

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 719

Tang Hao looked up and was immediately shocked.

Reflexively, his body sank into the water, and his face blushed.

“What are you doing?”

At the door, Tamamo smiled charmingly, closed the door, and slowly walked over.

Tang Hao glanced at her, and his face turned even redder.

“You’re still shy!” Seeing him like that, Tamamo giggled.

She walked over and stopped in front of the bathtub.

With a gentle pull, the towel fell down. She took another step and entered the bathtub.

The bathtub was big enough to accommodate two people.

Tang Hao coughed lightly and turned his face away.

“It’s not like I haven’t seen it before. Why are you shy?” She pretended to sound angry. “Come, let me wipe your back. You just came back from a long trip. You must be very tired!”

Her tone was very gentle.

Tang Hao nodded slightly.

“Thank you for your hard work! Let me serve you today!”

She smiled, leaned over, picked up a towel, and started to wipe Tang Hao’s back.

For a moment, only the sound of water splashing could be heard in the bathroom.

“Dear little brother!”

Suddenly, she called out.

“Huh?”

“Your skin is so good!” She muttered. As she spoke, she used her white fingers to gently stroke Tang Hao’s back. “It’s even better than mine.”

“No way!” Tang Hao said.

“Really!” Tamamo replied seriously.

After a while, they chatted about other things.

“By the way, I might need to trouble you with some things in the future.” Suddenly, Tang Hao seemed to remember something and said.

“Really?”

Tamamo’s beautiful eyes lit up, and she asked in surprise, “What’s the matter?”

“In the future, I want to bring my products to Dongying, and I think I’ll need to go through a lot of procedures. I might need to trouble you,” Tang Hao said.

Not long ago, when he discussed expansion plans with Manager Liu, they had decided that they would expand abroad. Dongying was the closest, and that would be their first target.

“That’ll be a piece of cake! Just let me know when the time comes!” Tamamo said.

“Thanks!”

“For what?” Tamamo smiled.

In the bathroom, fog was rising.

Her delicate face was partially obscured. It was like a scene from a dream.

Tang Hao was stunned by what he saw.

“Am I beautiful, my dear little brother?” She looked into his eyes.

“Yes!”

She immediately smiled brightly, just like a little girl.

“You’re such a charmer!” She giggled.

After a long time, the two of them put on bathrobes and walked out.

“Oh no! My love sushi!”

When they reached the living room, she shouted and rushed to the kitchen. “Phew, it’s fine! It’s still a little warm. Come and eat, my dear little brother!”

After eating, she reached out and said to Tang Hao, “Where’s my identification pendant?”

Tang Hao took out the pendant with the number 9 and handed it over.

“Thank you!”

She smiled charmingly and leaned over to kiss him.

“This is for you too!” Tang Hao took out the Pill of Everlasting Beauty and handed it over.

“What’s this?” Tamamo seemed surprised when she took it.

“It’s the Pill of Everlasting Beauty. After eating it, you’ll look young forever!”

“Wow! It’s so magical!”

Tamamo's face was filled with amazement. Her beautiful eyes lit up excitedly.

After another kiss, she leaned over to Tang Hao's ear and said emotionally, "I like this gift very much. I won't be leaving today. Can I accompany you?"

After a night of intimacy, Tang Hao saw her off the next morning.

There was already a car waiting downstairs.

She muttered, a little reluctant to leave, "Now that I'm leaving, I don't know when I'll be able to come to visit you again. It might be three months, five months, or even longer, but I'll miss you."

As she spoke, she wrapped her arms around his neck and gave him a passionate kiss. Then, she turned around and entered the car.

After watching the car leave, Tang Hao walked back and began to tidy up his room.

At noon, he first called Assistant Han, then Yan'er.

After picking up Yan'er, they had lunch and drove back to Westridge.

In the next few days, Tang Hao was busy with the company's matters while helping to prepare for Qin Gang's wedding.

Now that Qin Gang was going to be married, the happiest ones were Old Master Qin and Mr. and Mrs. Qin. They grinned from ear to ear every day. They were also very satisfied with Sun Yi as their daughter-in-law.

After careful preparations, the wedding was held on July 3rd.

The wedding was very grand, and many guests were invited. All the influential people in Westridge and even Provincial City were in attendance.

Tang Hao attended the wedding together with Qin Xiangyi.

“Thank you, Brother-in-law!”

Qin Gang toasted Tang Hao several times during the banquet.

Tang Hao smiled and drank with him.

“I’m already married. The two of you will be next!”

Qin Gang looked at Tang Hao, then at Qin Xiangyi.

“Big Bro!”

Qin Xiangyi’s face turned red, and she said angrily, “It’s too early!”

Qin Gang laughed, filled up their glasses, and handed one to her. “Come, let’s drink!”

Then, Sun Yi toasted the two of them.

“My brother... has finally settled down!” Qin Xiangyi sat down and smiled happily.

Then, she glanced at Tang Hao and said, “Lil Tang, you will marry me, right?”

“Of course!” Tang Hao took her hand and held it tightly.

In his heart, no one was more important than Qin Xiangyi.

“I know you would!” Qin Xiangyi said gently, “But we’re not in a hurry. You’re still young!”

The wedding banquet ended on a high note.

The days passed one after another. He worked during the day and cultivated with Qin Xiangyi at night.

One day, the news came from Haotian Fisheries that the fish were ready to be sold.

Tang Hao took Liu Yan and the others to the farm.

Only two months had passed before the fish hatchlings grew into mature fish weighing two to three kilograms each. Some of the bigger ones weighed four kilograms.

“Wow! So fast!” Liu Yan exclaimed.

“Sis Yan, Chairman Tang, we have roughly counted that there are about twenty thousand fish in the ten ponds here. We won’t know the exact number until we catch them.”

Ma Fangfang stood at the side and explained.

“Twenty thousand? That’s not going to be enough. We have customers from both inside and outside of Huaxia. Our phones might explode from the sheer number of reservations,” Liu Yan said.

“How should we sell them?” Ma Fangfang asked.

“How about this! We’ll sell half of them in Huaxia and the other half abroad. We’ll fix a relatively cheap price in Huaxia, but everyone from abroad will have to bid for it,” Liu Yan said.

As she spoke, she looked at Tang Hao, waiting for his approval.

“Let’s do it that way!” Tang Hao pondered for a moment and nodded.