

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 570

He felt something wet on his hand. When he looked at his hand, he saw that it was covered in dark red blood.

He instantly came to his senses and pushed her away. When he glanced at her body, he saw a few knife wounds on her abdomen with fresh blood oozing out. It was a horrific sight.

“Tsk!” His expression was grim.

He retrieved a bottle of sobriety medicine and poured it into her mouth.

However, the effect was not as expected.

“Damn! This Dongying poison is very potent!” Tang Hao was surprised. His medicine would have easily cured any mundane poison.

However, it made sense when he thought about it. No mundane poison would have an effect on the ice queen cultivator Mu Xintong.

“If one bottle won’t do, then I’ll feed her a few more bottles!” Tang Hao muttered.

He took out a few bottles of medicine and poured it into her mouth.

Finally, she calmed down and leaned against the car seat. She muttered something in a daze.

Soon, her beautiful eyes closed, and she lost consciousness.

Tang Hao examined her and found that she had fallen asleep. He was relieved and fed her another pill.

Then, he picked her up and placed her in the back seat of his car.

After placing her down, he looked down and saw that his white shirt was stained red by her blood.

He smiled gently. Soon, his phone rang.

He wiped the blood off his hands, took out his phone, and picked up the call.

“How is it? Where is she? Have you found her?” General Bai asked anxiously.

“She’s fine. I saved her!” Tang Hao said.

Lao Bai immediately heaved a sigh of relief. “That’s great!”

“What’s going on?” Tang Hao asked seriously.

“Sigh! Now that I think about it, it has something to do with you,” General Bai said.

“Something to do with me?” Tang Hao was surprised.

“That’s right, it’s because of you!” General Bai said solemnly, “Those Dongying cultivators are here to find out more information about you.”

Tang Hao furrowed his brows and assumed a grim expression.

“You’ve caused too big of a scene earlier! You went to Merrica, then to Europe to cause so much trouble. Dongying, as our neighbors and old enemies, must be worried!

“They are eager to get information about you. What’s more, there’s even a Project Dragon Slayer that aims to bring you down.”

“Dragon Slayer?” Tang Hao muttered and narrowed his eyes, which flashed with hostility.

‘I haven’t dealt with them yet, and they’re coming to look for me?’

“They’ve sent a crowd over, though most of them are mundanes. They seem to be lawful and compliant on the surface, but they’re secretly gathering information. They used to be in Province J, but recently they’ve tailed those Taoist masters and went to Province Z, where you are.

“I sent Comrade Mu there to assess the situation and find out what they know. I didn’t expect that those bastards would be so bold as to directly pursue and kill her. Maybe they wanted to interrogate Comrade Mu?

“This is outrageous! I’ll kill those bastards one by one!” General Bai cursed angrily.

Tang Hao glanced at Mu Xintong in the car and thought that it was not the case. Lust would have been the main reason.

He thought for a moment, and his expression became more and more serious.

If the Dongying forces tailed the Taoist masters, it meant that they knew about Haotian Pictures. Hopefully, they would think that Haotian Pictures was a subsidiary of Mao Mountain and not suspect anything else.

If they investigated any further, he would necessarily enter their sights.

They might not immediately suspect that he was the Dragon, but it was a concern, and he would have to eliminate it.

“Prepare my passport and visa. I’ll go to Dongying tomorrow.” Tang Hao quickly made up his mind. “Also, do something about the photos!”

General Bai was stunned. “You’re...”

“Didn’t they want to get rid of me? Then I’ll send myself to them and see if they can get rid of me,” Tang Hao said coldly.

“Well... That’s not a bad idea, actually. It’s time to teach those bastards a lesson. However, remember to be careful,” General Bai said.

“I know!”

“Okay, I’ll send someone to deliver the items you requested tomorrow.”

“By the way, what about... Comrade Mu?”

“What about her? You should take care of her! Look at the time. It’s so late, and everyone’s already asleep. Ah! I’m already so old, I have to go to bed! That’s it. If there’s anything else, we’ll talk tomorrow.”

“Hey...”The other end hung up before Tang Hao could say anything.

Beep...

Tang Hao was dumbfounded as he listened to the busy tone on the other end.

'How irresponsible! Did he leave me to deal with this mess? How should I settle this delicate beauty?'

Tang Hao grimaced and felt a headache creeping in.

"Never mind. Let's go home first!"

Tang Hao got in the car and drove back to his neighborhood.

He carried Mu Xintong in his arms, cast a concealment spell, and sneaked upstairs.

That was a residential area. He would cause a huge commotion if anyone saw him carrying a beautiful young woman covered in blood.

After entering his apartment, he placed the beautiful woman on the couch.

Then, he clapped his hands and breathed a sigh of relief.

He was stunned when he focused his gaze on her once more. He stared at her for a while before quickly turning around.

'That was such an alluring scene!

'Almighty god in heaven!' He chanted under his breath a few times and managed to calm down.

Then, he walked over and examined her wounds. They had already healed without leaving scars.

He took a basin of hot water and a towel and gently cleaned her body.

After wiping, he took a blanket and covered her body.

She moaned as though she was about to wake up. However, after tossing and turning for a while, she hugged the blanket tightly and fell into a deep sleep.

Tang Hao chuckled as he looked at her sleeping face.

'She's usually as cold and distant as an iceberg, but she's much cuter now.'

He sat down next to her, took out a stack of jade pieces, and started crafting talismans.