

MEDICAL GOD CHAPTER 474

What greeted her sight gave Huang Yan the shock of her life when she looked upon her abdomen.

Yesterday, her abdomen was densely lined with stretch marks, both thick and thin.

Right now, nearly half of her stretch marks were gone and the remaining ones were also a lot lighter than before.

She stared down in shock, for a moment, she was unable to process what had happened. She had used plenty of products before but never had there been one that worked as well as this. And in such a short amount of time too!

She had not felt much different when she took it yesterday, other than the itchiness. After that, the dead skin seemed to slough off easily, the new skin underneath was as smooth and fair as a newborn baby.

Seeing how the remaining marks had lightened considerably, she was sure another two doses or so would get rid of them completely.

Elation swept through her and she charged towards Liu Qingqing's room, eager to share the good news.

"Qingqing! Get up and have a look!"

Liu Qingqing opened her eyes blearily and stared at her mother. Her tone was annoyed as she mumbled, "Mum, what are you doing?"

Lifting up her shirt, the older woman pointed at her abdomen. "Look!"

Liu Qingqing furrowed her brows and focused her attention on her mother's body. In a flash, she was wide awake.

"Huh?"

Reaching out to touch the skin, it felt nothing like how a fifty-year-old woman's was supposed to be. Instead, it felt more like an eighteen-year-old's.

Ever since Huang Yan had given birth to her child, her stretch marks had only gotten bigger and darker as she aged. This transformation truly was a wonder.

"You ate that medicine I prepared?"

"Yeah! This new product of yours is so amazing!"

Hurriedly changing into her work clothes, Liu Qingqing had a quick breakfast before she headed towards her company with the new product.

Once she arrived, she went straight toward the R&D department and called for a meeting.

As she finished talking about the new product, the people in the room looked at each other uncertainly.

"President Liu, you must be joking. How can it be possible for something to remove stretch marks in one day?"

The women sitting in the meeting room currently were experts in the cosmetics field. Their main area of research was the human skin and they had once created a subdivision in charge of developing a product for stretch marks. Alas, no matter how hard they tried, the effects were always very minimal.

The process of pregnancy stretched out a woman's skin so much that she was usually left with permanent scar tissue in the form of stretch marks. Even the most effective product they had come up with could only help a little bit. Usually, it was more of a psychological effect than anything.

There was a confident smile on Liu Qingqing's face as she replied, "If this drug is really so miraculous, the market demand for it would be immense."

The experts laughed. "Naturally. Women are the biggest consumers of cosmetics, especially married women. After marriage, they're usually more willing and able to spend more money on skincare products. If this drug works, we'll definitely break our own sales record."

Liu Qingqing nodded. "Great. I've already gotten the formula for this drug and tested it in a preliminary clinical trial. We can move on to the next phase of the trials."

Her staff knitted their brows and asked in disbelief, "President Liu, are you serious?"

Pointing at her own face, Liu Qingqing answered calmly, "Do I look like I'm joking?"

Her face was the best piece of evidence they needed that showed there could indeed be wonder drugs out there.

After all, these members of her staff all knew how she looked like before. For her to change from an ugly freak into a world-class beauty overnight was nothing less than a miracle.