

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 2265

“One!”

Tang Hao put away the mirror and locked onto his next target.

He activated ye Xi and attacked. He killed ye Xi with the force of lightning and then collected all the essence.

It was a Wolf demon with only four drops of demon blood. With the incense clone’s cultivation of 20 drops of immortal blood and a set of Supreme artifacts, it could be killed easily.

Tang Hao locked onto his next target and attacked again.

His target was very clear, which was the great demons who had just advanced and were below the ten Blood Realm. Only then would he have full confidence in killing them in one fell swoop.

As for ten blood and above, the Joss flame clone did not have much confidence with his current strength, so he did not dare to take the risk.

If he caused too much of a commotion and was discovered by the desolate evil demon Thearch, his plan would fail, and his incense clone would also die Here.

He kept attacking, and soon, more than twenty great demons had died at his hands. The demon blood in their bodies added up to more than a hundred drops, which could allow Tang Hao to condense more than a dozen drops of chaos blood.

He was also very cautious, and every time he attacked, he would be direct and efficient. After killing, he would leave and hide.

Every time the lightning tribulation appeared, he would hide to prevent himself from being discovered.

In the beginning, the lightning tribulation appeared quite frequently, but slowly, it decreased and only appeared once in a while.

Tang Hao knew that the harvest was almost over. The hundred-blood level demons in this world had basically been devoured by that old demon.

“Once the harvest is done, the old demon will definitely close this world, and it will be difficult for me to get out.”

Tang Hao was a little worried.

He wanted to leave, but he was a little hesitant. He had only collected around twenty, and there were still many left. If he left now, it would be a pity.

“It’s better to stay here. It’s better if he closes the entrance. This way, he’ll be in closed door cultivation and won’t be able to pay attention to the situation here. I won’t have anything to worry about.”

Tang Hao decided to stay after weighing the pros and cons.

He decided not to make a move and found a place to hide, waiting for the entrance to close.

Another lightning tribulation passed. There was still no movement after ten hours. Tang Hao was sure that the harvest was over. After a while, the void passage was closed.

Tang Hao came out of his hiding place, his face full of joy.

He looked around and saw that the eyes of the great demons with soaring demonic qi and blood Qi like dragons were shining.

Then, he rushed out impatiently and began to harvest crazily.

As a result, one powerful demon after another fell at his hands. There were wolves, foxes, Lions ... There were all kinds of races.

In this world, these people were all top-tier powerhouses. They were extremely impressive, but in front of Tang Hao, they were just stalks of vegetables that could be easily harvested.

In five days, Tang Hao had collected more than two hundred of them. The demon blood of these great demons added up to nearly a thousand drops.

That much demon blood was enough for Tang Hao to condense more than a hundred drops of chaos blood.

However, this unbridled harvest had also caused a great commotion in the demon Realm. There were rumors in the demon Realm that a brutal great demon had recently appeared and was devouring people of the same level everywhere. Many great demons had already been killed.

For a moment, everyone was in a state of panic, and all the demons were extremely nervous.

"I don't know where this demon came from. It's extremely powerful and has already killed many fellow Daoists. It's said that they can't even go into seclusion. Many fellow Daoists died in their cave abodes."

"This demon's cultivation level shouldn't be high, because the ones who died were all fellow Daoists who had just broken through. As long as two or three of us work together, he won't be able to attack,"

In order to save their lives, many great demons had joined forces, especially those who had just advanced. Most of them moved in groups of four or five.

That way, Tang Hao could not do anything.

This incense clone only had a cultivation of 20 health points, so it was unable to deal with four or five great demons at once.
