

Chapter 1312

In Henry's eyes, there was a face without any facial features. On the person's face, there was only an eye several times larger than ordinary people's eye. After turning his head, he looks at Henry.

However, this strange and horrible eye did not pause on Henry's body. Instead, it directly glanced at Henry and continued to walk forward as if he had seen nothing.

Henry was shocked by the non-human face, but he reacted very quickly. He clenched his fists and attacked his opponent's heart directly. "You're misleading me!"

"What are you doing?!" Henry waved his fist halfway but was stopped by someone.

Henry turned his head and found that the person who stopped him from waving his fist was the one who shouted at him and the others to profane the gods last night.

The man held a torch in his hand and looked at him in horror. He said in a language that Henry could not fully understand, "You... you actually did that to the guide! No, you have the aura of the ghostdom. You have been to the ghostdom. You have come back from there!"

Henry looked at the man with the same strange expression on his face. The rain was pouring down, but the man's torch didn't seem to be affected in the slightest.

When he turned his head again, the faceless freak had completely disappeared.

"You've violated the rules of the gods. You'll be trapped forever in the Netherworld. You won't be able to escape!" The person wielding the torch continued to murmur. He took a few steps back, as though he had seen a ghost. Suddenly, he let out a loud scream, then rushed back into his own cottage.

Henry's surroundings became quiet again.

He looked around carefully and realized that the statue of the god was still there.

Henry took a deep breath, suppressed the strangeness in his heart, and continued to jump down the mountain. Henry went down the mountain very quickly, but he never reached the bottom of the mountain.

The rain was getting heavier and heavier, and a landslide began to appear on one side of the mountain. The landslide was very serious, and dozens of huge rocks rolled down from the top of the mountain.

Henry quickly found a hollow in the mountain wall and hid. When he came to the hollow, he found that the stone statue appeared again! Under the stone statue, there was also the lighter that Gardiner smashed before.

Then, hundreds of thatched huts appeared before Henry's eyes.

In order to test his theory, Henry sat in front of the stone statue and fell asleep again. When Henry opened his eyes, he returned to the ancestral temple. In front of him were the people who took out their heads and rakes.

Henry walked out of the ancestral hall obediently. Under the unkind gazes of the townsmen, he went back to the farmhouse that belonged to them. Henry saw that the seven members of the Section Nine had already been well-behaved farming in front of the farmhouse. 1

Gardiner shook his head left and right impatiently, with a hoe in his hand.

After Henry came over, the seven members of the Section Nine all looked at Henry carefully. After waiting for a long time, one of them gathered up the courage to ask, "Your Excellency, have you found anything?"

Henry shook his head and said nothing.

Upon seeing that, they all looked away with regret.

Gardiner didn't say anything either, as if he had accepted his fate.

The day passed, and in the evening, everyone in the town returned home. Soon, smoke could be seen rising from every house in the village.

Henry and others also returned to the farmhouse and ate the dried food they brought with them.

Suddenly, Henry said to the youngest member, "Give me the lighter from your bag."

The younger member subconsciously moved his arms, and then seemed to realize something. He quickly stopped and said with a bitter smile, "My lord, our boss is the only one who smokes here. I don't have a lighter."

"You mean, soon you will run out of lighters?" Henry smiled. "How many lighters did you break in two nights, huh?"

The squad member asked, "Your Excellency, what are you talking about?"

"In fact, I've been wondering why this mountain trapped people." With an extremely fast movement, Henry took the young team member's backpack in his hand, casually flipped it, took out a lighter, threw it to Gardiner, and then leaned on the seat in the farmhouse in a comfortable position.

Gardiner lit a cigarette with a pleasant smile.

"First of all, Gardiner and I can't use our Qi." Henry said, "In fact, in the beginning, I also didn't understand what made us unable to use our Qi. After all, there are only a few people in the world who have the strength to stop me and Gardiner. People with such strength don't have to do these tricks. However, I suddenly remembered that I saw a kind of material on Radiant Island a year ago. It was a unique metal that could block all types of Qi. If there was no Qi in the whole space, could you think that it is a way to limit our strength?"

"I have a question." Gardiner said.

"I know what you want to ask, but in fact, you already have an answer in your heart. You just don't want to accept it." Henry opened his mouth and interrupted Gardiner. He continued, "Just now, it was about the reason why our Qi was restricted. According to the point just now, it is not difficult to understand. With the dark clouds covering the sky and the rainy mountains, if we are really covered by some metal, or we enter a special box specially made by others, it is possible for the other party would want to do something in the box, isn't it? After all, artificial rain is not a high-tech thing."

"Then there is the second thing. We are trapped in the mountain. In fact, you and I think that we are only trapped in the mountain. After all, in this mountain, all of us relied on is a stone with a mark and a stone statue. To put it bluntly, if you let me make a mark, I can tell you at will which stone I have marked, or choose a stone with the same appearance as mine to make a mark, right?"

The squad member who had been making marks all this while had an ugly expression on his face. "Your Excellency, you must be responsible for what you just said. Are you saying that I'm playing tricks here?"

"No, no, no." Henry waved his hand repeatedly and said, "Of course, you can't create such a strange illusion alone. But if you seven act together, it's easy to mislead me and Gardiner."

The smile on Henry's face grew brighter and brighter.

Gardiner was smoking more and more frequently.

And the faces of the seven team members of the Section Nine became more and more ugly.

"In fact, I've been thinking about how we've been trapped halfway up the mountain. What's going on? I've thought of three possibilities. The first is that a real virtual environment, reflected by light, will form a false image in the distance, misleading me and Gardiner. For example, we're almost at the top of the mountain, but we can still believe that we're on the mountainside. At this time, a stone statue and a stone with a mark appear, which makes us feel that we're staying where we are. Then you guys show a look of fear and stop there, but it doesn't seem to be true."

Chapter 1313

Henry took a deep breath, "The second possibility is that the problem is not with the space but ourselves. The rain contains a large number of mixed drugs, and it induced hallucination when the rain falling on us. But I suspect how likely this scenario could be. If you people want to do something on me, we should already know how well versed in drugs I am. So there is only one option left, which is the most likely one. It might sound crazy, but I don't think there would be another possibility to cause us to trap in the mountain."

The remaining members of Section Nine didn't respond. Their reaction had confirmed Henry's suspicion.

Henry adjusted his sitting position and continued, "I know you people have been working on the mountain for a long time, so you can shift the location of the boulders as you like. All the talks about clouds and rain were just distractions. If we assume that the boulders are movable, everything would be easy to explain. Every time we appeared near a stone figure, you then secretly influence us on our decisions. While we were running up and down the mountain, you just shifted the boulders to make everything looked different. The Mountain of the Gods could very much be a normal mountain. I dare say the mountain maybe some kind of secret base of yours."

"Well done," The woman that always had a timid look on her face clapped, "The King of Hell lives up to his name! But one thing I don't understand. How did you figure it out?"

"Simple," Henry took a look at Gardiner and said, "Gardiner pretended he was anxious to trick you to put the guard down. The night before last night, he acted as if he kicked the stone figure, but in fact, he kicked a lighter. Last night, when we reached another stone figure, we saw the lighter Gardiner smashed. Obviously, you people just moved the boulders around so we would reach the same stone figure over and over again. It was also very strange that we would dead asleep in front of the figure. I guess there definitely is a lot of mysterial materials inside of the stone figure."

"It doesn't make sense," Gardiner suddenly spoke, "I think the reason is more than what you are telling. My mind won't feel easy unless you tell us all."

"The other reason is that they are all morons," Henry glanced at the seven Section Nine members, "We both know our enemy is powerful.

Two groups of people have gone missing. How can those morons still here unharmed?"

"Then what's their purpose?" Gardiner said, "Spook us? Are they trying to convince us that there are ghosts in the world?"

"I don't know," Henry shook his head, "There are so many possibilities. But I think the most likely one is that they are trying to use you to distract me."

Gardiner asked, "From what?"

"They want to stop me from going to the ancestral land of Su Family," Henry shrugged, "The information you got is the thing they want you to know, and it includes the one that says people of all the ancestral lands have gone missing. It may be part of their plan of getting us to the mountain and trap us for two days."

"Well done! No wonder Sacred Lord keeps talking about you. It takes so little time for you to figure out the mystery of the mountain," The oldest among the members of Section Nine clapped.

"Tsk tsk," Henry looked at Gardiner sadly, "Section Nine used to just have moles from Recluse Association and Alvin League. It seems that Noble Berserkers has joined the party too."

"Sh*t," Gardiner gave a middle finger, "I believe it's normal for an organization this size to have a couple of moles."

He then looked at the members of Section Nine and said, "Well, since we've come to this, let's bring everything to the table. Stop playing spooky. I've covered in a cold sweat."

"Haha," A chuckle came from outside.

The door of the farmhouse was open, and a gray-haired man was standing outside. "I apologize for trapping you here for the last couple of days. That's the direct order from Sacred Lord, and we have to follow it. Since you two have figured it out, we won't play tricks with you anymore. This gentleman from Section Nine, your missing members are in the mountain and still alive. They haven't been eating and drinking for days. I suggest you check on them quickly."

When the man finished his words, the seven compromised Section Nine members went out to join him.

Henry and Gardiner were the only people left in the farmhouse.

"I know I'm the one to blame," Gardiner smiled bitterly.

"Not at all," Henry shook his head, "Imprisoning us is not their purpose. This trip is very necessary. I think they are from Alvin League, not Noble Berserkers."

"Alvin League? Why?" Gardiner was surprised.

"Guts feeling," Henry smiled, "I've been crossing paths with people from Alvin League for a very long time, and I can tell them apart by the way they behave. What do you think is inside of the mountain?"

"I don't know. My guts don't tell me," Gardiner shook his head, "Do you think everyone is like you. Fighting big bosses from the very first day?"

"I'm sure the inheritance of Antiquity Country is there!" Henry said confidently, "Even that two hundred years old monster is here. He definitely comes for the inheritance. Alvin League's people are here too, even though that old goat is the last person they want to deal with. Are you curious about what Antiquity Country looks like? That's the place where all the tales begin."

"I'm kind of interested, but not that much either. If you want to go, I can follow," Gardiner shrugged. He stood up and said, "Let's go and have a look."

"Great," Henry smiled slightly. When Gardiner was passing by him, Henry suddenly punched Gardiner from the back.

Gardiner evaded in an instant. The Sharp Knife suddenly appeared in Gardiner's hand. He laid the blade against Henry's neck.

At the same time, Henry had clumped Gardiner's throat.

The two stood still, staring at each other, and no one had the upper hand. Gardiner's blade was no deadlier than Henry's fingers.

"Interesting! When did you find it out?" Gardiner asked.

 Watch Ads to Get 15 Vouchers

Chapter 1314

"Your action is full of holes," Henry said, and a smile was still on his face, "I know Gardiner well. Although he behaves like a cheap scumbag, he is a proud man. He is also very proud of Section Nine. When I said all Section Nine members were morons, the real Gardiner would curse and give me the finger as what you did, but he would also show shame. But I couldn't find it on your face. Moreover, you messed up how Gardiner smoke. To mimic how gangsters smoke in Hong Kang movies, Gardiner wouldn't inhale his first pull of a cigarette. The most important one, Gardiner hasn't returned the rented Ferrari. He is a stingy person. How can he agree with going to Antiquity Country when the rental company is charging him the Ferrari daily?"

"Haha," The person standing in front of Henry sneered, "I have been observing him and studying his every moves for seven years. But you broke my impersonation so easily,"

Henry shrugged and said, "Blame yourself for trying to impersonate an obscene person. You know. He is very hard to impersonate. So you trapped Gardiner somewhere else last night?"

"No," The person shook his head, "He has no use to us but trouble. So we spared his life. At this moment, he is on his way out of here, along with the kids from Antiquity Country and Henry Zhang. You are the one what we are after. See, we have to rush the plan because you broke the jails of the City of Hell, letting the ancient criminals walk free in the world. After all, you are the Sacred Lotus. I guess you know a lot of secrets." 2

"I'm curious about one thing," Henry's hand still clamped on the throat of Gardiner's impersonater, "What happened to the ancestral land of Su Family?"

"I guess that's another thing that will need to be figured out by you. But you won't be able to walk out of here alive anyway. Don't worry about your wife. I'm curious what will happen if an average person got the power of the bloodline," The Gardiner impersonator sneered.

Henry was stunned, "My wife? You gave her the power of the bloodline?"

The Gardiner impersonator was surprised at Henry's reaction. But he soon laughed, "Hahaha! The King of Hell is doing so poorly on intelligence. I heard about how you got to this point from a nobody. After your mother jumping out of the building, you killed the whole family of the person who was responsible for it, all seven of them. At the time, people said you are crazy. But you were so docile comparing to your wife. She is the real psychopath. To give her the power of the bloodline, your wife completely destroyed the ancestral land of the Su Family. It affects the ancestral lands of all the other families and their power distribution. Who would've thought the King of Hell hasn't known about it? But you don't need to anyway. The only thing you need to worry about from now on is how to live the rest of your life less miserable."

All Henry's muscles tensed up. What did they make Sylvia do? Henry couldn't believe that Sylva could wake the power of the bloodline and burn its fire of a family.

Henry had witnessed the bloodline of the Zhao Family. After the waking of the power of the bloodline, Ken Zhao turned into a complete monster.

The sharp knife in fake Gardiner's hand suddenly turned into a stream of light. It stuck toward Henry's throat.

Henry ducked the attack. The two stood further apart.

"You seem to be sure that you can kill me today?" Henry put his hand on his back.

"Kill you?" The fake Gardiner shook his head, "No, why would I do that? You are the Sacred Lotus. Keeping you alive is much more valuable than you being dead."

"You won't be able to beat me. I suggest you call backups," Henry started to warm up. It's been a while since the last time he fought without using Qi.

"As you wish," The fake Gardiner didn't intend to fight Henry one-on-one. He shouted, "Let's fight!"

As soon as he called, the walls of the farmhouse suddenly fell down. Hundreds of people stood outside and were ready to fight. It turned out all the farmhands were disguised fighters. At this moment, what in their hands were no longer rakes and pitchforks. They all held machetes in their hands.

In this place, no one could use Qi. So Henry couldn't underestimate every single one of them.

"Disable him!" Fake Gardiner waved his hand and took the lead to charge at Henry.

The rest of the people all followed him in an instant. Some of them carried the traits of mutations. It seemed that they were experimented on by Alvin League.

Henry stood in the center. Hundreds of people all jumped at him like predators catching prey.

While warming up, Henry said, "Come, show me what you've got to keep me here!"

Outside of the Mountain of the Gods.

Gardiner was on his way to leaving with four hundred children and more than a dozen Section Nine members. Five kilometers away from the Mountain of the Gods, Antiquity Country had arranged people to wait for their arrival.

When Gardiner finally escorted all the children to Antiquity Country, he breathed a sigh of relief.

"Boss, I was shocked. Who'd thought that seven people among us are moles. It's my fault!" Said one Section Nine member. He looked at Gardiner bitterly.

"We are learning from our mistakes. You have suffered a lot. Take a good rest. I need to take care of something," Gardiner said while patting him on the shoulder.

He nodded and got on Antiquity Country's car with the others.

After sending everyone off, Gardiner took a look at the person standing next to him, "Henry, I didn't know Noble Berserkers' people have taken over the mountain. Things are getting messier."

"Indeed," the person nodded, "Next stop for us is the ancestral land of the Su Family. It seems like their missing people case has nothing to do with the mountain."

"Let's prepare and go," Gardiner patted the person on the shoulder.

Henry nodded.

At this moment, Gardiner's hand suddenly moved from the person's back to his neck.

Gardiner's hand moved fast and sneaky. Before the person noticed, Gardiner had clamped the person's throat.

"Do you think I'm a fool?" Gardiner said disdainfully, "With an acting skill like that, do you think you can deceive me?"

 Watch Ads to Get 15 Vouchers