

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 1044

East End Nation was in an uproar!

The news of what happened in the abode of the True Hegemon of Beasts quickly spread throughout the nation.

When countless people heard the news, they were stunned on the spot.

What kind of brazen villain would dare to slaughter primordial scions and even eat them? Moreover, it was that same villain who stole all the treasures in the True Hegemon's abode.

He had even started a massacre and killed countless people from not only the three major factions but also the primordial scions.

What was even more shocking was that the person was only a young man.

"How savage! How brazen!"

Everyone exclaimed and passionately discussed that person's identity.

Many factions were furious and sent people to search everywhere.

The blood lion and black tiger tribes were even more furious.

"It's that damned kid again!"

"Investigate! Find out the identity of that kid with the pot. I'll report it to the Divine Mountain and exterminate his family!"

The two tribes flocked to every corner of East End Nation to search for traces of the kid with the pot.

For a time, purple streaks and black meteors could be seen everywhere in the sky of East End Nation. Many cultivators had died tragically under the hands of those primordial scions.

Everyone in the East End Nation was in a state of panic.

The title of "the kid with the pot" had also spread. When people talked about that brazen villain, they would refer to him as the kid with the pot.

A few days later, a fierce giant green bird flew across the sky of East End Nation. It circled the nation several times, which caused a sensation.

Tang Hao, who was sitting on the Ninth Mountain, also saw it.

"Is that the divine envoy?" Tang Hao muttered.

Each Divine Mountain had its divine envoys, which would sweep the skies whenever a major incident occurred.

Throughout history, countless sects had been destroyed by the divine envoys.

That was also why the primordial scions had an elevated status. No one dared to offend them.

“Hmph!”

Tang Hao looked at the bird and sneered.

“Sooner or later, I’ll pluck your feathers and roast your meat!” He said coldly.

He was not fond of other races that lorded over humans.

Strictly speaking, primordial scions could be considered rakshas, but they had noble bloodlines. They maintained their animal forms because they looked upon humanoids with disdain.

Tang Hao would not eat them if they had humanoid forms. If they remained in their animal forms, Tang Hao did not hesitate at all.

After the bird left, he closed his eyes and continued to comprehend cultivation techniques.

It had been five days since he returned from Darklight Mountain. He gathered another streak of nascent qi for a total of seven.

Now, he was comprehending an ice-type cultivation technique, which would be his eighth streak.

To him, the more nascent qi he had, the better. If possible, he would gather dozens of streaks. That way, he could crush his opposition just by quantity alone.

Another ten days passed, and he successfully gathered the ninth streak.

“What should I gather next?” Tang Hao wondered.

He could not go to the Void Realm for the time being. After rummaging through the loot from the True Hegemon’s abode, he did not find any good cultivation techniques. The techniques he found were mostly about raising beasts, such as how to hatch eggs and how to feed them.

After pondering for a long time, he thought of the evil will in his body.

‘I wonder if I can gather it. If I can, it should be as strong as the nascent qi of the Path of Life and Death.’

Not all streaks of nascent qi were the same. For example, the nascent qi gathered from the Path of Life and Death was stronger than ordinary flame or lightning nascent qi.

He thought that he might as well give it a try.

As he sat under the epiphany tree, he lost track of time.

Half a month later, Tang Hao opened his eyes. His eyes flashed with malice, but it quickly dissipated.

He stood up and went down the mountain to retrieve spirit stones. After returning, he began to gather the nascent qi.

Very soon, the tenth streak of nascent qi was born.

“I can enter the Void Realm now!”

Tang Hao murmured, and the killing intent in his eyes surged.

Previously, he had avoided the Coronation Battle because his cultivation base was not strong enough. Now, he was confident that he could fight against the other eternal monsters.

He took out the voidstone and went to the Void Realm.

When he walked out of the entrance, the people crouching there were all stunned and turned pale with fright.

“Run! Run! That guy is here again!”

They scrambled to their feet and fled.

At the same time, someone also spread the news. In a short while, the entire First Region was in an uproar. Many people tried to escape, while many people stayed behind and laughed at Tang Hao.

“Hah! That coward is finally here! He only bullies the weak but fears the strong! Is he even a man? He ought to challenge the three eternal monsters if he has the guts!”

“That’s right! That guy is too shameless!”

However, as soon as they finished laughing, a shocking piece of news came.

Nameless Qin had specifically challenged the eternal monster of the Jiang family!

“Haha, the kid finally grew some balls! This’ll be a great show!”

“Heh, he’s definitely no match for the Jiang family’s eternal monster. He’ll be killed.”

Everyone was excited and rushed to the small town.

When the news reached the real world, the entire First Continent was in an uproar.

Finally, the first battle of the seven eternal monsters was about to begin!

“Let’s go and watch the show!”

All over the First Continent, countless people from the various large factions rushed to their respective Halls of the Void Realm to watch the battle.

The Jiang family was even more excited.

“Haha! It’s time for the Jiang family to take revenge!”

“Tianwu, you must defeat him and avenge our Jiang Family!”

The old monsters of the Jiang family were extremely excited.

Previously, the Jiang family’s patriarch had been killed, and they had become a subject of ridicule. Now, it was a good opportunity to vindicate themselves.

“Don’t worry! Killing that guy will be effortless!”

Jiang Tianwu was full of confidence.

Every Golden Core cultivator in the Jiang family gathered and went to the Void Realm.

“Hmph! That Qin guy has finally appeared!”

In the Feng family, Princess Feng clenched her fists tightly and gritted her teeth in anger.

That b*stard had caused her death twice. She still resented it.

“I want to see how he dies!”

She grunted angrily, took out her voidstone, and entered the Void Realm.

The eternal monsters of the Great Allheaven Sect and the Yao family heard the news and went to the Void Realm too.

In an instant, the second level of the Void Realm became the gathering place of the First Continent. Countless people poured in endlessly. The entrances were packed with people.

Such a grand occasion had not happened for many years.

Tang Hao sat cross-legged in the plaza and closed his eyes in meditation.

Groups of people poured in and congregated on the streets, on the roofs, and in the sky. It was impossible to count all of them.

“I’m here, Qin!”

Suddenly, a shout could be heard from not far away.

A long line of people was flying toward the plaza. The young man in front of the line had a handsome but stern face, and he was none other than Jiang Tianwu.
