Chapter 1331

After that, Matthew then went to find Old Master Sandel.

Straight-forwardly, the former told him about Philip as soon as they met.

Originally, the old master kept vehemently denying the fact about another backer, but he only could admit it after discovering that it was Old Master Leigh that outed him.

Mumbling, he kept saying that Old Master Leigh was a failure through and through.

In the end, he was also shocked when Matthew showed the report.

He had never thought that his secret that he had hidden for so many years would actually be found out.

After that, Matthew locked both Old Master Sandel and Old Master Leigh together.

As for what would happen next wasn't a worry to him.

Excluding the Leighs, the other five main family members had all been disposed of by Tiger at this point.

As for the others, they were all banished out of Eastcliff's borders and forbidden to ever return again.

The next day arrived with Billy leaving Eastcliff.

Only Ken followed him.

His other trusted aides meanwhile all remained in Eastcliff, as this was what he had planned for his daughter.

That afternoon, Matthew went to see Brittany.

Although she looked no different from always, there was a certain melancholy in her gaze.

At first, one would think that she did not know anything about this but in fact, she had already grasped the truth about a lot of things.

After a week, Matthew suddenly received an invitation letter from the Eastcliff's Ten Greatest Families, inviting him to attend a banquet in their city.

Matthew had already prepared himself, as he knew that this would eventually come.

He knew that this was the time to draw the line between them.

Charlie and Evelyn, who were just laughing, stopped the moment they saw Matthew.

With gaping mouths, the trio stared at each other for a while.

"A-Am I seeing things?"

Evelyn muttered in shock, to which Lily also mumbled, "Did I just see Matthew?"

Evelyn then exclaimed on the spot, "Right? You saw him too, didn't you? It's Matthew, isn't it? Was I mistaken? That is Matthew, isn't it?"

With a sour expression, Charlie nodded.

"That's right. It's that b*stard. Strange, though. Why would he come here?"

Thinking about the previous incidents, Lily whispered in shock, "Say, do you think that he was invited by them?"

Shaking his head, Charlie replied, "How can that be? This is Eastshire, not Eastcliff! Even if he was a bit capable in Eastcliff, he's just some nobody in Eastshire! On top of that, the Ten Greatest Families of Eastshire have bad blood with Billy. With Matthew being his friend, why would they even invite him here?"

Turning around, Matthew saw Claire with a few people behind her and they all looked on smugly at him.
Not far away, Charlie and the trio were looking sneeringly at him.

All this made him speechless.

Some time ago, he had received the news that the trio had gone to Eastshire, saying something about making a name for themselves over there and swearing to overshadow him.

He did not think that he would bump into them as soon as he arrived. It seemed like enemies see each other more often than friends do.

Not in the mood to argue about this, Matthew just walked inside without even replying.

His actions made Claire angry, as she grabbed onto his shirt.

"Hey a*shole, did you hear me speak? What, are you trying to run away after being found out?"

Angered by her, Matthew stared at Claire and said sternly, "A word of advice—if you don't have the

Pointing at Matthew, Claire said, "It's this trash that came from Eastcliff. I'm not sure how he sneaked in, but he has been acting suspiciously like a thief. After we stopped him, he even injured one of us, Look at what happened to my brother!"

Hearing that the person was from Eastcliff, the head of security instantly looked down on him.

Walking smugly to Matthew, he observed him from head to toe before saying nonchalantly, "You, come with us!"

The head of security was very high on his horse at the moment.

Glancing at him, Matthew asked, "And why should I do that?"

Sneering, he replied, "Because I'm the head of security for the hotel, and I suspect that you sneaked in without an invitation and want to steal stuff!"

Taking out an invitation card, Matthew said, "This is my invitation. Do you want to check?"

Snatching it over, the head of security threw it to his subordinates without even looking.

Everyone at the scene was flabbergasted at that explanation.

All of them surrounded him and stared at the invitation card; even the leader of the security guards approached him with wide eyes.

Sure enough, written on the invitation card were ten names—the names of the heads of the Ten Greatest Families! Everyone was stunned.

This was a situation that none of them had ever encountered.

After a while, a man suddenly broke into laughter.

"Ha! This is hilarious! This is the first time I see such a poor fake! If you want to fake an invitation letter, please choose a family and put the name on it. Why did you put the names of all the heads of the families on the card instead? What were you thinking? Were you worried that others won't realize that it's a fake?"

Upon hearing that, the crowd, who were initially shocked, burst into laughter.

Every year, the families would invite a few people to join the gathering of the Ten Great Families of Eastshire.

Nonetheless, no matter how high that person's status was, he or she would only receive an invitation from one of the family, so there would only be one name on the invitation card.

Chapter 1337

Upstairs, the higher-ups of the Ten Greatest Families were indeed watching the commotion downstairs.

Their initial plan was to use the young people downstairs to give Matthew a warning, but none of them had expected that Matthew would make an unconventional move by starting a fight.

Looking at the young people of their families yelling and crying due to the beating, the heads of the families were so pissed that their bodies started trembling.

"He is such a savage! And brutal too! How could someone like him exist? That's outrageous!"

one of the heads of the families thundered, to which another head of the family muttered, "What do we do now? Should we send someone down to stop him?"

Everyone turned their gaze to Philip, who was sitting in the innermost part of the room, as he was the leader among them. He slowly shook his head and uttered, "Send someone down to stop Matthew and invite him up here"

The crowd was stunned to hear that, and the head of the Fisher Family responded in a fluster, "Master White, are we going to just let this slide? He's making a scene downstairs and has injured our men! Shouldn't we beat him up? If we invite him upstairs now, won't he think that we are actually afraid of him?"

Philip darted a look at him.

"So what? Should we directly wage a complete war with him outside? What about the negotiation if we drive him away?"

Chapter 1338

At that point, even Claire was dumbfounded.

If the head of the Turner Family was the only one present at the scene, she wouldn't pay much heed to Matthew.

After all, the Turner Family had succeeded the Hughes Family and had been recently promoted as one of the Ten Greatest Families.

Hence, the Turner Family's position wasn't high among the Ten Greatest Families due to their limited strength, and so she didn't take them seriously.

However, now that all the heads of the families had come down to welcome Matthew, things were actually much more serious.

At the very least, it proved that Matthew wasn't someone she could afford to mess with! Charlie and the others were so frightened that they started quivering and they couldn't even utter a word.

Never in a million years would they have thought that something like this would happen! Philip and the others approached Matthew with obsequious smiles.

"Mr.Larson, we walked too slow, so we came down late.Please forgive us if we ever offended you!"

The others apologized to Matthew as well, but all of them wore different expressions.

After Matthew had walked away, Claire led the other rich kids and together, they dragged Charlie and his friends to a corner.

The reason they had faced such a brutal punishment that night was thanks to the trio.

Hence, sparing them was out of the equation.

Meanwhile, Matthew entered the largest private room located at the penthouse and sat down together with the heads of the Ten Greatest Families.

Philip began the discussion.

"Mr.Larson, let's get down to business.Billy Newman has left and he won't be coming back, so someone should take over his legacy.Many years ago, the Ten Greatest Families made an agreement with Mr.Newman that we would be given priority in taking over everything that belonged to Mr.Newman in Eastcliff if he leaves.What do you say, Mr.Larson?"

Upon hearing that, Matthew answered, "I'm sorry, but I have never heard about this agreement from Mr.Newman.Besides, although he has left, his daughter is still around.Therefore, his descendent should be taking over all the assets that Mr.Newman left behind, no?"

In other words, Matthew implied that the Ten Greatest Families had no rights to inherit Billy's properties since they were not Billy's descendents.

All the heads of the families were annoyed, but the head of the Fisher Family was the first to voice out his rage by smacking the table.

"Master Levi? Ha! Coincidentally, I just had lunch with him in the afternoon. He said that the Fisher Family from Eastshire has gone too far this time, so the customs in Eastshire are something that needs to be changed"

The expressions of heads of the Ten Great Families instantly sank.

In other words, Master Levi had meant to tell them that he sided with the Prince and Matthew! Everyone turned to Philip at that.

Philip was livid with anger. He never thought that things would escalate to this point.

"Although Master Levi is the King of the South, this is still a matter of the Eastshire, after all. It's a little inappropriate for Master Levi to step into our family issue!" he growled through gritted teeth.

"Don't worry. Master Levi had no time to meddle in this annoying matter. However, Matthew's my buddy, so his problem is mine as well. There shouldn't be a problem for me to help him, right?"

Philip's expression eased a little. He then coldly glared at Matthew.
