxue, on the other hand, paid no attention to what was happening. Instead, she was focusing on teaching people how to cook. And she was certainly getting more popular as the viewers liked her more and more.

After more than an hour, she finally ended her live stream. Although her fans' wishes mattered a lot to her, she had boarded this yacht to have a date with Qin Jun after all. She couldn't possibly spend the whole time live streaming.

After turning off her phone, the both of them subsequently had a whale of a time on the yacht. But as all good things came to an end, they finally reached the end of their journey.

After disembarking, Qin Jun was about to send Wang Dongxue home when he saw a notification on his phone.

"Malpractice in People's Hospital has led to the death of one patient. Family members have cornered the doctors that were responsible!"

Firstly, Qin Jun was a doctor. Thus, he paid more attention to news like that.

Secondly, the People's Hospital was where Lin Yueyao worked.

After tapping on the notification, he was greeted with a picture of a female doctor getting swarmed by a mob. It seemed as though there were many people grabbing on to her.

Although she had a mask and white coat on, Qin Jun could still tell that it was Lin Yueyao.

With a frown etched onto his face, he said, "Dongxue, why don't you go home by yourself first? Something seems to have cropped up with my cousin. I think I need to make a trip down to the hospital."

"Of course. Be careful, Jun."

After instructing Xue Dalin to arrange for her transport home, he drove straight to the People's Hospital.

By now, the People's Hospital had been swarmed by an army of reporters. The police had even been activated and were on the scene now. Several luxurious cars were parked in front of the hospital's doors to prevent anyone from going in or out.

Those BMWs had been driven all the way up the steps to block the entrance. It certainly looked like the work of the family members of the patient.

"Tell that doctor to get her sorry ass out here! If she's got the guts to let her patient die on her watch, why doesn't she have the guts to admit what she had done?"

"My brother is now dead because of you! I'm not going to let anybody in this hospital off the hook!"

"Reporters, please take a long hard look. This is a hospital filled with mediocre doctors. How dare they admit patients with their shitty standards?"

"Get out!"

"Get out!"

It certainly looked like no one was going to enter or exit through those doors anytime soon. All the police could do was maintain the law and order on the outside. After all, the patient's family members were now very unstable emotionally. They dared not act too rashly.

This immediately etched a frown into Qin Jun's forehead. However, this certainly wasn't about to stop him. He walked around a corner and came to the side wall of the hospital. Subsequently, he scaled the wall up to the second story and entered via the window in one of the toilets.

Meanwhile, Lin Yueyao was extremely busy in the operating theatre. Several specialists crowded around the sick bed with glum looks on their faces.

“Yueyao, stop wasting your energy. There isn’t any hope left for the patient.”

A middle aged man laid on the sick bed on the brink of death.
