

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 767

“Hello, Uncle!” “Hello, Auntie!”

As soon as they arrived at the wet market, Ling Wei greeted the stall owners warmly.

She looked around with a bright smile on her face.

“OK! Let’s go!”

After buying the food ingredients, Tang Hao walked toward the exit.

She rushed up quickly, grabbed Tang Hao’s arm, and walked forward.

The setting sun cast long shadows behind them.

“How have you been recently?” Tang Hao asked.

“Very good! That product is very popular now. We are ready to expand production. Sooner or later, it’ll be a famous brand in the country.”

“That’s really good!” Tang Hao smiled.

Ling Wei smiled and said, “It’s not bad! It can’t be compared to Haotian. You are famous all over Dongying; that’s amazing! Sooner or later, you will be famous all over the world.”

“I hope that is true!” Tang Hao said.

Tang Hao opened the door of his apartment and walked into the kitchen. He put down the bags in his hands and was about to start cooking.

Ling Wei walked over and hugged him from behind.

She hugged him very tightly as if he would disappear if she let go.

“What’s wrong?” Tang Hao said softly.

She did not say anything but gently pressed her cheek against his shoulder. After a long time, she muttered, “Don’t move. Let me hug you properly, just like this.”

As she said that, she lazily rubbed her cheek against his and lazily closed her eyes.

“I’ve been thinking... how blissful would it be if I can hug you like that and rest my head on your shoulder!”

“Silly!” Tang Hao said softly.

She wrinkled her delicate nose and said, “I’m not silly!” As she said that, she grunted, pulled away Tang Hao’s collar, and bit the back of his neck.

However, her movements were very gentle, as though she was licking him.

Tang Hao’s whole body shuddered.

As she smelled the fragrance of plants from his body, her breathing became faster, and her cheeks became redder.

She could not control herself. She leaned down again and kissed the back of his neck gently.

Her starry eyes closed slightly and gradually became misty and emotional.

Her body, clinging to Tang Hao's back, also became hot.

"Hao! You can cook later!" She said emotionally.

She turned Tang Hao around and kissed him.

Soon, a turbulent scene happened in the kitchen.

After a long time, they finally calmed down.

She covered herself with a blanket and curled up on the couch in the living room. Looking at the busy figure in the kitchen, she could not help but smile sweetly.

To her, she did not expect long-term companionship. Brief moments of joy were enough to comfort her.

After a while, she got up and took a shower.

When she came out in her bathrobe, the dishes were ready.

“Mmm! It’s so delicious!”

Her eyes lit up every time she tried a dish.

“Hao! What are we doing later?” She asked as she ate. Her lips were smeared with grease.

“Later? I want to teach you something. Do you want to learn it?” Tang Hao said.

“What is it?”

“Cultivation!” Tang Hao said.

She was surprised. “... Really?”

“Yes! Do you want to learn it?”

“Of course I want to learn it!” She picked up a piece of meat, stuffed it into her mouth, and began to chew.

Tang Hao smiled as he watched. He wiped her mouth with a napkin.

Her face immediately turned red, and she stammered, “This... is too delicious!”

“Then you should eat more!” Tang Hao laughed.

“Oh!”

She responded softly and began to eat again. She was stuffed when she put her chopsticks down.

After she was done, Tang Hao sat down and spent the rest of the night teaching her how to cultivate. At one o'clock in the morning, she dragged him to bed.

It had been a tiring night, and she slept soundly.

When she woke up early the next day, she was full of energy.

“Wow! It's different! I feel so energetic now!” She said in surprise.

“Do you remember what I said last night?”

“Yes, don't worry!” She turned her head, kissed him, and got out of bed. She put on some light makeup and looked radiant and energetic.

After sending her away, Tang Hao packed up and went to class until the afternoon.

In the afternoon, he rushed to Haotian Pictures to check the progress of the movie.

The shooting had been completed a long time ago, and the post-production was coming to an end. It would be in time for the Lunar New Year period.

After another inspection, Tang Hao decided, “Next, let's shoot a TV series!”

“Sure! What are we shooting?” Manager Zhuo was instantly excited. “We have a lot of scripts now. Family drama, espionage, martial arts, fantasy, everything!”

“How about a historical fantasy coming-of-age drama? That’ll be a surefire hit among the youth!”

“Good idea, Chairman Tang!” Manager Zhuo flattered him.

“We happen to have such a script. It’s one of the shortlisted scripts. We even discussed the roles and did a lot of preparatory work.

“Wu Tian shall be the male lead! That young man has been performing well recently! As for the female lead... we have someone in mind too.”

As he spoke, he looked at Tang Hao with a peculiar gaze.

“Who is it?”

“That very popular singer!”

Manager Zhuo winked mischievously as if he expected Tang Hao to know who he was talking about.

“Ahem! Her?”

Tang Hao suddenly felt awkward. “Why did you think of her?”

He was about to recommend her, but he did not expect Manager Zhuo to have the same idea.

Manager Zhuo chuckled and said mischievously, "I know what you're thinking, Chairman Tang! You're still young, so it's OK for you to be flirtatious."

"She suits the role very well. Don't worry, Chairman Tang. There are no kissing scenes, and we can even use a stand-in for the hugging scenes. I've already thought of all that for you."

"I see! Then let's shoot this script and cast her in that role!" Tang Hao said.

"Alright! Don't worry, Chairman Tang!"

After that conversation, they started to cast the actors.

Tang Hao gave Sis Meiting a call to let her know.

That night, Bing Yao called him.

"Um... thank you!"

"You don't have to thank me! You're so famous now. We're honored to have you star in our series."

She chuckled. "I've never acted before. Please don't be too harsh on me! Of course, I'll work hard."

"You can do it!" Tang Hao said.

"Mm, OK!" She said.

“Oh, right, I’ll be in the series too,” Tang Hao said.

“Oh? What’s your role?”

“A corpse! I’m a professional corpse actor!”

She was taken aback momentarily, then she burst out laughing and did not stop giggling for a long time.

“It’s getting late. Go to sleep! Good night!” Tang Hao said softly.

“Yes! Good night!”

She said softly and hung up the phone reluctantly.

Then, she leaned back and lay on the bed.

She picked up the phone and looked at the wallpaper. She pursed her lips into a smile and muttered, “I’ll work very hard until one day, I can stand with you.”

After staring at it for a long time, she turned off the light and fell into a deep sleep.