

Chapter 1337

At the same time, Hebor and Andrew also knelt on the ground. They looked like fanatic followers of a cult. The only thing in their eyes was devoted passion.

"Henry, give us the thing Sylvia gave you," Sloane demanded again, "Hand it over. Quickly!"

Sloane stood up and laid the Qi blade against Peze's neck again.

Peze was in a bad shape after the torture. He couldn't say a word. Peze looked down. He looked as if he would die in any second.

Henry took out the ring, gritting his teeth. The moment the ring was out of his pocket, a red Qi coming from the stone tray stretched over to the ring.

The floating body started to move. Its hand stretched toward Henry as if asking him for the ring.

"Now!" Alvin suddenly yelled.

Alvin suddenly took out a knife. Under Sloane's expression of unbelieving, Alvin stuck the knife into Sloane's chest. He then kicked Sloane away and pulled Peze over to himself.

At the same time, the purple Qi started to grow around Henry's body. A purple Qi hand slapped Sloane away.

The red Qi completely disappeared from Henry's body. At this moment, Henry smiled confidently. He looked at the surprised faces of Sloane, Andrew, and Hebor.

"Alvin, you!" Sloane looked at Alvin in disbelief.

"My loyalty to Mr. Zhang has never changed," Alvin shook his head and looked at Sloane coldly, "I told you this before. I'll never betray Mr. Zhang. I wouldn't be who I am without him."

"You take Peze away," Henry said.

"Yes," Alvin nodded. He walked toward the gate with Peze in his arms.

"Don't even think about it!" Sloane shouted. She was hysterical. Sloane believed that she had turned Alvin a long time ago. She never doubted Alvin's loyalty to Alvin League. But that day, she realized that she had made a huge mistake.

Sloane wanted to stop Alvin, but there was purple Qi stood in front of her.

"Henry Zhang, so you have been acting the whole time?" Andrew said with his teeth gritted while staring at Henry.

"I'm not a fool," Henry shook his head, "I know there is something wrong with my body a long time ago. When you all picked on Radiant Island, I guessed that it probably had something to do with the Fire Crystal. I asked Alvin to fake his loyalty to you to find out what you were up to. And now I've known what's going on with my body. I think this thing which I haven't fully understand has something to do with the energy I absorbed from the Fire Crystal."

"Well done," Sloane clenched her teeth, "Abandoning Radiant Island is part of your plan?"

Henry shrugged, "The world is undergoing changes. It's risky to let Radiant Island be under the focus. Thanks to you, Radiant Island could disappear from the public's eyes. It was only a name and nothing more. Okay then, let's find out what this thing is inside of me!"

Henry looked at the body floating in the air. He waved his hand, and the ring fell back into his hand.

"Henry, you are very confident," Andrew stood up and said, "But I don't understand where your confidence comes from. Do you know what Heretic God represents? He is the only god in the world! Now that Heretic God has woken up, it doesn't matter whether you can figure it out or not."

While Andrew spoke, the transfer of the red Qi from the stone tray to the body had completed.

The red Qi formed a layer of covering on the body.

A Qi storm spread across the entire ancient city. All of the towers were destroyed!

The three-meter tall body let out a long howl to the sky.

In Mount Kunlun, Yan Xia.

Dougal and Gervais' faces turned gloomier.

But the creature's smile was getting brighter. The smile looked creepy.

"A powerful spirit is waking up, and the civilization of the earth's core will collide with which of the earth's crust. It is unavoidable. Do you still want to kill me? I think you should take a look at another spirit. Haha."

The creature laughed loudly. It then turned into a bolt of lightning, rushing into Mount Kunlun.

"Getting away?" Gervais shouted. He ran after the creature immediately.

Dougal was about to follow them.

"Stop chasing," Silas shook his head, "Something is not right."

Then Silas' sword floated in the air, it turned into hundreds of smaller swords. The smaller swords formed a formation.

Dougal stopped chasing. He also realized that something was wrong.

"Silas, you really live up to your name," An icy blue Qi appeared in the sky. It was Ranulfo Lan.

"Ranulfo, what the hell are you playing!" Gervais shouted to the sky. He also sensed the abnormality and stopped chasing.

"Sorry, president," Ranulfo shook his head, "I'm afraid that our cooperation has to end. At this stage of our experiment, the microworlds of Recluse Association are no longer able to provide valuable data. We will change to another location. Dougal, you have been looking for the civilization of the earth's core. I will do you a favor and send you to the world of the earth's core. How do you say?"

Just as Ranulfo finished his words, a rumbling sound was heard, and the ground started to shake. Countless creatures appeared from everywhere. There were twenty zhang long Bashe, creatures with horns on the heads, and all the other creatures with strange shapes. All of them were gigantic.

Recluse Association was cooperating with Alvin League secretly. It used the experiment creatures of Alvin League as target practice, and every lab of Alvin League would be built at a location close to one of Recluse Association's microworlds. Gervais was stunned. He didn't know when Alvin League had built the lab in Mount Kunlun and how many experiment creatures they had created.

"Ranulfo, you are really a good partner," The tiger-head creature said, floating in the sky next to Ranulfo, "The physical body isn't strong enough, but it still a good body for it can hold my spirit."

"Haha," Ranulfo laughed, "I've fulfilled my promise. Now, it's your turn. Open the door to the earth's core. As for my knowledge, there was one of the doors in the forbidden area of life.

Chapter 1338

Mount Kunlun was always covered in mysteries. There were many legends about the area deep into the mountain.

But no one knew what it really looked like there.

"Alright, Ranulfo, I'll keep my promise. I am also wondering if those so-called saviors can still hold their positions after the civilization of the earth's core knows the existence of the civilization of the earth's crust. Haha," the tiger-headed creature laughed loudly. It then let out a long howl toward the skies.

The entire Mount Kunlun shook.

"Ranulfo, you're crazy!" Dougal roared, "We all know the existence of the civilization of the earth's core and what will happen when the two civilizations collide. Do you want to destroy the whole world?"

"No," Ranulfo shook his head, "I just want to make the world stronger. How many great people have emerged throughout history? But with the development of modern technology, people have forgotten about the improvement of their own abilities. They have put all their focus on the outer source. A species that neglect their own power will be eliminated eventually. In legends, capable people in ancient times could chase the sun. I want the world to restore its past glory!"

"That's only a legend!" Dougal shouted.

"Haha," Ranulfo chuckled, "How can you know its authenticity before even test it?"

"Ranulfo," Gervais frowned, "Are you naive enough to believe that you can stay alive after the collision of the two civilizations? So you think a deal with an evil spirit can save your life? Spirits from the civilization of the earth's core have been suppressed for so long. You of all people should know how powerful they are."

Ranulfo shook his head, "The Lord has woken up. Before the civilization of the earth's core emerges, I will change this world."

Ranulfo looked toward the direction of Xin Province. At this moment, a beam of red light shot up into the sky and disappeared.

Seeing it, Gervais was stunned. He said, "Ranulfo, did you wake it?"

"Yes," Ranulfo nodded, "Everyone, I hope that you can survive after the civilization of the earth's core takes over this world. When the time comes, I'll give you chances to serve me. Haha!"

Within his laughters, Ranulfo flew into the sky.

At the same time, the huge experiment monsters rushed toward Silas and the others.

The ground was shaking more and more violently.

The mountain was collapsing, and a square of white light appeared in the sky. It was hundreds of meters on all sides. The square was coming down to the ground.

The tiger-headed creature screamed in excitement and jumped into the light square.

A few seconds later, Mount Kunlun went quiet. In the ruins of the mountain, there were many remains of the experiment monsters. Their bodies were cut up when the light square closed during their entrance into it.

Silas and the others were nowhere to be seen.

In Xi Province's desert.

In the ancient city of Loulan.

The three-meter tall body had come alive. Its eyes emitted bloody red light. It scanned the surroundings and said in a low voice, "I am Heretic God, the only god in the world!"

Someone had said the same thing in the land of the Zhao Clan.

"God?" Henry looked at the physical body of Heretic God coldly. A purple Qi sword formed in Henry's hand, and he slashed the sword toward the body.

"How dare you?" Heretic God roared.

Sloane, Andrew, and Hebor sneered. They thought Henry was overconfident to fight Heretic God. It was the only god that existed in the world. Although it was just woken, Heretic God was still way too powerful for Henry.

Henry hacked into the physical body of Heretic God, and the three people from Alvin League sneered.

But Henry cut the physical body in half from its waist.

This body that Sloane claimed to have the perfect genes was cut in half by Henry.

"How is this possible!" Sloane screamed.

"How... how could this happen? My power..." Heretic God's deep voice was also filled with disbelief.

"Sloane just said something very interesting," Henry said with a smile on his face, "She said that all the Devil's fragments had mixed together and you were capable of fully controlling your physical body. I know for a fact that Alvin League has been searching for the Fire Crystals, and they won't leave out a single piece. They are also trying to open every single inheritance. I believe that to give you the power to fully control this physical body, Alvin League has to collect all the Fire Crystals and open all the inheritance. Well, you guys have forgotten about one piece of the Fire Crystal."

"Impossible!" Sloane shouted, "We have checked all the materials about Radiant Island, and the number of the Fire Crystals we were missing matched with the number Radiant Island had. If you didn't explode one of the Fire Crystals in our abandoned lab, Heretic God would be awakened much earlier. It is impossible that we missed any piece of the Fire Crystals!"

"The real story is quite interesting." Henry dissipated the purple Qi sword in his hand. He walked forward and lifted the top half of Heretic God's physical body by the head. He said, "The Sharp Knife of Section Nine has taken one piece of the Fire Crystal from Radiant Island. The Fire Crystal is your Devil's fragment. When the crystal got back into my hand, I didn't give it back to Radiant Island. So although the number of the Fire Crystals on Radiant Island's inventory matched with your number, the real number wasn't aligned with the number in the inventory. So ironic, isn't it? One tiny piece of the Fire Crystal turned your Heretic God into a piece of garbage."

Sloane's face dropped after hearing Henry's words. She had been checking Radiant Island's inventory of the Fire Crystals even since Alvin took over, but she never caught the error.

"Heretic God? What a joke!" Henry spat out, "Begone!"

The moment Henry finished his words, the top half of Heretic God's physical body turned into ashes, and only its head was still intact. At this moment, Henry could do whatever he wanted to that head.

Henry stared at the head of Heretic God and said with great interest, "Judging by the way they talked to you, you are more respected than the boss of Alvin League. I was wondering if I kill you, are they going to go mad?"

"Ignorant," The head of Heretic God said disdainfully, "I am the spirit, and I'll never die."

"Oh? Then I'll give it a try," Henry formed a Qi awl in his hand.

He pushed the awl slowly into Heretic God's severed head, "Although you don't die, you should be able to feel the pain, right?"

The moment the tip of the awl stuck into the head, Heretic God started to scream. The sound of the scream was ear-piercing.

Chapter 1339

No one expected that Heretic God would react so dramatically to the stabbing of Henry's Qi awl.

"That's it. Stop acting," Henry said as he suddenly dissipated the Qi awl in his hand, "It appears that you can't feel pain. How about another way? If the stone tray can transfer the Qi into you, does it mean..."

Heretic God's face suddenly changed upon hearing this.

Henry grabbed the stone tray, which was floating in the air. He examined the inscription on it. There were many strange symbols on it.

"I think this is the stuff that can cause you pain," Henry said with a smile. The moment Henry put the stone tray closer to the head of Heretic God, a faint red light connected between the head and the stone tray. If the stone tray could transfer the red Qi to the physical body, it was sucking the Qi back at the moment.

"No! Don't! Take it away from me!"

This time, Heretic God's scream was full of panic. The expression on its face was very different from before. It was obvious that Heretic God was in real horror this time.

"Interesting," Henry did not take the stone tray away from the head of Heretic God. He asked while watching the head of Heretic God suffering, "What is this?"

Henry was asking Heretic God what its weakness was and why the stone tray was able to kill it.

However, Heretic God didn't have a choice. It answered, "It's the Medium. It can transfer spirits. Please...please take it away from me!"

"Transferring spirits? In other words, it can kill stuff like you?" Henry looked curious. He had a lot of questions about the Medium. Since Heretic God knew a lot about the Medium, Henry couldn't lose such a great opportunity to learn.

"No... no," Heretic God was in real horror. He dared neither play tricks with Henry nor delay his answer, "Under the location of Loulan, one piece of me is locked there. So the stone tray, which is the Medium of Loulan inheritance, only affects me!"

"How?" Henry continued, "Is it because of the material or the symbols?"

"The symbols! Please, I'm begging you. Take it away from me. It's about to suck all my spirit away!" Heretic God's cry was full of fear.

If Gardiner was here, he would definitely say something very humiliating to Heretic God. How could the only God in the world end up being such a coward?

"I'm having fun," Henry suddenly had an idea. He pulled the stone tray a little away from the head of Heretic God until the faint red light just disappeared. Henry used one hand holding the severed head of Heretic God and lifted the stone tray by Qi. He said to Heretic God, "Ask them to get me out of here."

With the stone tray in Henry's control, Heretic God has no choice but to meet every one of Henry's demands.

Sloane, Andrew, and Hebor didn't dare to obey Heretic God's command. So they had to do what Henry asked.

Henry finally realized that Alvin League had opened the inheritance of Loulan a long while ago. They set up the trap just for Henry.

However, Henry didn't come here unprepared. He decided to come to Loulan after receiving the message from Alvin. So he wasn't totally caught off guard.

The entrance of the Loulan inheritance was opened, and Henry came back to the desert.

The moment they returned to the desert, a purple light flashed, and Andrew's head rolled off his shoulders. The eyes of Andrew stayed open in shock in his severed head.

Seeing what happened to Andrew, Hebor was about to flee. But where could he go in the desert? If Henry wanted to kill him, Hebor didn't have a chance to escape.

Countless purple Qi swords blocked Hebor's way of escape. Then the swords pierced through Hebor. Hebor had hoped that he could get his revenge on Henry, but he eventually lost his life.

After the killing of Andrew of Hebor, Henry looked at Sloane.

Sloane's face was pale. She knew that she wouldn't be able to survive.

"I'm not gonna kill you," Henry shook his head, "I can tell that Alvin has feelings for you, but you will always be a threat. I'm going to disable your ability to use Qi and keep you in someplace secret for three years. After three years, if Alvin still has feelings for you, I'll tell him where to look for you. You will have three years to work on your redemption."

After Henry finishing his words, purple Qi wrapped Sloane. Henry, holding the head of Heretic God in one hand and lifting the stone tray by Qi, waited.

Half an hour later, a helicopter landed.

Henry took a look at Sloane, and Sloane got onto the helicopter obediently. Henry traveled by Qi, carrying the head of Heretic God and the stone tray.

At this moment, the night had fallen. Because there was no one in the desert, Henry used his full power to travel. In two hours, he had exited the desert and arrived at a small county. Henry checked in a normal hotel.

"Okay, now tell me about the symbols."

Henry tossed the head of Heretic God on the table.

Heretic God knew Henry was going to use the symbols on itself. But it had no choice but to answer Henry's questions.

With the help of Heretic God, Henry recreated the symbols on the stone tray. According to Heretic God, the symbols had a restraining effect on the spirits. It would work even if drawn by normal people.

After Henry drew the symbol on a piece of paper, Henry found out that the paper could also form a faint red light with the head of Heretic God when placed close to it. But since the paper wasn't a spiritual container, it couldn't affect too much on Heretic God.

Henry made a plan during the night. He went out and bought a piece of jade the next morning.

Xin Province was famous for its jade. Although most of the jade sold in the market was fake, Henry was knowledgeable enough to pick the authentic jade from all of the fake ones.

He took the jade back to his hotel room. Henry carved the symbols onto the piece of jade accurately. He then placed the jade next to the head of Heretic God, and the red Qi was sucked into the piece of jade. When the red Qi all went to the piece of jade, Heretic God's voice was heard from the jade.

Heretic God didn't resist the transfer. Because when carving the jade, Henry left out one symbol. According to Heretic God, this one symbol carved onto the stone tray could efface the spirits. As long as the symbol was left out, it could exist in the piece of jade.

Alvin League could never believe that the God which their God

Creation project had wakened was turned into a jade pendant by Henry.

Chapter 1340

Henry wore the jade pendant. He walked into a restaurant and ordered a bowl of mutton soup.

The mutton soup of Xin Province was delicious. Although it's still not as good as what Verrall cooked, the soup lived up to its reputation.

While enjoying the soup, Henry chatted with Heretic God, who was locked in Henry's pendant. Henry looked like a madman talking to himself.

Heretic God was quite talkative. It could be that it scared that Henry could curse the symbol he left out, or it just spent too long of a time by itself.

"What on earth is the spirits?" Henry asked.

"Thou... "

Henry interrupted Heretic God immediately,

"Speak normally."

Heretic God paused for a moment and continued, "The reason that many legends were kept till this day is that they represent some degree of truth. Otherwise, the wise men would stop the legends from spreading. According to the legends, human beings have three souls and seven spirits. If someone was sick, amnesic, mad, hysterical, or myasthenic, the person was diagnosed as losing souls or spirits. For normal people, the lost soul and spirit were very hard to find because they couldn't perceive them. But powerful people could cultivate souls and spirits. Just as now, you locked my spirit in the jade pendant. But people below Divine Realm can't hear my voice. When a person reached Divine Realm, the divine will is not given only to the person's Qi but also to him or herself. When you have reached the Divine Realm, you are also given the basic ability to control the spirits. When you reach the Spirit-controlling Realm, you can control spirits fully. That is also the reason that people who have reached the Spirit-controlling Realm can live much longer. It is because the spirits don't age."

Henry kept silent.

"Do you find it hard to understand?" Heretic God asked.

"It has happened in front of my eyes. I'll have to understand it no matter what," Henry smiled.

"It is not hard, but only no one is willing to believe it. For example, do you think your mind is in control of your body or your body is in control of your mind?" Heretic God asked.

Henry replied, "Mind is in control of the body."

"That's it," Heretic God said, "If the mind is in control of the body, then mind and body are two separate entities with some degree of connection. Say you have a remote-controlled robot. When the robot is broken and not responsive to the controller, does it mean you, the person who uses the controller, no longer exist? So when you are injured and crippled, although the connection between your body and mind is cut off, it doesn't mean your mind doesn't exist anymore. You only lose the physical manifestation of your mind. In Yan Xia tradition, people would guard the spirit of their dead family member for seven days. In fact, a dead person's spirit does exist. For people who didn't reach Spirit-controlling Realm, their spirits will dissipate seven days after their death. But for people who reached Spirit-controlling Realm, their spirits live forever. Through certain methods, they can be reborn."

"I'm really sorry," Henry smacked his mouth, "I think I just ruined your chance."

"It doesn't matter," Heretic God replied, "My spirit has come together. As long as there is a right body, I can still be reborn."

Henry raised his eyebrows, "Why are you so confident that you will be reborn? Don't you think I will kill you once for all?"

Heretic God paused for a second and continued, "I've told you all I know. Why do you still want to kill me?"

"Ha," Henry laughed, "Don't worry. I won't kill you for the time being. I have some questions still. How much do you know about the civilization of the earth's core?"

"What do you want to know?"

Henry took a sip of the mutton soup and said, "All of it."

"That's a lot," Heretic God said, "Your so-called civilization of Maya and civilization of Atlantis are both connected to the civilization of the earth's core. You people believe that you have known so much about the planet earth, but in fact, your knowledge merely scratches the surface. The earth exists for too long, but how about the history of the human race? Thousands of years? Even tens of thousands of years is a relatively short time for the earth. There were so many scary entities that existed on the earth, and most of them were far beyond the imagination of human beings. Legends recorded some of them. The only thing that I can tell you is that the civilization of the earth's core is far more advanced than the civilization here."

Heretic God paused for a moment and continued, "Let me give you a simple example. In the earth's core, there is no sun, no moon, nor natural rain. But there is still day and night. Things living there can have whatever they desire. That is their situation nearly two thousand years ago. Think about what your history looked like two thousand years ago. You have developed into such a modern place. How do you think what the civilization of the earth's core would develop into? Human beings are lucky for the beings living in the civilization of the earth's core don't know the existence of human beings. Every civilization has its own knowledge limitation. They don't know there are living beings on the surface of the earth, which is similar to human beings don't know if there are living beings on the other planets."

Henry felt the weight of Heretic God's words. Were there more advanced living beings staying inside Earth? Judging from the tone of Heretic God, those beings were more like the indigenous species on Earth. If that was the case, once the two civilizations collided, human beings might have to fight .

Henry shook his head, trying to shake off all the concerns. It wasn't something Henry could handle at the moment. Before being powerful enough, he didn't want to think too much on the matter.

Henry asked the key question, "How do the spirits exist, and how to control them?"

"There is a spirit in every inheritance," Heretic God answered with disdain, "Why do you think just a bunch of inheritances could suppress me? The spirits inside of the inheritances were fighting me the whole time, but it means nothing. No matter how powerful those spirits are, each one of them can only fight against one piece of me. Once all the pieces of me join together, all the spirits would be as weak as insects, and I can destroy them by one wave of my hand."

Chapter 1341

A sense of pride was present within the tone of the Heretic God.

Henry was very curious. "Does such a system of discrimination exist in your world of spirits?"

"That exists wherever the strong and weak exist."

The Heretic God said very naturally, "After reaching the Spirit-controlling Realm, a spirit body can exist for a long time, but its existence is still limited. Some spirit bodies can survive through their own means, while some will lose their dignity and can only rely on others to survive. On the day you enter the Spirit-controlling Realm, you will understand the differences between spirit bodies."

"I still have one more question."

Henry was curious. "Who the hell made you like this? Who divided your body into several pieces and had them sealed in different places? There are talismans that can easily destroy you, yet they chose to keep you alive?"

Just as Henry asked, the Heretic God hesitated for a long time before he said, "I know what he's thinking. He keeps me alive instead of killing me, just so he could use me as a lead to help him find his way home. Of course, this doesn't mean that whomever did this to me is stronger than I am. There are many reasons to how I ended up suppressed by him."

"Heh, yeah right."

Disdain was written all over Henry's face. "I have no idea what happened anyway, you can say whatever you want."

"There's no need for you to pretend before me. There are some things that you won't be able to understand even if I told you about it. Given your current situation, I'd advise you to best find a spirit body and enter the spirit-controlling stage first. If you don't, you'll never be able to reach the higher levels of your life."

"That's easier said than done."

Henry curled his lips and said, "Is it really that easy to enter the stage of Spirit control?"

"Ha ha."

The Heretic God chuckled. "Now that the world has undergone immense changes, the spirit energy is now less than one-tenth of what it used to be in the past. It's no exaggeration to say that anyone who could enter the Divine Realm today would have the ability of spirit control if it were back in the day. The same goes for you. The only thing you lack in order to enter the stage of Spirit Control is a heroic spirit. As long as you find it, you'll be able to reach Spirit Control. Go to the earth's core, you'll be able to attain a higher level of power there."

The words of the Heretic God were filled with strong temptations. Although it sounded plain and simple, for Qi Practitioners, to reach the stage of Spirit Control was their ultimate dream.

Henry ignored the heretic god, he picked up the bowl of mutton soup before him, downed it all in one gulp, then wandered back to his residence.

After Henry had returned to his residence, he stayed there for two days, not going anywhere. Although he did not step out of his residence, Alvin would report to him about everything that happened in the world outside. At present, Alvin was still in charge in matters of the Alvin League.

Within those two days, Gardiner had tried contacting Henry at least 20 times, but not once did Henry answer his calls. According to the reports by Alvin, Gardiner had also arrived at the new province with several experts of Section Nine.

As for the small county where Henry lived, many people also made their way there within those two days. They belonged to Qi experts of the underground, the heritage of Loulan, had caused those who hid within the dark to gradually appear.

On the third day of Henry's stay in the county, just as he was about to go out for lunch at noon, he saw a few locals running around excitedly and shouting something in their unique accents of the province.

"A city has surfaced in the desert!"

"Ah, enough with your poppycock. There's only sand in the desert. How would there be a city?"

"Are you an idiot?"

"They have taken photos of it, check them out for yourself if you don't believe me. A massive oasis has just appeared in the desert."

Many locals had driven into the desert, and those outsiders who had suddenly appeared in the county in the past two days chose to enter the desert on that day.

As for Henry, he remained in the county, still not going anywhere.

In the evening, those locals who had driven into the desert at noon returned. When asked if there really was an oasis in the desert, they all denied it, saying that it was all false.

However, Henry was very certain that it was absolutely impossible for it to be false. However, these ordinary men could not possibly get in contact with such a place like the Loulan Ancestral Grounds. On the other hand, those outsiders who had headed out there at noon and still have not returned might have already found their destination.

On that night, Alvin reported that the seal of the Loulan ancestral grounds had been lifted! The entire clan had appeared in the desert. When the vast expanse of yellow sand disappeared, the green hills and clear rivers were revealed. The appearance of the Loulan ancestral grounds was extremely mythical.

Henry was not surprised by the scene described by Alvin. After all, he had already even met with a spirit. If there were anything that had never been heard of, or could not understand, it could only be because that he was still too ignorant.

Alvin also told Henry that after the appearance of the ancestral grounds of Loulan, various forces rushed towards it, which included some inheritors. Among them, were people like Joselito, the inheritor of Western Xia, and some inheritors from other countries. It was said that the Section Nine also brought one inheritor. With the help of the Alvin league, some small heritages have already been unsealed. Now, loads of inheritors have emerged. They had inherited the will of their ancestors, and now possessed various unexpectedly tremendous powers. Due to the special characteristics of the heritages, the newly discovered heritage of Loulan was eyed by many like a huge piece of meat, everyone wished to take a bite out of it.

Henry listened to the reports quietly, as if nothing had happened.

The Heretic God who had not spoken to Henry for several days, finally could not help but say, "The ancestral grounds of Loulan have finally opened, aren't you going to check it out?"

The Heroic Spirit of Loulan is there. If you can subdue it, you could enter the stage of Spirit Control the spirit."

"Nope, not interested."

Henry lay on the bed and covered himself with a blanket, then closed his eyes, as if he was preparing himself to fall into a deep sleep. "That's the spirit of Loulan's, why should I subdue it? Besides, the spirit you subdue won't just accept you as its master, will it?"

"So, you're not going to get your revenge?"

The voice of the Heretic God lingered in Henry's ears, "I still remember that Joselito once disrespected your lover. He was even close to killing you. Your resentment for him in the Imperial Mausoleum of the heritage of Western Xia was immense, so immense that I could feel the murderous intent in your heart."

"What a surprise, turns out you could still monitor my life when you're within my body."

Henry smiled.

"No, I can only feel the changes in your emotions. After all, back then, we were one, weren't we?"

The Heretic God continued to tempt Henry. "Let's go to the Loulan ancestral grounds and find Joselito. I'll help you, then we shall kill him together."

"Shut up."

Henry took out a piece of paper the size of a little finger from his pocket and stuck it on the jade pendant. The moment that piece of paper came in contact with the jade pendant, the Heretic God began screaming in agony. This piece of paper was a written talisman with symbols of sorts that could destroy the Heretic God.

A full ten seconds went by. Only then did Henry peel the paper off. Sure enough, the Heretic God had shut its mouth obediently.

Chapter 1342

Deep within the desert of Loulan, where even a satellite could only capture as a black patch, an oasis appeared in the middle of it.

Numerous explorers had tried to conquer this desert, but none of them succeeded.

Who would have thought that under all that golden sand, such a place existed? The lands of the Loulan ancestral grounds that was filled with green hills and beautiful rivers seemed like a gift from nature to this desert.

"Now that the seal has completely been broken, it's time for us to make preparations and head to our next destination."

More than ten men in black robes stood in a strange formation in the desert.

"The ancestral land of Loulan had sealed itself, but that ended up giving us more opportunities. The unearthing of the inheritance of Loulan this time would definitely cause quite a commotion. Some have their eyes set on the Heroic Spirits of Loulan."

"Ha ha, the inheritances have been activated one after another. Heroic spirits have appeared, and entire world has undergone great changes. Other civilisations will be able to sense the presence of this place, everything shall go according to plan."

"The leader of the alliance has reported that he has already arranged for men to remain hidden in the surroundings, he has already handled the rest of the matters. The inheritance of Loulan will bring about a large number of forces. This is a very good opportunity for us. The Alvin League shall become the greatest power on this very day."

The goal of the Alvin League had always been massive.

Within the greenery and clear waters of the desert, the Jin Clan was present. One of the elders of the clan was an old man with a head of silver hair.

At that moment, the entire Jin Clan was seated in the ancestral temple of the clan.

The silver-haired elder held a peach wood cane in his hand. His posture was hunched.

"The seal has been broken and many inheritances have been activated. The Jin Group is now standing at the very front of the storm as various forces have come forward one after another. We mustn't allow anything to go wrong with the heritages. Has Ranjeet returned?"

"Sir, I haven't received any news from Ranjeet yet," a middle-aged man replied respectfully.

The Clan Elder nodded and said, "Ranjeet is the chosen one for the inheritance. He would definitely return before the heritage is fully opened. Although our clan can't guarantee the sealing of it, we have to do it. We must not allow the heritage of the ancestor's to fall into the hands of others. Listen to my command, from now on, our clan shall step out of the ancestral grounds!"

With these words, the clan elder pounded his cane forcefully against the ground.

Bang!

The oasis was instantly shrouded in clouds of mist.

The oasis was massive. According to Ranjeet's words, there were mountains and rivers in it. At that moment, as thick clouds of mist fogged up the air again, many people who had already entered the oasis were instantly lost in the fog.

The unearthing of the inheritance of Loulan had lifted the Jin Group to the crest of the storm instantly.

There was not just one entrance to the oasis. Gardiner entered from the east with his men and then disappeared in the thick fog.

Cleve led the Recluse Association, with a team of seven to eight experts as company. They entered from the direction of southwest.

Some inheritors, who had different facial features compared to the people of Yan Xia, also entered one after another.

"Amitabha, look at the sky, the scent of bloodshed rolls thick in the air. A terrible disaster shall befall mankind again." A group of bald monks walked into the Loulan ancestral grounds.

Two figures also walked in. One old, and one young. The young man had a long sword hanging at his waist, and carried an air of arrogance. The old one followed behind the young man. He had a wooden sword hidden in his sleeve, and there was no sign of Qi emanating from his body, he looked like an ordinary person. However, he possessed a sword that could reach the Paramount Realm. The instant he struck out at the level of the Paramount Realm, only beings who have reached the stage of Spirit could deflect it in this world.

The inheritance was so powerful that it could make the inheritor extremely powerful within a short period of time. However, the drawbacks to it were also very obvious. The different power levels of inheritances determined the limits of the inheritor within his or her lifetime. If the inheritor wanted to break through this limitation, he or she would have to consume the rest of the inheritances.

On that day, more than a thousand men poured into the ancestral grounds of the Jin Group. Everyone had a different goal in mind.

Henry lay on the bed of the small town hotel. His mobile phone lit up just as he received a message from Alvin.

"Celestino and Ranulfo have already appeared in this desert. They intend to sacrifice all of the inheritors who showed up this time to the Heretic God, including the entire heritage of Loulan."

When Henry saw this message, he smiled and replied a message, "Your mission is over. You may leave now. I will get someone to send you over to where Sloane is. Whether or not you want to see her for the time being, that's up to you."

After sending this message, Henry got up and walked out of the county, then set off for the desert again.

The appearance of the ancestral grounds of Loulan this time, still had the involvement of Section Nine. In order to prevent any trouble from happening to the heritages, the entire Loulan scenic area was closed to the public, and all the ordinary people were ordered out of it. Then, a large area of the desert was blocked by the Section Nine.

Henry easily went through the blockade and headed for the ancestral grounds of Loulan.

Henry walked on the path to the grounds as he shook the jade pendant on his neck. "Let me ask you, will devouring the inheritances restore your strength?"

"Of course." the Heretic God's voice sounded. "To be precise, it's not actually devouring the inheritances, it's the remnants of the spiritual bodies left within in the inheritances that we devour. When an inheritance is revealed, its spirit will be attached to the inheritor. Some of the spiritual bodies are too weak, so weak that even if the inheritor is able to get hold of it, the power of spirit control won't be able to be unleashed. Therefore, a the spiritual body also needs to be powerful."

Henry smiled and said, "If I let you devour some spirit bodies, would you have enough strength to resist me?"

"No." The Heretic God replied honestly. "First of all, you have to understand that my current situation has nothing to do with the strength of a Spirit Body. If we were to look at the strength of a Spirit Body alone, even a complete Spiritual Body of an inheritance would not be as powerful as I am. I've told you before about souls and spirits. The current me feels as if my soul has been lost and cannot be found. No matter how abundant my spirit energy is, it's of no use. What I lack right now is its core, and not energy."

Henry frowned and said, "You sound like you are lecturing me."

Henry said as he took out a piece of paper from his pocket and started making a talisman out of it.

"I'm sorry." The Heretic God's voice rang again, surrendering to him on the spot.

Hearing that, Henry put away the paper with a satisfied expression and continued, "I have one more question. Does the God Creation Plan of the Alvin League have anything to do with you?"

"Frankly, not really," the Heretic God answered honestly. "They want to reconstruct a body for me, but ordinary bodies can't host my spirit body, so they need to extract the most powerful genes. However, the existence of the civilisation on the surface has been way too short, and the powerful genes have long disappeared in the long stream of history, so they can only carry out countless experiments."

"That body of yours isn't that strong too." Henry pursed his lips.

"It's normal." The Heretic God's tone was calm. "The importance of a spirit body is far greater than that of a physical body, unless it is a practitioner from ancient times, who has trained his physical body to a certain level to be able to injure a spirit body. A body like that can only be described as tremendously powerful."
