

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 683

Late at night.

Traffic in front of the residential area was light.

After a while, an A8 drove over.

In the car, Tang Hao put down his phone and slowed down. Not far ahead was the entrance of the residential area.

After driving for a while, his eyes suddenly focused on a certain spot on the road ahead. A street light flashed and suddenly went out.

Then, another one went out.

The street lights continued to go out one after another in his direction.

The road became darker and darker.

In the darkness, a figure walked over. It was an old man in a Chinese tunic suit and carrying a sword on his back. His gaze was sharp and penetrating, and his aura was awe-inspiring.

Tang Hao's expression changed slightly, and he slowly stopped the car.

Through the car window, he could feel the powerful aura from the other party.

That person was half a Perfected Person, just like him!

However, in the Huaxia cultivation world, apart from the previous generation elders of Mao Mountain and Dragon Tiger Mountain, who else could be a Perfected Person?

Moreover, that person was clearly coming toward him in an aggressive manner.

Tang Hao frowned slightly, feeling extremely puzzled.

Then, he opened the car door and walked out.

The old man walked over and stopped about three meters away. His two eyes were like sharp swords as he stared at Tang Hao.

After a moment, he sneered, "You've quite the cultivation base, villain!"

Tang Hao was surprised. Then, he almost rolled his eyes.

'Why am I a villain again? Do I look like a villain? Oh, right, maybe I'm considered a villain because of what happened to the Liu family?

'Did the Liu family hire this guy?'

"Senior..." Tang Hao said.

"Hmph! Save the flattery!" The old man sneered and scolded, "You villain, you have done many evil deeds. Today, I will do justice on behalf of the heavens and restore peace to Huaxia."

When Tang Hao heard this, he immediately rolled his eyes.

Then, he became annoyed.

‘Calling me a villain and wanting to kill me? How arrogant can you get, old man!’

He chuckled and said, “Want to kill me? That will depend on your ability!”

“Ha, how arrogant! After going into seclusion for several decades, it looks like you scum have forgotten the prestige of our Sky Mountain!” The old man said coldly.

“Sky Mountain? What’s that?” Tang Hao sneered and tore away his tie, revealing a mocking expression.

He had never heard of Sky Mountain before.

Even if they were a major sect, they were nonetheless cowards for going into seclusion for several decades. What was there to be arrogant about?

The old man flew into a rage and scolded, “How dare you! Today, I will let you have a taste of the power of Sky Mountain!”

He stomped his foot, and cracks formed on the road.

Using the force, he shot out and reached out with his hand.

Shing! The ancient black sword on his back broke out of its sheath and slashed downward.

Accompanying the sword was a powerful qi aura.

“You have a death wish!” Tang Hao shouted coldly. With a flick of his wrist, a dozen jade talismans shot out.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

Lightning and fire exploded together and engulfed the old man.

The old man was surprised.

‘Jade talismans? Where did the villain get so many jade talismans?’

“Hmph! It’s just a small trick!”

He channeled his qi into his sword and directly cut through the lightning and fire.

He was about to slash forward when another wave of jade talismans came.

He was quite confused.

‘What’s going on?’

‘Aren’t jade talismans very precious? Why is this villain throwing handfuls after handfuls of jade talismans?’

After enduring another wave of attacks, he sneered, "Still have any more of those?"

He was laughing up his sleeve. After two waves of attacks, that villain must be out of talismans!

However, in the next moment, he was dumbfounded.

Another handful of jade talismans appeared in his opponent's palm.

His other hand was filled with jade talismans.

'What the hell? This must be fake!' He cursed internally as his expression changed drastically.

Jade talismans were more powerful than paper talismans. The two earlier waves of attacks had consumed a lot of his qi. The next two waves would deplete his qi reserves, and he would be in no condition to fight.

One had to know that both of them were half-step Perfected Persons and their cultivation bases were about the same.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

The jade talismans exploded, which reduced the old man to quite a pathetic state.

He lifted his head with much difficulty and was dumbfounded when he saw another handful of jade talismans appear in his opponent's hand.

His eyes widened, and his eyeballs almost popped out of their sockets.

Bang! Bang! Bang! Another wave of bombardment.

The old man was about to curse out loud.

‘What the hell? Where did this guy get so many jade talismans? How much has the world changed in a few decades? Are all the cultivators nowadays so powerful?’

“F*ck! Are you done yet? If you have the guts, don’t use jade talismans! Let’s fight fair and square!”

He panicked when he saw another handful of jade talismans appear in Tang Hao’s palm.

“Alright! No jade talismans then!” Tang Hao smiled slightly and stashed the jade talismans away.

The old man immediately heaved a sigh of relief. He was getting scared of the explosions.

Then, he laughed up his sleeve. He did not expect that the villain was stupid enough to agree to his proposal.

‘Hmph! If we fight fair and square, the villain won’t be my match!’

He brandished his sword and was about to charge forward.

At that moment, a mirror suddenly appeared in the villain’s hand. He tossed it in the air, and the mirror trembled and emitted a dazzling brilliance.

The brilliant aura stunned the old man.

His eyes widened again, and his face was almost contorted with fear.

'F*ck! What's this Artifact? It looks incredibly powerful!'

He stood there stiffly and gulped down a mouthful of saliva. Cold sweat dripped down his forehead.

'Things are not looking good!

'This villain is too well-equipped!

'He has so many jade talismans and that Artifact. There's no fight!'

He looked at his sword and felt a little sad. Other than the pitch-black sword, he had nothing else.

His opponent was a supervillain! If he had known earlier, he would have dragged his senior brothers with him. Now that he was alone, he was no match for him!

"Wait, stop! Let's not fight today!"

He hurriedly waved his hand and shouted.

"I'll spare your life today and fight another day, villain! F*ck, don't give me that look! Don't be so smug. You only happened to be well-equipped. What's so great about that?"

“Let me tell you, my Sky Mountain is very powerful. There are still a few more senior brothers who are more powerful than me! I’ll gather them in a few days and eliminate you, villain!”

He shouted sheepishly.

Then, he ran away as fast as a rabbit.

His shouts could still be heard from afar.

“Just you wait, you villain...”

Tang Hao put away the mirror and grunted coldly.

He did not dare to act recklessly in the populous residential area. The attacks earlier only served to scare him away.

The fight earlier had caused a lot of commotion, waking up many people in the residential area. They poked their heads out and looked in his direction.

Tang Hao stood there with a gloomy expression.

Suddenly, he grunted coldly and muttered, “Liu family, just you wait!”
