

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 1885

After returning to the cave abode, Tang Hao started writing the teaching materials.

In this aspect, he was very experienced. In the past, he had compiled books on many kinds of medicine. Now that it was alchemy, he was familiar with it.

He took out all the alchemy books he had on him and read through them carefully. Then, he wrote down all his experiences and insights in alchemy over the years and compiled them into teaching materials.

This was a massive project. Tang Hao had collected countless alchemy books over the years. There were at least a million of them. Reading through all of them once would consume a lot of time.

Moreover, he still had to tidy up.

Fortunately, he had a lot of split souls, and if he didn't have enough, he could just cut off another batch. In his mobile immortal's cave, thousands of split souls were put into this project.

They held stacks of books and baskets of Jade scrolls and flipped through them.

Some of these ancient books came from Qiyuan, the great void realm, the endless starry sky, and some even came from Pangu continent ...

Everything they saw would be reflected in Tang Hao's mind.

At every moment, there would be countless pieces of information flooding in. His brain was working at high speed, quickly browsing through the information and sorting them out.

After reading the books, Tang Hao would occasionally discover new things. His understanding of alchemy became more and more comprehensive.

Countless ancient alchemy techniques, secret techniques, and pill recipes were all organized by him and written into the teaching materials.

This batch of teaching materials could be said to be a collection of the great achievements of alchemy over tens of thousands of years. It spanned from the past to the present and was all-encompassing. It was an Encyclopedia of alchemy.

It could be said that in this world, there was no more comprehensive alchemy manual than this. It was impossible for the great clans of Pangu to have it, not even the most ancient inheritance in the 33 heavens.

Tang Hao's teaching materials were one of a kind.

If an Alchemist was here, he would be shocked.

In the history of alchemy, no one had ever done such a magnificent feat and compiled such a comprehensive alchemy book.

This was definitely an unprecedented feat, enough to leave his name in the history of alchemy!

“These ancient records ... Are not enough!”

Tang Hao was still not satisfied. He still did not have enough alchemy books from Pangu continent in his collection.

Since he had already done it, he would naturally do his best. This was Tang Hao’s habit.

He found Fu Yunzi and brought over all the ancient books and records left behind by the creation alchemy Dao. He studied them in detail and compiled them into the teaching materials.

Very soon, this alchemy Dao manual, which contained all the strong points of various schools, was finally born.

There was a set of twelve volumes, with over ten million words. Three of them were about plants and vegetation, one about recognizing herbs, one about planting herbs, and one about analyzing medicinal theories. The other nine volumes were all about alchemy, collecting millions of types of alchemy in the world and introducing over ten thousand alchemy schools from ancient times to the present.

All sorts of pill Dao techniques and secret techniques were included in it.

“It’s finally done!”

Tang Hao heaved a sigh of relief when he finished the last volume.

Writing such a monumental work was really too exhausting. During this period of time, he had exhausted all his thoughts and poured all his heart and soul into it. With the help of tens of thousands of split souls, he had finally completed this vast project.

“Fellow Daoist! Congratulations!”

“Fellow Daoist, once this book is completed, it will definitely shake the world and leave its name in history!”

The group of split souls were all jubilant as they congratulated him.

A sense of pride rose in Tang Hao’s heart. He was not trying to boast, but this alchemy manual was a combination of all the knowledge he had learned in his life. It was a combination of the alchemy Dao of both ancient and modern times.

There was no other alchemy book in the world that could compare to his.

As long as he spread this alchemy book, it would definitely shake the world of alchemy and be remembered forever.

“This book is like an Encyclopedia. It’s very comprehensive. I’ll call it the ‘alchemy Encyclopedia’.” Tang Hao thought for a long time and finally decided on a name.

“This Encyclopedia is still not enough. Although it’s comprehensive, it’s not profound enough. It can’t improve an Alchemist’s level in a short time. I still need some alchemy books to write my experience and techniques.”

Tang Hao pondered for a while, then continued writing.

This time, he focused on sorting out his own insights and experiences, and compiled all kinds of teaching materials. Some were suitable for novices, some were used to cultivate low-rank alchemy Masters, and some were suitable for advancement. They covered all kinds of levels.

“Alchemy techniques!” Three months to get started ”

Tang Hao did as he pleased. He was very fast. In just half a month, dozens of teaching materials were produced. He even took out the teaching materials he had compiled in Shennong Valley and compiled them again. He had a new batch of pharmacological books.

After a month and a half, Tang Hao finally came out of seclusion.

When he brought this stack of alchemy books to Fu Yunzi and placed them in front of him, old Daoist Fu Yun was instantly stunned. The teacup in his hand dropped and shattered with a clang.

“T-t-t-this ... You wrote all of this?”

Fu Yunzi’s eyes were wide open as he stared blankly at the small mountain of ancient books in front of him.

He had long known that Master Tang was in seclusion to compile an alchemy book, saying that he wanted to use it to improve his level of the creation alchemy Dao. Previously, he did not believe it and thought that this person was just saying it.

After all, writing a book on alchemy was not an easy task. It required a long period of accumulation, and this person was too young. No matter how high his alchemy skills were, his accumulation was not enough to write a book on alchemy.

Even if he made it up, it would just be an ordinary alchemy book.

Moreover, it had only been a month and a half. How much could he have come up with?

However, the mountain-sized alchemy book before his eyes had stunned him.

“With quantity, the quality will definitely not be high!”

He quickly came back to his senses and muttered softly.

Other grandmasters would take years or even decades to write a good alchemy book. What good book could they come up with in a month and a half?

With this thought in mind, he randomly picked up a book and looked at the cover. He was stunned.

“The Encyclopedia of alchemy? Yo! You sure have a big tone!”

Fu Yunzi laughed and did not seem to mind.

Then, he casually flipped open the alchemy book. After reading it, the smile on his face gradually froze, becoming more and more stiff.

“This ... This ...”

His eyes gradually widened and were filled with extreme disbelief.

“This ... This is impossible!”

He was a little excited and flipped through the alchemy book frantically. However, the more he read, the more incredulous he became.

This scroll introduced all kinds of schools, and most of the schools introduced were ones he had never heard of.

“Jade cauldron sect? When did this sect start?”

“The great void sect? This ... Wasn’t this the pill Dao inheritance of the great void heaven? Why are you here?”

He was getting more and more shocked.

After flipping through this book, he picked up another one that introduced plants and vegetation. After flipping through it, he was left speechless again. There were many plants and vegetation in this book that he had never heard of.

“Impossible!”

It was as if he had entered a trance as he pounced into the pile of alchemy books and flipped through them one by one. His mind was also becoming more and more shocked.
