

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 1615

The square was in an uproar.

Everyone looked at the list and cried out in surprise.

They could not believe that the results were real!

More than 2.5 million!

This result was too unbelievable! He had broken the highest record in the history of the elixir Association! What was even more shocking was that this was double the original record.

“Who is this Tang Dali?”

“Where did this peerless expert come from?”

They were even more puzzled.

The outside world was in an uproar, but in the grass and wood World, all the participating alchemists were dumbfounded.

They couldn't believe their eyes. The Wutian Marquis had been crushed and driven out of the vegetation world?

Who was this guy? He's too bold!

Also, what the hell was this? A star? What a joke! Could this kind of thing be created by humans?

“Oh my God ...”

The little pill Saint couldn't help but groan.

This star was too big, so big that it was terrifying.

When he turned around and saw the line of golden words that appeared on the list, his body trembled and he was completely stunned.

“Heavens!”

“This ... How is this possible?”

Soon, everyone also noticed it and was stunned.

A moment later, the surroundings were in an uproar. Everyone cried out in surprise and looked toward the star, wanting to see who this so-called Tang Dali was.

However, that star was too big. It was shrouded in clouds and smoke, so he couldn't see it clearly at all.

They could only see the brilliant light as vast as the sea on the star. Each ball of light represented a patch of grass and trees. The brighter it was, the higher the grade.

“Look, those most dazzling lights are all divine level plants! One ball, two balls ... Oh my God! So many, I can’t even count them. Just how many divine rank plants has he planted?”

Although they didn’t find any trace of that person, they discovered something even more shocking.

On this planet, there were god tier plants and vegetation everywhere. There were so many that it was unbelievable.

This discovery left everyone dumbfounded.

It was very difficult to evolve a divine-level plant, and it was even more difficult to grow it. For example, those old monsters with Nine Cauldrons had no problem growing dozens of them. However, this guy had grown so many of them. It was simply unbelievable.

“Tang Dali? I’ve never heard of it!”

Master yunguang’s brows were tightly furrowed as he desperately tried to figure out who this expert Tang Dali was. However, no matter how hard he racked his brains, he couldn’t find any clues.

He had never heard of someone with such terrifying skill in the Dao of plants and vegetation.

After boiling for a long time, the surroundings gradually recovered.

There were islands and continents flying over continuously, and names kept appearing on the list. Many of them made it into the top ten, but no one could shake the first place. The score of over 2.5 million was like a huge mountain, pressing down on everyone’s heart, making them breathless every time they looked at it.

This result was simply too shocking. It was unprecedented, and probably would not be repeated in the future.

“He must be a peerless master!”

Everyone looked at the star from time to time, revealing a look of admiration.

After more than half a month, all the participants had gathered and the list was complete. With the sound of the Dao Bell, the souls were sent out of the grass and wood World and returned to the square.

They opened their eyes and looked at the gold roll in the air. They were shocked again.

“This elixir gathering is truly filled with hidden dragons and crouching tigers!”

For example, the little Alchemy saint’s expression was even more serious.

The competition was already very intense. There were all kinds of old monsters with Nine Cauldrons and young geniuses. Now that such a powerful figure had appeared, the difficulty of fighting for the first place was undoubtedly even greater.

They stood up and looked around, trying to find this mysterious expert. However, there were so many people that they couldn't find him.

"Be good! It seems to be a Little Big!"

In the crowd, Tang Hao opened his eyes and looked around. He could not help but shrink his neck.

"Tang kid, get out here!"

At this moment, Marquis Wutian roared as he rode a true dragon and circled around.

His face was ashen, and his anger soared to the sky. The might of a Saint spread out, and the crowd in the square was breathless.

Everyone looked up with a strange expression.

"This seems to be the first time Marquis Wutian has suffered a loss in history!"

"He's really unlucky!"

Everyone discussed in low voices. They wanted to laugh but didn't dare to.

Marquis Wutian shouted for a long time, but no one stood up. He snorted angrily."Just you wait, Tang kid. I let you get first place in the first round, but the first place in the second round, the third round, and the final round will all be mine. No one can compete with me for the first place!"

After he finished speaking, he retracted his aura.

"This guy is quite cocky!"

Tang Hao mumbled and pouted.

In the grass and wood World, he had naturally bumped into him on purpose. He was just unhappy to see this guy's nose in the air and thinking that he was the number one in the world.

The square was noisy for a long time before the elder of the alchemy Hall stepped forward and shouted,""At this point, the first round has come to a successful end. The first one million participants will proceed to the next round, and the rest will be eliminated immediately."

As soon as he finished speaking, the square was filled with vexed cries.

"The next stage, alchemy!"

“Each of you will receive a scroll with ten thousand types of pills recorded on it. Your mission is to find all the pills recorded on this scroll and bring them back within the time limit. Not a single one of them can be wrong.”

“Alright, distribute the scrolls now!”

At this moment, a row of alchemy Hall disciples stepped forward, each holding a Qiankun bag in their hands. When the bag opened, countless spiritual lights flew out and danced in the sky above the square.

The group of alchemists reached out and grabbed one.

Tang Hao also grabbed one of the pills and opened it. There were lines of golden characters on it. They were the names of all kinds of pills.

Tang Hao furrowed his brows when he scanned through the list.

This stage was quite difficult. There were millions of types of pills in this world, and many of them looked and smelled similar, but in reality, they were completely different pills.

Some pill ingredients were similar, but they might be different. They were also different pills, and it was difficult to distinguish them.

It was extremely difficult to identify all 10000 types of pills.

When the alchemists opened the scroll and took a look, they all revealed grave expressions.

“Alright, let’s start!”

After saying that, the elder flicked his sleeve. The void beside him rippled and a passage appeared. That was the place where the second test would be held. It was called the pill sea.

There, the pill Palace had put in countless pills, hence the name of the pill sea.

“Remember, you only have three days. If you don’t finish in three days, you will be eliminated. If you make a mistake, you will also be eliminated!”

The elder said in a clear voice.

“Hurry up! Hurry up and go in!”

Everyone was anxious. This round was different from the first round, and they had to race against time.

Immediately, everyone fought to be the first to rush into the passage.