

Chapter 1080

"Wasn't completed?"

Henry frowned. That kindergarten was prepared by Sylvia for the children of the welfare home. The reason why she wanted to recruit students was just to let the children have more contact with the outside world. How could the welfare home fail to complete the enrolment procedures?

Seeing that Henry's face changed, Dean Cui quickly explained, "Henry, this can't be blamed on Jenny. The person in charge of enrollment in the kindergarten is Deegan Liang. When Jenny went to handle the formalities, he looked at her strangely. I heard what he said to her. He went too far."

"What did he say?"

"Every time Jenny went to Deegan to settle the formalities, Deegan would come up with some requests for Jenny to accompany him for a meal and a drink. He didn't mention anything about the admission procedure at all. Tell me, is he obviously trying to harm our Jenny?" Dean Cui said with a worried expression.

Henry nodded and understood the reason. He looked at Jenny and said, "You know Secretary Lee. She should be able to deal with this kind of thing. You don't have to be so embarrassed."

"Oh, Henry, Jenny is doing this for your own good!" Dean Cui pulled Henry, and her words were somewhat unhappy. "We heard that Deegan is a relative of Sylvia. What do you want Jenny to do?"

"A relative?" Henry felt puzzled. He should have known all of Sylvia's relatives. Where did Deegan come from?

"Yes." Dean Cui nodded. "If it weren't for this reason, Jenny wouldn't have been bullied like this by Deegan. Jenny didn't want me to tell you about this. She had been trying to find a way. She had already applied to the government for a piece of land and planned to build a new kindergarten on her own."

"No." Henry snorted. "What Deegan? Can the place that is built for the children be used to show off? Let's go and see what kind of role it is!"

After Henry finished, he went straight out of the welfare home. At this moment, Henry's anger rose up. During this period, he fought with others and showed his power in front of so many people. He just wanted to make himself strong so that his family would not be bullied by others. The children of the welfare home, Dean Cui, were all Henry's families.

But now, an organization like the Recluse Association had not yet come to him, and he was already bullied by others?

Jenny looked at Henry with concern and hurried to catch up with him. "Henry, forget it, there is no need to make any more trouble. In fact, I can solve this problem."

"Trouble?" Henry suddenly stopped and turned to look at Jenny. "Do you think this is trouble?"

Jenny was stunned for a moment and then nodded. As soon as she was about to speak, she was interrupted by Henry's words.

"This is not a trouble. I'm just going to destroy that b*stard!"

After Henry finished speaking, he turned around again and continued to stride forward.

The kindergarten was located next to the welfare home, so they could get there in a few steps.

At this time, it was the right time for her parents to send the children to kindergarten.

As soon as Henry got out of the welfare home, he saw luxury cars parked in front of the kindergarten gate. There were two rows of luxury cars on both sides of the road, extending more than 100 metres. Many BMWs, Masseratis, Porches, other cars worth millions of yuan were placed there as if they didn't cost anything.

The people who had come to send the children to school looked like they were either rich or noble.

Following Henry, Jenny sighed and said, "This kindergarten was built by Sylvia. With the current status of Lins Group, the kindergarten they set up was recognized as a noble kindergarten before it opened. All the parents who came are rich and powerful."

Henry nodded. He could understand this phenomenon.

Henry took Jenny to the kindergarten. In order for the children to enter the school as soon as possible, all the high-quality materials were used for the kindergarten. Moreover, the teachers also began training at the beginning of the establishment of the kindergarten. It could be said that the kindergarten, from the appearance to the facilities, was the best one in Yinzhou.

The kindergarten was divided into several school buildings. Some were specially designed for the children to rest, and there were also special canteens and playgrounds.

Since the beginning of the establishment of this kindergarten, Sylvia did not want to make money by using kindergarten. Everything was done in the best way.

The administrative office, which was responsible for handling the children's recruitment work, was just on the side of the entrance to the kindergarten gate.

This was an independent building with two floors and a total area of more than 300 square metres. It was divided into several areas.

As soon as he came to the door of the admission office, Henry saw that many children's parents were standing in front of the door with all kinds of gifts in their hands, waiting for something. Henry glanced at them and found that they were all valuable things. The gifts in each parents' hands were worth tens of thousands of yuan.

Henry turned his head and asked Jenny, "Is the person inside?"

"Yes." Jenny nodded.

After Henry heard that, he strode into the room. In the room, there were already many children's parents going through the admission formalities. The various gifts were put on the table, as if they were setting a standard for the people who were still outside.

After sweeping the first floor, Henry walked directly from the stairs to the second floor. As soon as he went upstairs, he saw an office.

Without thinking, Henry pushed the door open and went in.

In the office, a young man, who looked about 23 or 24 years old, was sitting behind the office desk. The young man was wearing a blue suit, with a shiny slick slicked-back. On his left wrist, there was a fine quartz watch. Although the price was ordinary, it would add a bit of elegance to him if he wore it.

On the man's office table, there was an exquisite cup of coffee, which contained the coffee that had just been brewed.

When he found that the door of his office was pushed open, the man looked over at once. Henry, who was walking in the front, was naturally ignored by the man. His eyes fell on Jenny, who was behind Henry.

When he saw Jenny appear, a smile involuntarily appeared on the man's handsome face. He said, "Dean Qin, it looks like you've thought it through?"

"Are you Deegan Liang?" Henry went straight to the desk, standing there and looking down at the young man.

Deegan frowned slightly. During this period of time, he had been in charge of enrollment here and had seen too many rich and powerful people. Everyone was polite to him. Everyone who saw him would call him Director Liang, even the chairman of the group with tens of millions or hundreds of millions of yuan, but now this guy called his name directly.

Deegan picked up the coffee on the table, blew it to the rim of the glass, took a sip leisurely, and said, "Who are you? Who let you in? Is this the place where you came in casually? Get out!"

Chapter 1081

Deegan waved his hand impatiently.

Henry ignored Deegan's attitude and asked, "Let me ask you, the kindergarten itself was built for the children of the welfare home. Why can't the children of the welfare home enter the school?"

What Sylvia had built was not just a simple kindergarten. The original plan started from kindergarten, and it went all the way to the comprehensive education program until college.

When Deegan heard this, he suddenly realized something and said, "Oh, I thought you were here for something. It turned out to be the helper that Dean Qin hired. What, are you a reporter or something else? Are you here to complain about the injustice?"

"I just want to ask, why don't you let the children of the welfare home in?" Henry repeated the question just now.

"What does this have to do with you?" Deegan ignored Henry and turned his gaze to Jenny. "Dean Qin, if you're here to solve the problem, then consider my suggestion. I'm just looking for time to talk to you about the details because there are too many children in your welfare home. But if you're here to find trouble with me, hmph, our Lins has never been afraid of anyone in Yinzhou City!"

"The Lins?" Henry narrowed his eyes. "How come I don't know that Lins Group is so unreasonable?"

"Are you kidding me?" Deegan said with a disdainful smile. "Do you need to judge what our Lin's should do?"

"Interesting." Henry grinned. "I happen to know a few senior executives of the Lins Group. Why don't I make a phone call and ask them about the enrollment of the children from the welfare home?"

Deegan put the coffee cup on the table with a bang. He stared at Henry and said discontentedly, "Are you threatening me? A senior executive of the Lins Group? I'm not afraid to tell you that the president of the Lins Group, Sylvia Lin, is my sister!"

Henry ignored Deegan. He took out his mobile phone, dialled Secretary Lee's number, and said in front of Deegan, "Secretary Lee, check the man named Deegan Liang for me. Who is he?"

Deegan smiled with disdain, "Don't put on an act."

Deegan could put on such a posture, not because he was stupid, but because he boasted that he was Sylvia's younger brother. He had his own self-confidence!

The secretary listened to Henry's question and asked, "Mr. Zhang, is there anything wrong with Deegan Liang?"

Henry listened to the answer of Andrew Lee and frowned slightly. If it was an insignificant person, Andrew Lee would answer his questions directly instead of asking the question. Henry continued to ask, "Who arranged him for this position?"

The secretary took a deep breath and said, "It's... it's specially arranged by Miss Daisy."

"Daisy?" Henry was confused. Before he could ask any more questions, he heard a burst of laughter coming from outside the office.

"Hahaha! Deegan, you're doing pretty well!"

"We've just graduated, and we're just working as interns in the factory. You, on the other hand, directly started working in your office."

"Hey, we were all in the same dormitory. Why is the difference so big?"

As the three voices sounded, three figures came in from outside the door. They were all young men who looked about the same age as Deegan. Each of them had a tender look on their faces. Although they were not much younger than Henry, the difference between them and Henry was like heaven and earth.

It was not that Henry looked very older. But when compared with these people, the difference in temperament between them, the three people who came to look for Deegan, including Deegan in a suit, it could be seen that these people were absolutely not familiar with the world. The people with more experience could see that Henry was not simple. Henry's eyes were vast and deep, and there was an inscrutable feeling.

There was a clear difference in the appearance of the three people who came in. One of them was thin and tall, about 1.85 metres, but estimated to weigh less than 65 kilograms. There was a sense of malnutrition. The other one was less than 1.7 metres tall and completely round. The third one was 1.75 metres tall and had a normal body.

When the three of them entered the office, they saw Deegan sitting behind his desk and tasting his coffee. Their faces were full of envy. Then, they naturally glanced at Jenny, who was standing on the side. With just one glance, their eyes were full of amazement.

However, even though they were amazed, these three students, who had just graduated from university, still didn't have the nerve to keep looking at Jenny. They just couldn't help glancing at her from time to time.

"Deegan, you are really sharp-eyed. Daisy looked ordinary in school. How did you know that she was the daughter of the Lin Family? When we were about to graduate, you didn't go crazy. Every day, you would circle around Daisy and give her all kinds of small gifts. It turns out that you had some motives," the tall and thin man said.

"Alas." The pudgy man sighed. "Deegan, look at you. You are already in the office. We are still in the factory. We came out of the same dormitory. Why is the gap so big? Why don't you tell Daisy that we can also go to the Lins Group to work? We don't have to sit in the office like you. It's better to come here to do odd jobs than to be bullied by the birds in the factory. Besides, I just looked at them. So many teachers. They are so beautiful. If there is a chance, hey hey hey hey..."

As the fat man said, he couldn't help laughing obscenely. At the same time, he was also fantasizing about something in his mind.

The young man with a relatively normal figure also said, "Deegan, I'll tell you that although you are now in the office, you can't be satisfied. Daisy is also good-looking. You worked so hard before just to win her over. You should continue to work hard. If you can become the son-in-law of the Lin Family, then you will be successful in the future!"

When Deegan heard this, he couldn't help but laugh. Then, he suddenly noticed that there were outsiders here. He had been too arrogant just now.

"Dean Qin, I have friends visiting today. I don't care if you are looking for trouble. Please, go out now. If you can find someone else, then find him. And this buddy? He knows the senior executives of the Lins. You also heard that the reason why I am sitting here today is arranged by the sister of the president of the Lins Group. If you have the ability, you can kick me out of this position. If you don't have the ability, what should you do? What procedures do you want? Today, I, Deegan Liang, am sitting in this position. If I don't do it for you, it is useless for you to find anyone! Now get out of my office!"

As soon as Deegan finished speaking, he waved his hand to kick them out.

Chapter 1082

Henry had a strange look on his face. Looking at Deegan and others in front of him, he felt that everything was strange. "Shouldn't these things be hidden in my heart? Why did I say it all in front of outsiders?"

However, after thinking about it carefully, Henry felt relieved. Different from those opponents that Henry had met before, Deegan and others were just ordinary college students. Their minds were relatively simple. They could directly express what they were thinking and what they should do.

Henry touched his chin. "Is this Deegan specially arranged by Daisy? And according to what they said, Daisy likes Deegan very much?"

This made Henry feel that it was a little difficult to deal with. It didn't mean that he had to give Daisy a face. Today, if Deegan was arranged by someone else, even if it was Sylvia or Robert who personally arranged it, Henry also grabbed his collar and threw him out of kindergarten on the spot.

However, he was arranged by Daisy. Henry was quite familiar with Daisy, and her mind was simple. Obviously, Deegan had created a relatively good image in front of her. If he kicked Deegan out directly, Daisy would definitely be sad. After all, this girl at her age had a feeling of being crazy for love. Daisy had just reached the climax of love, so he had to think of a way to get rid of Deegan. Besides, he had to teach her a lesson.

Henry did not stay in the office any longer. He turned and went out of the office.

As soon as he went out, Henry heard a sigh in the office.

Henry shook his head. For someone like Deegan, let alone being his opponent, he was no more than a minion. What Henry needed to consider now was how to make Daisy give up on Deegan without hurting her.

The most critical problem now was that Daisy might like Deegan. And this love was not the love at first sight but it accumulated over a long period of time. In this case, Henry could not directly expose Daisy. Otherwise, it would make this girl have resistance to love in the future.

Henry thought about it and decided to ask Daisy first. He wanted to know what Daisy was thinking about this Deegan. If it was just Deegan's and his men's wishful thinking, it wouldn't be so troublesome.

Henry called Daisy to a cafe not far from the welfare home.

Henry had just arrived at the coffee shop when Daisy came in. Henry observed her and found that Daisy had deliberately changed into a spring long dress and had a pair of white canvas shoes on her feet, which showed her youth. She put on a little makeup and there was a wide smile on her face. Looking at her, Henry secretly frowned. Obviously, this little girl had fallen into love.

After Daisy entered the coffee shop, she kept looking around at the door.

"Here." Henry sat at a table near the window and waved to Daisy.

Daisy strode over and sat opposite Henry. "Brother-in-law, why did you suddenly call me out today?"

"Let's order first." Henry pushed the wine list to Daisy, and then pretended to ask unintentionally, "Were you near here?"

Upon hearing this, Daisy couldn't help blushing. She nodded and said, "I'd like a cup of cappuccino."

"A cup of cappuccino." Henry handed the wine list to the waiter. He looked at Daisy and said, "I remember you loved to drink lemon water. Why did you change so quickly? Fortunately, I didn't help you order."

"Just a small change," Daisy replied. When answering Henry's question, Daisy subconsciously looked out of the window, where the kindergarten was located.

The position near the window was also specially selected by Henry. From these details, Henry probably knew what Daisy's attitude toward Deegan was.

Henry found a random topic and asked Daisy what she was going to do after graduation and whether she had good ideas or not.

"I... I want to enter the field of finance."

"Finance?" Henry raised his eyebrows. "Aren't you studying medicine? It seems that medicine has nothing to do with finance. I just wanted to introduce some experienced doctors to you and take you there."

"No, no." Daisy waved her hand and stuck out her tongue. "Brother-in-law, I'm suddenly interested in finance. But my major is not this, so I intend to practice in the kindergarten that my sister built. There are not many accountants there. It's just a good opportunity for me to get familiar with it."

Henry couldn't help laughing. This girl was really able to find an excuse for herself. He deliberately said, "Finance is not so difficult, and you don't have to go to kindergarten to practice your skills. I can personally teach you for a period of time, and I promise you will be able to take charge of the Lin Family."

"Well..." Daisy looked at Henry with embarrassment, and then subconsciously glanced at the direction of the kindergarten. "Brother-in-law, I don't want to bother. I don't know if I can hold on. Let's have a try. If I can't hold on, I will go back to medicine."

"Well, since you insist." Henry sighed. "By the way, your sister asked me to ask you, do you like wearing long sleeves or short sleeves?"

Daisy looked puzzled. "Why did my sister suddenly ask this?"

"I don't know." Henry shook his head. "Maybe she wants to find someone to order clothes for you, as a graduation gift, so long or short sleeves?"

"Long sleeves."

"Do you like light colour or dark colour?"

"Light."

"A set or separate items?"

"Separate items."

"Do you need to buy a suit for your boyfriend?"

"No..." Daisy had just answered Henry's question. She was stunned and opened her mouth wide. "Brother-in-law, don't pry into my words!"

"Haha." Henry smiled. At this time, the cup of cappuccino that Daisy asked for was just served on the table.

Henry pursed his lips at the coffee in front of Daisy. "Is this what you like to drink? Or are you trying to drink it?"

Daisy shrank her neck. "Brother-in-law, don't tell my sister and others, or my mom will definitely ask me. It will be troublesome."

"Fine, if you don't tell me." Henry shrugged his shoulders. "Tell me about your boyfriend. What is he doing? How old is he?"

"Wow, brother-in-law, are you for real?" Daisy showed an exaggerated look. "I always felt that you are very straightforward. You don't have to ask so much."

"Fine." Henry was going to take out his mobile phone. "If you don't tell me, I'll let your sister ask you in person. Believe me. When your sister knows this, the whole family will definitely know. I'm afraid that by that time, you won't have time to complain about me."

"No, no, no, brother-in-law, don't tell them." Daisy looked like she was wronged. "He's not my boyfriend. We are not in a relationship yet. He is my classmate."

Chapter 1083

Henry leaned on the seat and showed a look of listening to a story. He made a gesture of invitation to Daisy.

Daisy held the coffee mug on the table with both hands, and couldn't help but reveal a sweet look in her eyes. "We met each other when we were sophomores. He was a student of business management. There was an open class where he sat beside me. Someone teased me and he helped me out. Later, we met in the library again. To be honest, there are not many books I like, but I didn't expect that he also liked the same books. Our interests are the same. He doesn't do things with great fanfare like Wade. He is very quiet. You know what? It's like in that noisy place, a rare and quiet lake. Every time I chat with him, it makes me feel happy and relaxed."

Looking at the sweetness in the girl's eyes, Henry couldn't help but shake his head. He approached her on purpose. Of course, he would find out what book she liked and what she liked.

"Brother-in-law, my sister and my mother watched me since I was a child. When I was in junior high school, there were classmates who had dates. But I have never been exposed to these things, and I had no interest in any boy until I met him. I like the feeling of staying with him. But at that time we were still in school, and he had classes for the whole day, so I only occasionally saw him in the library. "

"All right." Henry sighed. He finally understood that Deegan was playing the game of a cat and mouse with this girl. "So, you want to go to kindergarten because your boyfriend is there, right? I heard from Secretary Lee that you arranged for someone to be in charge of the kindergarten management, a newly graduated college student. Is that him?"

Daisy pursed her lips, lowered her head and nodded. Then she immediately raised her head. "Brother-in-law, you must not tell my mother and my sister about this. If they know, they will definitely scold me!"

"You?" Henry looked puzzled. "Why would they blame you? If the person you found is good enough, they should be happy for you."

"I..." Daisy opened her mouth, but she didn't know how to explain it.

"Let me guess." Henry put his finger on the table and kept knocking on it. "You think that he is not excellent enough, or he has no ability to deal with the matter of Lins Group."

"No, no." Daisy waved her hand and said, "Brother-in-law, I don't want him to join Lins Group. He's not excellent enough compared to you, but I don't want to ask him to do anything. I think as long as I can get along with him, that's enough."

"Haha." Henry chuckled. "Your idea is simple, but you haven't thought about it. What if he actively approaches you? After all, as the little princess of the Lin Family, even if it is the previous Lin Family, there will be a lot of people who will squeeze their heads out to get in."

"No," Daisy replied, "I never mentioned it at school. Even Amy and Lam didn't know the relationship between me and Lins Group. And when I told Deegan to go to work at the kindergarten, he was so frightened that he didn't want to go at all. It was I who enlightened him for a long time before he was willing to go."

"Fine." Henry shrugged his shoulders. "You're not young anymore. It's good for you to have your own ideas. But as your brother-in-law, let me remind you. After all, you're the little princess of the Lin Family. The Lins have such a big business. It's impossible for your sister to take care of it all by herself. She can't handle it well either. You'll get in touch with this sooner or later. The kindergarten is a small one, but you've got a lot of things to do. You should go to the clothing factory to arrange the clothes for the children. You and your sweetheart will be responsible for this matter."

When Daisy heard this, a panic flashed in her eyes. "Brother-in-law, I... I can't do that."

Henry frowned and showed a look of dissatisfaction on his face. "Daisy, it's not about whether you can do it or not, but you must do it. You are a member of the Lins family, although I'm reluctant to say these things, it's your destiny. You have a business to do with Lin's family. Whether you like it or not, I won't tell the others and let you take care of it. If you do it well, you can boldly take your sweetheart into the Lins family. At that time, if your sister disagrees with it, I will back you up. But if you don't do it well, your sweetheart should earn experience more. Then you have to put aside your affection. After all, both you and he need to go through a learning process."

"Brother-in-law, I've never been in contact with..."

"When your sister took over the Lins Group, she also didn't have any contact with anyone, but in a short period of time, she was called the business queen of Yinzhou. This has nothing to do with the people who haven't contacted her before. There are many people in the world who succeed in their first attempt. You have the background of the Lins Group and a better springboard. You should be confident and have courage. As for the man you love, I will say something harsh." Henry got up at this time. "If he doesn't even have the confidence and courage to do so, you should prepare to hide this love for a lifetime, because such a person is not qualified to enter the Lins Group. Do you understand? I will ask Secretary Lee to transfer ten million yuan to the public account of the kindergarten."

After finishing his words, Henry tidied up his coat and walked out of the coffee shop.

Daisy sat alone at the table against the window, looked at the coffee that was still warm in front of her, and then looked out of the window at the kindergarten. There was a determined look in her eyes.

At the kindergarten entrance, Deegan's three roommates sat on the sofa next to the reception desk. They looked at the items on Deegan's table, which contained high-grade cigarettes and wine. Within a short period of time, the table was filled to the brim.

"Deegan, these things alone are worth 10,000 yuan." The tall and thin young man stared at Deegan's desk. They were working in the factory. They were tired and angry, but the money earned by the three of them for a month was not as much as Deegan's money.

"They're all worthless toys." Deegan waved his hand. On the first day he came here, he looked at these good cigarettes and wines with his eyes wide open. However, after so many days, he was already immune to these things. "Take these and split them. My family can't take them anymore."

"Fk, Deegan, you are so generous!" The short and fat young man shouted loudly and rushed directly to the table to hold the good cigarettes in his arms.

The other two people were the same. They couldn't take too much, so they just surfed the internet to see which bottle of wine was more expensive.

Chapter 1084

The three of them were enjoying the good cigarettes and wine excitedly around the table when suddenly the door of the office was pushed open.

The scene of pushing the door open before knocking made Deegan frown and when he just about to lose his temper, he saw a beautiful figure walk in.

Deegan's face suddenly changed, and his position of leaning back in his office chair suddenly changed into a sitting position facing danger.

When Deegan's three roommates saw the newcomer, they immediately spoke.

"Greetings, sister-in-law."

"Greetings."

Daisy, who had just entered, blushed when she heard them call her sister-in-law. She glanced at Deegan, who was sitting behind the table and lowered her head, "Oops, that When did you guys get here?"

"We just arrived," Deegan's roommates replied. Then they looked at each other and put the things they were going to bring back on the table.

Daisy looked at Deegan and put the pastry she just bought from the coffee shop on the table. She said to Deegan, "This is the breakfast I bought for you."

Deegan's roommates let out a series of ghostly shrieks.

"Oh my god! Breakfast! It's too sweet!"

"The difference! This is the difference!"

"When can I be as successful as my brother Deegan?"

The voices of the three people made Daisy blush again.

Deegan put aside the breakfast that Daisy handed him and sighed. "Daisy, I think my ability is limited. It's okay if you let me start from a grassroots level, but making me the manager directly, I really do not know how to deal with it."

Deegan looked worried.

Hearing Deegan says that he had no ability, Daisy remembered what

Henry had said to her. She said, "Deegan, there is absolutely no problem with you. You may feel a little busy now. It's just that there is no platform for you to prove and make use of yourself. This time, Fatty and the others are here. I have something to tell you."

Hearing this, Fatty and the others shivered. Daisy suddenly said that she wanted to let them join the Lin Family, didn't she? If that was the case, it would be too cool!

Daisy took out a form from her bag, which she just made. She attached great importance to what Henry told her. After laying out the form, Daisy spoke, "Now there are some pieces of equipment in the kindergarten that need to be purchased and some uniforms that need to be custom-made. My brother-in-law has handed this matter over to me, so we need to finish it together."

The stout young man's body shook. "Daisy, do you mean that we should talk business with others in the name of Lins Group?"

The faces of the other people were full of interest.

For the vast majority of college students, talking about business was just like on the TV shows- wearing a suit and tie, sitting in a high-end office, drinking coffee, fighting with others, looking professional! If they could really talk about business, they would take some pictures and post them on social media. Who knew how many likes they would get? What would the school belles think of them?

Daisy thought for a moment and nodded. "Yes, that's what I meant."

"Wow, this is too high-end!" One of them was pleasantly surprised.

"Daisy, it's not that we don't have confidence in ourselves, but we are too young." Deegan said, "We have just graduated from college. We really don't know anything about the equipment purchase and custom-made clothes you mentioned. If they ask us to do this, what if we ruin it? It's not good to let your family down."

Deegan's words showed that he was really worried. Now he was sitting in this position and enjoying the treatment that he had never had before. He was really afraid that he would lose everything all of a sudden.

Hearing Deegan's words, Daisy comforted him, "My brother-in-law knows that I've just graduated, so this time, he just wants to train me. I just roughly learned the price of the equipment from Amy, including the cost of purchasing clothes. My brother-in-law asked the company to give us ten million yuan, and it should be on the public account soon. This money can be used to buy those things."

"Ten... Ten million?" The youth's eyes widened when he heard that.

Deegan, who was sitting on his office chair, also opened his eyes wide. Although he collected so many things every day, to be honest, these things only had fixed price, and they couldn't be used as money. Even if he wanted to sell them to a second-hand businessman, he couldn't exchange them for too much money.

But ten million yuan! That was real money. Deegan had never seen so much money in his life!

"Yes, ten million yuan." Daisy nodded. She had no special feelings about this number. "Fatty, all three of you are Deegan's roommates. You have a lot of ways to get together. Please help Deegan this time. If this matter is done, I can let my brother-in-law arrange for you to come to the Lins Group. By then, you can work together every day like when you were at school."

Deegan and his three roommates looked at each other and saw greed in each other's eyes. Ten million!

The moment they heard the number, they didn't think about how to do business, but how to spend the money!

Daisy was about to say something more when she heard the phone ring. She answered the phone several times and then hung up. She said to Deegan and others, "Amy has something to say to me, so I'll leave first. The money should be available on the public account soon. I'll send you the contact information of some local clothing factories. Fatty, please help Deegan this time."

"Definitely. Absolutely." The pudgy youth nodded repeatedly.

After Daisy went out, there was a weird silence in the office.

After a long time, the young man with an ordinary figure took the lead to say, "Ten million yuan, ten million yuan, Deegan!"

"It's terrible. I've never seen so much money in my life!" The short and fat young man swallowed.

"How should we spend it?" asked the lanky youth as well.

Deegan stuck out his tongue and licked his lips. "First of all, we have to settle this matter. If the money is in our hands, we can spend it any way we want, don't we? Fatty, I remember you have a friend who owns the clothing factory, right?"

"Ah, it's not a clothing factory at all. It's just a workshop. The materials they use are very bad."

"Yes! Him!" Deegan slapped the table and decided. "Contact him and tell him that I invite him to dinner tonight!"

"But Deegan." Fatty frowned. "Is it okay to use them?"

"Why not? As long as the clothes can be made, it doesn't matter. What we need to do now is to find a cheap price, the cheaper the better!"
