

Chapter 606

This time, aside from Peze who stayed on Radiant island and Felix and Azra who were investigating some affairs around the world, the other six people with the highest rank on Radiant Island had all come.

Henry jumped into the inner yard and to fight with the Zhao clan's elders.

At the same time Future, Wade, Red Hair, Sea God, Moon Goddess and Alex also jumped into the inner courtyard.

The four elders of the Zhao Clan stood at the forefront, staring at Henry and the other six people.

Henry and the other six people also stared at the four elders. Through the flowing Qi around them, Henry recognized that the four elders of the Zhao Clan, who seemed to be in their sixties, were all masters of Qi-controlling Realm.

There was no need to say anything.

"Kill them!" The four elders of the Zhao clan shouted and rushed to Henry and others.

Looking at the four elders rushing toward him, Henry didn't have anything say. "Find the opponent for yourself and kill him!"

Wade drew out his broadsword. With a roar, he took the lead and charged forward.

Sea God and others also used their fighting methods one after another. They were all top masters, and each of them was in charge of their own area. But now, except for Henry, who was fighting alone against a clan elder, the remaining six people, were fighting two against one. And they still found it very difficult.

The gap between an ordinary master and a Qi-controlling Realm expert was too big.

The present Henry was very confident that he could defeat the Henry from before, who didn't master the Qi, within three moves.

Sea God and other people were able to survive the two-versus-one battle against the Qi-controlling master based on their fighting experience. Every one of them, even Future and Moon Goddess climbed out of mountains of corpses and seas of blood together with Henry. What they had been doing was putting up a desperate fight, and what they learned were also killing skills.

As for the elders of the Zhao Clan, although they had been practising martial arts for decades and had a lot of experience, the clan did not enter the secular world. Thus, it was very rare for them to get the chance to skillfully practice combat experience. Their combat experience could not be compared with that of Sea God and the others. In this way, Sea God and the others could only struggle to hold on.

Henry knew that Sea God and the others were at a disadvantage, but he didn't help them. In the future, the enemies of Radiant Island would all be like this. Getting familiar with them would be a good thing for them even if they got hurt.

It was better to get hurt now than to pay with their life in the future.

At the same time, Henry also wanted to see what means the elders of the Zhao clan, who were in the Qi-controlling Realm, had.

Before, Henry thought that his real enemy was the man in the green shirt whose whole body had been burned. After Henry mastered the Qi, he found out that the man in green was not on his level at all. Now, the Zhao clan was the second Qi-controlling Realm opponent that Henry confronted.

"You came to my Zhao's clan and behaved so atrociously. You are in the wrong place!" The elder in front of Henry roared and slapped Henry with his palm.

Henry could obviously see a stream of Qi coming toward him from the other side's palm.

Henry took the initiative to avoid the airflow caused by the other side. The airflow hit the wooden pillars of the house behind Henry. The wooden pillars, which were as thick as an adult's waist, broke apart on the spot and exploded in all directions under the airflow.

According to the speed of the dispersion of the wooden pillars and the degree of dispersion of the wooden chips, Henry could tell that the power of the other's palm was almost equivalent to 30% of his own strength.

The elder saw that his attack had been dodged by Henry, so he slapped again.

This time, Henry didn't dodge again. The muscles all over his body contracted, and the Qi instantly covered his whole body. He threw out a punch to face elder's palm.

"You don't know what's good for you!" The elder shouted in a low voice, and a trace of fierceness appeared in his eyes. He punched Henry's fist. In his opinion, his palm could completely beat this arrogant boy to the ground. He had seen too many scenes like this in his life.

But when the elder's palm touched Henry's fist, he was surprised to find that the Qi he released did not cause any harm to the young man in front of him. The airflow naturally dispersed to both sides when it was less than a centimetre away from the young man's fist.

Before the elder had the time to ponder what was going on, a huge force struck out from his palm and instantly spread across his entire body. Because of this huge force, his entire body flew back uncontrollably and fell onto the ground. When this huge force completely dissipated, he found that his entire arm was completely numb and unable to move.

"How could this be!" The elder's pupils contracted, and he was extremely shocked. How could a young man break his palm with one punch? Even the younger generation of the Li family would never have such strength!

The Zhao clan's elder was shocked. Henry was also puzzled. Why was the elder so weak? He had only used half of his strength in that punch, and he was just testing his power. But he did not expect that the elder would fly back so easily!

Moreover, this elder's attacking methods were very simple. He could only release his Qi, but that was all. This was something that he could do when he first learned how to use the Qi. After he learned the foundation in the Tang Clan, he was able to change the form of his Qi through different moves. Could it be that there was a difference in different cultivation methods?

Henry thought that the first step of the Tang family's cultivation method was to make the Qi fill the whole body to have such an effect, but maybe the cultivation method of the Zhao's clan was not the same.

If there was really a difference between cultivation methods, then the difference between their levels was too obvious!

Henry's understanding of Qi was still poor, or in other words, he only understood a little. Up to now, he didn't know how many people he had walked ahead of.

Some people, even after a lifetime of practising Qi, could not do what he did. To make the muscles of the whole body exert strength together and make the Qi spread through the whole body was not only a strong control of Qi, but also a standard of the strength of the muscles in human's body.

Although Henry didn't practice Qi on purpose, nor did he know how to control Qi, his muscles and Qi had reached a very high level. At that time on Radiant Island, he took a large dose of medicine and made his body thoroughly purified by the high-intensity Qi from inside to outside.

The flow of Qi was particularly smooth while Henry's body was wandering.

Other people's internal organs were connected to muscles and it was like a small car driving in a narrow non-civil service road. The car was slow and the impact force was low. But Henry, the relationship between the Qi and meridians in his body was like a big truck running on an eight-lane road at an extremely fast speed. The impact force was extremely fierce. Although it was not as flexible as a small car, it was more destructive.

In the field of Qi, Henry had always maintained the mindset of a beginner. Today, he suddenly realized that he, a beginner, was not as weak as he thought. Anyway, the elder of the Zhao clan in front of him was far from his level.
