

Chapter 869

Delsean's expression surprised Henry.

Now Henry still couldn't figure out which underground force Delsean belonged to, but no matter which underground force it was, he shouldn't show such a look of unwillingness and regret unless this Delsean hid his strength so deeply that even a subconscious look could deceive people.

After the heads of the three security companies refused Delsean, they obviously slowed down a lot and distanced themselves from him. Obviously, they didn't want to talk about anything regarding fighting for the tripod anymore.

In this manner, they continued to walk for hours. The journey in the desert was different from the leisure trip. A couple of hours had already caused everyone, who had already been tired, feel exhausted now. There were even some who had to support each other while walking.

"Let's rest for a while. If we continue like this, we won't be able to make it out of here. Let's also share some water and food with the people around us. The most important thing is to leave alive now. When we get out this time, I'll let you go on a nice holiday!" Wilson shouted to boost morale.

However, it was obviously useless to boost morale now. Everyone didn't want to have fun, but they just wanted to have a good rest.

"Let's take a break," Henry said to the group of Reapers.

As soon as Henry finished speaking, these Reapers sat together in an orderly manner. They took out their dried food and water and began to share with the people around them. They did not drink like others. They were afraid that they could not drink water, so they took over the kettle and drank it in large mouthfuls. They took small sips of water, letting the water moisten their lips first, then the mouth, and finally the throat.

Alvin carefully took out the water bottle hanging on his waist, unscrewed the lid, and poured the water into his mouth.

Henry took a look at it and found that Alvin's bottle was still full. That was to say, Alvin had saved the water along the way, including the snacks. The snacks were not touched at all.

Alvin's spirit and tenacity in the desert were much stronger than before, but Henry could see that Alvin had reached his limit. After the previous things, he had been tense all the time. If anything bad happened to him now, he would collapse at any time.

This kind of breakdown was either to let him completely break out and completely abandon his cowardly character, or to crush his last nerve. It was very likely that he would never stand up again, and he might even lose his mind.

"Boy, bring your water and food to me!" A shout was suddenly heard in front of Henry's team. They saw a strong man who was a member of Blessing Security striding toward Alvin.

This muscular man was precisely the person who had been bullying Alvin all the time.

Seeing the strong man coming over, Henry pressed his palm on the void, indicating that those Reapers should not worry about him.

Alvin watched him walk to him. Without saying a word, he continued to hold the water bottle and drink water slowly. Then he picked up a piece of dry cracker casually, putting it in his mouth and chewing it.

When the strong man saw that Alvin didn't pay any attention to him, a trace of viciousness flashed through his eyes. He opened his mouth and scolded, "Little brat, didn't you hear what I said?"

Alvin slowly raised his head and looked at the muscular man in front of him. He asked softly, "Do you want some water and dried food?"

"Don't talk nonsense with me. Hand it over quickly!" The robust man looked at the bottle in Alvin's hand, and his eyes were filled with greed.

"Oh." Alvin responded in a soft voice.

Then he slowly brought over the bottle in his hand. As the lid of the kettle fell down, the clear water in the kettle flowed to the sand. Water in the bottle almost flowed out in a few seconds.

At the same time, Alvin threw all the food in his hand and from the bag to the ground, spat on it, and buried it with sand.

After doing all this, Alvin grinned at the strong man and said, "I'm sorry, we don't have any water or food."

Henry, sitting on the side, saw such a scene, and his eyes flashed a smile. After so many days of suppression, finally, it worked. As he expected, Alvin broke out at this moment. His burst was not to make himself more cowardly, but to give up his original weakness completely. Now, Alvin no longer had the previous fear in his eyes, but he was fearless.

The man could only watch as the water in Alvin's bottle flowed like streams. His eyes turned red and anger filled his heart. Not only did this anger contain a pity for him, but it was also because this ant in front of him dared to provoke him!

"I'm going to kill you!" The man roared and stepped forward, kicking at Alvin's face.

Sitting here, Alvin's eyes flashed a trace of cold light. He suddenly pulled out a dagger from his boots and stabbed straight at the man.

If it was an ordinary person, he would definitely have no way to avoid such a sneak attack by Alvin.

However, this strong man was still a martial arts practitioner. It wasn't as if Alvin's sneak attack would be enough to succeed. Alvin's dagger was sent flying by the strong man the moment it approached him.

Alvin was shocked and quickly turned over to pick up the dagger. As a result, he was kicked out by the strong man. It was impossible to pick up the dagger.

"This dagger was stolen by him from the carriage of the bandits. He pretended to be in a coma and hid it in his shoes after stealing the dagger." The Reaper next to Henry explained to Henry.

Henry nodded and said, "All right, get up and get ready to work. We can't watch the receptionist be beaten to death."

These Reapers all laughed and rose to their feet.

On the other side, after the strong bear kicked Alvin's face, he stepped on it again. Alvin suddenly grabbed the sand from the ground and threw it at the strong man's face. He endured the pain and rushed toward the strong man.

"I'll kill you!" Alvin shouted, with a crazy look on his face.

"Get lost!" Another strong man standing not far away saw his people fighting with others. He rushed over and kicked Alvin into the air.

At the same time, the strong man, whose eyes were raised with sand, came back to earth. He was angry that he had suffered a loss from such a person. His face was full of anger. "Fu*k, boy, I will kill you today!"

The two strong men, regardless of the consequences, walked towards Alvin, and on their faces, there was clear killing intent.

Alvin was kicked down again. His originally weak body was seriously injured again. This time, even if he wanted to get up and risk his life, his body would not allow him. He only felt very confused, and he didn't even have the ability to think.

The two strong men from Blessing Security walked up to Alvin and punched towards his face with their fists.

"Two against one, I'm afraid it's not appropriate, is it?"

Henry grabbed the wrists of the two guards and said with a smile.

Chapter 870

The two strong men found that their hands that were about to be hit Alvin were caught by others. When they looked back, they found that it was Henry, so they immediately scolded him.

"Brat, are you f*cking going to go against me?"

"What? Do we need you to tell us what our Blessing Security should do?"

The fight here immediately attracted a lot of people's attention.

On Blessing Security's side, a few people walked out on the spot and strode towards Henry and the others.

"What's wrong? What's wrong? Are you going to fight?" Wilson walked over wobblingly and said to Henry, "Henry Zhang, control yourself! Don't go against my people. Just tell me what's wrong."

"Haha." Henry smiled and said, "Mr. Cao, It's such a small thing, so I don't want to bother you. The people under your command are just causing a small conflict."

"If there is a conflict, then it is a conflict." Wilson did not care. "We are all security guards. If there is a conflict, we should solve it with our fists. Unless you admit that your people are a group of garbage and dare not to use our fists."

Henry, with a smile on his face, shrugged his shoulders and said, "I'm not very resistant to fighting, but Mr. Cao, I'm afraid it's against the rules that two fight against one, right?"

"Rules?" Wilson sneered and said, "Then I'll tell Mr. Zhang what the rules are. In my place, fists are rules. If you want, two of you can fight against one of us. Today, even if I, Wilson Cao, die here, I won't complain. This is my rule. Mr. Zhang, do you understand?"

When Henry heard this, he seemed to realize something and said, "Oh, I see, I see. I understood as soon as Mr. Cao said that. Mr. Cao, please wait a moment. I have to tell my men about the rules."

After Henry finished his words, he walked up to Alvin and stared at his eyes.

Alvin did the same, also staring at Henry.

In Alvin's eyes, Henry saw the raging anger.

Henry said, "Alvin, let me ask you, what do you want to do now?"

"I'm going to kill them all!" Alvin clenched his fists and said through clenched teeth.

Henry frowned and said, "Tell me clearly, do you want to kill the people who just fought with you, or to kill all of them?"

"Kill them all! Those who have insulted me, those who have bullied me, all of them must die!" Alvin clenched his fist with extreme force. His fingernails had already been embedded into his flesh, and it was clear just how terrifying the hatred in his heart was.

During these few days, Alvin was bullied, insulted, and this type of anger was all accumulated in his heart. Coupled with his experiences from the past few years, they all erupted at this moment. This type of negative energy was exceptionally terrifying.

Henry patted Alvin's shoulder and said, "There is something I need to emphasize for you. You are an adult and also a man. You have to be responsible for what you have said, so before you make a decision, you should think about it carefully. Once you make a decision, you can't go back on your words. I will ask you one last time. What do you want to do? I won't urge you. Answer me when you are ready."

As soon as Henry finished his words, Alvin said, "I've thought about it. I want to kill all of them!"

"Okay, this is your decision." Henry snapped his fingers and then stopped talking to Alvin. He turned around and looked at Wilson. "Mr. Cao, I just told my people that you set the rules. I think it is very reasonable. Men should settle their problems with their fists. Even if one side dies here, we are willing to do so. However, I still think that it is unreasonable for you two to fight one of us."

"Oh? What do you think, Mr. Zhang?" Wilson waved his hand, and all the members of the Blessing Security came over. They were all rubbing their hands and smiling coldly. Some people kept looking up and down at the women from Collier Security. The corners of their mouths were lifted into a playful smile, and no one knew what they were thinking about.

The commotion here had already attracted the attention of Delsean. Originally, he thought that everyone would just say a few words and everything would be over. But he did not expect that things would get worse. Now the two security companies were about to fight. As the client this time, Delsean naturally could not see such a thing happen, so he rushed over to mediate.

"Mr. Cao, Mr. Zhang, we are now all locusts tied to the same rope. We don't know if we can get out of this desert. Let us all get out of the desert and you will earn a lot of money."

"Mr. Attard, now this matter has nothing to do with you. I hope you won't intervene." Wilson glanced at Delsean and said, "Since Mr. Zhang doesn't obey by my rules, I want to ask him what rules he likes and I, Wilson Cao, will obey by his rules."

"Haha." Henry chuckled and shrugged indifferently. "Mr. Cao, two of you fighting against one of my people is not appropriate."

"Then tell me, what do you think is appropriate!" A strong man strode forward and glared at Henry with a face full of anger. "Today, if you don't tell me what makes you satisfied, I will break your teeth off!"

Henry nodded, stretched, and said, "In fact, I think, according to your company's situation, it should be ten against one."

All the people present thought that Henry would say something more equal, but they didn't expect that Henry would let ten of them fight against one member of his team. Wilson and others were a little stunned, and then they immediately reacted. Wilson scolded, "F*ck, Zhang, are you playing with me?"

Henry, who was standing there, changed his look and a flicker of coldness flashed in his eyes. "I am not playing."

The moment Henry finished his words, he disappeared. When he appeared again, he was already in front of Wilson. At the same time, he punched Wilson in the face.

How could Wilson see Henry's movement clearly? The sharp pain on his face told him that things were not going well.

With only one punch, Wilson was thrown back a few metres by Henry. Four or five big teeth pumped out of his mouth, and his whole mouth was full of blood.

This was the first time Henry had taken action since he joined this expedition. His actions and skills shocked the other major security companies, including Delsean.

Delsean had watched Henry's video when he was helping with Anna, but in the video, Henry was not so strong that one couldn't even see Henry's figure clearly.

After Henry kicked Wilson, he didn't stop but rushed to another member of Blessing Security.

Seven seconds later, ten members of Blessing, including Wilson, all fell to the ground. All of them had been punched in their faces, and their teeth fell out.

After defeating ten people in total, Henry stopped and clapped his hands. "Mr. Cao, it seems that I overestimated you. Ten against one is still not enough."
