

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 1872

“That’s right! It is indeed the creation true gold!”

“What a big piece!”

All the elders exclaimed in shock.

Then, their breathing became hurried, and their eyes became fiery and greedy as they looked at the treasure.

It was the creation true gold!

The divine boat of creation, the ultimate treasure of the path of crafts and the ultimate killing weapon that shook the ancient times, had been forged from this creation true gold.

This material was one of the most famous divine materials in the ancient times.

Just like the creation divine pill, the method to create the creation true gold had long since been lost and become a legend.

Right now, there were not many treasures forged from the creation true gold left in the gate of destinies. However, there were still some left in the gate of destinies. Occasionally, someone would be lucky enough to obtain a piece of it.

However, in the past, they were not big. The biggest one was only as tall as a person, but the one in front of him was almost three meters tall.

In the ancient times, a small piece of creation true gold was already worth a city, let alone such a large piece. Its value was simply immeasurable!

“It’s actually the creation true gold!”

“This is one of the Supreme divine materials of the path of crafts!”

The rest of the young masters were also moved.

They naturally knew about the great name of the creation true gold.

Even though they were used to seeing many treasures, they could not help but feel envious when they saw such a large piece of creation true gold.

Not only could the creation true gold be used to forge tribulation weapons, it could also be used to strengthen one’s immortal abode, causing its power to rise to another level.

“This guy’s luck is pretty good!”

Tang Hao was surprised at first, then he pursed his lips and mumbled.

He had black sky old monster's memories, so he naturally knew about this creation true gold. Moreover, he was proficient in the Dao of crafts. A long time ago, he had vaguely read about the description of this creation true gold in some ancient books.

It was said that the creation true gold was a Supreme divine material forged by the ancestors of the path of creation with secret techniques after combining countless rare gold and iron ores with their supreme wisdom.

A tribulation weapon forged from this true gold would be extremely powerful. The most representative of this weapon would be the divine boat of creation, which was famous throughout history.

"This creation true gold should be similar to the material of the nine-Dragon divine coffin of Changliu immortal!"

Tang Hao made a rough estimation.

The nine-Dragon divine coffin was a divine object created by a Supreme martial artist. It was made of high-quality materials. Tang Hao did not know what it was exactly, but it should be on par with the Fortune true gold.

The two should have their own advantages and disadvantages, and they were both top divine materials in the world.

"Hahaha! What a good piece of creation true gold!"

Young master Taixu laughed out loud, and his eyes were filled with wild joy. "In the ancient times, this creation true gold was as famous as the great void divine metal of my great void heaven. It might even be more miraculous. I already have the divine metal and have forged my Natal immortal abode. Now that I have this true gold and the two divine materials are combined, it will definitely increase the power of My Immortal abode by a few folds."

As he spoke, he reached out and grabbed the piece of true gold, putting it into his bag.

"What a pity!"

Zao Huazi and the others sighed in regret.

"You're really lucky! Hurry up and go away, let me try!"

A figure descended from the sky and said to young master Taixu impatiently.

This person was the young master of the cursed sky!

At this moment, he was a little anxious. This fellow from the great void heaven was so lucky to have obtained such a huge piece of creation true gold. News of this would definitely spread throughout the 33 heavens. If the item he obtained was not good enough, wouldn't it be a disgrace to the God curse heaven?

This won't do!

He, the divine curse heaven, must not lose to the great void heaven!

He gritted his teeth and held his breath. He desperately activated the ring and spat out a torrent of treasures into the gate of destinies.

"God bless! May the ancestors bless us!"

He was still mumbling to himself.

However, the so-called ancestor didn't seem to be protecting him this time. After throwing the treasure, there was a quick reaction from the door. A ray of treasure light rushed out. When he looked closely, it was a zither.

Its entire body was green and divine light circulated around it. There was even a Dragon Soul lingering around it that let out a deep dragon roar that shook the surroundings.

This was undoubtedly an Emperor artifact!

"Motherf * cker!"

"F * ck!" After seeing it clearly, the face of the cursed young master changed, and he couldn't help but curse.

"Emperor artifact! Another Emperor artifact! And it was a broken zither! What use do I have for this broken zither!"

He grabbed the zither and examined it. He had the urge to smash it.

He didn't lack Emperor weapons. What he lacked were better treasures.

The surrounding crowd burst into an uproar.

Everyone was speechless. That was an Emperor artifact. In their eyes, it was an extremely precious treasure. However, in the eyes of this young master, it seemed to be worthless.

"Unlucky! What bad luck!"

The cursed young master mumbled to himself for a while before he put away his zither and retreated to the side resentfully.

The next person was the eldest young master of Vermillion Bird heaven. He was a woman with a graceful figure, but his face could not be seen clearly.

She raised her hand, and endless treasure light gushed out.

Clang!

As the bell rang, a ray of treasure light leaped out of the door and landed in front of her.

It was a medicine bottle. She opened the bottle cap, took a look, and then giggled, as if she was very happy.

“Many thanks!”

She bowed to Zao huaizi and expressed her thanks. Then, she jumped up and returned to the air.

Everyone was somewhat curious. Just what kind of treasure was in that medicine bottle?

However, if she didn't say it, they wouldn't know. The only thing they could be sure of was that the thing that made her so happy must be an extraordinary ancient divine pill.

“Could it be the creation divine pill?”

“Not necessarily. The ancient path of creation's alchemy Dao was very powerful. Many divine pills were born, and there were many other types besides the creation divine pill.”

The crowd discussed in low voices.

After the young master of the Vermillion Bird heaven, the other 12 young masters took turns to enter the arena. They all invested countless treasures, but their luck was not the same. Some, like young master Taixu and young master Vermillion Bird, had great gains, while others, like young master jinx, had lost more than they gained.

“It's finally over!”

When the last eldest young master's turn passed, the square was in an uproar.

The group of disciples discussed the treasures that had just appeared in high spirits.

The crowd also started to disperse.

Although there was still a group of service disciples who had yet to enter the arena, the ceremony was already over in the eyes of the disciples.

A group of servants with low cultivation, how much savings could they have? no matter how lucky they were, they would not surpass the official disciples of the sect, so there was no point in looking.

“It's finally our turn!”

“Our ancestors have blessed us!”

A group of service disciples rushed forward. They were both excited and nervous.

“I’ll go first!”

A service disciple rushed to the front and carefully took out a storage bag and opened it.

A wave of Crystal Light rushed out and entered the door.

However, compared to the previous disciples, this was a pitiful amount. Those disciples were like torrents, like a river pouring in torrents, while this crystal stone was like a small stream.

In just over ten seconds, it was all gone.

“Hahaha! You have the nerve to go up with such little things?”

“It’s too shabby!”

Some of the disciples who had yet to leave could not help but laugh when they saw this scene.

As the bell rang, a ray of light rushed out of the door and landed with a clanging sound.

The surrounding disciples looked at him and laughed out loud again, their faces full of ridicule.
