

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 1693

“Immortal veins are like spirit veins. They’re formed by the condensation of immortal Qi underground.”

“Ordinary immortal meridians will give birth to immortal Jade, and some immortal meridians will even give birth to immortal spirits ...”

Tang Hao knew about immortal veins.

He had caught a Celestial Spirit on planet Dong Ling, and celestial Jade used to be the currency in the heaven-equal yard.

As for immortal crystals, they were different things. They were of a higher grade than immortal Jade, but not as good as immortal spirits. They were the purest crystals of immortal Qi and were very rare.

According to Tang Hao’s estimation, immortal crystals were quite precious on Pangu continent.

There was only one known immortal vein in this part of the demon Star Mountain, and it was the lowest grade one. However, it was this one immortal vein that had once caused a bloody storm. The one who owned this mountain range was the thousand spirit sect, the strongest force in this mountain range.

However, Tang Hao still wanted to look around. What if there were other immortal veins? moreover, immortal veins were huge, and their distribution in the underground was irregular. The thousand spirit sect could not occupy all of them.

Tang Hao was quite good at searching for immortal veins.

His array Dao was profound, and his array Dao was only slightly inferior to his alchemy Dao. In array Dao, he had the technique of searching for Dragon’s acupoints and exploring spirit meridians, which were actually similar to immortal meridians.

Since he knew how to search for spirit veins, he naturally knew how to search for immortal veins.

He spent some time to refine a compass and began to investigate.

He took the compass and walked around the mountain range, exploring the underground situation of the mountain range.

He walked around, holding the compass, looking here and there. From time to time, he would squat down and stick to the ground, as if he was listening, and he would Mutter something.

Very quickly, someone noticed him.

After all, his actions were too strange, and it was hard not to notice.

There were also many people in this mountain range, many of whom were here to pick herbs and hunt.

“Al! Brother, what are you doing?”

Most people looked at him in confusion, but there were also many people who could not help but ask.

“Oh! I’m looking for something!”

Tang Hao said.

“What are you looking for?”

His words piqued everyone’s interest. Their eyes glowed as they stared at the compass in Tang Hao’s hand. They thought that the fellow must be looking for treasure. Perhaps it was something good.

“Oh! It’s an immortal Meridian!”

Tang Hao answered directly.

“What?”

When those people heard this, they were dumbfounded.

Immortal Meridian?

Are you kidding me?

“Hahaha!”

A moment later, there was a burst of laughter, and there were even sneers mixed in.

“F * ck! So he’s an idiot!”

“This guy is so stupid! He was still looking for immortal veins! Who doesn’t know that there’s only one immortal vein in the demonic Star Mountain? it’s the one in the thousand spirit sect. ”

They all thought that this guy was really ridiculous. The demon Star Mountain had been turned over countless times by their ancestors, and there was only one immortal vein left. It was occupied by the thousand spirit sect, so how could there be any other immortal veins?

This guy’s brain must be damaged!

They laughed mockingly and looked at Tang Hao with disdain.

They had once fantasized that there were other immortal veins in this mountain range that they could find and secretly possess. Then their cultivation would advance by leaps and bounds, and they would reach the peak.

But they all knew that this was just a fantasy.

It was fine for Ping Ping to think about it himself, but if he took his fantasy seriously, then he would really be a fool!

“Who is this guy? I’m not familiar with him!”

They looked at Tang Hao carefully.

“I don’t know him. He must be new!”

“Hey! It’s not easy to cultivate to this level, why are you so stupid!”

They stood in the distance, pointing at Tang Hao and laughing at him.

Tang Hao ignored them and continued his search. He held the compass in his hand and explored every corner of the place.

“Look, this guy is quite persistent!”

The people behind him followed him for a while, waiting to see him make a fool of himself.

The more serious this guy was looking, the more they laughed.

Soon, the news spread and caused a small commotion. Everyone in the mountain range had heard that a fool had come here with a Broken Compass and was looking for immortal veins.

“Looking for immortal veins? He must be crazy!”

“Hahaha! Why go through so much trouble? we can just go to the thousand spirit sect!”

Many people had even specially rushed over to watch this fool.

They had thought that this fool would give up after a while, but to their surprise, this guy was particularly persistent. No matter how they laughed, he was unmoved and continued to search.

“This guy is really persistent. I’m a little impressed by him!”

The crowd laughed even harder.

When this news spread to the devil Star City, it also caused a wave of laughter. More and more people came to watch, and many people even bet on how long this guy would take to find it.

However, as the days passed, the novelty wore off and they lost interest. They didn’t want to waste time with this fool.

Searching for immortal veins here was a completely whimsical thing, and it was destined to be fruitless.

Very quickly, the crowd of onlookers behind him gradually dispersed. Occasionally, some people would pass by and see this fellow with a compass in his hand wandering around. They would stop for a moment, point in that direction, and laugh a few times.

“Look, that’s that fool. It’s been four or five days and he’s still looking!”

“You’re too persistent!”

After laughing, they dispersed.

Tang Hao ignored him and continued his search. He had walked through most of the mountain range. Through the compass, he had a clear understanding of every inch of the underground. He knew every spirit vein and every Spirit Cave.

He could see the situation tens of thousands of feet underground.

He even walked around the thousand spirit sect and drew out the outline of the immortal vein.

There were indeed no other immortal veins in this mountain range, but the immortal vein of the thousand spirit sect was very long, stretching thousands of miles underground. Most of it was deep underground, and it was protected by the great formation of the thousand spirit sect.

However, the thousand spirit sect’s Grand formation couldn’t cover the entire immortal vein. There were still many places that weren’t covered by the Grand formation.

However, this was the deepest part, the roots.

“Eh? There’s a branch here!”

After searching the entire immortal Meridian, Tang Hao found a small branch that extended from the main branch.

“It’s a little small, but it’s fine. I can set up a formation and use this branch to continuously draw out the power of the immortal Meridian for my own use.”

Tang Hao pondered for a long time before he came up with a plan.

He stopped at the end of the branch. This was a barren mountain and looked a little barren. It was hard to imagine that a branch of an immortal vein was hidden hundreds of thousands of feet under this barren mountain.

“It’s also because this branch is a little small that it hasn’t been discovered until now. It’s a good thing for me!”

Tang Hao smiled, put away the compass, and began to modify the place.