

Chapter 845

"My husband just said a few words, but he didn't say anything to you." Sylvia strode from behind and took Henry's arm.

Henry grinned. He could see why Markaine was in such a hurry to drive him away. Obviously, what he said made him panic.

Henry could see that Markaine was definitely not divorced. His wedding ring was obviously taken off, which showed some characteristics of his body. The third button on Markaine's suit had a slight sewing mark, which was completely different from the other two buttons. Furthermore, it was not a kind of technique that a man like Markaine obtained. There must be a woman behind Markaine doing this for him.

Moreover, when Markaine spoke, he would always unconsciously put his right hand on the ring finger of his left hand. Many people had this kind of habit of playing with the rings. Markaine's wedding ring was probably taken off before he saw Sonal, so he subconsciously did this.

The appearance of Sylvia made Markaine's eyes light up, and there was an obvious greedy look in his eyes. Markaine unconsciously sized up Sylvia and said playfully, "Beauty, your husband is somewhat ignorant. What allows him to interrupt other people's conversations?"

"Ha." Sylvia sneered. "What's wrong with my husband speaking for his employees? If you don't have any evil thoughts in your heart, why don't you let my husband talk?"

"Beauty, you'll get into trouble if you talk too much." Markaine smiled slightly. "He is just an owner of a small security company. Maybe suddenly that company will get closed."

"It won't close. I'm afraid that's not possible." Sylvia looked at Markaine coldly. She took out a business card and put it on the table. "As for your logistics company, it might close soon. It's hard to say."

Markaine subconsciously took a look at Sylvia's business card. Only with this glance, it made Markaine's body tremble.

The words "President of Lins Group", printed in Markaine's eyes, were used to describe Sylvia, which made Markaine gasp.

Was there anyone in the Yinzhou business world who didn't know Sylvia Lin?

Sonal also saw the name card. She was not familiar with Sylvia's name, but everyone in Yinzhou had heard of the Lins Group.

Sonal knew that Alvin was a receptionist of a security company, but she never thought that the boss of this security company was actually the husband of the president of Lins Group, and that he would stand up for Alvin today.

When Sonal learned of Sylvia's and Henry's identities, she suddenly began to waver. Maybe it was really like what the husband of the president of Lins Group said. Maybe Alvin really had some potential.

Sonal looked at Markaine beside her, and then looked at Alvin. At the moment when she turned her head to look at Alvin, Sonal saw the scooter that Alvin parked outside the restaurant. Beside the scooter, Markaine's BMW was parked.

Such a clear gap made Sonal take a deep breath and say, "Alvin, if you are a man, you should stand up on your own, use your identity and your income to prove me wrong. Yes, today the president of Lins Group came out to speak for you, but you have to know that you are just an employee of the Lins Group. There are too many people like you in the Lins Group!"

After Sonal finished, she took Markaine's hand and said, "Let's go!"

Markaine was also happy to leave quickly. After seeing Sylvia's business card, he felt uncomfortable standing here, fearing that the president of the Lins Group would give an order casually. In the eyes of Lins Group, his business was nothing. Moreover, the eyes of the president of the Lins Group were too vicious. Fortunately, Sonal was easy to cheat, otherwise, he would have exposed himself today.

Seeing that Sonal took Markaine's arm and left, Alvin sat there without saying a word.

"What do you think? Do you need my help? If you really want to keep her, I can pay you the commission first." Henry went forward and patted Alvin on the shoulder.

Alvin shook his head slightly and said, "Mr. Zhang, she is right. I can't rely on you, and I can't rely on being your employee. This time, Mr. Zhang, you could pay me the commission in advance and let me solve the problem in front of me. What about next time? There are a lot of things in life that need to be pursued, and love is just one of them. If I want to make people look up to me, I can only become stronger by myself."

Henry looked at the determination in Alvin's eyes and was slightly stunned.

The words Alvin said were exactly the same as what Henry had said to others. Henry didn't want others to take pity on him. He only wanted to make himself stronger. People could take pity on him for a while, but couldn't take pity on him forever. The most important thing was to make himself stronger.

In the beginning, Henry also chose such a high-standard western restaurant when he got the first commission. At that time, Henry also said the same words that Alvin said, and he also refused others' pity.

Now that he saw Alvin, Henry felt as if he was looking at himself. 3

The idea came from the bottom of Henry's heart, and in just a few seconds, it was infinitely magnified.

Section Nine had already set the new rules. Henry already knew that from now on, Henry's opponents were the clans, the Recluse Association, and the mysterious Noble Berserkers.

In this underground world, Radiant Island needed a spokesman. This person couldn't possibly be one of the Kings of Radiant Island. This person had to be very brave, resilient and had to have sufficient understanding of Radiant Island itself, of the Reapers, and of what he was doing.

Alvin was a very suitable candidate!

During his work at the front desk of the security company, Alvin expressed his clear direction. He was very clear about what he was doing.

"Alvin, I'll go with you for this task." Henry sat opposite him. "I will teach you how to make yourself excellent, and I will teach you how to make yourself strong. But the thing is that you have to tell me whether you can bear it or not. What will happen next will be beyond your imagination and your cognition."

Alvin looked at Henry opposite him and fell into silence.

Ten seconds.

Twenty seconds.

One minute later.

Five minutes later.

During the process, Sylvia had been standing behind Henry. She did not say a word, and she would not disturb her man to do his business.

It took eight minutes for Alvin to open his mouth and break the silence. "I can," he said simply.

Henry smiled slightly. If Alvin immediately agreed, he would tell Alvin to go back and think it over, and he would not take what Alvin had promised seriously. But now, it was obvious that Alvin had considered this offer carefully.

Chapter 846

Henry and Alvin agreed to meet at the company tomorrow. Such a thing happened today, so Henry and Sylvia were not in the mood to enjoy such their dinner.

No matter what, Alvin was still an employee of the Lins Group. Yet, he was still treated as a lackadaisical character by others. Sylvia blamed herself for this.

Sylvia knew very well that if a company wanted to develop better, it must first ensure the interests of its staff, so that the employees would maintain the motivation to work hard every day, and only then could the company gain more benefits.

If many people who worked in the Lins Group were pessimistic for a long time, they would inevitably suffer losses. Sylvia had to go back and think about the employee policy, which was not a simple matter.

When they got home, they found that Jenny and Lisa were not at home. After making a phone call, Henry knew that Jenny had taken Lisa to the welfare home yesterday and would not come back for the next two days.

Henry's loudspeaker was on, and Sylvia also heard Jenny's words clearly.

Hearing that Jenny would not come back, Sylvia's pretty face turned red.

In the past, she had lived alone with Henry for some time. However, it was totally different.

Sylvia looked up at the room, "Honey, you... you..."

Maybe it was because she drank some wine during dinner, or it was because the atmosphere was a little bit awkward, Sylvia's pretty face was red.

"Honey, in the future..." Sylvia stuttered, and her big eyes kept glancing at the bedroom upstairs.

As a man, Henry understood Sylvia's actions clearly. How could he be indifferent? He took the opportunity to laugh. "Wife, I'll take a bath first today!"

After Henry finished speaking, he didn't wait for Sylvia's answer. He was afraid that Sylvia would go back on her words, so he strode upstairs.

Sylvia's face turned even redder as she looked at the man's appearance. She stood in the living room downstairs in a daze for a long while before she took a big step and went up to the second floor.

When she reached the stairs on the second floor, Sylvia suddenly saw Henry standing motionless in front of the stairs.

"Honey, what's wrong?" Sylvia asked with a puzzled face.

Henry looked back at Sylvia and then turned his head back again.

The moment Henry turned his head, Sylvia saw a trace of seriousness on Henry's face.

Henry lowered his voice and said, "People have been to our home, and they have searched many places."

"Ah!" Sylvia covered her mouth. If it weren't for Henry, she would not have found anything at all. The furniture in the house was exactly the same as before.

Henry walked to a window and waved at the darkness outside the window.

A few seconds later, a graceful figure appeared in front of the entrance. The figure entered the door and knelt on one knee facing Henry and Sylvia, who were standing on the stairs.

"I, Thorn Ci, pay my respects to My Lord and Madame."

The person who knelt in front of the door was the one who came to Yinzhou and was chased by Toyobas.

Thorn came to work in the security company and returned to Yinzhou with them to protect Sylvia.

Henry looked at Thorn and said lightly, "Someone has come in."

With her face suddenly changed, Thorn looked panicky. Her eyes were full of self-blame. She pulled out a dagger from the military boots on her feet and stabbed it directly into her shoulder. The sharp blade pierced the skin and penetrated through Thorn's shoulder without any resistance, leaving a trail of blood.

Thorn frowned, but didn't even make a sound.

"I'm incompetent! My Lord and Madam should punish me for my incompetence!"

However, when Sylvia saw this scene, she couldn't help but scream, "What are you doing? Hurry up, I have a medical kit."

Sylvia shouted and wanted to run down the stairs. As a result, she was pulled by Henry after just two steps.

Sylvia turned her head and looked at Henry in confusion, only to see that Henry was shaking his head slightly at her. Sylvia's eyes showed that she was struggling, but she still stopped, and her face showed that she couldn't bear it.

Henry shook his head and said, "Thorn, how long have you been with me?"

"Seven years." Thorn didn't even think about it. "Seven years, six months and eight days."

"Clean the blood on the ground and get out. This is the first time and the only time. If there is a next time, choose the cemetery." Henry looked calm.

"Thank you, My Lord." Thorn once again lowered her head. She used her sleeves to wipe away the blood on the ground, and then slowly retreated. In her eyes, there was a strong sense of self-blame.

After Thorn left, Sylvia said, "Honey, why are you doing this? She doesn't look old, you..."

"My dear wife, I'm responsible for her." Henry sighed and said, "You know, there are too many illegal things in the underground world. People in the underground world have to be on their guard against danger all the time. She didn't even find out when they entered the house. If she continues to slack off, she will lose her life."

Sylvia opened her mouth but did not say anything.

Sylvia had seen the cruelty of the underground world before. Although she could not bear to see Henry treat Thorn with such a cruel attitude, she also understood that this was undoubtedly the most correct thing.

"Dear, you said that someone came to our home and searched everywhere. What were they doing here?" Sylvia looked worried. Anyone who knew that his home had been broken in would not turn a blind eye to it.

"They're looking for something." Henry looked around.

"What are they looking for?" Sylvia asked subconsciously.

"This." Henry put his hand into his pocket. The next second, his eyes directly locked on outside the window. "Want to run away?"

Henry instantly disappeared from his original spot and jumped out of the window.

In the dark night, a black shadow flashed away from the outside of the villa. It was so fast that it was hard for ordinary people to catch it. However, Henry could clearly see the track of the other side's movements. He waved at the darkness while running.

Just as Sylvia ran to the window and stuck her head out of the window, she saw Thorn and her men surrounding the entire courtyard of the villa. Everyone looked in one direction, and no one was allowed to approach the surroundings of the villa.

Henry chased the figure all the way out of the urban area. The speed of the figure was very fast, but Henry couldn't use his Qi. In a place without people, both of them would speed up at the same time, so Henry couldn't catch up with the figure for a while.

The buildings around them gradually became sparse, and there was almost no one on the road. Occasionally, there was a car with a bright light whistling past.

Henry suddenly exerted force into his legs and a stream of Qi burst out from the soles of his feet. His speed suddenly increased a lot. Almost in three seconds, he caught up with that shadow.

"Can you get away?" Henry asked with a playful smile on his face. He grabbed the black shadow by the shoulder and pulled his mask.

Henry quickly removed the mask from the figure's face. What he had seen made Henry's pupils shrink sharply.

Chapter 847

It was a face with no facial features. The attacker's nose was completely flattened, and his mouth was burned. There was a delicate iron lock hanging above his mouth. If he wanted to open his mouth, he had to open the lock first. If it were not for Adam's apple in his throat, one could not tell whether he was male or female from the appearance.

Henry directly broke his opponent's arms and legs.

"Crack!" There was a sound of bone fracture. The man in front of him did not even show any painful expression, as if it was not his own body at all.

Henry pinched the man's neck with his right hand, so that the man wouldn't fall down. He reached out his left hand and easily crushed the small lock in front of the man's mouth. At the same time, he pinched the man's mouth, only to find that the man's mouth was empty. There was nothing in it, and his tongue had long been cut off. The purpose of leaving the mouth was just to ensure that he could eat food.

Even Henry felt a chill down his spine at such a scene.

For so many years, Henry had seen many different types of people. But this was the first time he had seen such a person. Even his facial features were destroyed and his tongue was cut off. He was even numb to the pain caused by his bones being broken. Henry could not get any useful information from such a person.

Henry pinched the man's throat, and it was hard for him to breathe. His eyes were staring at Henry's right pocket.

Just now in the villa, when Sylvia asked Henry what those people were looking for, Henry put his hand into his right pocket.

Henry noticed where the man was looking at. The corners of his mouth suddenly turned up, and he showed his empty right pocket.

Henry's action made the other side's pupils shrink. It was obvious that he didn't expect that the Emperor of Hell would play such a trick to draw him out.

Henry said, "I'll give you a chance to live. I will ask you a question. All you need to do is to nod or shake your head, understand?"

The man stared at Henry with wide eyes. A few seconds later, his pupils gradually began to expand, and his head fell to the side powerlessly.

Henry sighed and threw the person in his hand.

That question he asked just now was just a test, almost without hope. Such a man had long been brainwashed. They would even give up their own lives and they only focused on the organization behind them.

Looking at the dead person on the ground, Henry was silent for a long time, wondering what were they looking for. Or did they have a plan to deal with Radiant Island, and they were just distracting him here?

After thinking for a while, Henry still had no clue. He shook his head and walked back home.

After arriving at the community, Henry saw from afar that the whole villa was bright. Sylvia turned on all the lights in the house.

When Thorn and others saw Henry coming back, they all dispersed and plunged into the darkness.

As soon as Henry entered the villa, he saw Sylvia running out of the courtyard anxiously.

"Honey, what's wrong?" Henry asked in a hurry.

Seeing Henry coming back, Sylvia's face lit up. "Honey, there's an accident at the construction site!"

"The construction site!" Henry's face changed.

The construction site mentioned by Sylvia was the former site of the welfare home. In the end, it was changed to a huge Spirit Gathering Formation by the Su Clan.

Henry didn't know what the Spirit Gathering Formation was used for. Even Sackcloth Visitor and the Great Patriarch from Tang's clan couldn't tell him. Henry knew nothing about it, so he didn't dare to act rashly and only hoped that there wouldn't be any trouble.

It was a pity that this trouble had finally come knocking on the door.

Henry drove to the construction site with Sylvia.

During chasing just now, the little wine Henry drank at night, had long been dissipated.

When they arrived at the construction site, they found that many passers-by had gathered outside the construction site and were pointing in the direction of the construction site. As a result, the firefighters had arrived.

Henry and Sylvia rushed into the construction site. As soon as they passed the safety gate, they saw the secretary Lee anxiously waiting here.

"President Lin, Mr. Zhang, you're here." Cathy ran over.

"What's going on?" Sylvia frowned and looked in the direction of the construction site.

Just as Cathy was about to answer, she heard Henry's voice coming from the side. "Earthquake."

Cathy nodded. "It's an earthquake, President Lin. Just now, an earthquake suddenly happened in this area. The scope of the earthquake is very small, only around the construction site. Two buildings that have been placed here have collapsed, and many people nearby heard the noise."

"You go deal with the firefighters. Tell them that it's the normal demolition caused by the Lins Group. Tell them to quickly finish the formalities," Sylvia ordered.

Cathy nodded and left quickly to handle this matter.

"Honey, what do you think?" Sylvia turned her head to Henry.

Henry shook his head and said, "Honey, I'll go in and have a look. You just stand here. If there's anything wrong, run out immediately."

"Okay." Sylvia nodded. She didn't ask to follow him, and she was very clear that it was just adding trouble. "Honey, take care of yourself."

Henry did not answer but strode toward the centre of the construction site.

Henry walked on the road and carefully felt the changes under his feet. Since he began to cultivate, Henry's senses had become much sharper than before. Henry could clearly feel where the breeze blowing the candle came from. Now the tremor under his feet could not be felt by ordinary people at all, but Henry could feel it very clearly.

When he arrived at the centre of the Spirit Gathering Formation, Henry was surrounded by buildings that had yet to be built. It was just like an abandoned factory.

Here, the shock was the strongest.

"Is the Spirit Gathering Formation causing the earthquake?" Henry asked as if he was talking to himself.

"No." A hoarse voice came from behind Henry, and Sackcloth Visitor came out from behind him. "Unless there is something under the Spirit Gathering Formation, the spiritual energy of heaven and earth will gradually converge and change. Um... It's just like an energy reaction furnace. After there is enough spiritual energy, it will start to operate."

Henry shrugged his shoulders and said, "One can use spiritual energy as power. Which era is it from?"

"Who knows, it's not like I've lived for hundreds of years." Sackcloth Visitor shook his head. "I've been here for the past few days. The underground reaction is much stronger than before, but nothing will happen for a while. The earthquake just now should be the concentration of energy in the past few months. You and I can't handle these things. I think the people from Section Nine will come soon."

"Talking of the devil..." Henry suddenly turned around and looked in the other direction.

There were two people, a man and a woman, who were walking in this direction.

"I pay my respects to the Emperor of Hell."

The man and the woman, who were both in their forties, came over and greeted Henry politely.

Chapter 848

"Haha, this is the first time I've seen people from Section Nine treat me so politely." Henry looked at the two coming people and smiled.

At the same time, the man and woman were also looking at Henry. When they found that there was no trace of Qi from Henry, they gasped.

If one Qi-refining practitioner couldn't see the other person's Qi, there were only two possibilities. First, the other party's strength was far beyond his own; second, the other party did not have Qi at all.

The man in front of them was the Emperor of Hell, who made the three clans bow down to him. How could he not have the Qi?

Section Nine knew that Henry was in Yinzhou. Since the middle-aged man and woman were sent to Yinzhou, they were definitely not weak. Even among the whole Section Nine, the two of them were masters. At this moment, they could not even tell Henry's real identity.

Although they already knew that the Emperor of Hell was powerful, they didn't expect that he was so powerful. If they hadn't known the identity of the person in front of them, these two people would only regard Henry as an ordinary person.

It was a very dangerous thing to treat such a horrible existence as an ordinary person.

"Your Excellency, you must be joking. For a long time, Radiant Island has always been a place of high prestige in the Underground World. Our Section Nine belongs to the Underground World as well." The man spoke.

"Alright, let's cut the crap." Henry waved his hand. "You should know that the Spirit Gathering Formation was constructed by the Su Clan when they threatened my wife. What's happening underground? Why is there an earthquake caused by Spiritual Qi?"

The two people looked at each other, and then the man replied, "Your Excellency what we know now is that there is something hidden in Yinzhou, but we don't know exactly what it is. Last time we wanted to search the Emperor's Mausoleum, but we were disappointed."

Henry reached out his hand and touched his nose. "You don't know?"

"There are many things left behind by the elders," said the woman. "We're only able to see one or two-tenths of them. There are too many things that we don't know."

Henry curled his lips and said, "Don't you have people called fortunetellers in your organization? Even he can't tell?"

"It's two different things to see it and dare to say it," said the man of the nine rounds. "Your Excellency, although we're going to share information now, the two of us have limited rights. It's better to let others negotiate with you on more things. The main purpose of our visit is to guarantee that nothing will happen here."

Henry shrugged his shoulders and said, "Then I'll leave it to you. I have to go home and sleep with my wife."

Henry waved his hand and left the man and woman. He walked towards Sylvia, who was waiting at the entrance of the construction site.

Sackcloth Visitor also flashed away and disappeared. Only two people from Section Nine were left, still standing where they were.

"Honey, what happened there?" Sylvia asked when she saw Henry coming over.

"I don't know." Henry shook his head. "Dear, arrange for people to expand the construction site. Make walls outside. Don't let anyone get close to them. Even if there is an accident, don't let anyone see it, understand?"

"Okay." Sylvia nodded her head forcefully.

Henry turned his head and looked at the centre of the construction site with a thoughtful look in his eyes.

Although the two members of Section Nine didn't say anything to Henry, they revealed one thing.

Their fortuneteller had obviously seen some things, but he did not dare to say anything.

Regarding the fortunetellers, there had always been two extremes in people's minds.

Some people believed that fortunetelling was a trick to fool people. Other people believed in the legend of fortunetelling without a doubt.

If the fortuneteller really saw something, but did not dare to say it, didn't it mean that there was really some special force in the unseen world?

Recently, Henry had seen too many things beyond his knowledge. Even the present Henry did not dare to say that there was really no transcendent power in the world.

For example, the Qi.

Was Qi a kind of energy system between heaven and earth, or a manifestation of supernatural power?

No matter what kind of explanation it was, it proved the insignificance of humanity.

If it really was a type of energy system, why was it that it couldn't be used in science and technology? Just how much power was there in this world? It was still something humans couldn't make use of.

If it was a manifestation of the supernatural power, how much more supernatural power could there be?

These questions had long been entangled in Henry's mind.

Henry looked at the time on the phone. It was already past ten o'clock.

It was very cold at night. Sylvia wore a cotton-padded jacket and stood in the cold wind. She tried her best not to show it, but her body's subconscious reaction still made her shiver.

Henry opened his arms and held Sylvia in his arms.

"My dear wife, it's been hard on you. If it weren't for me, you wouldn't have been out so late."

"What are you talking about?" Sylvia let Henry hold her and raised her small fist. "This is the construction site of our Lins Group after all. If it weren't for you, I wouldn't know how to deal with it."

They looked at each other and suddenly smiled at the same time.

When the two of them were together, they would be in their best state. They would not complain to each other, but would only be grateful to each other.

"Come on, let's go home." Henry held Sylvia's soft hand, and the two of them walked out of the construction site.

Their car was parked at the entrance of the construction site. As soon as Henry opened the door, a hoarse voice came from behind him.

"By the way, there's one thing you have to pay attention to."

Sylvia took a look and then got into the car, waiting for Henry in the car.

"What?" Henry turned around and looked at Sackcloth Visitor, who had come out of nowhere.

Henry still didn't know much about the strength of this man. He only remembered that Sanford told him that he could be safe for a short time with Sackcloth Visitor.

"The task your security company took is not easy at all." A half-smile was on the face of Sackcloth Visitor.

Henry was not surprised that Sackcloth Visitor knew about his security company and the task. Henry didn't do any secret means in this security company. If the Recluse Association couldn't even find out this kind of thing, it didn't deserve to exist for such a long time.

Henry smiled and said, "Do you have any advice for me?"

"A lot of things are not as simple as they seem. You should pay attention to this task." Sackcloth Visitor said in a hoarse voice, "Of course, you don't have to be too nervous. After all, with your current strength, few people in the world can pose a threat to you for the time being."

"I'm much relieved with your words." Henry waved his hand and said, "Well, it's late. I'm still going home to warm my wife's bed. I don't want to talk to you anymore."

After Henry said that, he sat in the driver's seat, started the car, stepped on the gas pedal, and disappeared from the sight of Sackcloth Visitor.

Chapter 849

After returning home, Henry found a laptop, opened a website, inserted a password of a total of 20 digits, and logged in to the website.

The website Henry opened showed a variety of characters. Sylvia glanced at them and found that she couldn't understand a single one of them.

"Honey, I'll go to bed first." Sylvia stood behind Henry for a while and said when she found that Henry's attention was all on the computer in front of him.

"Okay." Henry nodded without looking back.

Sylvia took a deep breath, her face blushed a little, "Honey, then I'll take a shower first. You... When you're done with your work, you can come over."

"I see, honey. Go and have a rest." Henry responded again. 1

Sylvia walked to the bedroom on the second floor.

Soon, a splash of water sounded upstairs.

In the living room downstairs, there was a crackling sound of the keyboard.

When Sylvia came out of the bathroom, she could still hear the sound of the keyboard downstairs. She was wearing silk pajamas, and its smooth texture stuck to her body, revealing a perfect S-shaped curve. Her wet hair fell behind her, and a drop of water slipped down from her forehead. If this beauty was seen by others, they would definitely go crazy.

Sylvia slowly walked to the bed, picked up a blanket, and lay on the bed. Her little face was burning red, and there was a hint of expectation in her eyes as she lay there.

Sylvia could clearly feel that her heart was beating faster, and even her hands and feet were trembling slightly unconsciously. There was a kind of tension, but she was looking forward to the sound of the man's footsteps outside the door.

In the room, there was only one bedside lamp on. It was very quiet, and the sound of the woman's breathing was very clear.

Not knowing how long it took, Sylvia suddenly opened her eyes. She didn't even realize when she fell asleep. She quickly picked up the phone on the bedside table and found that it was four o'clock in the middle of the night.

Sylvia turned her head and looked to her side. The empty bed made her feel an indescribable sense of loss. She turned her body and stepped on the ground with her soft feet. She opened the bedroom door slightly and looked at Henry's bedroom opposite to hers.

The door of Henry's bedroom was open, and there was no one inside.

There was a slight sound of keyboard tapping.

Sylvia crept to the stairs on the second floor and saw a faint light on a tea table in the dark living room coming from the computer screen.

In front of the computer screen, the man was concentrating on watching and typing from time to time.

Sylvia, who was standing at the top of the stairs, sighed slightly, turned around and went back to the bedroom. She lay there, but she couldn't fall asleep.

Everyone looked at the Emperor of Hell's glory on the surface, but they didn't know that there were many things that troubled him. As the leader of the organization, the Emperor of Hell had no way out. He had no other choice but to solve all the problems he encountered.

At five o'clock in the morning, the sky in Yinzhou was still dark.

Henry stared at the computer screen. The website he logged in was the first website he had ever logged in. When he first contacted the underground world, it was a website connected to some assassination missions. If you were not qualified to be a member, you would not be able to log in.

There was a classification of levels for each account. From level one to level ten, and level ten was the highest.

Henry's level was not the highest, and could only be ranked in the middle, at level 5.

The reason why it was like this was that Henry stopped after being exposed to the assassination for a period of time.

Although Henry's account was at level 5, on this website, there was still Henry's name on a mission that required a hundred level 10 killers.

However, Henry was not the person who accepted the task, but the target of the task.

Assassinating the Emperor of Hell required the cooperation of a hundred killers who were ranked at level 10.

Putting aside the fact that there weren't that many assassins of the tenth rank in this world, up till now, no one dared to accept the mission. From this, one could tell how important the Emperor of Hell was in the eyes of others.

One had to know that a tenth-level assassin would dare to take on an assassination mission connected to the leaders of any country alone!

What Henry was looking at now was not an assassination task.

This website was like a tavern in ancient China. It was a very large place for discussion, but there would be many unreliable gossips. If he wanted to find useful information from it, he needed to be confident in his analysis.

Henry was familiar with many languages and read a lot of missions issued from various countries. In the end, he obtained a keyword.

"Loulan!"

Henry closed the computer screen.

There were too many legends about the Loulan Kingdom around the world.

It was a mysterious place that was as famous as Bermuda's.

The Loulan Kingdom was known as one of the world's cultural heritage. According to archaeologists, it had been proven that the Loulan Kingdom had a history of human activity for 10,000 years. This was an incredible discovery.

It must be known that the longest country in history, China, was about five thousand years old. Five thousand years ago, it was a dense fog. Even if what happened ten thousand years ago could not be found in the earth beneath their feet, they could still find some traces of the past in the Loulan Kingdom.

Henry had always been interested in this kind of mysterious and unknown place. Especially now, when he knew how vast the world was and felt his own insignificance, his admiration became even more intense.

On the killer mission website in front of him, many people were responsible for exploring the Loulan Kingdom. But up to now, none of them had given effective information, and the commission for each mission had not been cleared.

The latest Loulan task was received by an ID from China. The price was very high, 300 million dollars!

Henry closed the computer and rubbed his head. He did not open the website to search for information randomly.

In recent days, strange things happened all over the world. Today, Sackcloths Visitor mentioned this again, which made Henry have a feeling that the task taken by his company this time was likely to have something to do with the underground world. Now he found that it might be true. Henry was eighty per cent sure that the security task he received was to escort a certain person to find something in Loulan. After all, the reputation of the Yinzhou branch of Collier Security Company was not very good, but the person directly promised to pay several million yuan.

Henry stretched his body and his bones crackled. He had been sitting here for too long and his muscles were stiff. Looking at the time, it was already 5:30 a.m.

Henry simply went to the yard to practise boxing. When it was 6:30 a.m., people got up from their beds and prepared to welcome the arrival of a new day.

Sylvia, who was lying on the bed, never fell asleep again. She leaned against the window and quietly looked at Henry in the courtyard, and her eyes gradually became obsessed.

Chapter 850

After Sylvia went back to her bed, she waited for another twenty minutes before going downstairs, pretending to have just woken up.

On the dining table, exquisite breakfast had been prepared.

Henry walked out of the kitchen with a porcelain plate in his hand. When he saw Sylvia, he smiled and said, "Honey, you are awake?"

"Yes." Sylvia nodded. "Dear, I fell asleep last night."

"Haha." Henry laughed loudly and said, "I saw that you were asleep, so I didn't disturb you. I went to sleep in another room. Come on, sit down first. I still have to fry some eggs."

After saying that, Henry turned and walked to the kitchen.

Sylvia looked at Henry's back and walked forward silently.

Henry was standing in front of the stove. Suddenly, he felt two soft arms wrapped around his waist. Then, a softness was attached to his back, and Sylvia's side face was attached to Henry's back.

Henry, who had just taken out two eggs and was ready to crack them, was suddenly stunned and motionless. "Honey, you..."

"Don't talk, let me hug you." Sylvia's soft voice came into Henry's ears.

Lying on the man's back, Sylvia could clearly smell the unique smell on the man's body. This thick shoulder and back made her feel at ease.

Thinking of the man who didn't sleep last night and made that kind of lie, Sylvia suddenly felt that she was too selfish. Her man was the Emperor of Hell. In the whole underground world, he was the leader. Everyone on Radiant Island had to respect his order. Such a man wanted to stay beside her. She felt happy, but he couldn't focus on his mission wholeheartedly.

Such a man should not belong to her alone. In fact, as long as he had her in his heart, that was enough.

It was said that Sylvia was the queen of the business world in Yinzhou, but Sylvia herself was very clear that she was just an ordinary little girl in front of Henry. If he was willing, there were too many women better than her in the world waiting for him to choose.

In fact, there were some things that Sylvia was not willing to think about. In the Shen area, the policewoman, who was covered with explosive, wanted to destroy the whole cave and let all the people die because of Henry. How could Sylvia not understand the relationship between her and Henry?

There was also Jenny's love for Henry. Although during this period of time, Jenny had not shown it, Sylvia was clear that Jenny was only suppressing her love for Henry from the bottom of her heart. This kind of suppression would not let her love fade away. Instead, it would only make her love more and more intense.

And... in France, she personally put drugs in the wine of Henry and Milan, and took them to the hotel.

At this moment, Sylvia finally realized why she wanted to keep Henry by her side. It was because she was afraid of losing him.

If one day Henry suddenly left, Sylvia couldn't imagine what her world would look like.

However, at the very least, she was happy now. Among so many outstanding women, he only recognized her as his wife and married her.

"Hubby, you've been working hard during this period of time."

Sylvia used all her strength to hold Henry's waist and stick herself tightly to Henry's back.

Henry slowly turned around and let Sylvia's pretty face stick to his chest. He held Sylvia's jade shoulder with his hand and said softly, "My dear wife, why do you suddenly say these things?"

Sylvia shook her head and didn't say anything. She just quietly held Henry in her arms. Sylvia had a hunch soon, Henry might leave again.

The two just stood quietly in the kitchen, and neither of them spoke or moved.

When the ringing of a cell phone rang in the living room, the silence was broken.

Sylvia released her hands in a panic and pushed Henry's chest. She wiped away the tears on her face quickly and turned to walk to the dining room. "Hurry up and answer the phone. Don't forget that you have told Alvin you will make him stronger."

Henry looked at the tear stains left by the woman on the clothes on his chest. He slowly shook his head and went to the living room. The phone call was indeed from Alvin.

"Mr. Zhang, everything is ready. The other party sent an email this morning, asking us to meet in Wulu City."

Listening to Alvin's words, Henry's mouth curved into a smile.

Wulu City, as expected, had something to do with the Loulan Kingdom! This time, Henry had to go and see why the forces from all over the world would set Loulan as the target and send out search teams.

What exactly was hidden within this Loulan Kingdom's borders?

Henry accompanied Sylvia to eat breakfast. Before he could speak, Sylvia said first, "Honey, pay attention to safety when you go out this time. I'll go to work first."

After Sylvia finished speaking, she didn't hesitate much. She changed her clothes and walked out with large strides.

Looking at the woman's back, Henry understood that she just didn't want him to be sad. 1

Henry stood up and took a deep breath. Now that things had happened, he had to solve it. After all, he should not have so many emotions like this! In the past, he had nothing and would fight his way out and establish Radiant Island. But now, he had so many helpers, why should he be afraid?

Henry tidied up his clothes and walked out of the house. Before he went out of the yard, he said, "Watch this place."

After that, Henry strode away.

In front of Henry's security company, Alvin had been ready to go. It could be seen that he was very nervous.

Behind Alvin stood thirty people. Some were male, some were female, some were old, and some were young. There was also a young woman who was not even twenty years of age. All of them were people who were preparing to participate in the mission this time.

That adorable young girl exuded a youthful vigour. No one would have thought that she would already be ranked amongst the top of the world's hitmen.

The thirty people looked relaxed and talked about some topics. The older men gathered together to talk about women and cigarettes, the younger ones talked about games. The women just talked about cosmetics and trivial things in the work unit.

Each Reaper had his own daily routine. Only when the time was right would they become the Demons of Hell and appear.

Alvin had received several missions from the security company, but it was his first time to go on a mission, and it was also his first time to see security personnel of the security company. He couldn't understand why these people were qualified to be bodyguards.

This wasn't because Alvin wasn't confident, but rather because every ordinary person, when they saw these Reapers, would feel this type of doubt.

The group of people waited for more than ten minutes and saw Henry appear from the end of the road.

Chapter 851

After seeing Henry, the Reapers who were laughing and chatting all changed their faces to a serious one. At this moment, the momentum of the 30 people had undergone a tremendous change.

If they were thrown into the crowd before seeing Henry, they would be like stones thrown into the sea and would not stir up any waves. But now, they felt like a sharp knife. Even if one passed by them, one would feel that the air was full of fierceness.

"All right, relax a little." After Henry came over, he waved his hand and said.

Upon hearing this, the thirty people instantly returned to their original state.

"Mr. Zhang, you're here." Alvin came over. When he saw Henry, he seemed to be calmer, as if he had met his backbone.

Henry nodded and asked, "Did the other party give us the instruction for the mission?"

"Yes." Alvin nodded. He quickly took out a file from his backpack and handed it to Henry. "It is here. There's also the contract from the other party. I've verified it many times. There's no problem."

Henry opened the file and looked at the client on it.

"Delsean Attard?"

Henry thought about this name, but he did not remember such a figure. However, he felt relieved when he thought about it. The person who really wanted to take the task from the website would not personally issue the statement.

It was written that Henry's security company would protect the client to go to the Loulan Kingdom. The rest of the things were not written down, and the compensation was seven million yuan.

Henry glanced at this letter, but he couldn't find any useful information, so he waved his hand and said, "Okay, let's go!"

"Mr. Zhang, the tickets have not been booked yet. I just checked it. There are so many people here, we might need to separate. There are flights at ten o'clock, ten o'clock, eleven o'clock..." Before Alvin finished speaking, he was interrupted by Henry.

"The first step to becoming powerful is to broaden your horizons. First of all, you have to remember that you are an employee of the Lins Group, so you should be confident in your own company!"

As soon as Henry finished speaking, two long Benzes stopped by the road. The driver got out of the car, trotted to the rear, and opened the door.

"Let's go. Get in the car." Henry patted Alvin on the shoulder and was the first to enter the car.

Alvin looked at the two cars in front of him, feeling a little confused. He had just started his career a few months ago. As usual, he looked through his friend's circle and saw his classmates flying around on business trips. He was very envious. Who would have thought that one day, a Benz would pick him up?

Alvin got on the car with a blank look on his face. It was not until Lin's private plane took off in the sky of Yinzhou that Alvin came to his senses. Yes, his company was the Lins Group!

What did that mean? A group worth billions, private jets, and luxury cars... That was the power of the Lins Group.

Henry gradually showed a confident look in front of Alvin and smiled. This society was like this. To make a person full of confidence, the most basic way was to stimulate with money.

Sitting on this private plane, Alvin didn't know what to do. This was his first time taking a plane, not to mention a private plane. Inside the cabin, there were not only expensive leather seats, spacious soft beds, wine cabinet filled with famous wine, bathtub, game room, and other facilities. It was exactly the same as the presidential suite Alvin saw on TV.

It would take around three hours from Yinzhou to Wulu City.

Although Western Chinese Province and Xin province were adjacent, it should be known that the total area of the Xin province was one-seventh of the total area of the whole of China, and it was vast and sparsely populated. Except for Wulu city, the house prices were extremely low.

The price of just one square meter in some first-tier cities was enough to buy the whole house here.

When the Lins' private plane landed at Wulu Airport, it was eleven o'clock.

For people in Xin province, this time was the time when they were about to take a taxi to work in the morning.

Although Xin province was counting the time according to the Capital, the time here was two hours later than other places. Two o'clock in the afternoon was a normal lunch time.

Hundreds of years ago, Wulu City was known as the Western Region. The locals' faces were also very surprising to the majority of the people.

"Mr. Zhang, the girls in this province are really beautiful."

Alvin walked around the airport, looking at the beautiful women walking back and forth, and sighed with emotion.

"Boy, let's get down to business first." Henry smiled.

The address given to Alvin by Delsean was in the airport hotel of Wulu City. A very ordinary express hotel had been booked.

When Henry and others arrived here, they found several people sitting at the entrance of the hotel and counting.

Alvin took out an invitation card from his backpack and walked over.

"Collier Security Company from Yinzhou?" The young woman in charge of the registration was about 25 or 26 years old. When she saw the invitation sent by Alvin, she unconsciously showed a hint of contempt in her eyes. "I finally meet the real person."

"The real person?" Alvin asked in confusion.

"Who else can it be? It's a little security company." Next to the woman, another man who was in charge of the registration spoke. "A small security company has a terrible reputation but still dares to ask for seven million yuan. I really can't understand why Mr. Attard agreed. If it were me, I would have told you to leave long ago."

These two people who were in charge of the registration expressed strong dissatisfaction towards Alvin. After they finished their words, they looked behind Alvin. When they saw the 30 Reapers, old and young, male and female, who were chatting together, the disdain in their eyes grew even stronger.

"Are you really a security company?" A middle-aged man in his forties came out.

The man and woman in charge of the registration hurriedly greeted Director Chen.

Director Chen looked at Alvin suspiciously and said, "Show me your business licenses. Also, I'm afraid the people you brought here aren't security guards, are they?"

The 30 Reapers, carrying bags on their backs, looked like they were out for a vacation.

After being questioned like this, Alvin looked anxious and said in a hurry, "Sorry, we didn't bring a business license with us. We are indeed in a security company."

"Are you a security company? Fu*k, since when did the old, the weak, and disabled become members of a security company?" A burst of laughter came from the side.

Alvin looked in the direction of the laughter and saw five strong men walking out of the hotel with cigarettes in their mouths. On the back of the five strong men's clothes the words "Blessing Security Company" were written.

Alvin knew a little about this Blessing Security Company. In the security industry, they were relatively famous, reaching the four-star level.

Chapter 852

Director Chen frowned and looked at Alvin and the people behind him. "I remember that we made a clear statement when the task was released. Only security companies with more than three stars can take on the task. Do you guys have three stars?"

Director Chen kept glancing back and forth at the 30 Reapers. It looked like these people came here just for fun.

"Yes, we are Collier Security Company, a five-star Security Company. This is our certificate." Alvin quickly pulled out a certificate from his backpack and handed it to Director Chen.

Director Chen took a glance at them and then snorted, "You really know how to take advantage of the situation. Collier Security Company from Qing Province opened a branch in Yinzhou. Do you have the nerve to ask for seven million yuan?"

"Seven million? What the fk!" The people from the Blessing Security Company widened their eyes when they heard the price. "What the fk, this group of the old, the sick and the disabled can ask for seven million yuan, but they gave us only two million yuan?"

"I say, do you have the f*cking nerve to name the price?"

"F*ck, what the hell is this?"

The members of the Blessing Security Company cursed in a bad mood.

Alvin stood there and didn't know how to respond for a while. He could only turn around and cast his pleading eyes at Henry.

Henry shook his head helplessly. Alvin's social experience was too little. After a little scare, it turned out to be like this.

Director Chen was obviously someone who had no real power, and he deliberately said the price of seven million in front of the bodyguards from the Blessing Security Company. Obviously, he wanted to make trouble. As for why he wanted to make trouble, it was easy to understand. It was about money.

If the strength of the security guards from Collier Security was really not strong enough, they would definitely find a way to get some amount of their money. They would have to give Director Chen some amount of the seven million yuan commission.

Unfortunately, the people who came today were Reapers.

Henry strode up, stared at Director Chen's badge, and then said, "When can we register?"

"You can't register." Director Chen's face darkened. "Do you see yourself? Do you want to register it? Seven million yuan. Let me ask you. Do you think you're qualified?"

"I will ask you again. When can we register?" Henry asked again.

"Sh*t, you are a group of people who are sick and disabled, and you're very arrogant." The guard for Blessing Security gave them the middle finger.

"I'll say it again. You can't register!" Director Chen raised his voice by three degrees. "If you want to register, change the members of your team and make us satisfied. These guys can't register!"

Director Chen's voice was loud. He did not hide the disdain in his words and it was clearly transmitted into the ears of the 30 Reapers.

When the Reapers heard Director Chen's words, they did not show the slightest bit of concern. Their minds told them that they did not need to care about the evaluation of the outside world. They only needed to complete the task given by the king.

"Ha." Henry chuckled and his eyes narrowed. Just as he was about to take action, he heard a shout from the side.

"Ignorant!" A man in a winter jacket of about 30 years old walked out from the entrance of the hotel. He stared at Director Chen and said, "I asked you to receive the guests, but I didn't mean to embarrass them!"

Director Chen immediately lowered his head. "President Attard!"

"Okay, leave it to me." President Attard waved to Director Chen impatiently, and then walked to Henry. He reached out his hand to Henry and said, "You must be Mr. Zhang from Collier Security Company. I am the client for this mission, Delsean Attard."

Henry also reached out his hand and looked at Delsean in front of him at the same time. Henry could not feel any Qi from Delsean. "Do you know me, Mr. Attard?"

"Haha, I was lucky enough to watch your grading video from Qing Province." Delsean chuckled and said, "I'm sorry, Mr. Zhang. The people under my command are not sensible."

"It's all right. It's windy here and it's cold outside. They must have some temper." Henry waved his hand. What he meant was, "First of all, I can pretend that nothing has happened. Secondly, don't show this temper again."

"Thank you very much, Mr. Zhang. We have prepared a place for you to stay. Please come with me, Mr. Zhang." Delsean made a gesture and then turned to lead the way.

Henry nodded and followed him into the hotel. Alvin and others all followed Henry.

"Mr. Zhang, your Yinzhou branch of Collier Security Company Security is the most special one in the whole security industry of China." Delsean, who was walking ahead, deliberately stopped and continued to move forward after Henry walked side by side with him.

"Oh? What do you mean, Mr. Attard?"

"Mr. Zhang, your security company is full of negative comments. You rarely take tasks, but every time you take the tasks, it is a complete success. If my friend had not cooperated with you last time, I would have really ignored you," Delsean said with a smile.

Henry suddenly understood that Delsean was not a rich and overbearing person. He did not casually find a small security company and agree to a commission of seven million yuan. It turned out that he had heard about their company.

"Mr. Zhang, there is something that I have to tell you in advance." Delsean went to the elevator of the hotel and suddenly turned around. "Although your company is powerful, its reputation in the industry is not very good. This is a fact. This time, your company has asked seven million yuan as a commission. According to the current situation, it will definitely make others dissatisfied. I hope that Mr. Zhang, you can finish this mission in peace. After everyone finishes this mission safely, everyone will get their commission. What do you think?"

"Of course." Henry nodded. "We've always thought peace is the most important thing."

"Then, Mr. Zhang, please pardon me for what I have done."

With a "ding", the elevator door opened.

Delsean reached out and blocked the door of the elevator. "Mr. Zhang, please. Everyone's room is on the fourth floor. It has been arranged. Someone will receive you. I'll tell you the details of the task at dinner."

"Thank you." Henry smiled at Delsean and walked into the elevator.

Alvin followed Henry into the elevator. The remaining 30 Reapers could not get in the elevator together, so they had to go in groups.

After a few rounds, only two younger girls from Henry's team were left standing on the first floor.

"Hey, little girl, it's a pity that such a beautiful girl is a security guard. Why don't you ask your brother to protect you?" A bodyguard from Blessing Security came and said to a girl who looked less than 20 years old.

As soon as the guard's voice fell, he heard his companions' perverted laughter around him.

The two female Reapers continued to chat as if they hadn't heard the words of those people.

"Oh, little girl, do you have a character?" Seeing that he was ignored, the burly man from the Blessing Security felt a little awkward. He moved closer to the two girls and reached out his hand to touch the girl in front of him.
