

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 1377

Tang Hao's expression darkened.

The anger in his heart burned even more intensely.

He snorted and disappeared. When he reappeared, he was not far away from the group of people. Without a word, he raised his spear.

"Who is it?"

The group of people were shocked.

"It's that Shi guy!"

They recognized him, and they were both shocked and angry.

"Shi, you dare!"

"Quickly block it!"

They cried out in shock and took out their Dao artifacts to block the attack.

They knew that this man with the surname Shi had extraordinary strength, so they didn't dare to underestimate him.

Bang!

They blocked the attack together, but Tang Hao had already drawn his red bow. The reincarnation boat flew out from above his head, and a yin-yang wheel appeared in front of his chest.

He pulled the bow and drew the string. He poured all his strength into it and shot an arrow.

When the group of people saw this, they were so scared that their faces turned pale.

Tribulation weapons were not something that ordinary people could possess. In the Dong Lin star field, there were indeed a lot of tribulation weapons, but they were generally in the hands of immortal powerhouses. For young people like them, only the best among them could obtain tribulation weapons bestowed by the clan.

This Shi guy came from a remote Starfield, so there should be even fewer tribulation weapons there. How did he get one?

They didn't even have time to think. With a Swoosh, the Golden Arrow shot out, carrying a Supreme divine might. It brazenly arrived, easily tearing through their defenses and advancing layer by layer.

The strong defense formed by several Supreme-grade Dao artifacts collapsed immediately.

“Aaah!”

With a few shrieks, these people were sent flying.

“Let's go!”

They were scared out of their wits.

This Shi fellow was much more terrifying than they had expected.

“You want to leave? No way!”

Tang Hao turned the bow around and fired another arrow.

“Ah!”

There was a short scream, and a man fell to the ground.

He fired a few more arrows, and two more people were hit and exploded.

“You ... You can’t kill me. I ... I’m a member of the night race. You dare to kill me?”

The last person almost fainted when he saw Tang Hao catch up to him and block his way. He was trembling so badly that his teeth were chattering as he spoke.

Tang Hao’s face was expressionless. He smashed the cauldron over and killed the man.

After collecting the items from these people, he stood on the spot with an extremely gloomy expression.

Right now, there should be people looking for him everywhere in the trial zone. They wanted to use his traces to exchange for the equal heaven token.

Once his whereabouts were exposed, he would definitely be hunted down by that group of people.

The best option at the moment was to hide or change his appearance, but Tang Hao did not want to do that.

He could not take this lying down!

He had to take revenge, now!

He didn’t want to wait for the future. He had to teach those bastards a lesson now.

He furrowed his brows and fell into deep thought.

He looked around at the vast mountain range. Suddenly, he gritted his teeth, and a hint of ruthlessness flashed across his face. He muttered, ““You forced me to do this. Don’t blame me!”

With that, his figure moved and disappeared.

After a while, he appeared in front of a mountain peak. On the mountain peak, there was a huge nest. It was the nest of a group of golden-feathered Eagles.

The Golden-feathered Eagle was an ancient bird of prey. Its wings were like gold and iron, and it was extremely brutal.

There were more than a dozen golden-feathered Eagles in this group, and each of them should be at the level of two or three beheads. One of them might not be a big deal, but when there were more than a dozen of them, it was quite terrifying.

This lair was one of the most dangerous places in the trial zone, and it was even more famous than the Black Dragon Pool.

Ordinary people wouldn't even dare to get close.

Tang Hao released a wisp of his soul toward the nest. Soon, the nest was boiling, and angry howls could be heard coming from inside.

Then, giant Golden Eagles rushed out and chased after the split soul.

Tang Hao lowered his body and took the opportunity to rush into the nest.

In a corner of the nest, there were a few huge eggs that were taller than him.

Buzzzzzz!

A few golden-feathered Condors sensed something was wrong and flew back. When they saw Tang Hao, they charged at him angrily.

"I'm sorry!"

Tang Hao flicked his hand and put the eggs away. Then, his body flashed, and he shuttled through space, leaving the nest.

Behind him, the crazed screeches of the Eagles could be heard.

He kept his split soul and quickly moved on to his next destination.

It was a snake's nest, and a giant python at the immortal realm was resting inside.

In this place, the lair of an immortal realm beast was a forbidden area.

Tang Hao tore through space and entered the nest. He found a few snake eggs, which he immediately collected and ran away.

A moment later, the entire mountain shook violently. The giant python went crazy and rushed out of the cave. It was furious and let out a deafening hiss.

The sound of the snake immediately shook the entire trial zone.

"Oh my God! What's going on?"

"That direction, could it be that devil snake? Did someone go and provoke it?"

"Heavens! Why would anyone provoke that devil!"

When everyone heard this, they were all stunned.

From the sound, it was obvious that someone had provoked that devil snake. That was a ferocious beast at the immortal level. Who was so bold? Do you not want to live?

However, they didn't pay much attention to it. The devil snake's anger would subside after a while, so it wasn't a big deal.

"Where did that Shi guy go?"

"No, I didn't! There's nothing here either! He must be hiding! He must have slipped away!"

The group continued to search around.

However, after a while, they realized that something was wrong. There were constant explosions in that direction, and occasionally, there were cries of alarm and curses.

“What’s going on?”

They were all a little stunned.

“Run! That snake has gone crazy, killing anyone it sees!”

“Oh my God! That snake is eating people!”

Panicked shouts could be heard from the other side.

Then, they saw a group of people running over in a panic. All of them were pale, and behind them was an indescribably huge Python.

It twisted its body and crushed the ground, crushing all the trees and rocks. When it crashed into a mountain, even the mountain would shake and collapse.

Its eyes were scarlet red, and its ferocity was monstrous. It opened its bloody mouth and spewed out a black mist that spread in all directions.

Such ferocity was incomparably shocking.

Wherever it went, there was chaos.

“F * ck!”

Everyone was dumbfounded.

Before they could recover from their shock, another rumble came from the other direction. At the same time, the roars of apes shook the sky.

“What now?”

“That direction seems to be the territory of the demonic Ape King. Did someone go and provoke that Devil King?”

Everyone was in disbelief.

How crazy must he be to dare to provoke that Demon King!

Soon, they saw a demonic figure appear in that direction. It walked over with its head held high and a violent expression on its face. With a wave of its arm, mountains collapsed one after another.

It roared, grabbed the huge rock, and smashed it in all directions.

“Aahh!”

From time to time, someone would be hit and fly back while vomiting blood.

“Heavens ...”

Those who witnessed this all had pale faces and dazed expressions.

Soon after, another sound came from another direction, followed by an earth-shaking tiger’s roar.

Everyone’s body trembled, and their faces turned paler.

He was also an immortal Demon King!

“How could it be like this!”

“This is crazy! Why have you all gone crazy!”

They mumbled to themselves as they listened to the roars of the beasts coming from all directions. They were completely stunned.
