

Mighty Mom 26

Chapter 26 Caught

"About two hours," the salesperson replied. Ben looked at his watch. "That won't work. I have things to do later. Can you talk with that lady and see if she can let us buy the car first? We can compensate her for it." The salesperson went back to Camila to pass on the message. As expected, she declined. She was buying a car to pick up someone and waiting another two hours would have defeated the purpose of it. When the bargaining failed, Ben held the woman in his arms and comforted, "Sweetheart, why don't we buy it together when I come back next time?" She pouted. "You'll be away for a week this time."

He coaxed, "What can we do? I have to work so I can marry you! Here; let's do this. I'll pay for it first, and you can call a friend over to wait with you for the car to arrive. How's that?"

She whined, "But I want to send you off too."

"You don't have to. I can take a taxi there myself and you just wait here for the car to arrive. You have to drive it today."

The woman looked happy again and teased, "Then don't say I don't love you later!" He coddled her.

"Okay, you naughty!" They did not speak quietly. Hence, Camila heard everything they said. He does not look very likable, but he's pretty skilled at coaxing a woman. Camila did not concern herself with them any further and followed behind the salesperson to pay. The salesperson quickly settled the transaction. 4S Shop was quite efficient. By two in the afternoon, she was driving her new car out. First, she went to get Kate, then the two of them made their way to the airport. After rushing all the way there, they were able to make it before three. When the car stopped, Kate had gone pale with fear. "Camila, can you please go a bit slower? Do you think you're on a racetrack? There are cars everywhere here." Camila looked at her with a baffled look. "You're just too timid. Look at the time. Landon will be out soon."

Kate supported herself against the car as she got down with quivering legs. "Let him wait when he comes out later. It's not worth wasting our lives for him. He was only gone for a few days and now he's back again." Camila shot a glance at her. "I told you not to come but you insisted on coming."

Kate snorted. "Did you think I came to pick him up? I came to give him a good earful." "Okay, okay. Let's go in and give him an earful now," Camila said as she pulled her along. They went into the main hall of the airport and waited. Time continued to tick by and it was already past three. They only found out later that the flight was delayed. Kate looked at her. "I told you we didn't have to rush. When has Landon ever been reliable? Look; even the flight he's on isn't reliable!" "Both of you are like water and fire-born to be in complete opposition of each other!" After that, they went to the restroom. Just as Camila came out, she saw a familiar face-Lyla. She frowned. Who is she here for?

While she was racking her brain, she saw another familiar figure enter her line of vision. It was familiar because she had just seen him a few hours ago.

It was the man she met at 4S Shop-Ben Roberts.

He had not even changed out of his clothes from before, but he had a suitcase in his hand now and he walked straight to Lyla when he saw her. "Sweetheart!" Camila was bewildered. It was 'sweetheart' again. If she remembered correctly, just a few hours ago, he was calling that woman sweetheart too. Didn't they say they were going to get married? No wonder he's so good at coaxing; he's a scumbag! She knew just by the infatuated look in Lyla's eyes. If Lyla claimed that she had nothing to do with this man, then Camila's name was not Camila Brooklyn. She sneakily took a few steps back and pulled out her phone. Calmly, she started to take a video of them.

However, what she saw next completely destroyed her worldview. Chapter 27 Landon Is Back

As though they had not seen each other in a long time, they started running toward each other. Before he even arrived in front of her, he dropped his suitcase and reached his arms out to embrace her. Then, he picked her up and spun her around. Lyla was grinning happily with both her arms wrapped around his neck like she had clearly missed him. The man held the back of her head with his hand and kissed her roughly. A while later, he let go and hugged her. "Did you miss me, sweetheart?" With a bashful look, she said, "Yes. Did you just get off the plane?" Ben answered, "Yeah. I just went to the restroom and you happened to arrive. Couldn't wait to see me?"

As he said that, he pinched her nose and looked at her affectionately.

Lyla's forehead was pressed up against his. "I missed you so much." Camila was at a loss for words, but she felt like laughing for some reason. There was a certain degree to scumbags as well as women who pretended to be pure.

To her surprise, she was looking forward to the day everything fell apart and seeing what they would do about it. After waiting for a long time in the restroom, Kate still did not hear Camila's voice. When she came out, she realized that Camila was peeping in the direction of the men's restroom. "What are you looking at?" Camila showed the video to Kate and whispered, "Let me show you something amazing!" Kate's eyes widened once she saw it. "Isn't this Lyla? Who's this man? Why does he look so familiar?" "I think he's called Ben or something. I bumped into him when I was buying the car earlier. He had another woman beside him. He told that woman he was going away on a business trip, but he told Lyla that he just got off the plane." Camila could not stop herself from giggling. "This is too funny. I admire this guy. He's been lying to these two women, but he hasn't gotten caught yet." Kate frowned as she asked, "Ben... Ben Roberts?" Camila did not seem to care. "Do you know him?" "Ben Roberts is the young master of Roberts Group. He is the nephew of Silas's stepmother!" Camila took some time to process it. "Oh, no wonder. He should be quite powerful. He bought that woman a sports car that costs several million like it was nothing." "That goes without saying. The Roberts can't quite compare to the Nolan Family, but they are still part of the powerful and rich. If they have an arranged marriage with the Smiths, then they would be unrivaled. Was the woman you met at the 4S Shop Jessica Smith?" Camila pondered for a moment. "I don't think he said her name. He only calls them 'sweetheart'. I have a feeling that it's not just these two; otherwise, he wouldn't call them both 'sweetheart'. I think he's just scared of calling the wrong name, so he sticks to one." Kate laughed and nodded her head in agreement. "I think so too." When the two of them came out of the restroom, Landon's plane had also landed. Camila said, "It's only been a few days. I've returned to pick you up at the same time and the same location." Kate also went up and helped him with his suitcase. She berated, "You come and go every couple of days. Why are you putting yourself through this?" Landon grasped her shoulders in a manly way. "Don't worry; I won't leave anymore." She asked, "Do you mean that?" "Of course." They got out of the airport and got in the car. He started to tease Camila, "Looks like you're planning on staying in the country since you bought this car." "It's all because I had to pick you up!" Camila shot him a sidelong glance. "You have to reimburse me for half of it." He declared, "Okay. I'll reimburse you for the wheel on my side. Kate can reimburse you for the two at the back."