

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 2707

Ever since the spiritual fantasy wonderland trial ended, the Holy region was in an uproar.

Pill ancestor Tang had successfully transcended his tribulation and become a Supreme!

He would leave the sacred Palace and open the seventh Daoist Rite, the Haotian Daoist Rite!

These two pieces of news stunned everyone.

What followed was a huge uproar.

They weren't surprised by alchemy ancestor Tang's advancement, because he had already shown eight true spirits that were 10000 feet tall and had the strength to pass the Tribulation. However, the latter, the creation of the seventh Dao Palace, was the most shocking.

"Another training hall!"

"This is a training hall! If they weren't part of the clan, how could they open it up so casually? even if they did, how could he use people to fill up such a large training hall? Just based on that gate of fortune? Isn't that ridiculous?"

The world was puzzled.

The establishment of a dojo required a large number of disciples, and their cultivation must be high. Otherwise, it would be a joke.

"I think the divine temple wants pill ancestor Tang to recruit people! That's what the D Ankara Daoist sect did before, recruiting people from all over the place. I heard that from the lower continent alone, they recruited hundreds of sects, and they've all changed to Buddhism. "

"I think so too. I heard that the gate of fortune is quite powerful and is the number one force below. However, no matter how strong they are below, they can't compare to the forces of the Holy region!" With just that few people, they can't even support a training hall!"

As the people discussed, they looked at the gate of fortune with disdain.

How strong could a lower realm's force be? in the Holy region, it would be a third-rate force.

How could a third-rate Force Support a training hall?

They also thought that pill ancestor Tang would start recruiting people in a few days.

When the news spread to the lower continent, many forces were eager to make a move. As a force in the lower continent, most of them were not strong. They were the weakest existences in the Holy region. This was a good opportunity for them to make a comeback.

Once they entered the dojo, they would turn from a chicken into a Phoenix and become an illustrious disciple of the dojo.

However, they waited and waited. One day passed, two days passed ...

They didn't even see the shadow of pill ancestor Tang.

"What's going on?"

"He doesn't want us anymore?"

These forces were all a little confused and felt a little wronged. They had been looking forward to it for so long, but in the end, they had not even seen the shadow of the other party.

When the news spread, it caused another round of speculation in the Holy region.

Tang Hao was still sitting in his cave abode.

The hall in front of him was filled with countless items. There were formation flags, formation disks, bronze and gold pillars, and flying swords of all colors.

In front of him, there was a flying sword being forged.

"Alright, I'm done!"

After a while, he exhaled and flicked his sleeve. The flying sword in front of him flew out and smashed into the small mountain of flying swords.

Then, he lifted his hand and took a few materials, continuing to refine.

This refining process had already continued for several days.

He was refining a great formation.

The establishment of a training hall would certainly require a brand new set of great formations, so Tang Hao spent a few days combining all the formation Dao he had learned in his life and redesigned thirty-six sets of great formations.

These formations were all modified and strengthened by famous ancient formations. He had modified the immortal-eliminating formation, the massive heavenly stellar formation, and the twelve celestial demon gods formation.

A formation disk only needed to be engraved with a million talismans, but with Tang Hao's design, the number was a hundred times more. There were hundreds of millions of talismans in a formation disk, which increased the complexity of the structure by a hundred times.

He couldn't make an issue of the materials. He was already using top grade ninth tribulation materials, so he could only make an issue of the formation.

The effect of this was also very good. The power of these strengthened great formations was directly multiplied by several times.

There were thirty-six formations here, and when the gate of fortune brought them back, there would be seventy or eighty more. In total, there would be more than one hundred formations, which would be enough to defend the training hall.

This refining process took nearly a month.

During this period, he also spent some time to refine some progeny pills and aperture opening pills.

On this day, he was refining the last array flag when suddenly, a beam of spiritual light flew in from the entrance of the hall.

Tang Hao grabbed it and saw that it was a message from elder lingqing, saying that the Daoist Rite continent had been established.

“Just in time!”

Tang Hao grinned. He carved a few more talismans on the formation flag in front of him, then threw the flag away. He dusted his hands and stood up.

The formation had been refined, and it was time to set it up.

He put away all the array flags and array plates in the hall and left the sacred Hall.

“You see, this is the land of your Haotian Daoist sect. Are you satisfied?”

Elder lingqing was waiting for him in the sky above the new continent. When she saw him, she pointed at the continent below and said,

Tang Hao looked around and nodded in satisfaction. The continent below was about the same size as the other six dojos, and the immortal Qi was the same in density. They were all drawn directly from the heaven-connecting builder tree.

“Not bad! That’s enough!”

Tang Hao said with a smile.

“Alright then! I’ll leave this continent to you. By the way, I heard that you’ve been staying in your cave residence these days and haven’t gone out?”

Elder Ling Qing said.

“He’s refining some formations!” Tang Hao said.

“Next, you have to think about how to take in people. You can’t have no one in such a big training hall!” Elder Ling Qing said.

“Elder, you don’t need to worry about that. I’ve already solved the human problem!”

“Oh? Where did you get them from?”

Elder lingqing was stunned. “Could it be a Daoist sect?”

“No! It’s not a Saint-level power!”

Tang Hao shook his head.

Elder lingqing was even more shocked when she heard this.

Could it be that he was really prepared to rely on the creation sect alone to fill up such a large Dao Plaza? The gate of fortune might have some influence below, but it was nothing in the Holy region! It was not a third-rate force, but it was a second-rate force at most.

“Forget it, I won’t say much. You should think about how to solve the human problem.”

Elder lingqing did not try to persuade him any further. She bade him farewell and left.

Tang Hao landed on the ground and looked around.

This continent was extremely vast. It was about the size of the two wastelands combined. It was covered with immortal veins and divine mountains, making it extremely majestic. With a little bit of renovation, it would become a paradise.

“This mountain will look better after some modifications.”

“This divine mountain isn’t tall enough. Go higher!”

As he walked, he stretched out his hand from time to time, grabbed, and pulled. There was a rumbling sound, and mountains rose up. Great rivers were opened up.

“This mountain will be the vast heaven main peak in the future!”

In the center of the continent, Tang Hao created a divine mountain that was five million feet tall. It was like a divine pillar that reached the sky.

Immortal Qi gushed out from all directions of the divine mountain, turning into a faint cloud that covered the divine mountain.

Majestic palaces rose up from the ground all over the divine mountain.

“Next, it’s the Kunlun Sect!”

In the East of great heaven peak, not far away, a vast mountain range was built. Then, countless spiritual fields, palaces, and pavilions were built one after another.

“Then, it’s the gate of fortune!”

“And the demon God’s sect!”

Three mountain gates were built around great heaven peak, surrounding and protecting this divine mountain.

“The first level, immortal-eliminating formation!”

“The second level, the twelve celestial demon gods formation!”

“The third level, the nine bends of the Milky Way formation!”

“.....”

Following that, great formations were laid out layer by layer, protecting great heaven peak, the three mountain gates, and the entire mainland.
