

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 558

Tang Hao sat in the president's office.

In front of him was a pile of documents.

He pressed his temples as he looked at the pile of documents, feeling a headache creeping in.

'So many documents. How troublesome.'

"Have some tea, Chairman Tang!"

Han Yutong brought a cup of tea and stood next to him. She leaned forward and placed the cup on the table. Tang Hao could vaguely see what was beneath her clothes.

Tang Hao quickly averted his gaze after a quick glance. He felt slightly embarrassed.

She also noticed the change in Tang Hao's expression, but she did not mind it. Instead, she giggled.

The office door was translucent. People outside could roughly see what was going on in the room.

Many people were lingering outside. They pretended to walk past the room while sneaking peeks.

"Ah! Don't you think that our new president is so handsome and cool? I can't resist it!" The employees talked in private.

"That's right, he's really cool! More importantly, he's super rich!"

The female employees were extremely excited.

The male employees were envious.

“So, that beautiful lady is his assistant. How lucky!”

Having a lot of money and a sexy assistant was the ultimate dream of all men.

“By the way, who is he? How can he be so rich at such a young age?”

“I don’t know! He is quite mysterious.”

Soon, a piece of gossip spread in the company.

“Have you heard? The new president bought the company because of a newcomer who just signed yesterday...”

“Wow! That can’t be! He spent hundreds of millions to buy our company, all that just for a woman? How capricious!”

Everyone was dumbfounded when they heard the news.

That was a typical plot point in CEO romantic novels, but how could it happen in real life?

“Awww, so romantic!”

The female employees were extremely excited.

The male employees could only sigh, "It must be nice being rich!"

Of course, Tang Hao could hear those discussions. He shook his head helplessly and told Han Yutong, "Get the lawyers to prepare a confidentiality agreement and get everyone to sign it."

"Yes, Chairman Tang!" Han Yutong replied and went away to make a call.

"Forget it. I'm not going to look at it! I'm not going to be in charge anyway!"

After looking at a few documents, Tang Hao tossed the entire pile aside.

He bought the company under his personal capacity, and he was not going to manage it. Instead, he wanted to hide behind the scenes so that Liu Bingyao did not know that it was him.

He already had a candidate for the president's position. It was an ace manager recommended by Old Master Luo.

It was said that the manager was very capable and had produced many famous celebrities.

Tang Hao had offered an astronomical sum before he managed to poach her.

The ace manager arrived at about one o'clock in the afternoon.

She was in her forties and had short hair. She seemed capable and diligent.

When she walked into the company, everyone exclaimed in surprise.

“Oh my god! Could that be He Meiting, the ace manager?”

“Why is she here? Did the new president poach her?”

“What? How lavish! How much would it cost to poach a manager like her?”

The people were once again shocked.

“Nice to meet you, Ms. He!”

Tang Hao met the ace manager in his office.

“Nice to meet you too, Mr. Tang!”

They shook hands and sat down.

“Mr. Tang, since I’m here, it means that I’ve accepted your invitation. From now on, I’ll do my best to help you manage this company.

“The company is still small, and we’re not in the same league with the major entertainment companies yet. However, if you’re willing to spend money, we’ll get there in no time.”

Tang Hao smiled and said, “Money... isn’t a problem. I trust in your abilities, Ms. He.

“From today on, you’re the president of this company. As for me, I’ll be behind the scenes!

“This is a confidentiality agreement. Please sign it. Also, take a look at this profile. What do you think of this person?”

As he spoke, Tang Hao handed over two documents.

He Meiting took them and glanced at the agreement. She was slightly surprised but did not say anything. She signed the agreement after reading it.

Then, she took a look at the profile.

Her eyes lit up when she saw the photo.

Her eyes sparkled as she looked through the profile. “She has an outstanding appearance. It’s all too easy to bring out her unique charm,” she said excitedly.

“She’s a singer, right? How’s her voice? I’d like to listen.”

Tang Hao swiveled the computer screen toward her and asked her to put on the headphones. He played several audio recordings.

The more He Meiting listened, the more excited she became.

She stood up abruptly, and her face was flush with excitement. “I didn’t expect to immediately find a diamond in the rough. Let’s not talk about her appearance. Her singing skills are even better. With a little polishing, she will be a future diva!

“We must focus all our resources on nurturing her. She’ll be able to bring the company to fame.”

Tang Hao was relieved after hearing her words.

“If you don’t mind, I’ll call you Sis He from now on!” Tang Hao said.

“Sure! At my age, you can even call me Auntie He,” He Meiting said with a smile.

“I’ll take my leave, Sis He. You can contact her later!”

Tang Hao got up and left with Han Yutong.

After he got into the car, he called Liu Bingyao.

In the dormitory, Liu Bingyao was curled up in bed, hugging a plush toy. She was in low spirits.

Her phone suddenly rang. When she saw the name of the caller, she almost jumped in joy.

“Tang Hao!” She immediately answered the call.

“It’s done. Boss Chen and all the other people from last night are kicked out of the company. You don’t have to see them anymore.

“I talked to the new president. She appreciates you very much and says that she will nurture you. She will contact you soon!”

“Really?” She was overjoyed.

“Yup! This president is very capable. She is an ace manager. With her taking care of you, I’ll be relieved,” Tang Hao said.

Liu Bingyao fell silent for a moment after hearing that.

She knew that he must have pulled many connections for that to happen.

“Thank you!” She bit her lip and said softly.

Secretly, she was very moved.

“Don’t mention it. Do your best!” Tang Hao smiled.

“Yes!”