

Chapter 1317

Checking up the research files Henry handed to him, Gardiner was stunned.

"I've only heard about rumors about Alvin League's God Creation Plan. I didn't expect that they were really doing it. Alvin League is crazy!"

Gardiner looked shocked, "Who scoops out the inside of a mountain just to exam every piece of it? They are lunatics."

Henry smiled and tore the research report into pieces, "If they are not lunatics, how come they came up with such a plan?"

"Someone wanted the fortune, and someone wanted the fame. Alvin League wanted the whole world!"

"Let's destroy this place. I'll make the arrangement."

Gardiner took out his cell phone.

"Hold your horses. There's no signal here."

Henry pointed to the other side, "Let's go. There should be more."

When Henry and Gardiner were about to get in one of the doorways to another corridor, they heard the sound of fighting.

They rushed toward the source of the sound simultaneously.

They ran very fast to the other end of the corridor.

When they reached the other end, the fighting sound had died down.

They were standing inside another hall. There were many containers in which human-shaped experimental creatures were submerged in solutions. Henry and Gardiner saw two dead bodies on the ground, lying in a pool of blood. A track of bloodied footprints led to another corridor.

Henry and Gardiner looked at each other and said at the same time, "Chase!"

They were about to run toward the corridor.

Henry's heart suddenly tightened. His years of fighting experience told him there was something behind his back. Henry suddenly turned around and reached out.

"Who's there!"

Someone was caught in Henry's hand.

When Henry finally saw the face of the person, he let go of the person.

"Princess Anna?"

The person was the princess of Antiquity Country, Princess Anna.

Anna's hair was messy, and her face was smudged. The dress she was wearing was torn.

"Help... help me..." Anna looked intimidated. She was shaking, and her lips were pale.

"What's going on?"

Gardiner took a look at Henry.

Henry shook his head. He stroke Anna's face.

"F*ck, are you a bastard?"

"Are you taking advantage of this girl when she was hurt? Come on, let me do it."

Gardiner held out his hand as he spoke.

Princess Anna took two steps back in fear.

"Get lost."

Henry gave Gardiner an angry stare and said, "I'm checking if there is a human skin mask on her face. This is the real Princess Anna."

"Human skin mask?"

"What's human skin mask?"

Princess Anna looked puzzled. She calmed down a little after seeing Henry.

"It's nothing."

Henry shook his head. He didn't want to let Princess Anna know too much. Henry asked, "Why are you here?"

"I... I don't know."

Anna shook her head, "I fell asleep and found myself here when I woke up. Take me out now. I'm so scared. That old monster just killed someone here."

"Old monster?"

"Where is he?"

Henry was shocked.

Princess Anna pointed toward the direction where the footprints were leading.

"Why did they capture you?"

Gardiner asked.

Princess Anna shook her head, "I... I don't know. They said, they said that my blood. My blood can help them open the door."

"Blood!"

Henry and Gardiner were both shocked upon hearing Princess Anna's words.

As a member of the loyal family, Princess Anna's blood might hold the key to open the inheritance of Antiquity Country.

"What's happened to them?"

Henry pointed to the two dead bodies on the ground.

"The old monster killed them."

Princess Anna replied.

"Let's go and find that old monster."

Henry and Gardiner made a decision at the same time.

"Bring me along. I don't want to stay here alone anymore."

Princess Anna grabbed Henry and looked at him pitifully.

"Go with us, then."

Henry held Princess Anna and walked toward the corridor where the footprints led.

When they reached the corridor, they heard the sound of fighting again.

Henry and Gardiner sped up. As soon as they got through the corridor and entered another hall, they saw a person was slaughtering people. The people who were slaughtered wore uniforms of Antiquity Country's Royal Guards.

"They are sent by the King!"

Princess Anna let out a cry.

"Let's go!"

Gardiner roared.

Henry let go of Princess Anna and took a deep breath. He then turned around and threw a punch at Princess Anna's face.

Princess Anna, whose lips were pale, just trembled with fear, but she suddenly ducked back extremely fast.

"Oh my God."

Gardiner was shocked by what happened in front of him. "When you winked at me, I thought you just wanted to give her a test. If she were really a weak princess, your punch would have smashed her skull."

"How could she?"

Henry snorted, "There are too few people in the world who can approach us without raising our attention. How can a princess do that?"

"If she were really scared, we would have noticed her the moment we entered that hall. Did you see the thread between her fingers? The dress was torn by herself!"

"D*mn it. You are more despicable than me."

Gardiner gave Henry the middle finger, "You just met her, and yet you've checked her up inside and out!

Are you cautious or lascivious?"

"the King of Hell does live up to the name."

The intimidating look on Princess Anna's face suddenly disappeared. She looked at Henry with appreciation. It was strange to see the transformation of Princess Anna.

"Are you working for Alvin League?"

Henry looked at Princess Anna with interest.

"You seem to be interested in everything?"

Princess Anna laughed. Behind her, the sound of dense footsteps could be heard.

Then countless experimental creatures walked out from the corridor. They stood behind Princess Anna, looking ferocious.

Henry said to Gardiner, "You go and tell the old monster. I'd like to form a temporary alliance with Noble Berserkers. We can deal with this together. If we failed, he can't get out either."

Henry didn't care to hide his words from Princess Anna. Her face changed after hearing those words.

"How do you know everything?"

Gardiner looked at Henry strangely.

"No, in fact, there is still one thing I don't understand."

Henry shook his head, "I still don't know why Noble Berserkers would use you to lure me here. What is their purpose?"

"What the hell?"

"You accuse me of working with Noble Berserkers?"

Gardiner was confused, "The thing you said to me... You were acting?"

Henry said with a smile, "Our every move is under surveillance. How could I not act?"

Chapter 1318

"Interesting," Anna said with a confident smile on her face, "I'd like to know how you found out."

Gardiner covered his forehead with his hand and said, "D*mn it. He got himself another chance to show off."

"Princess Anna, I don't think you've learned martial arts, right?" Henry asked.

"No," Anna shook her head honestly, "How could I admire you so much if I knew martial arts? It turns out I was just ignorant. After I have met the Lord, I realized how weak you are."

Henry smiled, "You didn't know martial arts so you don't know that through years of practice, every martial arts practitioner has their own unique features. In Holy Fire Town, the old man's steps were seventy-five centimeters apart. Although the man here looks like him and has the same height, his steps are eighty centimeters apart. It shows that these are two different people. When the old man brought away the seven Section Nine members the other night, all seven people walked away in a hurry, which means they didn't plan to do anything on this mountain. You people tried to frame Noble Berserkers. They just played along and left me here to expose you. You think they surrendered to you, but in fact, they are still loyal to Noble Berserkers."

"Well done," Anna clapped, "And?"

"What remains is easy," Henry shrugged, "The old freak is one of the Noble Berserkers. I think he wasn't the one who picked the four hundred children. It was you. You want to open the inheritance of Antiquity Country, so you picked those children because of their ancestry. The tricks the old freak plays weren't for creating the holy event but for gaining The King Region's trust, and he didn't plan to sacrifice the children for the gods but to take them away from here. Your people caught them when they were on their way out. Am I right so far? Everything went according to your plan until Gardiner and I showed up. Alvin League's experimental creatures are still not strong enough. But your people said in front of me that they were going to cripple me. It was obvious that your purpose was to drive me away from the mountain, which means there are things here you don't want me to see."

"You didn't disappoint me. Well said!" Anna didn't care to hide her admiration for Henry.

Gardiner was confused. He gave a thumbs-up to Henry and said, "Buddy, honestly, I admire your billsh*t ability."

Henry was speechless to Gardiner's comment. He explained, "There are so many things that happened recently, which got me thinking. Without the protection of Antiquity Country's government, there's no way Alvin League can excavate the whole mountain without raising suspicion."

"What's going to happen if people suspect?" Anna sneered, "Do you think with the two of you and that old guy, you can walk out of here alive?"

"Otherwise?" Henry looked confident, "If you really have the force to keep me here, how can you give me chances to escape? Let me guess. You made me say all those to buy you time to gather and dispose of important materials? Gardiner, use your satellite phone to call people over. Nothing can be taken away by them!"

"Okay," Gardiner took out the phone with full confidence.

"Take care of them!" Princess Anna waved her arms and stepped backward.

Countless experimental creatures surrounded them.

On the other side of the hall, the other person had finished his battle.

"Hey, come over and help us. Dinner on us later. We are Noble Berserkers' best friends!" Gardiner shouted. He then gave the old freak a finger heart.

"I know you. One is from Section Nine of Yan Xia, and the other is Henry Zhang of Radiant Island," The person shouted back. His voice didn't sound old at all but full of energy.

He leaped over to Henry and Gardiner.

Henry finally got a closer look at the man. He was only in his forties. The person was strong and two meters in height. In fact, his face was rather handsome.

"Gardiner, be honest with me. Did you get the kids out of here?"

Henry could tell a person's strength by merely a look. He guessed that if the person was a Qi practitioner, he could be at the level of the Divine Realm.

"Of course, I..."

"I know that you're from Section Nine, and you are here to save those kids. That's why I gave you them," The person spoke in a fluent language of Yan Xia, "Don't be surprised. I learned your language in the clan. Yan Xia will become one of the most powerful entities, and its language will become one of the most wide-used languages of all."

Henry was shocked, "You belong to a clan?"

"Of course? Or do you think I came from a stone?" he asked rhetorically.

Henry opened his mouth but didn't know what to say.

"Let's solve the matter at hand first." Gardiner took a deep breath.

"Let's chat after the fight," said the person.

"Come on," Henry clenched his fists.

They stood with their backs against each other. Alvin League's experimental creatures stared at them with blood-red eyes and rushed toward them like fierce beasts.

Princess Anna quickly passed through several halls and arrived in a small control room. Her face was not as calm as before but full of anxiety. Just as Henry had said, if she had enough force to capture Henry, she couldn't leave his chances to escape. Princess Anna knew very well the experimental creatures weren't powerful enough to kill Henry. She just wanted to use them to buy some time. Princess Anna wanted to bring with her all the information about Antiquity Country inheritance."

She took off the hard drive and stared at a self-destruction button. Once she pressed the button, the whole mountain would be destroyed in an instant.

There was more information than what in the hard drive. Destroying everything would make discover the Antiquity Country inheritance much harder. But Princess Anna didn't have a choice. It would bring harm to Alvin League if other people saw the information.

Anna took a deep breath and pressed the self-destruction button.
