

MEDICAL GOD CHAPTER 694

Yu Qiang behaved like a big-time boss and gave people the false impression that he was a generous boss.

He took out his phone and dialed a number in front of everyone.

“Hello? Ren Lu, how are our sales today?”

On the other end of the phone, Ren Lu smiled bitterly. “Mr. Yu, I sold a car today.”

“It’s fine. It doesn’t matter if you sold one more car or none at all. I’m in no shortage of money. Hurry up and come over for dinner.”

“Okay, Mr. Yu.”

A smile crept onto Yu Qiang’s face. He had acted out on purpose.

Ren Lu was not supposed to work overtime today. In order to deliberately show off to his classmates, Yu Qiang assigned more tasks to him, just so he could make this call and look good in front of his classmates.

After he hung up the call, everyone started whispering to one another.

“We used to be classmates. Now that he’s a manager, he still manages the relationship well. Yu Qiang is really considerate.”

“That’s right. We couldn’t tell back then when we were in school. Mr. Yu didn’t have the best grades, but he’s become so capable now.”

“Some people’s capabilities have nothing to do with their grades. Mr. Yu was born gifted.”

Listening to all the different compliments, he truly enjoyed being under the moon amongst the stars. Yu Qiang tried his best to control his smile. “Actually, I put in a lot of effort to achieve this.”

Between all the chatter and the laughter, Ren Lu arrived shortly. He wore a black suit and a white shirt. Anyone could tell at a glance that he was a salesman.

“I apologize for arriving late.”

Yu Qiang smiled. “It’s okay. It was all for the business. Anyway, park my car over there.”

He tossed the keys to Ren Lu.

The latter was momentarily taken aback, an awkward expression on his face.

There was a valet service for customers of the hotel. Yu Qiang deliberately asked Ren Lu to park his car for him to showcase his superiority in front of everyone else.

Embarrassed, Ren Lu smiled weakly but said nothing. Working for Yu Qiang meant he had to keep his head down. It was more important to keep his job.

“Ren Lu!”

At this moment, Qin Jun called out and walked out from amidst the crowd.

Ren Lu had a look of surprise on his face.

“Holy cow! Qin! You’re actually back!”

Ren Lu knew about the hardships that befell the Qin family back then, but he was a nobody who could do nothing to offer any kind of help. In the end, he lost contact with Qin Jun.

It was a pleasant surprise indeed to run into Qin Jun at this class reunion!

Qin Jun stepped forward, grabbed the car keys in Ren Lu’s hand and tossed them toward the valet. Then they walked into the hotel, shoulder to shoulder.

The valet quickly took the keys and parked the BMW.

Yu Qiang’s face darkened. This Qin Jun really knew how to act.

“Hehe, okay. Let’s head in for dinner.”

Ajisen was a Japanese restaurant. Upon walking in, everyone was served according to Japanese customs. They also hired the chefs from Japan, which made the food even more authentic.

Yu Qiang booked a large private room with a long tatami table, so everyone could sit together.

Once everyone was seated, the waiter then asked, “Excuse me. Will you be dining at the buffet or ordering a la carte?”

Ordering from the a la carte menu would be relatively cheaper. The buffet was more expensive because one could eat everything that was available.

Ordinary working-class folks couldn't afford to pay 888 per head. If they wanted to taste authentic Japanese cuisine, they would opt to order a few special dishes.

Everyone agreed upon this beforehand. In order to have a pleasant dining experience, they would fork out 888.
