

The Mightiest Little Peasant Chapter 872

“Ahh!” “Ahh!” “Ahh!”

The screams continued as waves of people fell to the ground.

Shards dropped from their bodies. Some were iron, some were gold, and some were even platinum.

The shards flew in all directions and dazzled Tang Hao’s eyes.

“They’re all mine!”

He tossed the egg away and began to pick up the shards. After that, he picked up the egg again and continued to run.

“F*ck your mother! Don’t come over!”

“Please, Bro, let us go!”

The people started to wail and beg after realizing that they could not outrun that kid, which meant that they could not escape the attack range of the demonic roc.

Tang Hao did not say a word and chased after them.

Soon, those people were torn into pieces by the strong wind. Their dropped shards benefited Tang Hao.

“That kid is too despicable!”

The people in front turned around and started cursing.

They were both angry and envious.

“You must be very happy now, you brat! You’re only seeking your own death, and we will not let you go. The Hillrazer Sect will kill you on sight until you stay away from the Voil Realm for good.”

“The same goes for Primeval Mountain! Not only will we kill you in the Void Realm, but we will find you in real life and kill you!”

People from all around agreed with him.

Those people cursed as they ran.

They were so angry!

They were all major factions on the Ninth Continent, but a young brat had tricked them and reduced them to a sorry state.

Tang Hao rolled his eyes. He ran to the side where people were cursing the loudest.

“Don’t come over, kid! Don’t!”

After a series of miserable screams, the people of the Primeval Mountain sect were all killed.

Then, Tang Hao turned around and rushed to the other side.

After another series of miserable screams, the people of the Hillrazer Sect were also killed.

“Wow, a platinum shard! Awesome!”

Tang Hao grinned and happily picked up the shards.

The demonic roc was wreaking havoc in the sky. It stirred up violent winds and swirled the clouds.

It became crazier and crazier, and its eyes were bloodshot.

It flapped its wings and surrounded Tang Hao with an overwhelming gale. However, the gale directed at Tang Hao was a lot weaker, as though it was afraid that it might damage the egg.

The shell of the demonic roc egg was extremely tough and would be able to withstand normal attacks, but it could not withstand a full attack from a demonic roc.

Once Tang Hao put down the egg and to pick up the shards, it would seize the opportunity to bombard him.

However, Tang Hao's Fleetfoot Stride made him extremely agile. It could not hit him at all.

He picked up all the shards in a few seconds and picked up the egg again.

The demonic roc was afraid to damage the egg and lessened its attacks.

Tang Hao and the roc headed toward the direction of the market.

The group of robbers was still hiding on the path to the market.

They could hear an earth-shaking roar coming from the direction of the mountains. A black gale descended from the sky and enveloped the area like a tornado.

They stood up one by one, shocked.

“Senior... Senior Brother, what... what’s going on?”

“How... how would I know!”

“Didn’t they go after that Nameless Qin guy? How did they offend that bird?”

Their faces turned pale as they looked at the approaching black tornado.

The tornado became closer and closer.

A group of people rushed out from the mountain while yelling, “Don’t come over!”

They were running in panic.

The robbers were all stunned.

‘Didn’t they go into the mountains to hunt the kid down earlier? They were so gung-ho earlier, but now they’re so scared.’

They saw another person running out of the mountain carrying a huge egg on his back.

The group of robbers was stunned again.

'Isn't that the Nameless Qin guy? Why is he chasing the group of people?'

'Wait, what's that egg?'

Their eyes fell on the egg. After thinking about it for a second, their eyes widened and their faces contorted in shock.

'F*ck! That's the demonic roc's egg!'

'That goddamn kid actually stole the demonic roc's egg!'

'He's going to turn this place upside down!'

"Oh my god! People are going to die!"

They let out a shriek and started to run.

No matter how fast they ran, they were not as fast as Tang Hao and the demonic roc.

Boom! Boom!

After the gale swept past the area, the robbers were sprawled on the ground, and many iron shards fell from their bodies.

“I swear that I’ll kill you, Nameless Qin!”

The robbers cursed before they died.

Tang Hao could not even be bothered to roll his eyes. He looted the shards and continued to run toward the market.

At that moment, the market was already in chaos.

“Run! That kid is here. He’s crazy. He stole the demonic roc’s egg!”

When the crowd heard that, their faces turned pale from fright. They scrambled and ran for their lives.

Some of them rushed towards the exit, wanting to escape the Void Realm to escape the calamity.

However, too many people were stuck at the entrance.

“F*ck! That kid is too reckless!”

The old man with a club and the others were also caught in the chaos.

Tang Hao arrived before they could leave. Right behind him was the furious demonic roc.

“Oh my god!”

Everyone shrieked and jostled even harder. The exit was completely blocked.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

Black gales poured down and razed the entire market to the ground.

Following that, Tang Hao continued to chase after those who were fleeing.

In real life, cultivators from various major factions throughout the Ninth Continent opened their eyes and roared angrily.

“Dammit, brat, just you wait!”

“Nameless Qin brat, you’ll die horribly!”

After they woke up, all the major factions were shocked.

“What? That detestable brat is so brazen? Let’s go. Get everyone into the Void Realm and kill that brat.”

All the major factions gathered their people and entered the Void Realm, preparing to avenge their humiliation.

The people on the higher levels also received the news and came down to the first level.

They were terrified when they saw the demonic roc.

'F*ck! This is too terrifying!'

They watched from afar and did not dare charge forward. From time to time, they would look at the other party, hoping that they would take the lead.

"Isn't your Primeval Mountain very powerful? Go ahead!"

"Why don't you go ahead then? Doesn't your Di family claim to be number one in the world? Go kill that brat if you're so capable!"

The groups of people started arguing with each other.

Tang Hao ran wildly toward anyone he saw.

Those people were startled and instinctively wanted to run.

"Hmph, you cowards! Let my Broken Sword Mountain deal with him!"

At that time, a group of people stood out.

They were dressed in black and enveloped in awe-inspiring sword qi.

The old man in the lead stroked his long beard and said smugly, "It's too easy to kill that kid. We'll just have to strike him at the right opportunity. Today, all of you shall witness the greatness of Broken Sword Mountain."

As he spoke, he raised his hand, and a translucent sword condensed in the air in front of him.

It was an unadorned and simple-looking sword, and it hummed and vibrated in the air.