

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 1777

“Dragon’s blood grass ... Not bad!”

Tang Hao walked toward the blood-colored spirit herb and examined it carefully.

The dragon’s blood grass was considered a rare spiritual herb. However, since it had already become a divine medicine, it was no longer important what kind of spiritual medicine it was.

Even the most ordinary Lingzhi, once turned into a divine medicine, was not much different from the divine medicine transformed from the dragon’s blood grass.

Tang Hao carefully kept the divine herb and left the herb garden.

Everyone looked at him with some respect. Breaking two arrays in a row, this guy’s array Dao attainments were really somewhat terrifying.

They felt that they were not bad either. They were all array Dao geniuses from the various great clans, but they could not break one array. However, this guy broke two arrays in a row. His attainments were much higher than theirs. To have such array Dao attainments, his background must not be small.

When they saw him walking towards the next medicinal garden, there was another commotion.

The people in the divine herb garden all came over.

When this person challenged the second tower, they all felt that it was impossible. But now, they didn’t dare to be sure. This person’s array Dao attainments were beyond imagination and it was difficult to estimate with common sense.

As he stepped into the third formation, the space around him transformed into a starry sky. Countless stars spun around Tang Hao, drawing out bright trajectories.

“The great star formation!”

Tang Hao was shocked.

This was also a kind of bewildering formation, somewhat similar to the eight trigrams filling the sky formation. However, that formation used the eight trigrams as the foundation, from which various changes were derived, while this formation used the trajectory of the stars in the sky as the foundation.

Compared to the arts of the eight trigrams, the stars in the sky were naturally more complicated and could give rise to endless changes.

If he wanted to break this formation, he would have to find a specific star among the countless stars and then break the formation.

Tang Hao furrowed his brows when he looked around and saw the countless stars.

Difficult!

It was too difficult!

There were too many stars, perhaps hundreds of millions. To find the target among them was more difficult than finding a needle in a haystack. No wonder the array had not been broken for so many years.

However, it was precisely because of the difficulty that Tang Hao was even more interested.

He then sat down cross-legged, closed his eyes, and released his divine sense to explore the starry sky in all directions, beginning to investigate the trajectory of these stars.

He sat there for more than half a day, and the people outside were a little anxious.

“It’s been half a day, why hasn’t he come out yet?”

“I don’t think there’s any hope of breaking it! The stellar array is the most difficult of the seven arrays. It’s already amazing that he could break the two arrays just now!”

The crowd discussed in low voices.

After waiting for a few more hours, when they were almost getting impatient, finally, there was movement in the herb garden. Under everyone’s shocked gazes, a figure passed through the misty area where the formation was located and came before the stalk of godly medicine.

“It’s ... It’s broken!”

They were practically shouting at the top of their lungs, their faces filled with horror.

Another formation had been broken!

This was already the third one, and it was the most difficult one!

“Heavens! Where did this freak come from? he broke three in one go. Is he going to break all seven?”

Everyone was extremely shocked.

Breaking three great arrays in one breath, how shocking was this!

Since when did such a shocking array Dao monster appear in the spiritual wilderness?

By the time the fourth and fifth formations were broken, they were already numb.

“The seventh ... Is also broken!”

When The Seventh Tower was broken, they were completely stunned.

The seven arrays that had stumped countless array Dao geniuses in the spiritual wilderness had actually been broken in one fell swoop today!

If this news were to spread, it would immediately shake the entire spiritual wilderness 'array Dao world and cause unimaginable waves.

"This guy ... Who is he?"

Seeing that figure walk out of the herb garden and disappear at the entrance of the herb garden, everyone was in a daze.

This person was truly mysterious. They clearly didn't know him, but he had such terrifying array Dao attainments!

When the figure disappeared, the divine herb garden was in an uproar. Everyone was talking about this person's origin.

After leaving the divine herb garden, Tang Hao continued to climb.

This divine mountain was so high that one couldn't see its peak. It towered into the clouds, and it was only halfway up the mountain.

As he walked up, he would stop at some interesting places from time to time. He would stop for a moment and wander around as if he was taking a stroll.

At this moment, the divine mountain was in an uproar.

There was a lot of news spreading among the geniuses.

Some said that a nobody had caught nine celestial fish in the heavenly Granny Pond and crushed a group of Saints, shocking countless people. Many people were looking for him, wanting to take the celestial fish from him, but they couldn't find him. It was said that they had lost him when they followed him to the heart refining stream.

There were also rumors that a bastard appeared at the cliff of enlightenment. He had a treasured blade in his hand, and as if he was cutting vegetables, he chopped the red-refined godly metal in half and swept away many law comprehension platforms.

There were also rumors that a shocking array Dao genius had appeared in the divine herb garden. He broke through seven arrays in one go and took away all the remaining seven divine herbs.

This piece of news shocked countless people.

"Nine immortal fish in a row? This is unbelievable!"

"The seven formations were all broken? How is that possible?"

Exclamations could be heard from all around the divine mountain.

“What’s going on this time? why are there always such unexpected surprises?”

Everyone was a little puzzled.

It was said that the guy who had caught nine immortal fish was a nobody from a sect, but he had taken out a top-grade medicinal bait that even the Yao clan could only look up to.

It was said that the array genius was not from the Baili clan and no one knew him. However, his array skills were extremely terrifying. The Saint child of the Xu clan was present and had tried several arrays but failed to break them. However, this person had broken them all in one breath. This level of attainment was truly shocking!

On the other hand, the fellow holding the treasured saber seemed a little unremarkable.

“Where did these guys go?”

After everyone heard the news, they all searched the entire mountain for these people.

These people all had many treasures on them, especially that little Fishing Master. He had nine immortal fish on him, which was said to be worth seven to eight divine medicines. His harvest was even greater than that array Dao freak ‘s.

None of them would have thought that the three of them were the same person.

They didn’t even dare to think of such a thought.

Tang Hao heard all sorts of news along the way, but he did not care. He continued walking. The path under his feet became steeper, and the clouds grew thicker. Walking up the stairs was like walking in the clouds.

Within the clouds, smoke rolled and a multicolored light flashed.

In the light, one could see many illusions, like a Mirage.

After passing through the rolling clouds, Tang Hao’s vision suddenly brightened. He saw the peak of the divine mountain. There was a Palace floating on the mountain peak, emitting a golden light that was ten thousand Zhang * tall. That was the cloud top Golden Palace, the place where the powerful being of tianlao mountain once lived.
