

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 460

“Hey! Have you heard? That guy is here!”

“Who?”

“You know, that guy! Tang Hao, the freshman! He’s rumored to be the beauty queen’s boyfriend. He’s been very popular recently!”

“What? He’s here? Where is he?”

“At the entrance!”

“Dammit, why didn’t you tell me earlier? Let’s go!”

Such conversations were happening in all corners of Z University. Many people were excited and rushed toward the entrance.

The news was spreading like wildfire across the entire campus.

“Hey, put away your book! Don’t you know? That big-timer is here! He’s at the entrance!”

A student shouted while running into a classroom.

The other students in the classroom were confused about whom he was referring to.

“Which big-timer?”

A girl said nonchalantly as she fiddled with her phone. "There are so many people who think they're popular these days, but only a few of them can be considered big-timers. The rest are all boasts."

"That's right!" Someone agreed.

"Look at the time! Classes are starting in another ten minutes. The teacher will be here soon!" An ace student said seriously as he pushed his glasses.

The person gasped. "Ha, this one's not a boast! He's a true big-timer. It's Tang Hao, the legend of Z University."

The classroom fell silent once the name was mentioned.

Thud!

The girl dropped her phone on the desk, but she did not realize it. She was too stunned for words.

The other people also froze there.

The next moment, an uproar broke out in the classroom.

The students got up violently from their seats and looked incredibly excited. The girls' eyes were sparkling.

"My idol! He's finally here!"

“Wow! He’s finally decided to show up in school? Let’s go! I’m so excited to see him again!”

“Dammit, who cares about studying? I’m off to see the big-timer!”

They rushed out of the classroom.

While Tang Hao was away, his popularity among the students of Z University exploded.

He was a true big-timer!

No, he was not a big-timer but a legend!

Not only Tang Hao was a self-made rich person who started Haotian Co. Ltd., but he was also the rumored boyfriend of the beauty queen Liu Bingyao.

Tang Hao was quite popular because of those two reasons.

The incident that shocked the entire university was the incident a few days ago, during the spring outing.

Rumor had it that while they were at the Fragrant Cloud Mountain campgrounds, just when the sun rose and about a thousand students were about to board their buses...

A military helicopter appeared from the sky, and a beautiful girl in a military uniform jumped out of the helicopter and brought Tang Hao away.

What was more amazing was that the beautiful girl had called Tang Hao “Major Tang”.

The girl also said, "The Agency needs you!", which also became a catchphrase.

There were multiple versions of rumors spreading in the university.

Such an incident would be hard to believe, but a thousand Z University students had witnessed it with their eyes.

The discussion boards of the university exploded after the news broke out.

Everyone at Z University knew about it, even the teachers and administrators.

Tang Hao immediately became a legend at Z University. He had become the hero of many male students, and also the dream lover of many female students.

Many other students rushed out of their classes toward the entrance.

It was a spectacular scene.

The entrance was packed with people, yet more and more people arrived.

The security guards at the entrance tried to control the crowd, but eventually, they gave up and joined in the crowd to see.

The line of cars stretched down the road. Most of them were teachers. They were shocked when they saw the scene.

They soon found out who was the center of attention and immediately understood.

Meanwhile, in the center of the crowd, Tang Hao was thoroughly dumbfounded.

He did not expect that incident at the campgrounds would cause such a big commotion.

He was not a celebrity nor an idol, so what was all the fuss about?

Very soon, he calmed down. He bit into his stuffed jianbing and started walking, "Excuse me! Coming through!"

"Ah, my idol! He looks so cool even when eating street food!" Someone exclaimed.

Tang Hao rolled his eyes when he heard that.

'Just what the hell is going on?'

'No, I've got to throw off these people and get inside.'

"Excuse me!" Tang Hao shouted and squeezed his way.

However, there were too many people in his way, and they were stretching their arms toward him.

"Hey, don't grope me!"

“Hey, why are you pulling my shirt? Let me tell you, my shirt might not cost much, but you shouldn’t destroy it! Dammit, the buttons are falling off!”

Tang Hao shouted. He was thoroughly flustered.

The people became more excited when they heard him shout.

“Tang Hao, Tang Hao! I’m a journalist from the university newsletter. Can I ask you, do you really have an alternate identity? Where have you been for the past three days?”

A few people squeezed in front of Tang Hao, took out pocket recording devices, and shoved them toward Tang Hao’s mouth.

Tang Hao rolled his eyes. He ignored them.

“Why aren’t you speaking, Tang Hao? Oh! Is it because your identity is top secret?”

The people did not give up.

‘Dammit, are you all idiots? If you know that it’s top-secret, then why are you still asking me about it?’

Tang Hao tucked his head in and squeezed his way forward. He cast a concealment spell on his face amid the chaos and finally managed to sneak out of the crowd.

“Hey! Where is he? Tang Hao is missing!”

The people at the back screamed.

Tang Hao found a secluded corner and sat down.

The stuffed jianbing was lost in the chaos. His clothes were also disheveled.

He straightened his clothes. As he looked toward the entrance, he began to fear for his life.

“It’s all because of that Mu girl. Her excessive gesture has brought me so much trouble!” He grumbled angrily.

However, his anger soon dissipated when he was reminded of her icy face.

He was at a loss for words when she said “I like this one!”.

“Whatever. I’m going to class!”

Tang Hao caught his breath, stood up, and walked toward his classroom with the help of the concealment spell.