

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 828

Ring ring ring!

A bell rang.

Tang Hao stood up and handed in his paper. He was the only examinee in the classroom.

It happened to be exam week a few days ago, and Tang Hao did not have the time to come for the exam. Due to his special status, the university arranged another time for him to take the exam alone.

After returning to his seat and packing his things, Tang Hao picked up his backpack and walked out.

In the corridor, he bumped into Jiang Wanying.

She seemed to have been waiting for him for a long time. "You missed the exam. Where did you go?"

"I went overseas. Something came up!" Tang Hao said.

He did not want her to worry, so he did not tell her the real reason for his absence.

"Alright!" Jiang Wanying did not continue asking. Instead, she teased, "You sure are a big shot. The dean and even the chancellor personally approved of you taking the exam alone."

Tang Hao scratched his head awkwardly.

"Haha! I'll be going off! See you next semester!"

Seeing that no one was in the corridor, she leaned over and kissed him lightly.

“If you have time, you must come to River Delta City to visit me!” She winked at Tang Hao and smiled mischievously.

Then, she giggled and left.

Tang Hao stood there, stunned. He touched his cheek.

“I only have another year!” He muttered.

He was now in his third year of university. In another year, he would graduate.

However, he was going to another planet soon, and he would not be able to attend class! Although he could come back, traveling would definitely use up a lot of time.

At the thought of that, Tang Hao felt somewhat distressed.

“Forget it. We’ll talk about it when the time comes! It would be good if I get to graduate!”

Following that, Tang Hao went to visit Zhao Qingxue, Ling Wei, and the other women. He also went to Dongying and Merrica.

After returning to Huaxia, he went to the Capital and visited many people. Back at Westridge, he also met many people, such as Liu Dajun, Shi Dazhu, and the others.

The company was thriving and was expanding around the world. He did not have to be involved.

He even made a trip to the Qin Range, but he did not find any traces of that escaped villain. He was probably either killed or taken away.

There was also no news of the survivors from Shu Mountain.

Tang Hao guessed that Duan Shaolong was taken away. After all, he was a prodigy!

He looked forward to meeting him there in the future.

After everything was settled, he stayed at home to accompany Qin Xiangyi.

Tang Hao was ready to set off on July 15th.

Everyone gathered in the Kunlun underground palace.

“Take care, President! You must come back safely!”

Hierarch Baiyun held his hand tightly.

“We love you, President!” Ma Chongyang and the others shouted from behind.

Tian Xuanzi rolled his eyes and reprimanded them, “Don’t be so sentimental! It’s not like we won’t see him ever again. Why are you guys crying so hard?”

“Kid, your mission there is to gather information. Don’t go fooling around! Also, remember that to strengthen yourself. That’s the most important thing.”

“OK! I got it!” Tang Hao waved his hand and stopped him from continuing.

“You brat...”

Tian Xuanzi muttered and tossed a box at him. “Put this on!”

Tang Hao took the box and opened it. Inside was a silver bracelet with a simple design and a blood jade bead in the middle.

“I’ve made it from the salvaged stardisk. There’s a qi signature in it that can lead you back here. At the same time, it’s also a defensive Artifact.”

“Thank you!”

“Ha, don’t mention it! Now get lost!” Tian Xuanzi waved his hand.

“You must be careful, Lil Tang. Also, remember to come back soon!”

Qin Xiangyi walked up and said gently.

“Don’t worry!”

Tang Hao clenched her hand tightly.

“Alright, that’s enough. Hurry up and go!”

Tian Xuanzi could not stand it anymore. With a wave of his hand, the huge mirror in front of him suddenly emitted a dazzling light.

In the next moment, the empty space in front of them vibrated slightly and rippled like water.

In front of the passage, Tang Hao turned around to look at the people once more before taking a breath and stepping in.

He felt weightless as though the world was spinning around him.

A moment later, his body passed through the ripples and stepped on solid ground. He staggered and steadied himself. When he looked up, he was dazzled by the sunlight.

The sunlight was even brighter than on Earth.

He narrowed his eyes and used his hand to block the sun. He inhaled gently and took in the refreshing fragrance of plants and vegetation.

‘The air is so fresh! There’s no smog!’ Tang Hao thought to himself.

Suddenly, he froze. He could feel many pairs of eyes staring at him with murderous intent from all directions.

He turned his head stiffly and looked around.

The next moment, his expression changed drastically, and he started running.

'F*ck! Why are there dinosaurs here?' He was wailing in his heart.

The huge beasts around him looked very much like the dinosaurs he had seen on television. They were like tyrannosauruses with dazzling golden scales.

"F*ck! Did I go back to the past?" Tang Hao mumbled as he ran.

Roar! Boom! The giant beasts rushed out and chased after him.

They were like bulldozers, toppling and crashing every tree in their way.

As they ran, the beasts opened their bloody mouths, bit off the towering ancient trees, and threw them at Tang Hao.

Tang Hao was shocked when he saw that. He immediately increased his speed.

The giant beasts did not have a high cultivation base, but there were many of them. The biggest ones among them were as big as Godzilla.

The scales on their bodies were golden as if actually made of gold. They were blinding under the sunlight.

Their ferocity was terrifying.

After running for a while, the beasts showed no signs of slowing down. Tang Hao was getting impatient. He turned around and roared, "Are you done? ! I have no grudge against you guys. Why are you so stubborn? ! My meat doesn't taste good!"

The giant beasts became even angrier and ran faster.

"My goodness!"

Tang Hao wailed and continued running.

Soon, he saw several figures standing not far away. They were looking and pointing at him.

Tang Hao turned and ran in that direction.

Those people were laughing at the idiot that had provoked the most terrifying beasts. However, they could not laugh anymore.

Their faces turned green, and they wanted to curse.

"F*ck your mother! Don't come over!"

The more they cursed, the faster Tang Hao ran straight toward them.

"F*ck!"

Their faces went pale, and they started to run away.

Tang Hao quickly joined them.

“F*ck your mother! Don’t follow us!”

“Are you crazy? If you want to die, go and die alone. Don’t involve us!”

The people turned their heads at him and cursed as they ran.

They were losing their minds. That was an undeserved disaster!
