

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 779

It was another Lunar New Year.

As the day approached, the festive atmosphere became more and more intense.

Tang Hao was also very busy buying goods and giving gifts.

That year, he had prepared some gifts for Dragon Tiger Mountain and the cultivation families. There were jade talismans, Artifacts, and even some pills.

As the President of the Union, he had to show the members some appreciation during the Lunar New Year.

Renovations for Haotian Tower were completed, and Tang Hao went to participate in the grand opening ceremony.

The magnificent skyscraper was more than 150 meters tall. The Haotian logo hung on it, which was particularly eye-catching. It became the new landmark of Westridge.

On the day of the ceremony, many influential figures in the business and political circles of Westridge gathered together. It was an extremely lively scene.

Many media outlets came and reported the news. It caused quite a stir.

It was especially so in Westridge, where the impact was the greatest.

The natives of Westridge lifted their heads and looked at the building with pride.

That was Haotian Group, a corporation well-known throughout Huaxia and even the world. It was the pride of Westridge.

On the eve of Lunar New Year, they returned to Greenwillow Village as usual and had a festive reunion dinner.

When the clock rang at midnight, the two of them sat on the rooftop of Haotian Tower and looked at the fireworks that bloomed in the sky.

“Happy Lunar New Year, Lil Tang!”

She turned her face and stared at Tang Hao.

Her beautiful eyes were dazzling as they reflected the fireworks.

“Happy Lunar New Year!”

Tang Hao said and held her hand tightly.

She pursed her lips and smiled brightly. “This is the third Lunar New Year we’ve spent together!”

“There will be many more!” Tang Hao said.

“Yeah!” She said, “You’re twenty-one years old now. You can get married next year!”

As she spoke, she reached out and gently stroked Tang Hao’s cheeks with her delicate hands.

Her eyes were filled with tenderness.

“Do you like children, Lil Tang?” Suddenly, she muttered.

“I do!” Tang Hao said.

“Then... I’ll give birth to one, OK? No! I want to give birth to many, many, many children. Anyway, I’m a Perfected Person now, so I’m not afraid of pain! I give birth to as many as I can!

“If we have a few boys and girls, how lively will that be!”

As she said that, she revealed a look of yearning.

“Well...”

Tang Hao laughed drily.

“What? Are you unhappy?” Qin Xiangyi was stunned.

“No! It’s just that we’re both Perfected Persons now. It’s not going to be that easy to become pregnant,” Tang Hao said.

“Oh? There’s such a thing?” Qin Xiangyi was stunned.

“If that’s the case, why didn’t you say so earlier? We’ll just have to work harder! Alright, from today onward, we’ll do it without protection! Alright?”

Tang Hao's heart warmed up when he heard that, and he nodded without thinking.

Qin Xiangyi burst into laughter. She glared at him and said, "Look at you!"

"Alright! Let's go watch the movie first, then we'll go home!"

She pulled Tang Hao along and jumped down the building.

Naturally, they went to watch the sci-fi movie produced by Haotian Pictures. The movie was called "Escape from the Solar System" and it was set in space.

The wonderful script, coupled with the explosive special effects, was close to the quality of a Hollywood sci-fi blockbuster. It received positive reviews the moment it was released at midnight.

"Those special effects are too awesome. As expected of Haotian!"

"Haotian Pictures, the hope of domestic movies!"

The Internet was abuzz.

They did not bear high expectations for the sci-fi movie. After all, Haotian Pictures's previous two movies were action comedies, and "Escape from the Solar System" was a serious sci-fi movie.

Those two themes were completely different.

Huaxianese sci-fi movies had never been successful.

The movie had made the moviegoers realize that domestic sci-fi movies could also be very awesome.

The movie scored more than 9.0 on all the review websites. It became an instant hit.

Its popularity was no less than that of last year's "Mao Mountain Taoist Master."

Soon, the Lunar New Year passed.

On the eighth day, Haotian Group started to move into the new building.

Tang Hao's office was on the top floor. It was bigger than the previous one and was attached with a lounge. Even Assistant Han's office had become bigger.

"This is too big!"

Han Yutong walked around and was flabbergasted. "People might think that this is the chairman's office!"

"Isn't that good? It shows that we're a great company!" Tang Hao said with a smile.

"That's true!"

Han Yutong sat down and swiveled on her chair. She could not help but grin.

"This'll be my third home. I need to decorate it properly. Chairman Tang, promise me that you'll never replace me with anyone else."

As she spoke, she walked over and gently hugged Tang Hao.

“OK!” Tang Hao laughed.

“Yay, Chairman Tang! You’re too kind!” She cheered.

Then, she kissed Tang Hao’s cheek several times before starting to set up the office.

Tang Hao went around and hid pieces of jade in each corner of the building. He set up several Artifact formations, and the entire building became as impenetrable as a fortress.

Moreover, Tang Hao took Zhou Lingxue over and prepared a room for her.

She brought countless ghosts with her. In her free time, she had domesticated them, and they had to call her “Boss.”

After the move, the company’s operations resumed on track. They started to plan to expand across Asia.

One day, Tang Hao was working when his phone suddenly rang.

He saw that it was from General Bai.

He quickly picked up the phone as he wondered about the reason for the call.

“What’s up?” Tang Hao asked.

“Have you seen the news?”

General Bai’s tone was serious.

“No!”

“It’s chaos! This time, many hidden sects have returned and are causing trouble everywhere. Take a look! It’s all over the Internet.”

Tang Hao’s expression changed slightly, and he immediately opened Weibo.

After scrolling for a while, he saw that many accounts were forwarding a video. When he clicked on it, he found that it had been deleted, and there was no way to view it.

After searching for a while, he also found some screenshots. He saw several figures dressed in ancient clothes, and beside them were flipped cars that were on fire.

“There are several cases throughout the country, and they’re causing quite a commotion. The authorities can’t delete it in time,” General Bai said.

“Where are they?”

“All over the place. If this continues, they will definitely cause even more chaos. We have to think of a way!” General Bai said anxiously.

“Well...”

Tang Hao frowned. He felt that it was quite troublesome.

If there were so many sects appearing everywhere, how was he going to handle them all at once?

After pondering for a long time, Tang Hao suddenly thought of a plan and said, "Don't we have Hua Mountain? We should ask Hua Mountain to contact them and gather them for a meeting."

General Bai was taken aback. Then, he said excitedly, "Good idea! Let's do it that way! How could I forget about Hua Mountain? I'll hurry and find Baiyun."

After saying that, he hung up.