

Chapter 1332

Sloane stood by Alvin's side, and they showed no fear when they were facing Henry. With Peze in their hands, Sloane and Alvin believed that they would make Henry do whatever they wanted.

"Looks like you've been doing pretty well lately."

When Henry saw Alvin, he smiled.

"Thanks to you, my life has changed dramatically. But I have to say that I was so naive before. I even thought that Radiant Island was a powerful organization. Now, I finally see the truth. Comparing with Alvin League, Radiant Island is less than nothing. Our God Creation project is about to complete. Once the project succeeds, the whole world will kneel under our feet. If you fulfill our demand nicely, maybe I can plead to our future Lord to give you a job as a watchdog."

Henry's expression did not change at all, "You're indeed much more ambitious than before."

"Cut the crap."

Alvin held Sloane in his arms and said, "Where is Sylvia? Don't tell me she disappeared. The genes we found in Loulan match Sylvia's genes in ninety percentage. So we know that her last known location is Loulan. I warn you. You'd better stop lying to us!"

Henry walked closer to Sloane and Alvin and whispered to them, "What are you going to do with that information then? What can you do to me if I just don't tell you?"

Threaten me?

Just you two?"

"You don't care about the life of Peze?"

Alvin stared at Henry and said, "Do you think hiding Sylvia will solve anything?"

She is holding the key to the civilization of the earth's core. Even Martial Emperor is searching for it. Do you think by you and your wife, you are able to keep it?"

"What?"

"The civilization of the Earth's Core?"

Henry looked confused.

"Haha."

Alvin sneered, "What an ignorant little Henry! He didn't even know what Martial Emperor is up against. Don't say that I didn't give you a chance when yourself can't see the world clearly. The ancestral land of Loulan will open in seven days. When it happens, give me the thing Sylvia is holding. Or, I'll send you the body of Peze. Let's go!" 1

Alvin, holding Sloane in his arm, walked away.

"You told him too much."

Sloane frowned. She was unhappy about what Alvin had told Henry.

"You don't know him."

Alvin shook his head, "Henry is too confident for his own good. With the little information I let out, he will do the job for us. Believe me, when the time comes, he will take care of things in Loulan for us."

"I hope what you said will happen."

Sloane continued, "The boss takes the matter very seriously. There are more and more civilizations of the earth's core appears. So the boss thinks what is going to happen in Loulan is very crucial. If anything goes wrong, both of us will be in serious trouble."

"Don't worry, I don't play with my own life."

Alvin smiled.

With Alvin League's leaving, there were only Recluse Association and Noble Berserkers that remained in the ancestral land of the Su Clan. Cleve didn't come here to interrogate Henry. He just wanted to know how he saw the incident. As for Cesia, her eyes never left Henry from the moment Henry walked in, but she didn't talk to Henry.

All six Divine Realm masters of the clans had died, and most of them were crippled. Although the scene wasn't bloody, their injuries were so severe that they wouldn't be able to use their limbs again.

Only the clans' young people were left intact. After hearing about the Evil Spirit, Silas left with Martial Emperor and didn't want to waste his time on them.

The five clans had hoped to claim their dominant power after their reentering of the secular world, but they lost almost everything after the first battle. At this moment, the only thing left in the young clans' people's eyes was fear. They had no courage left to interrogate Henry about Sylvia.

Alvin's words worried Henry. He didn't linger in the ancestral land of the Su Clan for long. After a brief talk with Gardiner, he headed to the urban area of Krerton City by himself and stayed in a hotel.

He started searching about the civilization of the earth's core online immediately after checking in the hotel.

The story about the civilization of the earth's core had been around for a long time, but most of them were considered urban legends, which were debunked as fake.

But were they really urban legends?

After Henry learned Qi, he undertook one thing. It didn't mean something didn't exist just because people didn't understand it.

Mankind liked to claim itself as the owner of the planet earth. However, mankind had only occupied twenty-nine percent of the surface of the earth, and yet, there were still many unexplainable phenomena within that area. The oceans were considered one of the most mysterious places on earth, and no one knew what was there on the bottom of the oceans. But there was a place more mysterious than the oceans, and that was the earth's core! Human exploration of the ocean had gone as deep as eleven thousand meters, but the exploration of the earth's core was merely fifty-one hundred meters. Scientists speculated that the depth of the earth's core was sixty-three kilometers, so human being's exploration on earth was insignificant.

After the search, Henry concluded that the civilization of the earth's core might exist, but human beings hadn't got any proof.

The Classic of Mountains and Seas mentioned mountains and rivers all over the world, and it also mentioned a lost world.

There was once an expedition team. The team discovered a four kilometers long corridor on the bottom of the ocean. Near the corridor, there was a tens-of-thousands square meters large hall. They also found some strange but beautiful patterns and dinosaur skeletons. Some people said that they were the proof of the existence of the civilization of the earth's core, and someone said the earth's crust movement caused those to be at the bottom of the ocean. In the end, the earth's crust movement theory gained favor. After all, human beings only believed things they saw with their own eyes.

"The civilization of the earth's core, so it existed?"

Henry lost in his thoughts. Alvin League wouldn't run after the civilization of the earth's core if it was only an urban legend. It seemed like Martial Emperor had been searching for information about the civilization of the earth's core. And what was the Evil Spirit?

Henry got the same clueless feeling as the moment he just learned about Qi. There were so many mysteries waiting for him to uncover. He felt that a lot of the mysteries were related to the civilization of the earth's core! Henry had to go to Loulan, either for finding Sylvia, solving the mysteries or for killing Joselito Yang!

Chapter 1333

Verrall was with Joselito wherever Joselito went, so it was hard to kill Joselito.

Learned from Alvin, Henry knew that the ancestral land of Loulan would be open in seven days. He had to prepared during this time. Henry planned to go to Loulan in advance.

He didn't delay in executing his plans. Henry booked a flight ticket to Xin Province the very same day.

Henry landed in Xin Province at nine o'clock in the evening. When he stepped out of the plane, it was still broad daylight. Henry felt that something was not right.

Years of experience told Henry that most of the ground staff at the airport had problems. It looked like they were busy working, but upon a closer look, Henry realized that they were inspecting everyone who came to visit Xin Province.

Henry was sure that organizations around the world would have learned the news that the ancestral land of Loulan was about to open. He suspected that all the organizations had planted their own people to monitoring every visitor to Loulan.

Henry didn't mind being watched. He walked out of the airport unconcealed. Henry booked a hotel. He planned to go to Loulan the next morning.

It took Henry more than an hour to find a hotel that still got vacancies. It was obvious that a lot of people of the organizations around the world had come to Xi Province.

Unlike the Emperor's Mausoleum of West Xia, Loulan couldn't be controlled by any organization completely, and the ancient tribe of Loulan had important influences. Many of Loulan's inheritors would show up this time.

During dinner hours, people were dining at the restaurant in the hotel. They behaved arrogantly and talked loudly. From their conversation, Henry learned that most of them were coming for Loulan, and they all knew that Loulan was the last place Sylvia was located.

Henry finished his dinner in a hurry. He rushed back to his room and continued searching for information about the ancestral land of Loulan and the legends about the civilization of the earth's core.

Henry guessed that the sudden disappearance of the civilization of Loulan might have something to do with the civilization of the earth's core.

The sky finally turned dark. Henry closed the webpage and sighed. "Sylvia, what happened to you?"

He stared at the night sky.

The next morning, Henry followed an adventure team into the desert.

People came to Xin Province to admire the endless desert every day. So it only took Henry some minor expense for him to enter the desert with the team.

"Buddy, is this your first time?" An explorer in full military gear asked Henry, who was wearing civilian clothes.

Henry shook his head with a smile.

"It's okay. You don't need to lie to me," the explorer laughed, "The desert will eat you alive. My suggestion to you, have some fun in the daylight and go back when it's dark, or get yourself some gears. To go to the desert wearing stuff like that, you are gambling with your own life."

"Thank you. I'm okay," Henry nodded.

Seeing that Henry wasn't up for conversation, the explorer didn't keep bothering him.

On the way, Henry made up an excuse and left the team. He walked into the desert by himself.

The Loulan Ruins were hidden in the middle of the desert. It was so hard to locate that most people would lose their ways, even for the experienced ones. With the experience of going to Loulan Ruins before, Henry used only a compass to guide his way.

He had heard many things about the ancestral land of Loulan from Ranjeet. But Henry was still unsure about where he was going for most of the time.

Half a day passed quickly in the desert.

Walking in the desert and facing sand storms from time to time, Henry's appearance was odd to most of the people. He was wearing street clothes and spotless, and not a little sand could be found on him.

Henry had been walking fast, and he had gone deep into the desert where there were rarely people around. He might even have passed the Loulan ruins.

At this point, anyone who appeared in front of Henry could be an enemy. No one would be around that area unless the person came here with the same agenda as Henry.

At this moment, Henry believed that he was standing on the ancestral land of Loulan that Ranjeet had told him.

According to Ranjeet, he was living in a fairtale-like place where there were mountains, streams, and forests. But all Henry could see were sands.

All of a sudden, someone passed Henry.

Henry's keen eyesight saw the person immediately, "Who's there?"

Just in a blink of an eye, the person had gone away. Henry could only see a tiny silhouette standing in the desert far away from him.

Henry looked down and found a business card by his feet. On the card, there were two words, Lins Group!

Under the words Lins Group, Henry saw the name, Sylvia Lin.

Without a second thought, Henry instantly chased after the person.

Henry needn't hide his power in the rural area of the desert. With his full power of Qi-controlling Realm, Henry was getting closer to the person. Just as Henry was about to catch up, the person stopped abruptly.

"Henry?" The person asked.

It was a woman's voice. Henry stopped three meters in front of her. Only then did he see the person clearly. She was in black and wore a bamboo hat. There was a sword hanging from her belt, and the handle of the sword was worn out, which meant that the sword was a real weapon but not just a decoration.

"You know me?" Henry looked at her up and down.

"I was waiting for you," The person answered. She flicked her fingers, and a ring flew out. It fell into Henry's hand.

Henry examed the ring and found the inscription on the inside of the ring.

With you forever.

Henry's body shook. It was Sylvia's wedding ring, and it was made of a very special kind of gold.

"Who are you? Where is Sylvia!" Henry stared at the women with anger in his eyes.

"I'm not your enemy. Ms. Lin asked me to give you the ring, " The person shook her head, "I know you will come, so I waited for you. Please keep the ring in a safe place."

Then the person disappeared in front of Henry's eyes.

"She asked you to give it to me..." Henry looked at the ring and murmured, "Sylvia, what on earth happened? Where the hell are you? I miss you..."

After putting away the ring, Henry suddenly felt that something was happening. Back him, sands formed into the shape of a spear, and the sand spear was flying toward Henry's heart.

Chapter 1334

The sand spear was a deadly weapon. It was the handiwork of Divine Realm masters.

Henry didn't turn his head, and the purple light appeared behind his back. The sand spear was shattered in an instant.

"Interesting," A deep laughter came from behind Henry.

Henry's face dropped when he heard the laughs. He turned around and saw two people appeared in the desert.

Henry was stunned by their faces. They were Hebor Merrick and Andrew Garfield, both of which Henry had believed to be dead.

Hebor's arms had been cut off. But the Hebor Henry was looking at had two muscular arms. The only thing that indicated that Hebor's arms had been cut off were the marks on his shoulders.

"Henry, it's been a long time since we last met," Andrew sneered, looking at Henry.

"Indeed," Henry said after he calmed himself down, "It seems that you've turned to Alvin League."

"Haha," Andrew kept his sneer, "Alvin League and Recluse Association used to belong to the same organization anyway. We have been waiting for you for a long time. Give us the thing you just received, and we can let you walk away alive."

"Henry, I still remember that you cut off my arms," Hebor said with a hoarse voice.

"Both of you have reached the Divine Realm. It seems that Alvin League's gene technology does have benefits," Henry glanced over Andrew and Hebor, "But do you really think you are powerful enough to kill me?"

"Henry, I admit that you are a very talented fighter," Andrew answered, "When I first met you, you were as weak as an insect, but look at you now. You are one of the top fighters. We thought that after entering the Divine Realm, Hebor and I could kill you. But after that encounter, we admit that it's still hard for us to kill you. But it doesn't mean that you can walk away alive."

A purple Qi sword was formed in Henry's hand. He asked, "Where do you find the confidence?"

"Simple," Andrew answered with a smile, "You can't control yourself whenever you are inside of an inheritance. Don't you find it interesting?"

"You..." Henry's face changed. Suddenly, he felt that the ground had disappeared underneath his feet. He looked down and saw a pit.

"Henry, go to hell!" A voice rang out above Henry's head. Then a light ball with a radius of ten meters was crushing down to Henry.

Henry looked tiny and powerless under the light ball. One thing was certain that Andrew and Hebor were not powerful enough to generate the light ball.

It didn't mean to kill Henry but to force him into the pit.

Facing the light ball, Henry had no choice but to jump in. Andrew and Hebor jumped in after Henry. Then the desert returned to normal.

"Many thanks for Lord Celestino's help," Alvin and Sloane knelt in the distant desert, watching the disappearance of the light ball.

Celestino, who was wearing a black robe, stood in front of Alvin and said, "Henry is in the pit, and that's as far as I can help you. You'll need to take care of the rest. Do finish the job nicely. You know how important it is to us."

"Lord Celestino, rest assured," Alvin said reverently, "I'll successfully finish the task."

"Very good," Lord Celestino nodded in satisfaction.

"By the way, Lord Celestino, I need to take Peze down with me," Alvin asked, "I know Henry well. His own life isn't going to be enough to threaten him, but with Peze, he will do as he's told."

The Celestino thought for a while and nodded, "Take him with you. I don't care about his life. The most important thing is the thing Henry is holding. He is the only one who matches the requirement of the lord's demands."

"Understood," Alvin kowtowed.

Celestino flung his arms and disappeared in front of Alvin.

A few minutes after Celestino left, Alvin stood up. He took out a satellite phone and dialed a number, "Bring the old guy here!"

Hanging up the phone, Alvin got into a jeep.

Meanwhile,

Henry jumped into the pit and realized that the bottom of the pit was the ruins of an ancient city.

At this moment, Henry was standing in front of the gate of the city, and the gate was closed.

"Henry, welcome to the Ancient City of Loulan."

Andrew said. He and Hebor stood on both sides of the gate.

Henry looked up and saw the inscription on the gate, and it was written in the Loulan language.

Andrew said, "The reason that all the inheritances were buried and didn't allow to be opened is that they were put there for suppressing the Evil Spirit. The name Evil Spirit is a misrepresentation given by human beings because of their powerlessness. They don't understand the real power, so they gave it a bad name. No matter how the world has changed, only power remains the same. Any power that causes awe among human beings is called god. So you can say that all the inheritances are. in fact, suppressing the god. The opening of one inheritance leads to the release of a god. Henry, you should feel lucky to be able to witness the god."

Andrew then turned around and pushed out the gate.

As the gate was opening slowly, Henry started to feel agitated.

Henry saw towers stood inside of the gate. They looked exactly like the ones in Emperor's Mausoleum of Western Xia. The tops of the towers were connected by chains. The towers here preserved better than which in Emperor's Mausoleum.

As soon as Henry saw the towers, he had an impulse to cut off all the chains. What Henry saw woke something very violent inside of him.

"Henry, do you feel upset? Do you want to destroy this place?" Andrew laughed, "No one will stop you this time. You can do whatever you want! Haha!"

Henry took a deep breath to restrain the impulse.

"What? You can hold it back? Let us help you then." Andrew and Hebor gave each other a look. They suddenly rushed to Henry to attack him.

Feeling their power, Henry formed the purple Qi sword in his hand. He slashed the sword and yelled, "Get away from me!" ¹³
