

Chapter 1348

After running for quite a while, Henry and Ranjeet finally found somewhere safe.

The old lady and the girl followed behind them, not losing their way in the fog.

"Phew, this should do. It should be safe here. That old fella won't be able to catch up with us for now." Ranjeet let out a sigh of relief, then greeted the girl. "Amitabha, I can see that your blood is rushing vigorously, you've possibly suffered some internal injuries. Please sit cross-legged and remove your clothes. I shall heal your wounds."

"Thank you, eminent monk, but that won't be necessary. We're just a little tired," the old lady replied on behalf of the girl.

Anyone could tell from the perverted look on Ranjeet's face that he was not a decent monk. However, seeing that he had helped them earlier, the old lady said no more.

Ranjeet ogled at the girl like the pervert he was, nearly drooling as he stared.

Henry was not interested in the cute girl before him. He asked bluntly, "Why did Joselito attack you? Are you also an inheritor?"

The moment the old lady heard Henry mention the word "Inheritor", her gaze turned much cautious instantly.

This time, it was the girl who took the initiative to nod and answer, "Yes."

The old lady tried to stop her, but it was too late. She moved closer to the girl, readying herself for the unexpected.

"No wonder." Henry narrowed his eyes. "You just yelled out Joselito's name. Have the both of you known each other for a long time?"

The girl nodded, then quickly shook her head. "I don't know him personally, it's just that the name Joselito has been widely spread among the inheritors. Every inheritor has their own uniqueness, but among inheritors, we all still get along with each other, until Joselito appeared. He plans to devour the inheritances of others. Within the last few months, two inheritors have already died in his hands. He searched for information about the other inheritors and hunted them like they were his food. Now there is no inheritor that doesn't know who Joselito is, he has destroyed the peace among the inheritors.

There isn't a single person who doesn't want him dead, however his protector is too powerful."

Henry snorted coldly. "Someday, I'll slaughter him!"

The girl tilted her head a little and looked at Henry curiously. "You want to kill Joselito? Are you also an inheritor? I've never heard of you."

Henry shook his head and slowly took off his shirt.

"Hey, bro! You can't do that! I fancied this female benefactor first. You can't just do something like that. You don't even know her name yet. Put your clothes back on now!" Ranjeet rushed at Henry aggressively, trying to make Henry put his shirt back on.

Henry's muscular torso appeared before the girl's eyes.

Her pretty face flushed red instantly.

Henry pointed at the wound on his abdomen and said, "You inheritors should be able to feel it. This wound of mine has something to do with the sword that Joselito wields."

Upon hearing Henry's words, Ranjeet breathed a sigh of relief. "Bro, you could have just told me if you're just trying to show the wound. I nearly thought that you were going to transform."

The old lady fixed her eyes on Henry's abdomen and nodded. "Yes, this wound is caused by a fierce Qi from a sword, which is similar to sword technique of the Western Xia."

Henry put on his clothes. He had no intention of proving anything, he just felt the hostility of the old lady. That act of his was just to allow her to calm down. Regarding the matters of the inheritors, Henry still did not know much about it. He too, had just got to know that the inheritors had formed a community from the girl, and this group wished to get rid of Joselito as quickly as possible.

The enemy of his enemy was his friend. Henry knew very clearly how powerful Verrall was. He also knew that with his current strength, it would be very difficult for him to kill Joselito under Verrall's watch. These successors would provide good assistance someday.

Sure enough, the old lady calmed down and let her guard down after Henry's actions.

The girl's face returned to its normal complexion. She then told Henry her name.

The girl's family name was Wei, and her given name was Lan. The inheritance of the Wei family was not well known. It belonged to the branch of smaller inheritances and did not even have an ancestral ground of their own. Every one of their inheritances were handed down from one generation to the other. Wei Lan's ancestor, was brave fighter, and once broke the enemy defences of 300,000 men with just 100,000 soldiers, but it was not recorded in history, and because his contribution was not recognised, he was not given the honour of building his own ancestral ground.

The inheritance of the Wei Clan that was passed down in such a manner made it impossible for the heroic spirits within it to settle, and fell apart more and more from one generation to the other. As a result of that, the heroic spirits of the Wei Clan have lost all hope of awakening.

Wei Lan told Henry that almost every inheritor, except for those of Western Xia, Loulan and other top-tier inheritances, was in that state. It had been too long, even for the top-tier inheritance like Western Xia. Its heroic spirit had gone into a slumber too deep. Joselito could only rely on devouring other heroic spirits to strengthen himself in order to awaken his heroic spirit one day.

This time, many inheritors have gathered at the Loulan ancestral grounds not because they had any ill intentions. They were very clear that with the inheritance energy they possessed; it was impossible for them to devour the inheritance of the Loulan ancestral grounds. Their reason for travelling all the way there was just to seek protection. Otherwise, the smaller inheritors would end up being devoured by Joselito sooner or later.

From Wei Lan's story, Henry roughly understood the problems regarding the power of the inheritors, Wei Lan also got to know Henry's name.

"So what's your plan?" Henry asked.

"We intended to join forces and fight under the name for Loulan, but we all got separated the moment the formation of the Ancestral Ground of Loulan was activated." Wei Lan's face was filled with sadness. "The fog can block us out, but it won't stop Joselito at all. We originally had five people from the Wei family on this journey, but now, only the two of us remain, the other three have died in the hands of Joselito. We had noticed some markings that hinted us along the way, but other inheritors have also been attacked by Joselito. We don't know what has happened to them, so all we can do for now is to gather first and try to figure something out. If this goes on, we would all be devoured completely by Joselito before we could enter the Ancestral Grounds of Loulan."

Henry was puzzled. "Where are all of you planning to meet?"

Wei Lan replied, "One of the seniors left us with markings. As long as we follow them, we will be fine. We don't know where the meeting point is specifically for now. Brother Zhang, if you have unfinished business with Joselito, you can come to the meeting point with us. We can all discuss about how to deal with Joselito together."

Henry nodded and said, "Let's go, then. I'll go to the meeting point with you."

Seeing that Henry was willing to join them, a happy smile appeared on Wei Lan's face instantly.

The old woman glanced around, then asked, "Henry, can the hidden master swordsman from back then join us?"

Henry had a puzzled look on his face. "What master swordsman?"

Upon seeing Henry's confused expression, the old lady just shook her head silently.

Chapter 1349

Just like that, Henry and Wei Lan walked shoulder to shoulder.

Wei Lan received some signals a few times in the fog, with Ranjeet taking the lead. They proceeded onward steadily, their pace quickened.

"Fatty, how large is your ancestral ground?" Henry walked beside Ranjeet and whispered.

Having such a vast oasis appearing in the desert was already a rare sight, yet it covered such a frighteningly vast area.

Ranjeet looked at Henry, then finally blurted two words after what seemed to be half a day, "Super large."

Henry just raised his eyebrows, no longer intending to ask Ranjeet anything else.

They followed the markings left by the senior Wei Lan had mentioned earlier. They made a few turns in the fog and finally came to a lake. This lake was where Henry had met with the 13 men of the Alvin League, but they were facing a different direction.

Along the way, the old lady that accompanied Wei Lan would look around from time to time. She was clearly looking out for the powerful swordsman that had clashed with Verrall. Unfortunately for her, she did not find anybody, which made her realise that the swordsman's attack was very possibly coincidental, and had nothing to do with the two men in front of her. The moment the old lady came to this realisation, she no longer saw Ranjeet and Henry with the same importance as before.

Judging from his appearance, Henry's capabilities could only be regarded as ordinary. He practiced the World Destruction Technique and could use the Qi of his surroundings for his own use. It was impossible to figure out his true capabilities.

As for Ranjeet, he was already on his knees back then. No one would find him worthy of anything.

Wei Lan pulled out a unique whistle from one of her pockets after observing some of the markings left behind, then played a strange melody right where she stood.

A few minutes later, two figures emerged from the fog.

"Wei Lan."

These two men were very young. Henry glanced at them and noticed that the both of them were at the level of the middle stage of Qi-concentration. Overall, this level of power could be considered pretty good. Back then, before Joselito had received the inheritance, he was also only at that level.

A practitioner at the stage of the Qi-concentrating Realm could be considered an expert in the World of Qi practitioners, and could even obtain a spot in the Recluse Association as a bishop. From this point of view, it also showed that the inheritors were capable of doing pretty well in the World of Qi practitioners. They were at the level of Qi-concentration, and their protectors were at the level of the Divine Realm.

The two men walked over to Wei Lan, the one with short hair, glanced at Henry and Ranjeet, then asked Wei Lan, "They're not from the Wei family, what happened?"

"They're all dead." Wei Lan's face darkened. "We ran into Joselito. If it weren't for Brother Zhang and this monk who saved us just now, I would probably have been killed too."

"That d*mned Joselito!" The short-haired man clenched his fists tightly, his eyes burned with hatred. "Besides you, there were also people who were ambushed by Joselito, but they managed to escape with serious injuries!"

"Amitabha." Ranjeet put his palms together. "You no longer have to worry, now that I am here."

Ranjeet did not care whether or not he could really beat them, he just tooted his horn as loudly as he could.

The short-haired man returned a Buddhist greeting to Ranjit and said, "We are grateful to you two for your help. Please come with me first."

Henry nodded. They followed the short-haired man for a few minutes and came to a place similar to a shipyard, there were more than 30 people gathered there.

Although Henry had decided to not ask anymore questions, he still could not help but ask in a low voice, "You all even have a shipyard here?"

"Yes." Ranjeet nodded vigorously. "We live on the island at the centre of the lake. We have to get there by boat."

Henry glanced at the rear of the shipyard. Sure enough, he noticed a few wooden boats there.

After the short-haired man brought Henry and the other three people there, he walked into the shipyard first. Then, a middle-aged man in his fifties strode out quickly after. The middle-aged man looked very kind, and seemed to be very pleasant to be around with.

The middle-aged man strode over to Wei Lan with a concerned expression. "Wei Lan, I heard that you ran into Joselito. How are you? Are you hurt?"

"Thank you for your concern, Uncle Xu." Wei Lan smiled. "It's nothing serious."

"That's good to hear." Uncle Xu nodded, then looked at Henry and Ranjeet. "I heard that it was these two young heroes who did it for the sake of justice. We are very grateful for your help."

"Amitabha." Ranjeet replied with a Buddhist greeting. "Kind sir, don't mention it. We monks live a life of compassion. Saving one life is more meritorious than building a pagoda for the Buddha. However, I have observed that the female benefactors here have suffered some sort of internal damage, I'd be more than willing to treat them."

Ranjeet was in the robes of a monk, but his actions were similar to that of a total pervert. His eyes kept scanning back and forth at the women around.

Uncle Xu was surprised to see that Ranjeet was a pervert monk. When he heard those words, he was completely taken aback. He could only reply with dry laughter, then proceeded to lead them both into the shipyard.

The shipyard was divided into several areas, and the inheritors rested in separate areas. After Henry and Ranjeet got to their rooms, they just sat down immediately, not paying much attention to it.

"Henry, I heard from Wei Lan that you also have unfinished business with Joselito?" Uncle Xu sat down beside Henry.

Henry nodded and said, "It's from a sword wound he left on me."

Uncle Xu's face showed hatred, "That d*mned Joselito ruined the lives of others for his selfish desires, disrupting the peacefulness that existed among the successors. It can be said that everyone wants to get rid of him as quickly as possible. I discovered from an elder that if he wants to enter the Loulan ancestral grounds, he must first cross this lake, and no matter where he enters from, if he wants to cross the lake, he must first come through this shipyard. Otherwise, he won't be able to break through the mysterious formation of Loulan. We'll hide here and ambush him as soon as he appears, even if his protector is extremely powerful, we have the strength in numbers. We can definitely kill him if we work together. You can even get your revenge on him!"

Henry nodded.

"Both of you have some rest. Most of our men are already gathered here. If Joselito can't find any prey, he would definitely head to the Loulan Ancestral Grounds. I believe that he would soon show up here, and an intense battle shall take place here."

Uncle Xu got up and patted Henry on the shoulder, then walked aside.

"Brother, why do I find it so gloomy in here?" Ranjeet said timidly after Uncle Xu had left. "I always have a feeling that someone is watching me hungrily in the dark, as if I were a piece of juicy steak, plotting something against me."

"Gloomy?" Henry asked suspiciously.

"There is indeed something off about this place." A voice rang in Henry's ears. It came from the Heretic God who had remained silent for a long while. The volume of the voice was so low that only Henry could hear it.

Ranjeet suddenly shuddered once more and said, "Brother, something's wrong. I feel like two pairs of eyes are staring at me from the darkness. Do you think that it is possible that this place is haunted?"

Chapter 1350

Henry threw a glance at Ranjeet, then quietly got up and walked to one side.

Henry checked his surroundings, after confirming that they were alone. He asked, "What's wrong?"

Henry was speaking to the Heretic God.

The Heretic God said, "That fatty is special. He can feel the existence of spirits. There are a total of two spirits here, including me."

Upon hearing that there were two spirit bodies among them, Henry was shocked.

"I'm not referring to the one you had summoned back then," the Heretic God said. "Although I'm also very curious as to what you had summoned earlier, you call it a spirit, but it doesn't have any consciousness, so you can't awaken it at all. What that fatty could sense are spirit bodies that possess consciousness."

Henry frowned and said, "Do you mean that someone here is about to enter the stage of Spirit-control?"

"Yes." The Heretic God replied with certainty. "That spirit body possesses a consciousness, and is now very hungry. Moreover, there are many weakened spirit bodies where you currently are now. Most of their consciousness has already slipped away, leaving only their energy behind. To a being like me, this place is a slaughterhouse."

The Heretic God did not say a lot because he believed that Henry could understand what he meant.

Indeed, Henry understood every word of the Heretic God.

If what the Heretic God had said was true, then it would be very likely that someone here who was going to have a grand feast now that all the inheritors were gathered there!

Henry walked back to Ranjeet and sat down beside him.

Ranjeet clung on to his kasaya and huddled towards Henry. "Brother, it's so weird. I felt two pairs of eyes staring at me just now. When you left, only one pair of eyes remained. Do you think it's possible that this place is haunted?"

"Can't your Mighty Heavenly Dragon do anything about it?" Henry raised his eyebrows.

"Brother, stop that. I am most afraid of stuff like these." Ranjeet was trembling.

Henry looked at a trembling Ranjeet, then scanned around the area. He wanted to find out who was responsible for organising a trap like this. His biggest suspect was Uncle Xu. After all, he was the one who was in charge of gathering everyone here, he was most suspicious.

Henry's found the kind-looking Uncle Xu amidst the crowd. Just as Henry got up and planned to check on Uncle Xu, he saw a young man striding towards him with a fierce expression.

"Who are you to Kenzy?" the young man asked questioningly, the moment he approached Henry.

"Maurits, what are you doing!" Kenzy ran over hurriedly and pulled at the young man.

"What am I doing? I'm trying to make things clear, of course!" Maurits flung Kenzy aside with a sweep of his arm. "Someone just told me that you looked at this guy with a very different gaze. Kenzy, you have to understand that you are my fiancée! As your fiancée, shouldn't I be the one to ask what's going on?"

"Amitabha!" Ranjeet who was trembling in fear a second ago immediately displayed a calm expression and sat cross-legged, then greeted them with a Buddhist greeting the instant he noticed a young lady appear. "My relationship with this lady benefactor is not information that could be made public."

"Shut up baldy, I wasn't asking you!" Maurits threw a disdainful glance at Ranjeet, then refocused his gaze on Henry. "I asked him!"

Henry shook his head and replied with a smile, "Miss Wei and I just happened to have a common enemy, so we journeyed over here together."

"A common enemy? With a bloke like you?" Maurits sneered. "You're not even an inheritor, yet you dare speak to me of this bullsh*t. We don't need you here. If you want revenge, go think of another way. Now leave, you two. This is a place for inheritors, and not for people the likes of you!"

"Dear benefactor, you're wrong." Ranjeet stood up. "To be exact, this ground we are standing on right now belongs to the Jin Group. How could you say that it's for inheritors only?"

"Shut your fat mouth, Bald ass! I don't want to kill you!" Maurits raised his fist.

Behind Maurits, many inheritors and protectors came over and surrounded Henry. They all looked hostile. Maurits was obviously their leader, simply because he was Uncle Xu's son.

"Maurits, what on earth are you trying to do?" Kenzy stood in front of Henry and looked at Maurits with a bewildered expression. "It was them both who had saved me earlier."

"Them? If they have the ability to save you, would they still need to rely on us to help him deal with Joselito?" Maurits was full of contempt. "I've already heard all about the incident. There was just another hidden expert who saved you coincidentally. These two are just useless pieces of sh*t. Why keep them here? The sight of them annoys me. Scram!"

"Maurits, you are being unreasonable!" Kenzy shook with anger. "If you insist on driving Brother Zhang away, I'm leaving with them!"

"B*tch!" Maurits slapped Kenzy right in the face. "I knew that you had something going on with him. Don't say that I didn't give you a chance. If you want to go, go with him. Get out of here immediately, or else don't you blame me for my ruthlessness!"

A blue bow appeared in Maurits's hand. It was clear that he intended to strike at them.

Kenzy covered her face with her palms as she looked at Maurits in disbelief. "Maurits Xu, I have really misjudged you!"

After saying that, Kenzy dashed out of the shipyard. However, just after making two steps, she was pulled back by her protector. The old lady pulled Kenzy aside as she comforted her.

With Kenzy out of the picture, Henry faced Maurits directly.

Maurits yelled, "What, are you really waiting for Kenzy to leave with you? Get your ass out of here!"

"Get lost!"

"Scram!"

One voice sounded after another. Henry looked at the people without saying anything. He patted Ranjeet on the shoulder and said, "Let's go."

Ranjeet did not object to Henry's words. He just chanted a Buddhist greeting and said, "The foreheads of these benefactors all have a dark glow, a disaster that includes bloodshed shall befall you very soon."

Having said that, he followed Henry out of the shipyard.

Henry looked towards the shipyard. Uncle Xu stood by the window and looked at him emotionlessly. Seeing how the inheritors in the shipyard were led by Maurits, and Kenzy, who dared not to express her anger, he now understood that the inheritors that had been mentioned by Kenzy were not really living harmoniously. It was simply because someone with power controlled those inheritors, it was still no different from the law of the jungle. Joselito chose to kill them directly, but the Xu Family chose to make them their slaves.

This also confirmed Henry's suspicions of Uncle Xu. He feared that the spirit that was about to awaken as said by the Heretic God earlier was in Uncle Xu's hands. The reason Maurits approached him that aggressively, was just to make sure the two uncertain factors could be removed, which were precisely Henry and Ranjeet.

"Bro, let's go." Ranjeet said.

"No." Henry shook his head and said, "If we were to just leave like this. Wouldn't it make us look like feeble pushovers? Since Joselito would definitely come here, then we shall kill Joselito and the rest of them right here!"
