

Chapter 646

"Let him wait for a moment." Sylvia replied. She hung up the phone and then turned to look at Henry.

Henry shrugged his shoulders. "As we were just talking about this. Let's see what kind of big shot this person is."

Henry came to the company's lobby and saw that in the lobby, there were more than a dozen bodyguards in black standing in front of the rest area of the hall with a serious look on their faces. They were standing within a ten-meter radius, and no one was allowed to approach them.

"They put on a good show." Henry chuckled and walked toward the place where the bodyguards were standing.

"Stop!" As soon as Henry approached these bodyguards, they heard a chorus of shouts.

The bodyguards standing there glared at Henry almost at the same time. Their eyes were like lions. If a person were timid, their legs would tremble under these people's eyes. These bodyguards were so professional that they could see at a glance if Henry carried any weapons.

Facing the fierce eyes of these bodyguards, Henry stared back one by one, snorted coldly, and stepped forward.

Under Henry's step, these bodyguards took a step back together, and their eyes were full of dignity. Just now, at the moment when Henry took a step, all of them had a sense of powerlessness as if they were falling over a mountain. They subconsciously wanted to step back.

"All right, get out of the way. If he wants to kill me, you can't stop him." A steady voice sounded in the crowd.

These bodyguards looked at each other and slowly formed a path. Everyone stared at Henry. Some of them had sweat on their foreheads. They had been to various places with their leader and had come into contact with top experts from various countries, but none of them could put so much pressure on themselves like the young man in front of them.

"Long time no see." Sitting in the chair was a man who was nearly sixty years old. Wearing a black tunic suit, he looked very spirited. When he spoke, he gave people a sense of majesty.

Of course, this kind of majesty naturally did not affect Henry.

Hearing what he said, Henry curled his lip and sat down beside him. "I believe that you don't wish to see me often in China."

"That's true." The other party did not disguise himself at all. "To be honest, there is no official that would like to see you all the time."

"Ha, ha." Henry smiled indifferently. "In fact, I like the feeling that you are not happy with me, and you can't do anything to me."

"I think you're the first young man who dares to talk to me like this." The middle-aged man smiled and said, "Don't talk nonsense. You should know why I came to find you."

"Why?" Henry asked deliberately. He could guess the reason why the other party came here. It had something to do with the Zhao clan.

The middle-aged man said seriously, "A few days ago, you appeared in Jiang Province. What did you do?"

"I went to discuss potential cooperation. You can investigate it, can't you?" Henry said casually, "I want to set up a security company, but I can't do it under my name. If I use my wife's name, I don't think you're willing to accept that. The Su Family wants to expand its business in Suzhou. I'm afraid other families won't be happy either. At that time, you'll still be in trouble."

"Do you want to open a security company? Are you in a shortage of money?" The middle-aged man was suspicious.

"No, I am not." Henry held up his hand. "It's just that I don't feel safe. Have you heard of what happened yesterday?"

The middle-aged man's expression changed. After a few seconds of silence, he asked, "How many people are you going to arrange?"

"100." Henry stretched out three fingers.

"Three hundred? No, too much!" The middle-aged man shook his head immediately. "You should know in your heart that China is different from other countries."

"In fact, I didn't want to do this." Henry stretched and leaned on the sofa. "But what if something like yesterday happens again? I can say that sometimes I can behave like a beast. If something happens to my wife, I certainly would not want to live. Before I decide to kill myself, I can't guarantee what I would do."

The middle-aged man patted the armrest of the sofa. "Are you threatening me?"

"No." Henry shook his head. "I'm merely stating a fact. Is there anything wrong with me arranging people to protect my family?"

"It's okay to protect your family, but I advise you not to make trouble. This is China, not your Radiant Island!" The middle-aged man snorted and warned.

"I don't worry." Henry stretched out his hand and patted the middle-aged man on the shoulder.

Henry's action made the bodyguards standing around take a breath.

Henry gave those bodyguards a reassuring look and then said to the middle-aged man, "Don't forget, I am a Chinese too. I have put in a lot of effort into your missions outside. If I am your soldier outside, I should have some benefits back home."

The middle-aged man curled his lips and did not speak because he knew that what Henry said was true. The missions outside were indeed assisted by Radiant Island.

"All right." The middle-aged man waved his hand and said, "I won't talk about this with you. You arrange as you wish just don't make trouble. I won't interfere with your business. I came here today to ask you another question. I saw that you were in Zuo city in Meng Province. But have you been anywhere else? Do you have anything to do with what happened to the Zhao clan?"

"I think you think too highly of our Radiant Island," Henry said with a wry smile. "I do know about the clans. But do you think that our Radiant Island is as powerful as the clans?"

The middle-aged man stared at Henry for more than 20 seconds, then got up and said, "Don't get involved in the business of the clans."

"Of course, I just want to live a good life now." Henry leaned on the sofa.

The middle-aged man tidied up his collar and said, "Remember what I said. Although your Radiant Island has a supreme position in the underground world, you can't imagine what a clan is like."

After that, the middle-aged man turned and left directly.

The bodyguards breathed a sigh of relief, surrounded the middle-aged man and walked out of the Lins Group.

Henry looked at the time. It was just about ten o'clock. Henry asked Secretary Lee to bring the key to the business room. He wanted to go and check it out and find someone to redecorate the place.

The business room was only a little more than one kilometre away from the Lins Group. It was located in a business street close to the Yinzhou's CBD. A business room of more than 300 square metres would cost at least three million yuan.

Henry came to this business street and glanced at it. The traffic flow was quite large in Yinzhou. In the whole street, only his local was closed, and the rest were all open. Whether it was an ordinary milk tea shop, a restaurant, or a flower shop, they were all crowded. Henry took out the key, opened the undecorated door, and walked in to have a look.

Chapter 647

The second after Henry opened the door of the local, a lot of people came out of their own stores and looked inside curiously.

There was only one store in this busy business street, which had been closed for a long time. Many people were curious about who the owner of this place was. Why had the door been closed all the time?

It should be known that even if he didn't use it, he could rent this place for nearly 100,000 yuan per year. He would not have to pay for all the maintenance fee. However, this place was not rented and the doors had been closed.

Henry walked around the place. At the same time, he made a phone call and found someone to decorate it. Anyway, everything should be done as quickly as possible, and the security company should open as soon as possible so that his people could appear in Yinzhou aboveboard to protect Sylvia and others.

Henry walked out of the store. As soon as he went out, he saw four or five people, men and women, pointing at this place.

"Young man, is this place yours?" A middle-aged woman asked as soon as she saw Henry come out.

"Yes." Henry nodded and asked curiously, "What's wrong?"

"Young man, your place has been empty for a long time. If you didn't want to use it, why didn't you just rent it?" The woman asked because she knew how much money this place was worth.

Henry smiled and didn't bother to explain that the place belonged to Lins Group. He said casually, "I have been out of the country all the time, and I didn't have time to take care of it."

"Well, it's also good to rent it out. I think this place has been vacant for three years." The middle-aged woman's face was full of pain.

Henry smiled and didn't care. When he was poor, he would pick up rubbish to eat, but when he had money, he didn't have to care about this little amount of money.

A middle-aged man in his thirties, a little sturdy, looked up and down at Henry. "Boy, this place is yours? Are you going to rent it?"

Henry shook his head and said, "I won't rent it. I need it for myself. I'm going to open a security company."

"Security company?" The middle-aged man's face changed.

"Yes, I hope that we will get along in the future." Henry smiled, then closed the door and strode away.

"Hey, Leland, will this affect you?" A young man, who was about the same age as Henry, said to the strong middle-aged man.

This middle-aged man's name was Leland. He also opened a security company in this street. His business was not bad. Now this man also wanted to open a security company, which meant that he was competing with him for the business!

Leland narrowed his eyes and stared at Henry's back. "He's just a young man. Is he qualified to compete with me? He can't even compete with me regarding decoration!"

There was a saying in China that people from the same industry are enemies. It was true that people in the same industry, especially this kind of service-providing companies, would wish for enemy to go bankrupt immediately.

When Henry left the place, he happened to pass by Leland's store. He took a look at it and found that the decoration was not bad, which gave people a feeling of grandeur.

After leaving this store, Henry went straight back to the Lins Group. He asked the secretary to inform the officials about the decoration and then contacted Anna about the business license, and then he arranged people to come.

Henry gave a call to Felix and asked him to find the best designer in the world and buy the earliest ticket to Yinzhou. At the same time, a top construction team with the best equipment in the world flew the best materials to Yinzhou on the same day.

Ten design drawings of different styles were sent to Henry's mobile phone in the evening and showed a 3D model for Henry to choose. Henry chose a Chinese style decoration.

One day's time passed in dealing with a few trivial things.

Henry handed over the decoration work to the construction team and the designer. He didn't have to worry about it at all. The three hundred people he asked the fat man to contact the day before yesterday had already arrived. The people who came to Yinzhou were all the elites. Henry only needed to give a protection order and they would know what to do.

At noon, Henry went to the top floor of Lins Group. Henry, Lisa, Sylvia and Jenny were going to have dinner. Before they left the company, a phone call came from Felix.

"Boss, you should go to the security company and have a look. Something happened. The people I called over don't dare to deal with it in the usual way."

"Something happened?" Henry looked confused. "Okay, I'll go and have a look."

Hanging up the phone, Henry showed an apologetic expression to Sylvia and the other two. Just as he was about to speak, Sylvia's voice sounded in advance, "If you have something to do, you can go first. The three of us can go and eat."

Henry said apologetically, "There's something wrong with the renovation of the business room. I'll treat you to dinner in the evening. Take it as an apology."

"Okay." Sylvia nodded and smiled. "You must treat the three of us with a big meal tonight."

"Definitely."

When Henry arrived at the business street, he saw at a glance that his shop was being decorated. On the parking space in front of the store, two Land Rovers were parked.

Henry remembered that this parking space was not a public parking space, and it had already been bought by the Lins Group.

A truck loaded with decoration material was blocked by two Land Rovers. They could not reach the entrance of the store. There was also another Land Rover parked in front of the store entrance, so the interior materials could not be moved in.

The rules clearly defined that cars were not allowed to be parked in front of the store.

When Henry came over, a woman in her twenties walked up to Henry and said respectfully, "Hello, Mr. Zhang."

This woman was the designer that Felix had hired. Felix did not tell this designer Henry's identity. He only told her that he was a distinguished guest and that she had to be respectful.

"What's the matter?" Henry glanced at the three Land Rovers and asked in confusion.

"Mr. Zhang, the three cars were deliberately parked here by someone. We already called the traffic police to deal with them. The traffic police can only give them a written punishment but can't move cars." The designer said to Henry.

"Who parked the cars?" Henry frowned slightly. He didn't expect that such a thing would happen while he was decorating the store.

"That man." The designer pointed to Leland's security company. At this moment, Leland and two other men with the same sturdy physique as Leland were in the company.

"He?" Henry looked at Leland. Yesterday, he felt that there was something wrong with the way the man looked at him, but he didn't think much about it.

"Yes," said the designer with a nod. "He was the one who parked all the cars."

Henry strode over to Leland and said, "Dude, why are you preventing me from decorating my place? I believe it's not appropriate for you to park your car here."

Leland and the other two saw Henry coming and also heard Henry's words. They still kept chatting and completely ignored Henry.
