

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 1391

The wooden house was very simple and there was only a futon inside.

Tang Hao sat on it. Then, he felt his soul go into a daze. His entire body floated up. When he came back to his senses, he was already in an illusory space.

In front of him, a figure was floating. It was a white-haired old man.

“Young man, are you willing to accept my challenge?”

The old man said.

His expression was wooden, and his tone was mechanical.

“Please enlighten me!”

Tang Hao said seriously.

“Good! “Let me first introduce you. This is an illusion, and the flow of time is different from the outside world. Two hours outside is a month in here, and you have half a month here. Once the time is up, the challenge will end.”

The old man said.

“I’ll conjure up batches of plants and vegetation, and you’ll have to identify them. Not only will you have to tell me their names, but you’ll also have to tell me their medicinal properties. Only then will you be able to recognize one of them. ”

“You ... Do you understand?”

Tang Hao nodded.

“Alright then, let’s start!”

With that, the old man waved his hand, and a huge hourglass appeared beside him. “The hourglass has been emptied, and the time is up!”

Then, he waved his hand again, and a brilliant light appeared in all directions. Countless plants appeared, turning the place into a forest of colorful and dazzling plants.

There were flowers, grass, and towering trees.

Tang Hao looked around and immediately recognized all of them.

In the field of plants and vegetation, his attainments were extremely deep. Back when he had just arrived on Qi Yuan planet, he had painstakingly studied the knowledge of plants and vegetation and had mastered more than 100000 types.

Later, he went to the great void realm and exchanged for all the medicinal books and elixir Scriptures that could be exchanged. These were the oldest classics left behind by the great God of the great void. The medicinal books of plants included everything.

As long as it existed in ancient times, Tang Hao would recognize it.

His knowledge of plants and vegetation had already reached a terrifying level.

After he came out of Qiyuan, he also saw many new species, but these were nothing more than the mutation of ancient plants and vegetation that evolved. He had also collected many medicinal books and studied them carefully.

It could be said that he had taken into account the knowledge of plants and vegetation from both eras, and he had an unparalleled advantage.

This grass and wood ranking was also the ranking that he was most confident in breaking.

He took a few steps forward, raised his hand, and pointed at a flower, saying, "This medicine is called the mystic Fairy Flower. It was very famous in ancient times. There are even legends that say that it was formed from the tears of the mystic fairy."

"This is a rare spiritual essence of heaven and earth. You can directly consume it to increase your cultivation."

After Tang Hao said that, the flower disappeared.

Tang Hao turned his finger and pointed at another tree. It was a towering tree.

"This is black smoke wood. The material is as hard as gold and iron. It can be used to refine weapons. Its leaves can be used in medicine. After crushing it, a kind of spiritual liquid can be obtained, which can be used to harmonize medicinal pills."

As soon as he finished speaking, the giant tree disappeared.

"This medicine, is called ..."

"This piece of wood is ..."

Tang Hao's finger continued to point without pause. The plants disappeared one after another under his finger.

He did not hesitate at all. His tone was firm and revealed a strong self-confidence.

In the beginning, the old man's expression was still very wooden and there was no change at all. But gradually, he raised his eyelids and revealed a bit of surprise.

This kid ... Was very unusual!

This kind of aura, this kind of performance, was completely different from the others.

Those people would more or less hesitate, slow down, and some would even make mistakes, but this kid didn't. Up until now, he had recognized almost a thousand kinds and didn't pause at all.

He pointed at a certain herb and spoke as if he could recognize it with a single glance. Furthermore, he did not make a single mistake.

This kind of bearing was unhurried, free and at ease, and had the demeanor of a Grandmaster.

This kid was really not simple!

The more he looked, the stronger this feeling became.

Another unparalleled genius had appeared!

He thought to himself.

Tang Hao was still going on. He did not even take a breath. He was like a cannonball as he identified all ten thousand types of plants in the area.

When the last herb disappeared, the old man stood there in a daze, unable to recover from the shock.

He recognized all of them?

A whole 10,000 types, not a single one!

How could this be possible?

There were millions of plants in the world, and these ten thousand were all randomly selected. They included all kinds of species, and very few people could recognize all of them.

Counting carefully, there were probably no more than ten. Some of them even relied on luck.

He was definitely the first person in history to recognize all of them so quickly without a pause.

“Only 10000. Senior, please continue!”

Tang Hao said indifferently.

The old man came to his senses. He stared at Tang Hao and sighed. "You little brat, you do have some ability!" After he finished speaking, he waved his hand and another patch of grass and trees appeared.

"This time, you can't do it, can you, kid?"

He muttered to himself.

This time, he purposely chose some of the more difficult plants.

He had been in charge of this vegetation space for so many years and had tested countless people. Naturally, he knew which vegetation was difficult.

He wanted to test this kid and see how capable he was.

Tang Hao glanced at it, then pointed at one of the herbs and began to recognize it.

One after another, just like in the first round, there was no delay or hesitation.

The old man was stunned again.

"That's right! That's right! That's right. This kid ... What's going on? How could he have recognized it so quickly and so accurately? Is he really a monster?"

He was a little shocked to see the plants around him disappear at a flying speed.

Tang Hao stopped after a long while. He had identified ten thousand types of plants.

The old man was stunned for a long time before he reacted. With a wave of his hand, another patch of vegetation appeared.

This time, Tang Hao didn't immediately acknowledge him. Instead, he smiled at the old man. "Senior, don't you think that this is too slow?"

The old man was stunned and suspected that he had heard wrong.

"You ... What did you just say?"

"I said ... This is too slow!" Tang Hao repeated.

This time, the old man had heard it clearly. He was so angry that he almost jumped up and wanted to curse.

F * ck!

You call this slow?

"You don't even know how fast you are. Everyone else is dilly-dallying and hesitating. Their speed is walking, but you are flying.

You still think it's slow?

Then, he was puzzled. This kid's speed was already the fastest. How fast could he be?

"Senior, what do you think of this?"

Tang Hao's body flickered as he spoke. His divine soul suddenly split into two. One split, and then another. Soon, more than ten split souls had appeared.

The old man was dumbfounded when he saw more than ten Tang Haos standing there.

"Senior, do you think it's okay?"

The old man's mouth was wide open, but he had long been unable to speak.

Seeing that he had no reaction, Tang Hao began. There were more than ten Tang Haos with more than ten mouths. The speed was terrifying. The surrounding vegetation disappeared one by one.

In just a short while, 10000 types of plants were swept away.