

MEDICAL GOD CHAPTER 763

It was all thanks to Qin Jun and Chen Yuan for the revival of the supposedly dead child. Everyone was making fun of them as they cheered.

Chen Yuan blushed at their remark. She quickly sat down and covered her face with masks and pretended that she heard nothing.

The railroad police carried away the child. When they reached the station, they would transfer him to the civilian police and he should be back home finally.

Qin Jun returned to his seat after seeing the child off. Both he and Chen Yuan exchanged an awkward moment.

After spending a long time in silence, she finally nudged him gently with her thigh.

“Hey, thanks for everything.”

“Well, I suppose you are a good man, even though you may be a little horny.” She chuckled naughtily.

For the umpteenth time, Qin Jun was rendered speechless.

Really! What’s with all the accusations of me being a pervert!

The first impression was very important. The assumption of him taking advantage of her during her sleep stuck in her mind when she woke up.

After exchanging a few words, they had nothing else to say to each other. Finally, Chen Yuan turned around angrily.

“You are a man, for goodness’ sake! Can’t you take the initiative to ask for my number?”

“Okay, fine! What’s your number?”

She rolled her eyes. Must you be so reluctant?

After exchanging numbers, she got off the car with a satisfied smirk on her face.

They parted ways at the train station. A pretty girl who looked younger than Ye Wan’er chauffeured her and Qin Jun.

“Cousin, here!”

Ye Wan’er dragged Qin Jun toward the girl.

“Jun, this is my cousin Su Momo; Momo, this is Qin Jun.”

“Hello, Mr. Qin!” Momo greeted him politely with a friendly smile.

“Get in! I’ll drive you to my house first.”

They got on a Toyota that cost about a hundred thousand.

From the ladies' conversation, Qin Jun found out that Momo was Ye Wan'er's cousin from her mother's side in Sheng City. They were on very good terms, although they were not closely related to each other.

Su Momo also grew up in a family full of successful doctors and medical scientists.

Despite her young age, she was already the director of the dentistry department of her hospital.

"Cousin, have you gotten the tickets?"

Ye Wan'er replied, "Yes, that can be done online."

"Oh! The online tickets are for the audience! You have to get the contestant tickets if you want to take part in the contest!"

"Gosh, I know nothing about that! Now I have entrance tickets instead of contestant tickets! What shall I do, Momo?"

She did not come all the way from Sheng City to be an audience for the contest. The reason she came was to test her abilities as she was already learning under the guidance of experts like Qin Jun and Kong Fanlin for so long.

I'm going to waste this trip if I don't get a ticket!

Su Momo racked her brain. "You can ask Ting when we get home. I think she can get one for you."

Ye Wan'er frowned at the mention of their cousin. Evidently, she was not on good terms with the other cousin, but she did not protest either.

What if she failed to get the ticket? She couldn't possibly risk that.

It was difficult to seek help from people in an unfamiliar place.
