

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 462

The girl in front of him was extremely attractive.

She was very tall and slender. She wore a tight black leather jacket, which accentuated all the curves on her body.

The heavy makeup on her face made her look bold and passionate.

“Hey, handsome boy, are you interested in having lunch with me?” She winked at him and bit her lip. It was obvious that she was trying to flirt with him.

She thrust her chest outward and flaunted her twin peaks.

“Oh my god, that’s Goddess Xiao! She’s Xiao Tong, a senior year student from the Faculty of Foreign Language Studies!”

“Goddess Xiao’s body tempts me to commit crimes!”

“That’s Goddess Xiao’s usual style. She’s as candid and eager as ever!”

Everyone exclaimed in surprise.

The boys’ gazes were full of envy.

First, it was Beauty Queen Su. Then, it was Goddess Xiao. They were popular female students at Z University. Encountering either of them on a usual day was a rare occasion, but both of them appeared at the same time, and they had taken the initiative to flirt with the boy.

Tang Hao glanced at her and said, "I'm sorry, I'm busy!"

After that, he turned around and left hurriedly.

The girl stood there, dumbfounded.

"Haha!" Su Yuchen laughed out loud when she saw that. "So what if you have a pair of boobs, Xiao? What a temptress!"

"Wh... Who are you talking about, you opportunistic b*tch?" Xiao Tong was instantly furious.

The two beautiful girls started arguing with each other while everyone looked on.

Tang Hao tucked his head in and walked away, though many other girls continued to surround him. They handed him love letters with bashful faces, which frustrated him greatly.

Meanwhile, at a nearby academic building, some people were squatting in a row on the ground while smoking cigarettes.

They seemed miserable when they looked at the commotion some distance away.

"Sigh, I'm so envious!"

A person said while smacking his lips.

“Yes, I’m so envious too!” Tang Bowen, who squatted next to him, said. He seemed rather resentful. “I’d also like to be so popular among the girls too!”

“We’re so envious...!”

The other people said.

They became more disconsolate than ever. Nobody cared about the group of people squatting at a corner, much less any beautiful girls. Meanwhile, that kid was so popular.

When they were reminded about the earlier incident, their bodies trembled, and they reflexively clenched their buttocks.

“Sigh!”

Even Fang Qiming sighed. He looked incredibly glum.

He remembered his glamorous past. His Lamborghini had dazzled the boys and impressed the girls. Back then, he felt that he was at the pinnacle of his life.

Everything that happened after that was a nightmare!

That kid somehow got a military helicopter to fetch him!

‘Dammit, that was a military helicopter! It’s at least ten times, no, a hundred times, cooler than my sports car! There’s no comparison!’

None of the female students, no matter his senior or junior, cared for him after that. They only had that filthy kid in their eyes.

“Dammit, why is this kid more and more uncanny?”

He viciously dragged his cigarette and angrily tossed the butt away.

He glared at Tang Bowen. “Didn’t you say that he’s only a poor country bumpkin? Dammit, can a country bumpkin be such a big-timer?”

“Are you sure that you’re his cousin? Why are you so much worse than him? Look at him, then look at yourself. Aren’t you ashamed?”

Tang Bowen had no retort to that. He had many grievances but could not air them.

He lifted his head and looked at his cousin again. He remembered that his cousin used to be poor and downtrodden, but the difference between now and then was too great.

Meanwhile, Tang Hao managed to leave the university entrance. He only lifted his head after he was very far away.

“I think I should stay away from the university for now. I should go back to Westridge!”

Tang Hao went to inform Liu Bingyao. He went to New Magical Kitchen after that. In the afternoon, he returned to Westridge with Liu Bingyao.

It was about four o’clock in the afternoon when he arrived at Westridge. He went to his companies to catch up on the latest happenings.

The three companies, Haotian Health Products, Masculine Wind, and Divine Liquor Company, are expanding rapidly. The plantation company was also thriving.

The company had started a few more plantations and recruited more villagers. It had solved the supply problem of medicinal herbs, and at the same time, developed the economy of Dragonrock Village. That was like killing two birds with one stone.

New Magical Kitchen expanded the fastest among all his companies. The restaurant had trained a new cohort of chefs and had opened branches in more than ten major cities.

Of course, there was a branch in Westridge as well.

Finally, Sis Yan updated Tang Hao about Haotian Group's preparation work.

It had been almost two months since the idea of forming Haotian Group was set into motion. The preparations were almost complete.

They had obtained all the official paperwork to operate Haotian Group Holdings Limited. The necessary manpower, documents, and organizational structure were ready too.

According to Sis Yan, they could start operating Haotian Group at any time.

After Haotian Group was formed, the holding company shall be the parent company, and its subsidiaries would be Haotian Health Products, Masculine Wind, Divine Liquor Company, Haotian Plantations, and New Magical Kitchen.

Of course, there may be more subsidiaries in the future. Those may be started by themselves, or bought over from someone else.

Tang Hao immediately made his decision. He chose an auspicious day and hour for the opening ceremony. It would be in seven days.

The opening ceremony was a momentous event. Preparations for the ceremony began immediately.

In those seven days, Tang Hao was also busy processing the snakes he obtained from Hindustan.

He had a huge haul from that short trip. There were several thousands of small flying snakes, and most of them were charred by electricity.

There were more than twenty of those bigger snakes.

Then, there was the biggest one.

He skinned the small snakes and collected the blood. The charred ones could be eaten, while the raw ones could be minced and turned into fertilizer.

That was how he processed the bigger snakes too. They were all turned into fertilizer.

The snake meat and blood would be a very good fertilizer for the Liquor Trees and the Tree of Youth.

The last, biggest snake was quite troublesome.

It was two times bigger than the sea dragon. Its tough scales were also a challenge.

He first drained the humongous monster of its blood. Every drop was collected.

The blood of the Guardian was very nourishing. He used a small portion of it to produce spirit jade and stored the rest.

After that, he slowly dissected the remaining parts of the snake. None of it went to waste.

Seven days passed in the blink of any eye. It was the day of the opening ceremony.

They held a grand ceremony at noon in front of the new office building. Haotian Group was officially operational.