

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 1774

“It’s the Jade Spirit carp again! It’s so big!”

“Another Vermillion Phoenix!”

By the heavenly grandmother pond, everyone stopped fishing and looked in one direction.

They were already numb to seeing that guy pulling a few strings in a row. They couldn’t even remember how many he had pulled.

Whoosh!

Another soft sound.

This also meant that another fish had taken the bait.

Everyone focused their eyes and looked at the surface of the water, wanting to see what kind of fish it was this time.

Whoosh! Whoosh!

The surface of the water gradually surged up, forming a huge circle of ripples, as if some behemoth was about to rush out.

“What is this?”

“Heavens! It’s so big!”

The people who were already somewhat numb cried out in surprise again. They stood up one after another and looked at the huge ripples, revealing extremely shocked expressions.

Looking at the ripples, the fish below must be huge. The biggest fish they had ever seen was the bull-like Golden Dragon fish.

That one was already frighteningly big, how could there be an even bigger one?

As the waves continued to rise, finally, with a loud crash, a huge black shadow leaped out of the water, bringing with it a sky full of waves.

Everyone looked up and was stunned.

It was a huge and strange-looking immortal fish. It looked like a fish but also like a bird. The two wide fins on the sides were like a pair of wings.

Its black skin was covered with blue patterns that glowed with divine light.

“That’s ... Eh? Che clan?”

Someone widened his eyes and exclaimed in shock.

Chi, that was a well-known creature from the ancient times!

When it transformed into a fish, it was a kun. When it transformed into a bird, it was a Peng. In ancient times, it was a terrifying existence on par with the Golden-winged great Peng, the true dragon, and the true Phoenix.

The one in front of him was not the real kun Peng, but it looked like the kun clan and definitely had a trace of kun Peng blood.

“It’s Yun Xiao!”

Soon, someone recognized the immortal fish. It was the Holy Son of the Luo clan.

He pointed at the immortal fish and cried out in horror, “This is Yun Xiao! According to the history of our Luo clan, Yun Xiao has only appeared once in the history of this sacred mountain, and it was more than four thousand years ago.”

“This cloud Phoenix is the most precious fish in the pond. It has the blood of the kun Peng in its blood, which makes its flesh extremely precious. Its blood, in particular, contains an astonishing spiritual essence. It is known as a flowing divine medicine. This cloud Phoenix is worth at least two divine medicines.”

“Hiss! Hiss! Hiss!”

“It’s actually Yun Xiao! I’ve also heard of it!”

In an instant, gasps and shocked exclamations sounded from all around the heavenly Granny Pond.

Their eyes turned red and filled with greed.

They almost couldn’t help but make a move to snatch this cloud Phoenix.

This cloud Phoenix was too precious and too rare. One of them could be exchanged for two or three godly medicines. This temptation was too great.

However, they still held back. There were too many people now, and once they made a move, it would cause a chaotic battle. It was not the best time.

“It’s actually Yun Xiao!”

Tang Hao had heard of this fish before, and he was overjoyed.

He pulled with force and stretched out his hand, forming a giant palm and keeping the cloud Phoenix.

“Nine! It’s almost time!”

Then, Tang Hao put away his fishing rod, dusted his hands, and stood up.

Although he had a lot of spirit herbs on him, he had only concocted nine balls of medicinal bait, and they were all used up now.

Tang Hao was satisfied with nine fish.

He estimated that these nine immortal fish were worth at least seven or eight divine medicines. If he used them to make a Super Tonic pill like the Golden centipede's corpse, the effect would be even better, and his cultivation would increase by a large margin.

"I heard that there's a divine herb garden here. If I can get a few more divine herbs, I'll be able to reach the peak stage."

Tang Hao remembered the divine herb garden. He heard that there were still some divine herbs left.

"Let's go!"

He turned around and squeezed through the crowd.

Everyone turned around and kept looking at him. Many of them even took a step forward and followed him.

Tang Hao could not be bothered with these people and continued walking.

The tianlao mountain was huge. It was not even halfway up the mountain. Tang Hao did not find anything after going around the place and looking at the palaces. After all, the place would appear once every one or two hundred years, and many people had visited it.

The items in this Palace Hall must have been robbed clean. Only the heavenly Granny Pond and the divine herb garden would have some items left.

He continued up the stairs and reached the middle of the mountain.

"The stream of refining heart!"

Tang Hao found a special place there.

It was said that the heart-refining stream was a place of trial, specifically used to temper one's will and temper one's Dao heart. Many geniuses who came to the divine mountain would come here to test their Dao heart.

Many people had gathered in this stream, and they were all trying.

Tang Hao followed him in. He tried to walk through the stream, and after about ten minutes, he was out of the stream.

“What refining heart stream? it’s nothing more than this!”

Tang Hao was a little disdainful. He had cultivated the spirit void Sutra and the transcendence Sutra, so his primordial spirit and will were already extremely powerful. He would not be stumped by such a small trial.

However, along the way, he saw many trapped monsters who stayed in place and fell into an illusion.

He continued to climb upwards and came to another famous place.

“This is the cliff of enlightenment?”

At the edge of a cliff, Tang Hao saw a huge stone tablet. The words “enlightenment” were carved on it. On the side, there were stone platforms. Many people sat on them with their eyes closed, as if they were comprehending something.

“This is the famous ancient technique comprehension stone. The powerful beings of tianlao mountain made it into a stone platform and placed it here. As long as you sit on it, no matter what technique you comprehend, you will be able to achieve twice the result with half the effort.”

Tang Hao walked over and found a stone platform to sit on. He touched it, then closed his eyes and tried to sense it.

“What a magical stone platform!”

Tang Hao opened his eyes in surprise.

The effect of the law comprehension stone was almost as good as the path-understanding tree.

“What if I use both at the same time? Would it be faster?”

Tang Hao said on a whim.

Both the path-understanding tree and the law comprehension stone had great effects. If the two were combined, would the effects be even better?

The thought of a stone platform under him and a path-understanding tree behind him made Tang Hao excited.

“Regardless of whether it works or not, I’ll get one first!”

Tang Hao shifted the stone platform under him when no one was looking, but it did not move.

“So there’s a chain!”

Tang Hao examined it closely and found that the stone platform was chained to the ground.

“No wonder! If they could be taken, they would have been robbed long ago and wouldn’t be left until now.” Tang Hao mumbled.

He squatted down and reached out to touch the chain. The material was a little hard, so it must not be easy to get it. Otherwise, it would not have been left until now.

“Hey! Don’t tell me you’re thinking of moving this law comprehension stage away? Hahaha! Are you an idiot? If it could be moved away, it would have been gone a long time ago, and you wouldn’t have been able to do it!”

“This is a chain forged from red-refined divine iron. It’s indestructible!”
