

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 2098

A ray of light streaked across the sky.

The light was a little unstable. After flying for a while, it stopped.

Tang Hao's face was pale, and his Qi was in a mess.

Ye Jiuxuan's sword attack had caused him to suffer serious injuries.

He checked his body and found that it was not in a good state. If it was just a simple sword, even if it was a Supreme artifact, it would not be a big deal. His physical body was extremely strong, and he cultivated the Nirvana Sutra. He would recover very quickly.

However, there was poison on the sword.

This poison was extraordinarily powerful and extremely difficult to deal with. He could only barely suppress it and could not force it out.

In order to suppress this poison, he needed to consume a large amount of immortal essence.

At this moment, the celestial core power in his body was almost depleted, and he was extremely weak.

Under such circumstances, he was not Ye Jiuxuan's opponent at all. Moreover, Ye Jiuxuan might have other helpers.

He turned around and saw that Ye Jiuxuan had yet to catch up.

He took out a few elixirs and swallowed them. He rested for a while to recover more than half of his celestial core power before he continued on his way.

But in less than two hours, the immortal essence in his body was almost used up.

"No! The loss is too severe, we can't continue like this, we have to find a way to cure this poison."

Tang Hao began to study the poison in his body.

The Night Race was not only good at assassination techniques, but they were also good at using poison. All kinds of strange poisons, coupled with assassination techniques, created the reputation of the Night Race.

The Night Clansmen usually only had one chance to strike. In many cases, this strike would not kill the person, but the poison would.

Tang Hao had heard that the Night Clan had ten great poisons, all of which were deadly poisons that could make people pale.

“This poison should be the most powerful of the ten great strange poisons. It’s called lifeless, which means that once you’re poisoned by this poison, you’ll die without a doubt.”

“This poison seems to be made with a variety of poisons according to a certain ratio. There are poisons from grass and beasts. The grass-type is easier to recognize, but the other poisons are not so easy to deal with.”

“There should be immortal decaying grass, demon burying flower, blood spot spirit mushroom ... A total of more than 50 types of plant-type poisons. There should be more than 50 other types of poisons, including snake poison, Scorpion poison, and so on. There should be more than 100 types of poisons.”

“It’ll be extremely difficult to cure this poison!”

Tang Hao was also caught in a dilemma.

There were too many types of poison, and after mixing them together, the toxicity would change again. It was not an easy task to concoct an antidote pill.

“However, I can try!”

If it were anyone else, they would have been dead by now. But Tang Hao was different. He was an expert in alchemy, and there was a type of pill called the poison pill. He was also an expert in it.

Through the concoction of poison pills, he had gained a great understanding of all kinds of poisons in the world. Not only the poison of plants, but also the poison of snakes and scorpions, as they were all needed in the concoction of poison pills.

This way, he would have the opportunity to concoct the antidote.

Moreover, he could immediately concoct the pills after obtaining the pill formula. After all, he had the world’s largest and most complete spiritual medicine warehouse.

Other than spiritual herbs, he had all the other materials that could be used for alchemy.

If it was someone else, even if they could concoct the pill recipe, they would not be able to gather the materials in a short time.

Time was of the essence, so Tang Hao immediately began to prepare the pill recipe.

As he flew forward, he shuttled through the void from time to time, studying the poison in his body and making a pill recipe.

When his celestial core power was exhausted, he continued to take elixirs.

“Run, Tang kid!”

“Hahaha! Let’s see where you can run to!”

After flying for a day and a night, ye jiuxuan finally caught up.

He laughed out loud and was extremely proud.

“Not good!”

Tang Hao’s expression changed when he turned around.

In his current state, he was definitely not ye jiuxuan’s match. Although his origin core clone could fight, he might not be ye jiuxuan’s match.

“I have to fight for some time to prepare the recipe and refine the pill.”

He gritted his teeth and decided to go all out. He burned his blood essence and burst out with his fastest speed.

When ye jiuxuan saw this from afar, he was first stunned, then he laughed out loud.

“Burning Blood essence? Hahaha! Surnamed Tang, there’s also a day when you’re in such a sorry state! I’m fine, run! Let’s see how long you can last!”

A hint of mockery appeared in his eyes.

After taking a blow from his sword and being poisoned by the lifeless poison of the night race, this guy wouldn’t be able to jump around for long. Moreover, no matter where this guy ran to, he wouldn’t be able to escape from his pursuit.

Therefore, he was not worried at all.

He laughed carefreely and sped up to catch up.

In front of him, Tang Hao burned his blood essence continuously to increase his speed. He quickly put some distance between them, but at the same time, he didn’t stop studying the lifeless poison and concocting the pill.

“There it is!”

Finally, he came up with a complete pill recipe.

He was quite confident in this pill recipe. Even if it couldn’t completely remove the lifeless poison in his body, it could at least remove 70 – 80% of it. This way, he could easily suppress it and not affect his condition.

“That guy ... Doesn’t seem to have any helpers!”

Tang Hao was no longer flustered after he had concocted the pill. Instead, he began to plot against ye jiuxuan.

He had seen that there was no one else behind ye Jiuxuan. From the beginning to the end, he had been the only one chasing. Tang Hao did not see any other members of the Hundred Clan Alliance.

“Perhaps this is not a trap but a coincidence. After all, everyone knows that I am looking for the Buddha’s blood. At this time, the ruins of Buddhism have appeared. I will definitely go, so ye Jiuxuan has also come. He is lying in ambush and waiting for the opportunity to strike with his sword.”

“As for the bottle of Buddha’s blood, it might be a misunderstanding. After all, no one said that it was the blood essence of the Almighty Thunderclap Buddha.”

Tang Hao’s mind began to race after he figured it out.

Although the current situation was a crisis, it could also become a rare opportunity.

He had been drooling over the armor on ye Jiuxuan’s body for a long time. Wasn’t this a good opportunity to seize the armor?

The more Tang Hao thought about it, the more feasible it seemed.

Not only did he want to seize the armor, but he also wanted to take revenge for this sword!

“Whether or not I can turn over will depend on whether this pill formula works or not.”

Tang Hao mumbled as he held the Jade slip in his hand.

He continued to burn his blood essence to increase the distance between them and buy himself some time to refine the detoxification pill.

A few hours later, he landed in a barren valley. With a wave of his hand, he set up a set of formations, protecting the valley in layers. Then, his two clones leaped out and guarded the sky above the valley.

He sat down cross-legged, took out a few bottles of elixirs, and swallowed them all. Some were for replenishing blood essence, and some were for restoring celestial core power.

After he had recovered a little, he began to prepare the materials. After gathering one set, he took out the Shennong cauldron and began to refine.

He didn’t have much time. Everything had to be fast. He pushed the true fire to the extreme. From refining, to fusing, and then to calcining, everything was done at the fastest speed.