

Chapter 853

The sturdy man from the Blessing Security went straight to a girl's chest with his hands.

The two girls standing there, almost at the same time, showed fierce killing intent in their eyes, but it dissipated in an instant. Henry had already told them not to make trouble.

Just then, the elevator came down again. With a "ding" sound, the elevator door opened.

Before the man's hands touched their bodies, the two girls walked into the elevator and quickly pressed the button to go upstairs.

The man and his teammates stood outside the elevator door, watching the two girls panicking as they closed the door. This scene caused them to burst into laughter.

"This Collier Security Company Security was really looking for a group of chickens to fill in the numbers!"

"It's just a group of opportunistic people. I don't understand why Delsean agreed to pay seven million yuan. Give me seven million yuan, and I'll ask a few hundred more people to help him!"

"Haha, I guess Delsean didn't expect that Collier Security's branch office in Yinzhou City was such a group of people. They have signed the agreement, and now it's too late to regret."

"Let's wait and see. It's not easy to get in the Loulan Kingdom. At that time, we will see how the security guards of Collier Security will run out of there!"

As they spoke, the five bodyguards walked to the side.

The dinner time in Xin province was usually at eight o'clock in the evening.

At about 7:30 p.m., someone knocked on Henry's door.

Henry opened the door and saw Delsean standing in front of the door.

"Mr. Zhang, do I disturb you?"

"We are here to work, and you don't disturb us. Please come in, Mr. Attard." Henry made a gesture of invitation.

After meeting Delsean at noon, Henry sent someone to investigate him. As a result, the news he got was very bad. The information showed that this Delsean did not have any background from the underground world. He was just an ordinary archaeologist, and his ancestors were all involved in archaeology, and his family background was substantial.

It was the most troublesome thing to find out that the identity of this person was regular.

He was an ordinary archaeologist, but he was entangled with the tasks published on the killers' website. Who was the person behind him?

Delsean walked into the room. Each of his movements was observed by Henry.

Through a series of observations, even Henry didn't want to admit it, but Delsean was an ordinary person. Henry deliberately made some threatening movements, only to find that Delsean didn't respond at all. Unless Delsean had a strong mental strength, otherwise, he would subconsciously react. A person who was wandering on the edge of the underground world would have such muscle memory.

"Mr. Attard, you suddenly visited me. What can I do for you?" Henry sat down on a chair and said with a smile.

"There is one thing. I want to ask Mr. Zhang for help." Delsean said, "This time, I have invited a total of six security companies. All of them are famous in the industry. I compared all the six security companies, including your company, and came to the conclusion that the strength of your company is far more than that of the other five security companies. Therefore, I want to ask Mr. Zhang's people to pay more attention to it. I think Mr. Zhang, you should understand what I mean. You can increase the price."

"Ha." Henry smiled gently. "From what Mr. Attard said, the risks of this task are very high?"

"Yes." Delsean nodded without hesitation. "Otherwise, I wouldn't spend so much money. I ask the six security companies to act together. This time, it's very likely that we'll encounter some trouble. These people you brought are very deceptive. This trick may bring a miraculous effect when trouble occurs. So I want to change the agreement. As for the commission, I can add three million yuan to Mr. Zhang."

Henry pretended to think. Two minutes later, he asked, "What kind of change do you want to make, Mr. Attard?"

"It's very simple. On the way here, your people should try not to show their strength. I will not assign the rest of the tasks to you. You just need to protect two people." At this time, Delsean reached out and pointed to himself. "One is me, and the other is Professor Gu."

Professor Gu will come later. You just need to secretly protect him and try not to let others know."

Henry's eyes flashed a glimmer of light, and then he laughed and said, "Mr. Attard, if you trust me that much, I will certainly not refuse such a good thing."

Seeing Henry's promise, Delsean's face lit up. "Thank you for your help, Mr. Zhang. But if you do so, it's likely that Mr. Zhang's people will suffer on the road."

"We will get a lot of money, so we can bear that." Henry waved his hand indifferently.

"Mr. Zhang, I wish we have a happy cooperation." Delsean stretched out his hand.

"Nice working with you!" Henry also reached out his right hand and reached an agreement.

"It's getting late. I have prepared a dinner party. Would you like to come with me, Mr. Zhang?" Delsean made a gesture outside the door.

"Of course."

There was a banquet hall, neither too big nor too small, prepared by Delsean in this hotel.

When Henry led a group of Reapers to come with Delsean, the banquet hall was already full.

As soon as Henry and others entered the door, they immediately attracted nearly a hundred people's eyes. The owners of these eyes were all the people from major security companies who came to carry out their missions.

The news that the branch of Collier Security brought a group of old, sick and disabled people and asked for seven million yuan had been spread through the people from the Blessing Security.

However, a group of people composed of the old, the sick, and the disabled got a commission of seven million yuan, which immediately caused the dissatisfaction of many people. Among the six security companies, only the Flourishing Security Company had the same commission as Collier Security. The rest of the security companies didn't get that much.

Everyone was convinced that Flourishing Security should get a commission of seven million yuan. After all, Flourishing Security was famous in the whole of China. It could be said that it was in the top five companies in the whole country. Seven million yuan was not a lot. On the contrary, some people thought that Flourishing's price was too low.

But Flourishing Security was Flourishing Security. What did Collier Security think when they offered their price?

The people present looked at Henry and others with hatred, jealousy, disdain, and strong contempt in their eyes.

Facing numerous eyes, Henry seemed to see nothing and walked to a table with a relaxed look. The remaining 30 Reapers were all calm, except for Alvin, who seemed very uncomfortable.

"Be confident. Don't forget that the Lins Group is behind you. It's easy for you to buy all the security companies present." Henry patted Alvin on the shoulder.

When Alvin heard these words, he subconsciously straightened his back a little, but he still felt a little scared in front of these people.

Chapter 854

Delsean witnessed what happened in the banquet hall. He turned around and apologized to Henry with a smile. According to the assignments, these people's misunderstanding with Collier Security would last for a long time. In this period of time, he was afraid that Collier Security would experience such a cold-shoulder situation.

Henry shook his head slightly and shrugged, showing that it didn't matter.

Everyone took their seats. Henry could hear other people. On the table at the side, from time to time, he would hear a few specific words. These things were naturally filtered out by Henry.

After everyone sat down, the dishes were served on the table one after another, all of which were specialities from Xin Province, such as Saute Spicy Chicken.

When the dishes were almost served, Delsean stood up and raised his glass. "Everybody, I'm not a man with a strong cultural background, so I won't say too many polite words. This trip to the Loulan Kingdom will be accompanied by danger along the way. Please take good care of me along the way!"

"President Attard, you're being too polite. We're here for money, but this commission..." A man who belonged to Flourishing Security said.

When it came to the commission, all the people present from the other five security companies were very interested in it and all their eyes were focused on Delsean.

Delsean smiled and said, "Everyone, I, Delsean Attard, know the rules of the security industry well. We will leave tomorrow morning. The first 30 per cent of the commission will be paid after entering the desert. After we come out of the desert, 70 per cent will be transferred to you."

As soon as Delsean finished his words, all the people from the five security companies present showed joy on their faces.

"How generous you are, President Attard!" the man from Flourishing Security shouted.

In the security industry, the employer usually paid a deposit of 10% in advance. When the task was completed, the rest of the money would be paid. The 30 per cent Delsean had mentioned was far higher than usual.

"Haha." Delsean chuckled and said, "But everyone, before this mission is carried out, I'll make it clear first. If someone quits, he will not get the rest of the commission."

"Don't worry, President Attard. Since we're doing this, we'll put our lives on the line for this money!" The members of the Blessing Security waved their hands.

Delsean nodded.

There were many security companies in China. The reason why he chose these five companies besides Collier Security Company was that there was a difference between the characteristics of these five companies and most of the security companies.

A lot of security companies only carried out simple security missions, but these five companies, just like ancient mercenaries, would risk their lives for money. As for Collier Security, someone introduced them to Delsean, and Delsean tried, and then they made a deal.

"Well, then I hope that we can succeed. I hope that all of you can work together to complete the task!" Delsean raised his glass again and said, "Cheers!"

"Cheers!"

All the people in the banquet hall raised their glasses.

Halfway through the meal, Director Chen, who was under the command of Delsean, began to assign tasks to every security company. Everyone was responsible for various tasks, including the protection of goods and materials.

Everyone knew that this trip to the desert was not a leisure trip. In the desolate desert, anything could happen. There was no lack of evil people who would force people to the extreme. In the desert, supplies were the biggest wealth.

As for the road exploration task, it would be entrusted to Flourishing Security, which was the strongest.

When all the tasks were arranged, they suddenly realized a problem. In this mission distribution, the staff of Collier Security, who received the same commission as Flourishing Security, was not assigned any task. The 32 of them seemed to be travelling!

"Director Chen, let me ask you, why did Collier Security receive no tasks?" The person in charge of Blessing Security asked.

"Erm..." Director Chen looked embarrassed and glanced at Delsean. He couldn't figure out why he didn't assign the task to Collier Security.

However, this was what Delsean asked him to do, so he couldn't do anything about it.

Seeing Director Chen in a dilemma, a person from another security company next to him opened his mouth and said, "Oh, what don't you understand? Collier Security is a group of old, weak, and disabled people. What can they do? If we give the goods to them to protect and if the supplies get stolen, they wouldn't even realize. I am afraid that they will be a burden to us by then. Delsean has signed the agreement, so he can't go back on his word. He can only take it as a failure. Seven million yuan, it's not a small number."

"Sh*t, I don't want to care about this group of old and weak." Willson Cao, the leader of Blessing Security, said, "In the desert, their life or death has nothing to do with me."

"It has nothing to do with us. Our task is to protect Mr. Delsean. As for this group of old and weak, I bet they will leave in less than ten days!" A member of Vigour Security said.

"I bet seven days!" Richard shouted.

"Seven days? Five days is too much!" Director Chen couldn't help but add.

They looked at each other and burst into laughter.

When Alvin heard the laughter coming from the surroundings, he felt that it was particularly harsh, and his heart was filled with anger.

"Mr. Zhang, they've gone too far!" Alvin sat next to Henry and said with resentment, as he could not continue eating delicious food placed not the table.

"Too much?" Henry smiled. "They just act like a bunch of clowns. Remember one thing."

"What?" Alvin raised his head, his face full of confusion.

"The more people are against you, the more jealous they are of you. Unless you are a good-for-nothing, then no one will take you seriously. You have to be clear about one thing. No matter how much they say, or how much disdain their eyes show, you are probably stronger than them, or better than them!" Henry picked up a piece of chicken and put it into his mouth.

"Mr. Zhang, are we really stronger than them?" Alvin looked confused.

"Our Lins Group can buy countless companies like theirs. As the representative of the Lins Group, do you think you are weaker than them? If you think so, tell me, how are you weaker than them?" Henry put down his chopsticks, took out a tissue, wiped his mouth, and looked at Alvin.

Alvin was stunned. He looked to the side and then slowly said, "Our strength..."

"Let's not talk about our exact strength." Henry interrupted Alvin directly. "What you see is what they are deliberately showing in front of you. You don't need to pay attention to these things. What you have to see is the core. Tell me, what is the core of this world?"

Alvin remained silent for two seconds and then shook his head.

"It's money." Henry knocked on the table with his fingers. "Although it sounds very superficial, that's the case. No matter how strong they are, they still serve others for money, don't they? Do you think that Delsean is strong? If he is strong, why does he have to pay to hire people? But these people respect him. Do you know why?"

Alvin blurted out, "Delsean has money!"

"Correct." Henry snapped his fingers.
