

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 2823

The sword-hiding immortal stood in place, his face blank.

He was still in a daze.

Everything in front of him was too shocking!

Even he, an old monster who had cultivated for two thousand years, found it hard to accept.

After a long time, he finally came back to his senses. He was so excited that his entire body began to tremble.

How was this an evil weapon!

This was clearly a rare treasure!

The most precious thing in the genuine immortal's cave abode was not the broken immortal sword, but the huge soul crystal. If someone had taken the crystal in its entirety, they would have been able to monopolize this magical world.

But now, the crystal had exploded and turned into tiny keys. No one could monopolize this world.

The existence of this world would quickly spread and shake the entire Wu Zhou, and then the entire Cang Liu star, causing madness.

"Hahaha!"

Suddenly, he burst out laughing.

He remembered that in the cave, many people had clearly obtained crystals, but in the end, they had thrown them away like garbage. When they knew the use of these crystals, their intestines would turn green with regret.

"Let's go outside and take a look!"

He called master ye and walked out of the yellow mud village.

"This is unbelievable! It's obviously the soul world, but it's so realistic. Everything seems to be real, without a single flaw!"

"The senior who created this world must be very powerful!"

As he walked, Grandmaster ye was full of praise, his face filled with extreme fanaticism and worship.

"That's ... My God!"

After walking out of the village, the two of them looked into the distance and were stunned.

In the distant sky, there was a huge green bird. Its wings were spread out, covering the entire sky. It was frighteningly big, and the aura it emitted was even more terrifying.

“There are more over there!”

They looked around, and in another direction, in a place extremely far away, they discovered another giant beast. It was a black ape, and its body was frighteningly tall, at least five to six million feet tall. Just this terrifying body size alone could make one’s legs go soft.

“Mother! It’s too scary!”

The sword-hiding immortal looked at it for a while and then looked away, patting his chest with some lingering fear.

“Those must be the overlords of their respective regions. Let’s forget about it. They’re All Souls, and they can only use spells and divine powers. They don’t even have treasured clothing or magical treasures. They’re no match for us at all!”

“There are a few chicks over there. Let’s try to kill them!”

He looked around. Those fierce beasts seemed to be very scary, but there were a few chicks not far from the village entrance. They looked particularly weak, gentle, and cute.

“F * ck your mother!”

However, when the two of them went over to try, they almost vomited blood.

Was this a F * cking chicken?

Each of them was unimaginably strong and also unbelievably cruel. One moment, they were gentle, cute, and adorable. The next moment, they became malevolent, even more cruel than the T-Rex. They pecked at them until they almost doubted their lives.

“Hahaha! This senior really likes to tease people!”

Grandmaster ye smiled bitterly, almost cursing in his heart.

Everything had been real just now, but it was a little unreal here.

In this world, is there an eighth tribulation chicken?

What a joke!

This was probably set up by the senior on purpose at the entrance of the village so that they could get used to how to fight.

After all, they were still souls and didn't have any Dharma Treasures. They could only rely on spells and divine arts to fight.

"Phew! He was finally killed! These little B * stars are too detestable!"

The two of them spent a Herculean effort, tormenting themselves until they were covered in bruises and were in an incomparably sorry state, before finally slaughtering this group of chicks.

"There really is a fragment. It's Black, so it should be the lowest level! I remember that the rules state that there are five levels to the fragments. "

Sword-hiding immortal picked up the pieces on the ground and said.

"I want to exchange!"

Grandmaster ye took the fragment, looked at it, then raised his head and roared.

In an instant, a ray of light shone down from the sky. A white-haired and white-bearded figure with a Sage-like demeanor appeared.

He smiled and waved his sleeve. A Golden Book flew over.

"F * ck! Were these all ancient cultivation techniques? "Nirvana Sutra," "heavenly Ascension Sutra," "true primordial record ..." And these true immortal inheritances, are they all real?" Sword-hiding immortal's hands trembled as he took it and read it.

Gulu!

As he flipped through it, he swallowed hard.

These cultivation techniques and inheritances were simply too tempting!

Any one of these books could make the various superpowers break their heads!

However, when he looked at the exchange price, he was dumbfounded.

F * ck!

Even the cheapest true immortal inheritance was exchanged with the highest-level fragments, with a minimum of ten.

He suspected that only Overlord-level beasts could produce dark gold fragments of such a high grade.

"Senior, Where Can I Get these dark gold fragments?"

Master ye raised his head and asked curiously.

His tone was extremely respectful. The figure in front of him was most likely a wisp of the soul of the Almighty who created this world.

The white-haired old man did not say anything. With a wave of his sleeve, another book flew over. The black metal fragments in their hands disappeared.

“What’s this? A guide to the illusionary spirit realm?”

The sword-hiding immortal was stunned when he saw it.

He looked up and saw a few more books in the hands of the white-haired old man. He lined them up and looked at the names. “Three minutes to understand the spiritual void realm,” “how to become strong quickly,” “teach you how to become a shard master”. He was dumbfounded.

Master ye, who was by the side, was also dumbfounded.

This senior doesn’t seem to like playing by the rules!

Even the title of the book was so different!

Show off! It was really too showy!

The white-haired old man quickly put away the book and disappeared.

The two of them picked up the travel guide in their hands and started to read it.

As they read, they would occasionally look amazed. The things written in this guidebook were much more detailed than the rules on the wall just now.

“Even a treasure chest can drop dark gold fragments?”

Seeing this, sword-hiding immortal became excited.

“I’m going to pull all my disciples up and work hard to earn fragments!” He immediately rushed back to yellow mud village and went offline.

When he returned to his body, he immediately told the elders about this magical world, leaving them dumbfounded.

Did such a magical world really exist?

Could it be that the sect master’s brain was damaged?

When they went up to take a look, they were all stunned by the wonders of this world.

At this time, people from other forces came up to the yellow mud village. They had also obtained the soul Origin crystals and entered by accident. Like the enlightened person hidden sword and the others, they were in disbelief at first, then they became excited and even a little crazy.

When he went down and spread the news, another wave of people came up, and it was another round of shock.

Just like that, more and more people ascended to the spiritual void realm. Many of their forces had come here with their entire sects. The yellow mud village suddenly became extremely lively.

And in Wu Zhou, the existence of the spiritual void realm also spread like wildfire, causing a sensation.
