

Chapter 1016

This training was very popular in the underground world.

Some people said that Reapers in this world had all experienced this type of training.

It was said that the reason why Reapers were referred to as Reapers was that they were able to crawl out of the training by fire. That place was equivalent to the City of Hell.

But in fact, what the Reapers suffered was not real Demon's training. It was just a weakened version of it.

How could it be possible that there were so many people who had passed the Demon's training?

The death rate of 50% was too horrible. Choosing to enter the training was equal to gambling with your life.

Someone specifically asked a person who came out of the training and wanted to know the details of the Demon's training.

The answer he got was, "First of all, please stay five metres away from me. The distance within five metres is a dangerous distance for me, and I may attack you. Sorry, I don't mean to do this, but during the training, it has become my instinct. Secondly, I really can't remember the things inside. I can only feel lucky that I came out of there alive. That place is not meant for human beings. Unfortunately, I can't tell you too much. The psychiatrist has arrived."

This interview only lasted for a short minute.

Later, the interviewer saw the psychiatrist. When the psychiatrist came, he wore an entire set of high-intensity defensive equipment, and while evaluating them, he used a piece of high-intensity bulletproof glass to separate them from each other.

The interviewee had already come out from the Demon's training for nearly a year. Furthermore, his identity was that of a pirate that was roaming the Endless Sea, the leader of a first-class underground force.

To be able to completely shake a merciless pirate to such a state, to the point where his spirit was on the verge of collapsing, one could see just how terrifying this so-called Demon's training was.

Even so, there were still many people who came up with ways to participate in the training on Radiant Island. This was because the training could truly change a person thoroughly, from inside out, physically and mentally.

In the beginning, the training was only used by Radiant Island to foster their own people. Later, many forces came to participate in the training every time. Radiant Island was generous, so it simply let everyone participate in it together.

On the 14th day of February, on Valentine's Day, Radiant Island issued a notice to all the underground forces in the world.

The Demon's training would begin in three days. Those who wanted to participate in the training would have three days to rush to arrive at the island. After three days, the island would be completely sealed off.

The Sharp Knife belonged to the first-class underground power of the government. It was different from the transcendent existence of Section Nine. The Sharp Knife would abide by the rules of the underground world, and it would also solve problems that belonged to the underground world.

The candidates for the Sharp Knife were selected from all over the country. They were trained together, step by step. In the end, there were only a few people who could enter the Sharp Knife.

"Captain Han, are you really going to take part in the Demon's training? Many people died doing it!"

"If you're afraid of death, you shouldn't be in the Sharp Knife. It's time to go."

At the special airport of the Sharp Knife, Helen Han, dressed in a uniform, looked cool and heroic. She looked at many Sharp Knife members behind her and said, "On this trip to the island to participate in the Demon's training, nobody will force anyone to do anything. If you decide to go, no one will praise you because you are looking for death. If you don't go, no one will laugh at you, because you have chosen a wise path. You have family, lover, ideals, and future. But if you regret going there after arriving, sorry, but I, Helen Han, will be the first to scold you. I believe you know very well what the Devil's training represents. Now you can choose for yourself. When you take this step, there will be no turning back."

After Helen finished speaking, she got on the plane in front of her.

The members of the Sharp Knife, who were following behind Helen, looked at each other.

After learning that the training was about to begin, the Sharp Knife immediately informed them. All the people following Helen now voluntarily chose to participate in the training.

After everyone looked at each other, some people followed Helen and boarded the plane without hesitation. Some began to hesitate, and some began to retreat.

In Sosasmo desert.

The original sea of sand had now completely changed. People who had come here for the first time would definitely not believe that there was a desert here before.

The environment had been completely changed under the huge amount of money from Felix's family. This place had been completely transformed into a steel city. It was only half a year since they started building. In just half a year, there were already so many tall buildings, energy stations, and signal towers. This place was no different from an ordinary city.

Tens of thousands of trees had arrived from the surroundings of the city to withstand the sandstorm. Although the money spent reached an astronomical number, it was clear that money was not something that Radiant Island needed to take into consideration.

Some people accidentally discovered the city, and even chose to buy a house there.

What surprised many underground forces was that Radiant Island actually agreed to let the ordinary people purchase the house here. The price was quite low. It only cost less than 20,000 dollars. Moreover, Radiant Island would provide work for the people who bought the house here, and the treatment was quite high!

Obviously, this act didn't just allow ordinary people to buy houses here, but also made it an indirect attraction for permanent residents!

A city in the desert, because of such treatment, actually recruited tens of thousands of people in a short period of time.

However, this wasn't too difficult to understand. To begin with, the standard of living in Sosasmo desert was very low. Even if it was a steel city built in the desert, it would still be much better than living in most places. This was especially true for Golden City not too far away from here. Because of the appearance of this city, the population of Golden City had lost nearly a third of its people.

When the underground forces found that ordinary people could come to buy houses, they almost immediately rushed to this place, bought a house here, and settled down.

The organization behind this desert city was Radiant Island, which meant that as long as they lived here, they had an amulet! When they had no way out, as long as they hid in this city, who would dare to make trouble in the place of Radiant Island?

There were quite a few people who had such thoughts, which resulted in such a desert city selling out all its houses within a few days! The majority of the people who came to buy were from the underground forces.

Chapter 1017

Originally, these underground forces thought that if they bought a house in the desert city, they could live in peace. But they didn't expect that Radiant Island suddenly stipulated that if they wanted to live here, they must work here! Otherwise, the money for buying a house would be refunded and the houses would be taken back.

This rule didn't matter to those ordinary people. They hoped to have a job, but it was difficult for those underground people to get a job. They had no choice but to find some people to replace their jobs.

As a result, Radiant Island also said that only the owner of a house could work there. Moreover, because of the lack of materials in the desert city, only the owner of a house could live there for a long period of time.

This rule immediately disrupted the plans of the leaders of the underground forces. They couldn't live there for a long time? If they really got into trouble in the future, they would definitely need to live there for a long time!

Some people could not accept it and chose to leave. They retreated and begged for another person to buy a house. They thought about how they could find shelter here later and temporarily stayed away from the trouble. Some people directly chose to buy a house here.

As a result, a very interesting phenomenon appeared in this desert city.

In a simple tempered factory, the leader of a second-class underground force was the owner, while the leader of a first-class force had become a regular worker. Their jobs were arranged by Radiant Island. If they wanted to change their jobs, they had to apply to Radiant Island.

During the working time, there would be people from Radiant Island patrolling about.

The leader of the second-class underground forces ordered, "Omer, check the new batch of steel!"

This Omer was the leader of another first-class force.

When the second-class leader finished his order, he quickly ran over and whispered, "Boss Omer, I'm just putting on a show. Don't take it seriously. When you finish with this batch, you can find a place to have a cup of coffee and have a rest."

Hearing this, Omer quickly waved his hand. "No, no, no. Here, you're my big brother, don't give me a chance to take advantage of you. If the people of Radiant Island find out, they'll throw me out tonight. Big brother, if you still like me, arrange more jobs for me. When I'm promoted, I can bring my wife and children here. I heard that Radiant Island is going to build a school, and I'm going to send my children there. Then there will be no worries in the future!"

After saying that, Omer quickly went over to deal with the batch.

Such a scene was only a portrayal of the environment of the entire desert city. Such a thing was happening almost everywhere.

Of course, some people put on airs as the leaders of the underground world, but they were kicked out mercilessly by Radiant Island. Radiant Island also said that those who caused trouble would never be allowed to enter the city, and they would be regarded as enemies by Radiant Island.

This time, the leaders of the underground world were frightened. If they were regarded as enemies by Radiant Island, they wouldn't be able to sleep well.

On the streets of the desert city, a leader of the underground forces was pushing a food stall, "Cold noodles, cold noodles, Chinese snacks!"

Opposite the food stall, there was also a watermelon stall. It was also an underworld leader selling watermelons. "Watermelon! The watermelon comes from the same place as the emperor. Come and taste it!"

Each and every one of the well-known people in the underground world was transformed into street vendors.

A woman with red hair was walking on the streets of the city. Next to her was a man with blond hair.

The man was very respectful towards the woman.

"Lord Jilisa, we've found the identities of these people. Most of them belong to underground forces."

The woman was none other than Jilisa Nicci, the one who had incited Henry and Dalton's relationship in the town. She was also the Punishment Messenger under the command of Andrew Garfield.

"Hmph." Jilisa snorted. "If Henry wants to assimilate these underground forces and absorb them directly, it will cause the rebound of the other forces, and we will also intervene. However, if we do so, we won't be able to find a suitable reason."

"Then what should we do?" The man seemed a little anxious. "Henry, as a jailer, has different motives. If things go on like this, most of the underground forces in the world will belong to Radiant Island in less than a year!"

Jilisa laughed with disdain. "No matter how many ants gather, they're still ants. It's impossible for them to pose a threat to giants. They're just a group of ants. So what if they gather together? Besides, Henry won't live long. As long as we figure out what is so special about him, he'll turn into a corpse."

Back then, Henry had explained to Andrew that the people in the City of Hell saw him as a trigger to break through the seal. However, something went wrong in the process, so now Henry could enter and leave the City of Hell as he wished, and he could bring people in and out at will. He also had some method that could restrict the prisoners. That was why Andrew didn't kill Henry. He had always wanted to get to the bottom of this.

In the beginning, Andrew wanted Henry to submit to him and work for him. But now, he had offended Henry openly. And he wanted Henry to die!

In the castle at the centre of Radiant Island, old Peze was carrying one document. Stated in the document were the new residents of the city, as well as each person's identity and background.

"Uncle Peze, how is today's statistics?" Alvin, dressed in a black robe, walked over from the side, asking Peze in a very polite manner.

"My lord, please have a look." Peze handed the document in his hand to Alvin. "The old king's plan was carried out very well. If this continues, we'll be able to take over 30% of the underground forces in a short period of time. If there aren't any problems, the data will eventually increase to 70%!"

Seventy per cent! This was an exceptionally terrifying piece of data. Seventy per cent of the entire world's underground forces. What kind of concept was that!

Alvin nodded and said, "Uncle Peze, I was not involved in this matter, and I don't quite understand it. Since it's Mr. Zhang's plan, please pay more attention to this matter. Mr. Zhang sent a message saying that the Demon's training is about to begin, and I intend to participate, so I'll leave for a period of time."

"You want to participate in the training?" Peze was startled, but then he shook his head. "That won't do. You are the owner of Radiant Island."

Anything can happen during the training. Given your current power, it is too dangerous. Do you know what it means if you die? You represent not yourself, but the entire Radiant Island!"

Alvin took a deep breath. "I understand, but Uncle Peze, I've already decided that I'll go no matter what you say."

Chapter 1018

"You can't go!" Peze reached out his hand, stopping in front of Alvin.

Alvin stared at old Peze. "Uncle Peze, what if I insist on going?"

Peze spoke again, "You represent Radiant Island! Not yourself! The death rate of this training is 50%. You don't understand how terrible it is. What's more, this training is different from the past. There will be forces hidden in the dark who will intervene and they will make trouble for you."

"Uncle Peze, I've made up my mind." Alvin pushed aside the hand that was blocking in front of him. "Since Mr. Zhang has handed over the island to me, my word counts. You can give me advice, but you can't give orders to me. I hope you can figure out your identity."

After Alvin finished speaking, he strode forward. Suddenly, he stopped and turned around. "Also, I'm not as weak as you think."

Peze sighed and shook his head, not saying anything.

"Uncle Peze, there is no point in persuading him. During these twenty or so days, he has trained some soldiers who are willing to risk their lives. His purpose of participating in this training is nothing more than to achieve some kind of goal. He believes that these soldiers can protect him. He is truly naive and laughable."

Peze did not continue to talk about this topic.

"Oh, by the way, Boss is back." Wade suddenly said.

"Back? Where is he?" Peze was shocked, and then immediately showed joy. During the Spring Festival, they all stayed in Yinzhou. On the seventh day, they went to look for Henry, but Sylvia told them that Henry had already left.

Henry left for more than half a month, during which no one could contact him, which made Peze and others worried.

Now, Henry returned safely, which made Peze very happy.

Peze hurriedly asked, "When did he come back? How come I didn't know?"

Wade explained, "Big Boss didn't notify anyone and went to the forbidden area alone. Didn't you ask me yesterday why I suddenly started the Demon's training? It was Big Boss who informed me."

"Do you know what Henry is going to do?" Peze was puzzled. He didn't understand why Henry suddenly informed him to start the training.

Wade shook his head. "I don't know what Boss is going to do. He told us not to look for him. After he comes out of the forbidden area, he will leave directly."

Peze frowned slightly. After pondering for a moment, he said, "Henry, what exactly are you going to do?"

The forbidden area of Radiant Island was the entrance to the City of Hell that Henry had divided at that time.

Inside the City of Hell.

"Hahaha! Kid, I thought you wouldn't come back!" The short man laughed. It was the one who welcomed Henry when Henry first entered the prison.

"Yes, you haven't come back for so long. I thought you had forgotten us." Erin rolled her eyes at Henry.

In the prison, these old monsters all complained about something. Henry hadn't come to see them for so long. Although they said so, there was no one really going to blame Henry in their eyes. Everyone's face was full of smiles.

Henry stretched out his hand and scratched his head. All the people present were his seniors, and they all did him a great favour. When he was here, everyone did their best to accompany him to practice and help him improve his strength.

"Well, you guys are all grinning from ear to ear. Don't blame Henry. There are too many things in the outside world. He comes to see us once in a while, which shows that he is very loyal to us." Silas waved his hand and looked at Henry with gratification.

"Boss Silas, aren't we too bored here? We've finished reading all the things Henry brought here last time. Henry, are there more movies to watch? The previous ones were awesome." Erin took the iPad and went up to Henry.

Henry laughed and said, "Seniors, this time, you won't be bored. Look at what I brought to you!"

Henry took out a big box with hundreds of mobile phones in it.

Henry said, "Now, a signal tower has been set up above the cage, and the signal can be spread down."

Speaking of this, Henry picked up his mobile phone and said, "In the future, as long as you take this gadget, you can see what's going on outside at any time. You can surf the Internet and watch videos. By the way, my people set up an international company to serve you. You can choose anything you want to buy, such as new clothes. You can choose them directly from the Internet and they will send it to you by courier. Um... something similar to the post office in the past. But it's faster. You can buy something, and it will be delivered the next day. Then you can go to the top floor to pick it up."

"A new set of clothes!" Upon hearing this, Erin's eyes immediately lit up.

Henry was speechless for a while. Sure enough, women had no resistance to this kind of thing no matter how old they were. It didn't matter whether they could wear it or not, they had to own nice pieces of clothes. The last time when Henry had brought the goods, he had given them thousands of new clothes, but when Erin heard the words 'new clothes', her eyes still lit up.

"Hurry up, hurry up. Teach me how to use it!" Erin hurriedly picked up a mobile phone and went to Henry.

The rest of the people also gathered around him.

Although these people were old, they were all very powerful. Many years ago, they were all outstanding people with extremely strong learning ability. Besides, they had been bored in the prison for so long, so if there was something new, they could learn it quickly.

In less than half an hour, Henry showed them most of the cellphone functions and taught them what they didn't understand. Once they learned how to surf the Internet, there was nothing left for him to teach them.

"Seniors, I have established a joint account for you. There is more than enough money. You can buy whatever you want. In a few days, a new power generator will be built. I will let people put down the cables. By then, you can divide the cables inside each of your rooms. Then you can then lie in bed and play on your mobile phone. Once this is achieved, seniors, it's no exaggeration to say that you will be able to live the normal life of most people outside. Haha."

In the end, Henry couldn't help but make a joke.

Listening to Henry's words, most people were very happy. They could understand everything about the outside world. After living for such a long time, they could not see the changes in the outside world. It was a very torturous thing. The curiosity in their hearts was stronger and more intolerable than loneliness.

The short man was stunned. "Henry, you put in so much effort because it's difficult to open the prison in such a short time, right?"

As soon as the short man finished his words, the cheerful sounds that had been heard at the side disappeared in an instant.

Chapter 1019

Everyone was looking at Henry.

Henry nodded, "Dear Seniors, the reason why I came here this time is to bring you some things, and to tell you the news that I have already entered the Recluse Association and become the jailer of this prison. Unfortunately, with my current identity, I can't open the prison. The news I got is that even if the current president of the Recluse Association wants to open the prison, there is no way. There are a total of four keys required to open the gate, each of which is in the hands of one of the four major organizations in the world: The Recluse Association, the clans, the Noble Berserkers and the Alvin League. Only the four keys together can open the gate."

Henry told everything he had heard from Bishop Morvyn.

"What did you say?! The Alvin League!" Sister Erin's face changed. "This organization should have been destroyed long ago! How could it still exist?"

"It does exist." Henry nodded.

Henry noticed that when Sister Erin mentioned the Alvin League, she clenched her fists tightly, and a stream of hostility was emitted from Sister Erin's eyes.

The short man patted Henry's shoulder. "Sister Erin and the League have irreconcilable hatred. If you meet members of the League, cut off their heads and throw them down. Sister Erin would be able to calm down."

"Don't worry, if there's a chance, I'll definitely chop off a few of their heads." Henry nodded his head. The gene fusion experiment of the Alvin League made him feel disgusted from the bottom of his heart.

Silas said, "Henry, we have already expected what you're going to say. The City of Hell is deep and complicated, and the restrictions on it are even more complicated. We are not very surprised that the Recluse Association alone can't remove such restrictions. If it weren't for you, we wouldn't even be able to see the appearance of the houses outside. You don't need to find ways to get us out. We've passed on our abilities to you. I just hope you can inherit our mantle and continue to grow. Remember one thing, never think that you're strong enough."

At this point, Silas sighed, "At first, if I hadn't thought I was invincible, I wouldn't have been put here by the Recluse Association. If you want to rest in peace, the best way is to trample everything under your feet. There are still many things you have to do, so you don't have to waste time accompanying us old guys. When you have something you don't understand, you can come to us and talk to us. Go back!"

As soon as the words "go back" came out of Silas's mouth, he grabbed Henry's shoulder with one hand and then lifted him hard.

In this place, even if he couldn't use Qi, Silas's power was much stronger than Henry's.

Henry felt that he was thrown into the air by Silas without any resistance, and then he plunged into the fence above. The scenery in front of him had completely changed.

Henry knew that Silas didn't want him to feel guilty. After all, he had promised them that he would take them out. But in the end, he found that it was almost impossible. Was it possible for the four forces to break the deal and release the people in the prison?

Henry shook off the sand and dirt on his body.

Impossible? It must be possible for him to do what he wanted.

Henry looked at a direction in the distance.

Within the desert city, at the top of a tall building, Jilisa and the blonde youth stood at the edge of the tall building, staring in the direction of the City of Hell.

"Lord Jilisa, as expected, he came out of the prison!"

Jilisa looked at this place. She didn't make a sound.

Soon after, a helicopter rose from Radiant Island.

Henry and Flynn were sitting in the cabin.

"Well, have you had enough meals in the past two days?" Henry looked at Flynn with a smile.

Flynn nodded and said, "Brother, I'm ready. I won't let you and my father down in the next three months."

"Remember," Henry said seriously to Flynn, "The Demon's training is not only a way to temper the participant's body, but more importantly, it is to temper the will. You will make countless choices there. Each choice is about life and death. There, you just need to keep the faith and to survive. You have the strength of the Qi-controlling realm master. In the training, almost no one can pose a threat to you directly. But you have to know that there are many ways to kill a person, not only to cut off his head."

"Brother, I'll keep it in mind." Flynn nodded.

Training island was located in the endless sea. The reason why it was chosen as the training location was that the island was special. The whole island covered an area of 5,000 square kilometres. The island was covered with bushes and dense vegetation all year round. This island had been covered with fog for almost 90% of the time, so it was impossible to see it clearly.

It was an isolated island with an endless sea around it, but there was no place to land. It could be said, in addition to waiting for the transport vehicles to be sent out, it would be an idiotic attempt to leave the island on one's own.

On the second day after the notice came from Radiant Island, a luxurious cruise ship had stopped in the middle of the sea, only 50 sea miles away from the island.

This luxury cruise ship was 360 metres in length, 50 metres in width, 80 metres in height, and a total weight of 250,000 tons. This was a paradise on the sea. The cruise ship was luxurious and everything needed was available. On the lower floor of the cruise ship, there was even a real-size indoor football field!

This ship would be able to accommodate eight thousand people. This time, it served as the meeting point for the Demon's training.

There was a special parking apron on the cruise ship. At this moment, there were countless helicopters hovering in the sky. They landed on the cruise ship one by one. When the people came out of these helicopters, the helicopters would fly away immediately.

There were service standards of a seven-star hotel on the cruise ship, and exquisite meals and famous wine from all over the world were offered for free to guests.

Now, many people were lying leisurely on the deck of the cruise ship, looking at the endless sea and enjoying the peace before the storm.

In addition to the waiters and sailors, the rest of the people on the cruise ship were all here to participate in the training. It was a lively scene on this ship, but everyone knew that once the training started, half of them would never be able to come out of the island.

In an ordinary guest room on the cruise ship, Flynn was lying on a large soft bed to rest. As soon as the next day came, he would get on the island and risk his life.

In another room, Henry was sitting in front of a dressing mirror. A tall, beautiful woman with a delicate face was holding a makeup brush and constantly drawing on Henry's face.

A few minutes later, a weather-worn face appeared in the mirror.

Henry touched his chin and praised, "Not bad. I can't recognize myself."

Chapter 1020

Behind Henry, the beautiful woman covered her mouth and smiled. "If I had known that I would have been praised by you, I would have turned on the camera. That's something that most of the people would have never imagined."

Henry smiled, put his hand on his throat, and pulled it twice. Then he tore off a human skin mask from Henry's face, and Henry's original face was revealed again.

"I think there's a chance. You can make me more handsome when the time comes."

The beautiful woman laughed and said, "My lord, please remember me. Don't forget me. I'll go out first."

"Okay, do you understand the rules?"

"Don't worry." The beautiful girl nodded. "I won't go anywhere until the training starts. I'll just stay in the room... The room without signal."

After finishing her words, the beautiful woman packed up her makeup bag and left.

Henry put the mask away and then went to Flynn's room.

"Brother." Flynn jumped up from the bed.

Henry smiled and said, "It seems that you don't have too much psychological pressure. This is a good thing. I will leave later. Tomorrow night, someone will come to identify you. This is your ID."

Henry said as he threw out a card in front of Flynn, on which there was a mask.

"This is the ID card of a Reaper. Keep it. I'll remind you one more time. After you enter, you can only live for yourself, understand? Survive, no matter what it takes."

Flynn put away the ID card and nodded solemnly. He said, "Don't worry, brother. I'm ready."

"That's good." Henry went forward and patted Flynn on the shoulder. "Don't just stay in the room. Every time before the demon's training, there will be a cocktail party. Tonight, you can go and relax. Pay more attention to the details during the party, and it may have an unexpected effect. You should know that most people's character will be reflected from their ways of doing things."

"I see, brother."

"Well, I've said all the things I needed to say. You can do what you have to do next. If you can come out of this island alive, your father will surely be impressed." Henry waved to Flynn and said, "I'll go first. I'll pick you up in three months. Don't let me wait for you."

Flynn clenched his fists and said, "I'll definitely come out alive!"

Henry nodded. After leaving Flynn a view of his back, he turned around and left.

After getting out of the room, Henry put on a human-skin mask for the first time and changed into a middle-aged man who looked about thirty-five years old.

Henry put his hands into his pockets and swung back and forth on the cruise ship.

There was still one day before the training, and there were more than 4,000 people gathered on the cruise ship.

Henry estimated that most of the people had already arrived. Tomorrow, 1,000 people should arrive.

Henry was wandering leisurely on the cruise ship. Of course, he would not let Flynn go alone. Henry had participated in this training. He knew very well how cruel it was inside. He was sure that Flynn would not survive more than a month if he went inside!

Henry observed which people would take part in the training this time. At this time, a heroic and valiant figure came into Henry's sight.

Henry's eyes froze at this moment.

Helen Han changed into a loose leisure suit and sat on the chair near the swimming pool on the deck. On the table on the right, there was a cup of ice watermelon juice, and it could be seen that she was enjoying sunbathing.

"What a strong woman," Henry murmured.

Henry was very clear about Helen's personality. She was not willing to admit defeat, which was the reason why Helen was here now.

"Well, brother, have you also fallen in love with this girl?" A big hand held Henry's shoulder.

Henry turned his head and saw a black man crawling next to him. He stared at Helen and clicked his tongue at the same time. "Look at this Chinese girl. Her figure is full of strength. She is of the best quality. I like her skin colour. I heard that there will be a cocktail party tonight. I must spend some nice time with her."

After finishing his words, the black man stuck out his tongue and licked his lips.

Henry smiled and shook his head. "Dude, why don't we make a bet?"

"Hey, do you know that? I have always liked to bet." The black man showed a very interested look. "What do you want to bet on?"

"Just bet on this woman. I bet, you won't be able to hook up with her tonight, and you'll be beaten by her," Henry said confidently.

"Well, I accept this gamble. Whoever loses, he will get under the crotch of that fat woman. What do you think?" Arland stretched out his hand and pointed. Not far from Helen stood a muscular woman. This woman was nearly two meters tall, and all her muscles looked strong. She was quite tough.

"Okay." Henry snapped his fingers. "Then, it depends on your performance tonight."

"Hey, tonight I'll show you what I, Arland, can do!"

In the most luxurious suite of the cruise ship, Alvin was wearing a black loose suit. He was sitting at a table. Through the window, he could overlook everything on the deck and the sea in the distance from the best angle.

Opposite Alvin sat a woman. It was the woman that met Alvin the first day of the new year, Sloane Reynolds.

"The King of Hell, what I said is right. Even though you are sitting on the throne of a king, no one treats you like a real king. Your decisions will be questioned and stopped by others. Even this training is the order of the old king. You can only play a role as a participant."

"Stop talking about these things." Alvin obviously had a bad look on his face. "Mr. Zhang also took part in this training."

"Haha, what is his strength, and what is yours? He can suppress the whole underground world with his fists, but can you do it?" Sloane revealed a sneer, "I know that you privately recruited a group of suicide soldiers to escort you during this training. You also know that you need to survive this type of training to consolidate your position. However, with all due respect, the suicide soldiers you brought with you are just a group of trash. They won't be able to protect you when the time comes. Now I will give you a choice. Promise me to cooperate with me, and I will guarantee your safety during this training. If you are willing, I can kill all the people who will participate in this training. Only you would be left alive. Your position will be secured."

After Sloane finished speaking, she carefully looked at Alvin.

A look of intense interest appeared in Alvin's eyes.

Chapter 1021

The Demon Training had a very high rate of death. But all the time, there were still so many people flocking to the island.

Why was that so?

This was the reason why the mortality rate was so high! As long as one could survive the training, they would be revered and respected by others in the entire underground world. If only one person managed to survive the training this time, then this person would instantly possess an extremely high prestige in the entire underground world!

"What do you think, my lord?" Sloane twisted her waist, sat on Alvin's legs, and breathed softly into his ear, "As long as you agree, I can give you the position you want. I can give you what you want, including me. What do you think?"

Alvin seemed to be struggling. If he was the only one who came out of the island, his current position would definitely be stabilized.

Sloane stretched out her hand to the side of Alvin's face and gently stroked it.

Alvin couldn't help but shudder. At the same time, his expression changed. He forcefully pushed her away, "I said before, I don't need your help!"

Sloane snorted coldly, "You have a backbone, but can Mr. Zhang see your backbone? In his eyes, you are just a puppet that can be used or abandoned at any time."

"Enough!" Alvin shouted, "Sloane, let me make it clear to you. I am in this position now because of Mr. Zhang. I won't take what Mr. Zhang gave me to hurt him. I won't do it now or in the future. Please go out now. You're not welcome here!"

"Good." Sloane sighed and said, "My lord, I will leave temporarily, but my offer is still on the table."

On the cruise ship, there would be helicopters landing all the time. When they took off again, new faces would appear on the cruise ship.

The night gradually fell, and the party started.

The pool party was always exciting. When the beauties changed into sexy bikinis, the man couldn't help but enjoy.

The people here who came to participate in the training had already put their lives at risk. Everyone was drinking as much as they could. The bold women were already looking for tonight's male companions.

Henry took a bottle of beer and stood on the side, watching Arland's performance.

Arland walked around Helen and greeted her enthusiastically. "Hey, beauty, would you like to have a drink with me?"

From the skilled appearance of Arland, it was obvious that he was a veteran in love.

"Would I like a drink?" Helen glanced at Arland tenderly.

"Hey." A member of the Sharp Knife next to Helen stepped forward and said, "Dude, don't be unpleasant. There are a lot of girls here. Just change your prey."

Arland curled his lips. "How can those women compare with this beautiful lady? It's a cocktail party. I think it's proper to have a drink."

As soon as the member of the Sharp Knife was about to speak, he heard Helen, "Of course it's okay to have a drink, but if it's only one drink, it's a bit inappropriate. Since it's a party, I think we should drink more."

Arland was happy. Years of experience of picking up girls told him that as long as the other party was not particularly resistant to him, tonight his success rate would be 90%. For this point, he was particularly confident.

Arland looked at the place where Henry was standing and showed a proud look. He then pointed to the sturdy woman who was going to go into the pool.

Henry shrugged his shoulders and made a gesture of "please", indicating for Arland to continue.

Henry knew Helen's personality, as well as her capacity for drinking. It was simply wishful thinking for Arland to think he could beat Helen in drinking.

Helen waved her hand and said to a member of the Sharp Knife, "Go and bring a box of wine."

"Captain, this..."

"Go!"

Soon, a box of wine was moved over. Helen posed and filled a full glass for herself. She said to Arland, "If you want to drink, drink a lot. I'll drink first!"

Seeing this, Arland was overjoyed. As long as this woman was drunk, he had many ways to get this woman.

"A woman of China, very brave! I'll drink two!"

Arland picked up his wine glass and drank two cups in a row.

"Okay, let's do it again!" Helen poured another glass for herself.

Seeing this, several members of the Sharp Knife shook their heads regretfully, and then looked at Arland with pity in their eyes.

Henry stood not far away from them. He kept looking at them and murmured, "You got tanned and lost weight. There are more calluses on your hands, but your character hasn't changed."

Henry's feelings for Helen had always been unclear.

Their beginning was actually a mistake, but this mistake had always been carried out. After a long period of separation, not only did they not forget each other, but they always worried about each other in their hearts. Both of them had the same belief in each other, and they both became stronger from their own roads.

Both of them knew that in addition to the so-called love between men and women, the other person also had a more important life pursuit, so neither of them chose to take the initiative to disturb the other.

"Drink, keep drinking!" Helen smashed the glass in her hand again. "You drank seven glasses less than me now. Let's drink, drink!"

Arland looked at the woman in front of him, and his scalp felt a little numb. He also thought that he had been visiting bars for many years, but it was the first time that he had seen a woman drinking like this. The alcohol was like water, constantly pouring into her mouth, without stopping at all. After sitting here for five minutes, they had already drunk more than a dozen cups in a row.

That glass of wine was 200 ml! How could she drink in this way? And judging from the woman's appearance, it was obvious that she still had energy, but his stomach was already very uncomfortable.

"What's wrong? You can't drink anymore? If you can't drink, then get out!" Helen waved her hand unceremoniously.

Arland turned his head and found that Henry was still looking at him, and then he looked at the sturdy woman beside the swimming pool. He took a deep breath and said, "Can't drink? I'm just afraid that you won't be able to continue!"

"I'm going to lie on the ground tonight. You can punish me as you like!" Helen said heroically.

This sentence made Arland's blood boil. His eyes turned red. "Well, that's what you said! Dude, bring me a big cup!"

The two of them were drinking on one side, which immediately attracted many people's attention. During this type of parties, this kind of drinking was very popular. Moreover, among the competitors, there was an extremely beautiful woman.

Chapter 1022

A burst of whistles and cheers rang out.

"Drink, Arland, didn't you say that a thousand cups won't get you drunk? How come you can't beat even this girl? Hahaha!" A person who knew Arland burst into laughter.

"Arland, you are still behind. Tell me if you don't want to drink. I'll help you take a bath in the swimming pool."

"F*ck you." Arland kept cursing and pouring himself another glass of wine. Now his movements were slow and he felt dizzy.

Helen drank up the wine in the cup, picked up a bottle and opened it. This time, Helen no longer poured into the cup, and she drank directly from the bottle.

Arland looked at Helen's action and his legs were shaking. It would be difficult for him to catch up with Helen, not to mention drinking from the bottle like Helen.

"Arland, drink!" One of them urged, waiting to see what would happen next.

These people, in fact, did not want to see him drink too much. Most of all, they wanted to see him go on and wait for Helen to drink too much.

"No, I won't drink anymore." Arland waved his hand repeatedly, and he only felt that the things in his stomach kept surging up and down, which was as uncomfortable as it could be.

Seeing Arland admitting defeat, people around him sighed.

After giving up, Arland lowered his head on the table in dejection.

Helen, however, still drank up the bottle of wine. Then she threw it on the ground and shouted, "Don't be a coward. Get up and drink. Hurry up!"

"No, no." Arland waved his hands. "I admit defeat. I admit defeat."

"Hey, you think you are so good at drinking. Brother, I advise you to practice more." A member of the Sharp Knife carried Arland by the collar and threw him aside.

Arland was so drunk that he was like a pool of mud, motionless.

Henry grinned and strode away. He kicked Arland, who was lying on the ground, and said, "It seems that you have lost."

"Dude, I've already drunk so much. What do you think..."

"No," Henry said as he pulled on Arland's leg and dragged him in front of the strong woman. Pointing at the strong woman's leg, he said, "Come on, get in there!"

As soon as the people around saw it, they immediately understood that there must be some kind of bet between the two people. After all, this was something that happened often at the parties like this.

"Get in there!"

"Get in there!"

There was a burst of booing.

Arland looked around and listened to the hubbub. He took a deep breath and slowly crawled between the strong woman's legs.

"You used me as a bet? F*ck, you're courting death!" The strong woman's face changed, and she bent down and picked up Arland.

Arland's height was 1.8 metres tall, but in front of this strong woman, he looked like a small chick. He was easily carried on the strong woman's shoulder, and then taken to the room.

"Ha, ha, ha! Fatty girl, don't kill him. Be careful or the Radiant Island will come after you!"

"No." The strong woman patted her chest. "But I can assure you that when he goes to the island, his legs will go soft!"

Arland's expression on the strong woman's body could be described as hopeless.

There was a burst of loud laughter around the swimming pool.

A member of the Sharp Knife curiously walked up to Henry and asked, "Dude, what were you betting on?"

Helen and several other the Sharp Knife also looked over.

Henry reached out and pointed to Helen. He gathered a mass of Qi in his throat to change his voice and said, "Bet on whether he can sleep with this little girl, and then he lost."

The member of the Sharp Knife, frowned and asked, "Did you bet on us?"

The members of the Sharp Knife felt that they were being treated as prey by others, which made them very uncomfortable.

Henry nodded and said with a look of taking it for granted, "Yes, I took you as a bet."

"Brother, I'm afraid it's not appropriate for you to do this, is it?" Another member of the Sharp Knife came up.

Helen also frowned.

"Not appropriate? What's wrong with that?" Henry had a strange look on his face. "I say, you are rookies. Are you angry because I gambled on you?"

"What did you say?!" The member of the Sharp Knife immediately flew into a rage.

"I said you're rookies." Henry shrugged his shoulders. "Did I say something wrong? Look at you, just because you know I was gambling on you, you have a bad temper. If you're going to participate in the training, I advise you to call your families now, because you'll definitely die in there. Believe me."

"Bullsh*t!" One of them shouted.

"Bullsh*t?" Henry sneered, "You don't know what kind of training you are going to take, do you? Demon's training has a death rate of 50%. Taking part in this training proves that you have already set your foot in the Gate of Hell. Whether you go or not, you won't have a choice. Based on your appearance, I promise that you will die. It's normal to take you as prey, let alone bet on you. Even if you are used as prey and bait, it's normal!"

"It seems that you've participated in the training?" At this time, Helen said, "Can you tell us what's inside?"

As soon as Helen's words came out, the members of the Sharp Knife all shut up.

Henry spread his hands and said, "I have participated in it, but I am sorry. No one knows what the content will be before the announcement of Radiant Island. But I can tell you a piece of news, that is, there is no dangerous area in the trial island."

"No dangerous area?" Helen murmured Henry's words in her mouth. Suddenly, her face changed. "You mean..."

"Yes." Henry snapped his fingers. "There is no danger on the island, but 50% of the people are killed. This means that everyone you see now may be killed. So, let alone use you to gamble, it's normal to make a deal with you now. If your mentality changes because of a little so-called dignity and face, you will be definitely killed there. So tell me, isn't your performance a rookie performance?"

"Don't put on an act," the member of the Sharp Knife who spoke first said. "Do you believe that we can kill you first after we enter?"

"I don't believe it." Henry shook his head. "And I advise you not to do so. On the island, most of you are lone wolves. If you come alone, you will definitely be targeted by everyone. At that time, it is not you who would come to attack me, but you who will be attacked by all the people on the island. Because the more people die inside, the advantage of one group will be stronger. No one wants to leave you alive, understand?"
