

My Evil Genius Wife

Volume 1

Chapter 230 - She looked different!!

‘ We’re here.’ Han Zihao halted the car in front of the Global Building’s entrance and glanced at Xu Nuan, who was dozing off beside him. Her chestnut brown hair was partially covering her face, revealing her lustrous pinkish lips.

He pursed his lips remembering when she kissed him passionately in her drunken state and left him burning in the middle. He couldn’t help but take a deep breath, thinking about her torture.

She has her eyes closed with her head resting against the closed windows. Earphones were stuffed into her ears as she was listening to music before she fell into the world of dreams.

Since they left the cemetery, she didn’t say a single word to him. She was ignoring him as if he didn’t exist. She was looking out of the window and was pouting during the whole ride back home.

It wasn’t even a mystery to him why she was angry. She has shown her displeasure to him, a while ago quite evidently.

‘ Erm...It’s quite late. You go up and freshen up while I prepare the dinner.’ He said, trying to make her talk to him. However, she didn’t even glance at him before opening the car door and entering the building, leaving him stunned.

’ Seems like the situation is more serious than I had thought.’ He pursed his lips, seeing how cold and angry she looked.

He thought that it would be better for her to tell him the truth first. Well, he would be lying if he says that he wasn't enjoying her panicked, troubling state.

He was shocked at first upon knowing that she was Jiang Yue and was alive. But after he got adjusted to this truth, her excuses seemed funny and enjoyable to him. He wasn't expecting her to get this angry though, what's there to be angry after all?

He was confused.

'Sir,' As he was trying to understand her actions, someone knocked on the car window. He looked up and saw the guard knocking on it.

'Sir, you can't park the car here. This is the entrance of the building.' The guard said hesitantly, worried that he might snap back at him. Rich people generally do that, they treat the staff working under them as their servants, forgetting the basic respect for others.

'Hah!' Xu Nuan shut the door behind her and stood against it, exhausted. Her body was feeling weak and her legs were wobbly.

She stood there with her back against the door and groaned in embarrassment thinking about the lame excuses that she made in the past. Despite knowing the truth, he watched her from afar and played with her.

Although she doesn't know how he finds out the truth, she was angry. She was annoyed at the fact that he hid it from her for a long time. Knowing everything, he still asked the questions that put her in a tight spot.

Wait....Did he start liking me because of that? She pursed her lips as she couldn't help but wonder about this question. She didn't tell him the truth in the first place because she wanted to charm him as a woman first, not Jiang Yue.

Because Jiang Yue in his memories holds a certain image and personality. In years they were apart, she changed, her choices changed and her circumstances changed. That's why she wanted him to love Xu Nuan first so that she can reveal the truth to him later.

‘ Ah, Xu Nuan, STOP it. Stop overthinking for god's sake.’ She shook her head violently to remove those negative thoughts from it.

‘ It's good that the truth has been revealed. Now I don't need to pretend to be good anymore.’ she sighed in relief, patting her chest with a fist.

Although she was living her life, sometimes she has to ignore things as she doesn't want to be caught by others, otherwise, would Xingren be unharmed till now even after messing with her numerous times?

She took a deep breath to calm herself. However, upon remembering his indifferent expressions earlier when she was struggling to tell him the truth, the embarrassment caught her again.

She took a sharp breath and scoffed, ‘ Han Zihao, you think this is all fun right? Since I was displaying my moral side to you, you must have taken me for granted.’

‘ But seems like you don’t know that Jiang Yue is not a good girl, she was known for her bitchy personality too,’ she smirked evilly, receiving a silent response from the walls.

Since Han Zihao is aware of her real self now, she will introduce herself to him properly now. He needs to know the real Jiang Yue too.

It’s her turn to have fun now.

Since he had fun watching her from the sidelines all along, it’s her time to have fun now.

‘ Let the real game begin!!’ she smirked and flipped her hair back coolly before walking to the bedroom in Jiang Yue’s Queen style

He already plated the dishes prettily on the table and messaged her to come over for dinner, but it’s been 20 minutes since then and she hasn’t arrived yet.

‘Is she still angry about it? But it wasn’t something to be furious over.’ He mumbled, thinking how she was being unreasonable.

She was planning to tell him the truth anyway. What’s the difference if he found out himself or she told him? It’s not like he wanted to anyway, it was all a coincidence.

~Ding~

As he was fretting over the food that was getting cold, the doorbell rang.

‘ Ah, Is she at the door? Why is she ringing the bell rather than punching the password, like she usually does?’ He walked towards the door while trying to relax his facial muscles.

He just needs to act normal. Then everything will be fine.

‘ Why were you ringing the doorbell? Is the device not working? You could have just-

As soon as he opened the door, his words were forced to swallow when he saw her standing outside his door. His mouth was left agape seeing her appearance as he stared at her in pure shock.
