

MEDICAL GOD CHAPTER 659

Master Huang Wenjin was a renowned and well-respected Chinese physician in the country. He still excelled in so many different areas despite being in his nineties.

Now that the old master had passed away, no one knew who would be leading the panel since there were only a few prominent Chinese physicians in the country. This had become one of the trendiest discussion topics.

“Should be Dr. Yan, right? He’s one of the pioneers in the country, so he’s definitely qualified.”

“I think it’s Dr. Zhong. He excels in so many different areas, particularly in the field of pediatrics. Do you know how difficult it is to treat children?”

“Now that Old Master Huang is no longer with us, Dr. Yan and Dr. Zhong are both highly-qualified doctors who deserve to lead the panel.”

Qin Jun also came across some of these discussions on the Internet, but netizens’ comments did not bother him.

He received a text message from Su Wenqi, “I heard they’ll be airing The Chinese Medicine Forum soon. Do you want a ticket? I can get you one.”

Qin Jun smiled, “No thank you. I have access to the show.”

Su Wenqi responded with a thumbs up emoji, “Gonna get back to work now. Bye!”

It was very nice of Su Wenqi to think of him even when she had a hectic schedule, and Qin Jun appreciated that.

Not only was Qin Jun able to get in, but he was also the leader of the panel. Su Wenqi would be surprised if she saw him on screen.

Qin Jun gave Ye Wan'er and Kong Fanlin a call, and they both arrived at the television station.

Kong Fanlin was very excited about this, "Mr. Qin, I can be your assistant if you need me."

Qin Jun nodded, "Yes, I'd need extra help on certain cases. You sit beside me then."

Kong Fanlin rubbed his fists and responded steadily, "Ok! I'll try my best!"

Though he was relatively young compared to some of the more senior physicians, Kong Fanlin was still a certified Master of Traditional Chinese Medicine. Yet, he was worried that things might go south during the live broadcast.

"Mr. Qin, I'll start preparing now."

Kong Fanlin skipped dinner and went straight to the mall to buy new clothes and get his hair done.

Kong Fanlin had been on television shows before, so he knew maintaining an image was important. He would not want to look old before the camera.

Ye Wan'er was just as exhilarated. She had no official training in Traditional Chinese Medicine and had never studied in the university, but she was still given a chance to be Qin Jun's assistant on the show. It would be an experience she would be proud of.

When Ye Wan'er and Qin Jun were having their dinner, two women walked past them. They were talking about the show.

"Hey, do you manage to get tickets to the show?"

"Yea. Here, two tickets. I'm the chief nurse, so of course, I can easily get two tickets to the show."

They then found a spot and sat next to Qin Jun. One of them saw Ye Wan'er and exclaimed, "Ye Wan'er?"

Ye Wan'er knitted her brows, "What are you doing here?"

These two women named Liu Yu and Chi Mei were Ye Wan'er's high school classmates.

During their high school years, they aspired to work in the healthcare industry just like Ye Wan'er. Unfortunately, Ye Wan'er did not get to pursue her lifelong dream when her family fell apart. She did not have a chance to sit for the college entrance examinations.

Chi Mei gave her a sarcastic look, "Long time no see, Ye Wan'er. Where are you working now?"

Ye Wan'er did not feel like entertaining them, but she had to be professional.

"I'm working in a medical center."
