

MEDICAL GOD CHAPTER 760

Everyone knew fraudsters staged accidents all the time, but Chen Yuan had never seen or heard of anyone using a child's life to stage an accident.

How evil would one have to be in order to kill one's flesh and blood for money?

Terrified, she felt goosebumps on her skin as dizziness threatened to take over her.

The child's mother was agitated by Qin Jun. Holding her child's lifeless body, she stood up and pointed at him.

"What the hell are you talking about? How dare you suggest the possibility of me killing my son! If you continue any of your nonsense, I'll make sure the police arrest you too!"

Qin Jun smiled sarcastically. "Very well, call the police then! I'd like to see you try."

The expression on the woman's face froze before she continued, "My son is already dead. There's no undoing that even if the two of you are arrested. I want my compensation. Give me one million in an hour or else I'll not go easy on you!"

The moment she finished, a few men surrounded the two of them.

Chen Yuan realized the woman had plotted everything with the people recording the scene just now.

She moved closer to Qin Jun as she shivered in fear.

"See? They are child traffickers." Qin Jun smiled coldly.

Chen Yuan felt astonished.

“You heard me. The kid is only one of the many children they abducted. They must have discovered his illness after the kidnap. To avoid suspicion, they feed him poison and kill him to save them the trouble of going to the hospital. It’s a mere convenience for them to use this opportunity to trick an unlucky doctor. In this case, you are that poor doctor.”

Chen Yuan had never been more astounded in her life. Her expression darkened. She could not believe the world comprised lunatics that held no regard for children’s lives.

Shameless!

The child’s “mother” narrowed her eyes and gave the men a signal to raise their clubs.

Their menacing looks scared Chen Yuan. She did not doubt their willingness to fight as their true colors were finally revealed.

They outnumbered her and Qin Jun.

If only... If only I believed him and stayed out of this!

Qin Jun scoffed at them, “Here? There’s hardly any space for us to move around here. Let’s go to the end of the train.”

“Sure! Don’t regret it.” The woman nodded.

Idiot! It will be an advantage to us if we fight far away from the other passengers! No one will be there to help you, haha!

Qin Jun patted Chen Yuan's shoulder and pulled her back to her seat. "Sit down. I'll go alone."

He shoved her to her seat as a group of men surrounded him and moved away from the compartment.

"Time to pay the price for being a busybody, rascal!" The men laughed at him.

He snorted, "Oh, is that so?"

Chen Yuan was sitting uneasily in her compartment. Feeling bad for leaving Qin Jun in the mess that she created, she tiptoed toward the end of the train with an empty glass bottle that she found on the floor, hoping to help him.
