

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 3316

“Senior, please forgive me!”

Treasure Daoist’s terrified cry came from the peak of the mountain.

By then, Tang Hao had already reached the mountainside.

“No, we can’t just leave like this. There are still many treasures here!”

With a wave of his sleeve, countless treasure lights flew out from the palace below and were kept into his pocket.

Wherever he passed, the palace was basically left with only a shelf. The tiles, floor tiles, everything was gone.

“Let’s go!”

He quickly finished collecting them and directly rushed to the exit.

After he left the mountain, he continuously tore open the void and fled far away.

After a while, another divine light escaped from the mountain in a sorry state.

“It’s a Celestial King! It’s too scary!”

Treasure Daoist’s face was extremely pale.

Just now, he was so scared that his soul almost flew away.

The person on the mountain was a Celestial King!

Normally, he would shiver when he saw a great eternity immortal, let alone an Immortal King. If it wasn't for his many treasures and escape techniques, he would have really died in there.

Although he managed to escape, he had also paid a great price. He had still suffered a loss this time.

"That's weird! When I came out just now, I seemed to see that the tiles of those palaces were gone. It was so empty, as if even the floor tiles were gone. What happened?"

After running for a while, he suddenly revealed a puzzled expression.

"I must have seen wrongly! There's no one else in there ..."

He thought about it carefully and shook his head, thinking that he had been too nervous when he escaped, so he had seen wrongly.

"Al! What a loss! What a loss!"

Then, he sighed and ran away.

"What a cunning fellow!"

Mount Emperor.

A beautiful figure stood in the air, looking in the direction of the exit and snorted coldly.

That fellow just now was simply the person with the most escape techniques she had ever seen. She was momentarily stunned.

When she came back to her senses, that guy had already escaped.

She couldn't be bothered to chase after him, he was just a little golden immortal!

"There seems to be another guy. I can clearly sense him, but I can't find him." She turned around, and her Phoenix eyes shone with a sharp light as she scanned the mountain.

"This ... This is ...?"

"Heavens!"

In the next moment, her Phoenix eyes suddenly widened, revealing an expression of extreme shock.

The palace on the mountainside was completely bald!

Other than his attitude, there was nothing else!

Not even a single tile was left!

Her red lips were wide open, and she could not believe her eyes.

This was too clean!

It was as if a swarm of locusts had just passed through. If those pillars and roof beams weren't made of gold and iron and were one with Di Shan, they would have been removed as well.

"This must be a Locust!"

The corner of her eyes twitched, and she had the urge to vomit blood.

Although she didn't have any feelings for this place, this place belonged to her in name. If she had taken a few items, she wouldn't have bothered to pursue the matter. But now that she had emptied it, she really couldn't stand it.

"He's gone, he probably ran away in the chaos!"

She scanned her surroundings again, but did not see any traces.

"Hmph! After stealing so many treasures, you still want to run?"

She snorted and waved her sleeve. A golden light flew out. It was a golden silkworm.

"Go!"

The flying silkworm flew away, circled the mountain, and then flew out.

She moved and followed him.

By then, Tang Hao had already run more than ten continents away.

“It should be about time!”

He stopped and finally heaved a sigh of relief.

Along the way, he had checked everything. There were no imprints or auras, so he would not be tracked.

“Although this trip was a little dangerous, the harvest was huge!”

Looking at the ring full of treasures, he was overjoyed.

This time, he had gained too much!

There were all kinds of rare plants that were tens of thousands of years old, as well as the seven-colored celestial soil and all kinds of rare immortal materials. He couldn't even count them.

He found a place, sat down cross-legged, and took a good look.

According to the old rules, they were placed in different categories.

Then, he opened the mobile immortal's cave and walked in.

The plants and celestial soil from Mount Emperor were all piled up together, and there was no time to plant them. Yun was the only one in the cave dwelling, so she was too busy.

Now, little Yun, a plant demon, had also grown in her cultivation to the level of a heaven immortal.

“There’s too much! Which ancient Almighty’s herb garden did you Rob?”

Little Yun mumbled as she busied herself.

“Immortal Emperor!”

Tang Hao picked up an immortal herb and started to plant it.

“Immortal ... Immortal Emperor?”

Yun’s eyes widened and she was speechless.

Of course, she knew what kind of realm an immortal Emperor was!

“Don’t just stand there, hurry up and plant it!”

After planting the immortal herb in his hand, Tang Hao went to get another one.

“It’s time to plan this immortal’s cave again,”

After planting a few, Tang Hao stood up and looked around.

He hadn't touched this mobile immortal's cave for a long time. When he had just entered the immortal world, he had re-refined it, expanded it by several times, and even set up some arrays.

But now, this immortal's cave clearly could not keep up with his needs.

"Let's refine it again!"

After pondering for a while, he made a decision.

It was actually very easy to refine a mobile abode like this, especially with his realm and craftsmanship.

After half a day, he had refined the cave abode again.

This time, he expanded the size by more than a hundred times and set up more formations to meet the growth conditions of various plants.

He had also divided different types of herb gardens, and planted different types of plants.

"Now this is more like it!"

After the cave abode was completed, he replanted all the plants. Tang Hao looked around at the colorful plants and felt a strong sense of achievement.

His current herb garden was definitely the largest in the entire immortal world and had the most variety. Even the old monster Immortal King couldn't compare to him.

He then prepared a Palace for little Yun 'er to live in and cultivate. He left behind many treasures and left the cave abode.

“There seems to be an immortal encounter, let’s go and join in the fun!”

He activated his Dharma Eye and looked around. He found an immortal encounter and immediately rushed over.

“It’s quite lively!”

He arrived ten minutes later.

This immortal encounter was protected by the divine light. Those who had arrived earlier could not enter and had to wait outside.

It was crowded and lively all around.

Tang Hao wasn’t surprised. This was normal. These immortal encounters were of different styles. They seemed to have been created by different people. Some were simple and crude, and they could be snatched as soon as they landed. Others had some mechanisms, and they had to be tested.

He found a mountain and sat down. Then, he took out a pot of wine and started drinking.

Just as he was drinking contentedly, suddenly, an undetectable golden light swept over from the sky and landed near him.

A moment later, ripples appeared in the void, and a graceful figure stepped out.

“You little thief, you’re quite satisfied!”

Then, a cold shout exploded in his ears.
